Capt. Buddington shouted back that he could do nothing for them, they must shift for themselves as best they could [Note.—These three men, Sergt. Myer and two others were saved with the Tyson party.—Ed.] A few minutes later those on the Polaris saw a boat launched and manned by the three men making for the place where their comrades were stationed. In a short time the storm and darkness shut out every object from their view. The feelings of the men can be imagined as, with half the crew left to perish, as they supposed, in the desert of ice and snow, the ship drifted away helpless, until at last she brought up Life Boat Cove.

The prospect was now gloomy enough. There seemed to be little prospect of their remaining in the Polaris, she still leaked fearfully, and in her damaged condition Buddington had no hope of getting any farther south with her. It was therefore determined to beach her, but the question was how could that be done. The wind being favorable, one night in the pack she was finally discovered, and the ship was hored through order canvas. Everything apparently favored the work, but though the ship was only a few miles from shore, it took twelve hours to get her close in. The next consideration was how to provide for the shelter of the men on shore. All the timbers from between decks were torn out. Provisions were deposited on the ice. The coal removed. Everything useful was secured. The walls of a house was then built of heavy planks, jointed to exclude the wind, and the roof was made of sails. In such a home the long winter was passed. Some help was received from three Esquimaux, who discovered the wrecked ship and agreed, for a few paltry presents, to convey provisions over the ice to the vessel. They gave still more valuable aid by supplying skins for clothing, of which the crew were greatly in need, for many of their clothes were worn out, and many more were lost when the vessel broke away on the night of the 15th. The Esquimaux had plenty, and though they were filthy repelling garments, the castaways gladly adopted the full Esquimaux costume of fur trousers, coats and boots.

After remaining there a short time to regain their strength, the party made for Hakluyt Island, where the expedition was brought to a stand still by a tremendous gale, which blew for three full days, with a continuous fall of snow for all that time. Immense flocks of auks, a bird of the penguin species, were encountered here, however, and, as the men could easily take up their guns and kill ten of them at a shot, there was a plentiful supply of fresh provisions, which were very thankfully received. Occasionally their tiny cradle were nearly lowed, and it was feared the vessel was going to grief. But they were nearing the ice, and there was nothing to be done but to trust a passage could be found. After enduring many privations, and encountering perils from which their escape seemed almost miraculous, they arrived at Upernavik, which is given as the point of leaving Dapp Parry. A few miles before the cape, at Fran Clarence Head, an accident had occurred which had fallen on that side, and there they took up their abode, and in so doing the body secured on the ice, and from which the cook, one of the brothers on which the accident occurred, and the other fell, one on Friday night and the other Saturday. Every effort was made to find them, but to no avail.

The Murder Trial at Barrie.

Conviction of the Tryons—Confession of the Father—The Son declares his innocence.

On Friday morning last John and George Tyron (father and son) were placed upon their trial at the Barrie Assizes for the wilful murder of Mr. Frank Fisher, on the 26th of February last, at a place about 12½ miles from Parry Sound. The Hon. E. B. Wood, prosecuted the case on behalf of the Crown, D'Arcy Boulton, Q.C., defended the prisoners and was assisted by Wm Lount, barrister, Barrie and Allan Lloyd, barrister, Bracebridge. The Court room was crowded during the two days of the trial.

After a rigid examination of witnesses the jury retired to consider the verdict at 4 p.m. and were absent an hour and a half when they returned, and amid the profoundest silence, on being asked if they were agreed and what was their verdict, the rendered a verdict of "Guilty." A low moan escaped from the elder Tryon when he heard his doom and he clutched the dock with a convulsive grasp, the younger Tryon seemed more collected, but the twitching at the mouth and the startled look about the eyes showed that he fully comprehended the fearful situation in which he stood.

PRISONERS DECLARE THEIR INNOCENCY.

The prisoners were then required to stand up and give their reasons why sentence of death should not be passed upon them, when John Tryon said, in a voice tremulous with emotion—I am not guilty of the crime—I did not murder Fisher, and if the jury could only see the spot where Fisher lay dead they would come to the conclusion that he died accidentally—neither of us are guilty—may God have mercy on us. George Tryon in a trembling voice but firm bearing said—I am innocent of the crime, as innocent as a child unborn. I have a wife and child—and I hope the accuracy will not see them want. It was noticed that George Tryon dwelt with marked emphasis on the words "I am innocent."

THE SENTENCE.

In passing sentence the Judge said—I deeply regret to see you, John and George Tryon, in the position which you now stand, but I perfectly agree with the verdict the jury have rendered, indeed, I do not think they could have rendered any other verdict consistent with their oath. I will now only add, that I can hold out to you no hope of mercy in this world, but hope you will by repentance and prayer improve the short time in which you have to live, and receive from God the mercy you cannot receive here. I have no discretion in the matter, but must sentence you as the law directs, which is, that you John and George Tryon be taken from hence to the place whence you came, and from thence to the place of execution on the 16th day of December next, and there be hanged by the neck till you are dead, and may God have mercy on your souls.

The prisoners were then handcuffed and taken from the dock—the younger one comparatively firm, but the elder trembling all over.

REPORTED CONFESSION OF JOHN TRYON.

On Monday evening last our townsfolk were considerably excited over a report that the elder Tryon had confessed his guilt, and that the confession fully exonerated his son George from any knowledge of, or participation in the murder, and the next morning we learned that he had confessed the deed to Mr Boulton his counsel, in the morning, on his knees, and that his son on hearing his father make the confession, wept bitterly. We also ascertained that the elder Tryon had sent for the Rev. E. Morgan, rector of Trinity Church, Barrie, and confessed his guilt to him We waited on the rev. gentleman on Wednesday morning, and learned that the report was correct. At our request the Rev. Mr. Morgan kindly dictated to us the following, which "may not," he said, "be correct in every particular, as I give it from memory, not having committed it to writing."

We may here add, that the Judge has instructed the Crown officials not to permit the confession to be published, so that we could not get the official document, but the following is we believe, however, even more full:—

REV. E. MORGAN'S STATEMENT.

On Monday afternoon I saw John Tryon, on request of the gaoler, Mr Lang, who said the elder Tryon had confessed his guilt to Mr. Boulton, in the morning, and wished to see me. I immediately went, when he confessed me that he murdered Fisher. I believe he told the truth, not only on account of its apparent correctness, but from his manner whilst making the confession, which was as follows:

THE CONFESSION.

On the evening of Friday, the 28th February last, just before dark, I was lying on my bed in the parlor; my son George was leaning with his head on his hands on the table, singing. Next morning my son was going away to get an Indian to bring him to Barrie, being very anxious about his wife, who was expected soon to be confined. I was very much opposed to my son's leaving me; and I suddenly thought that if I could put an end to Fisher that I might prevent my son's going away. I immediately rose quietly from the bed, and passed out of the door unknown to my son Fisher had gone out to cook some meat to cook for an early breakfast next morning. (Tryon then gave the distance and position of the scaffold from the county, on one of which—) I raised a large axe lying against the door; it was not the small axe produced in court; I followed Fisher, and struck him a blow with the poll of the axe, on the top of his head, whilst he was looking up at the moon. He fell forward on his face. I then struck him several blows; after which I took hold of his feet and got them on the bed-clothes, and in so doing the body turned on its back; and then with the same utensil, one of the brushes on which the scaffold stood, and the other fell, one on Friday night and the other Saturday. Every effort was made to find them, but to no avail.

A Hint.

There are not a few who forget that the Printer has liabilities, and some of them forget this for several years. Our intention is to solicit payment of all claims of two years or over, now due; and where a disposition for further delay is manifested, to place all old accounts in the hands of a Solicitor for collection at once. We trust, however, that this gentle hint will prevent any such action on our part. The following statement will demonstrate the necessity for doing something in this matter: Suppose 100 of our subscribers owe $10 each, equal to $1,000. 100 more may be set down at over $5 each, or $500. 100 about $3 or $300; besides smaller sums; making in all over $2,000 of arrears, older than 2 years. Now we are persuaded that many of these would pay at once if called on, but this is very difficult. Just think of the expense of visiting so many persons scattered over every imaginable corner of the County. Our friends, we know, will not entail the rouble and expense on us.

The Town Clerk publishes a notice this week of an intention to apply to Parliament for an Act to enable the Town to construct Water Works, and appoint Commissioners for that purpose. [illegible]

We are pleased to learn that Mr. W. A. Hunter of Cavan, who [illegible] ago gained the Cox Scholarship at our Collegiate Institute, has not only passed a very creditable examination in the subjects prescribed for the first year's course at the University of Toronto, but also carried off a Scholarship in General Proficiency. He is, we believe, the only Candidate boy who took a Scholarship at the Higher Matriculation Examination this year. He has shown himself to be the best prepared pupil that has ever left our Institute. We are informed that several pupils are preparing to go up from our Institute next year for Senior Matriculation, and we hope that they may be as successful as Mr. Hunter was this year. We have every reason to feel proud of our Collegiate Institute and have no hesitation in saying that it is one of the best Institutions of the kind in the Dominion. As long as we can send out young men capable of taking the highest scholarships offered by our University, we have a guarantee that the teachers employed in the Institute are doing their work wisely and well. Several scholarships have been taken by boys from other schools, but these are in the Junior Matriculation, while Hunter's is in the Senior, or one year ahead of these. If we mistake not, this is the first instance of this kind in the history of the Peterborough school. Master Hunter is only 17 years of age although he competed with young men of 25 years.

This popular Magazine for October has been received. Its well known popular publisher is a guarantee for the contents. The leading article is an interesting one on "Primitive Education in Ontario." The reading matter of the Monthly is well selected; nothing of doubtful morality is permitted to appear in it.—This makes it a welcome visitor to those families in which periodicals of a high moral tone are valued. It is published by John Dougall & Son, Montreal, at $1.50 a year.

Fire in Bobcaygeon.

The Steam Shingle Mill, Planing Mill and Carding Mill of Mr. William Bick, son of George Bick, Esq., of Bobcaygeon, was yesterday completely destroyed by fire. The fire occurred at 10.30 a.m., and was not observed until the flames were sweeping over the mens heads at work. They had just time to turn on the pumps and run without tools, clothing or anything. The carder being deaf had to be pulled away to save him. The whole building was consumed in about 25 to 30 minutes. There was about 3,000 lbs. of farmers' wool in the carding mill at the time, all lost. The entire loss is about $5,000, and we regret to learn that Mr. Bick had not one cent of insurance on the property. Great sympathy is felt for the young man, who had not been long in business, and who did not escape until somewhat burned in the neck, &c., but not seriously. It is thought that the fire originated from a spark from the smoke stack. So rapidly did the fiery element extend itself that nothing could be done to save anything, although the people were there in crowds in a few minutes to assist, they merely aided in saving some shingles that were in danger for a time. Since writing the above we have learned from Mr. Bick that he will proceed to the erection of a building at once, which he intends having ready before winter; and from Mr. Bick's well known energy we may safely predict that all will be in readiness in good time this fall for the winter's work. Wiser counsel will, we trust, induce him next time to insure the property, if only for a small sum. Five thousand dollars is too much to lose at once, if it could be avoided.

Almanac for 1874.

We are preparing to publish another of our popular Almanacs. This year we will furnish every family in the County with one, as we have made our arrangement to that end. It will therefore be an excellent advertising medium, and rates will be very moderate, compared with its immense circulation and value. We solicit the attention of advertizers, and their orders, as we intend to limit our selves to a fixed number.

Regatta.

The Regatta came off on the Little Lake yesterday. The single canoe race for the Silver Cup was again won by Mr. Geo. Fitzgerald, easily. Two oared race was won by Mr. T. B. Clementi and Geo. Rogers. There were few entries, and the attendance was small.

OUR BUSINESS MEN.

The Town of Peterboro is very favourably located in the centre of a very fine agricultural district. The surrounding townships are prosperous, the soil beautifully repaying the industry of the thrifty settlers. There are the most valuable water powers in our vicinity extending as far as Lakefield, and our merchants are in a position to utilize these water powers as soon as favorable communication with the front, north and east presents itself. No one denies the great advantages of the Midland Railway to the town and surrounding country, causing to us small degree the prosperity and comfort possessed by the people, by affording access to the market for their grain and beef, pork, butter, cheese, &c., their surplus produce. A second epoch has been established, a necessity for years back, and soon that will be manifestly in the Cobourg R. R. will be in running order by next summer, and [illegible] is unmistakable. [illegible] we may [illegible] advantages [illegible] from [illegible] opened.

Also [illegible] it was held that a road from Lakefield northward was a necessity to the north, and would embrace within its range subject agitated. At all times [illegible] this appeal that a road north would undoubtedly benefit Peterboro' as well as open up the north of the county, and develope its resources. The history of this agitation is not yet forgotten, and as a result we have now the Cobourg R. R. built to Mud Lake, ready for the cars. It was not believed by many that Mud Lake would be a good terminus. Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls were held to be the then objective points, and in voting the bonuses provisions were made for assisting the road to these places.

Until the agitation here all know that the Midland Company did not trouble us about extension. It was not to their interest to expend more money for a trade they already possessed. Nor can we blame them. No company would lay out its tens of thousands of dollars for that which it had without molestation. Their answer to us was: "If you build a road we will run our trains on it for you." This was the cause of the people turning their eyes to the C. P. and Marmora Company, and this Company has, as far as it has been possible, kept faith with us, as they are pushing on their road rapidly, and it is well known that their resources are sufficient to warrant a completion, as agreed.

At the Committee Meeting on Thursday evening there was not a dissenting voice to pay them the [illegible]. The only question was as to time, all agreeing that the town should keep good faith with the Company and pay the bonus as soon as the road is completed. Indeed there was no two opinions on this subject.

NORTHWARD.

The question again arises as to the extension northward. Valuable minerals are well known to abound in our back country. Just now an iron mine has been discovered in Snowdon. Several tons of the ore have been taken out, and an assay proves it to be of very superior quality, and the quantity is said to be unlimited. This is not denied by any one. This mine is about 18 to 20 miles from Coboconk and 20 to 22 miles from Bobcaygeon. The Nipissing can reach it therefore, in about 20 miles of a road, but the advantages of the route up Nogies' Creek is in favor of a road via Bobcaygeon, and a road in this way would be in a direct line for Haliburton and the Ottawa Valley. The Town of Peterborough, therefore, should lose no time in securing a road to Bobcaygeon and the Mining District. Once at Bobcaygeon and Fenelon the trade will repay the Company for the construction of the road thither, and with bonuses and Government aid, the extension to Haliburton would not be difficult.

The Verulam Township Council have passed a motion to notify the President of the Omemee and Bobcaygeon Branch, (if the Clerk can find such a person) that at the next meeting they will rescind the By-law granting aid to that line. The people north of us now look to Cobourg and Peterboro, and it is our interests to come to their aid. A road north would prevent the Victoria Company's inroad into our county and into our purses, as another effort will be made to compel this county to pay them $60,000, and they may be successful unless counteracted.

Although so urgent on action to secure a road north, we by no means advise remissness in regard to the Ontario and Quebec road: but we believe that this road will be built, and that it cannot pass westward without touching at Peterboro. Let us be ready to assist it. But there is more cause for urgency in reference to the road north.

The Nipissing is already at Coboconk, 20 miles more will bring it into the heart of our north country. The Victoria Co. is working hard to get there also, both these proceed from Toronto and are calculated to take trade away from us. To prevent this, let us get a road in before they can, and then we may rest satisfied the people will seek Peterboro instead of Lindsay or Toronto.

OUR MERCHANTS

During a short visit to Bobcaygeon, lately, we were assured of the sympathies of the general public in favor of Railroad by this town, and one of the reasons given for this was was: That our merchants are more enterprising than in any town outside of Toronto or Montreal. We were told that for small merchants better assortments and better opportunities are afforded in Peterboro than out side of Toronto, and that hence it is their interest to seek Peterboro instead of Lindsay. A little more effort and that at once, will do more for us than talk. Coldness or indifference now may shut us out for all time. Trusting to Providence without action rarely succeeds, and trusting to our natural advantages we may find that without enterprise all those advantages are valueless.

THE SCOTT MURDER.

The Province of Manitoba is no little excited just now over the trial of A. D. Lepine for the murder of Scott, so often referred to. An attempt was made to arrest Riel but he made his escape across the line. Lepine was not so fortunate, and hence is undergoing his trial, which commenced on the [illegible] of September last at Fort Garry.

The question of jurisdiction was argued [illegible] Police Magistrate. The trial [illegible] only to discover whether there is a prima facie case sufficient to send him up for trial to a superior court.

Judge Betourney, as Police Magistrate, said he could not now determine the question of jurisdiction, and in consequence evidence was heard, but the result is not yet known.

Mr. Cunningham, M.P., has approached the Lieut.-Governor in behalf of the prisoner, and also in behalf of Riel, and sets forth distinctly that a promise of amnesty had been given by the Ottawa Government, and that the promise had been given to Bishop Taché and Father Richot.

This was alleged during the contest that followed that unfortunate trouble in Manitoba. But John A. Macdonald cannot assume the responsibility of an amnesty then, nor is he now bold or honorable enough to defend the men who were led to believe that the word and honor of the Government pledged for their safety. Mr. Cunningham, who has been a devout follower of the Knight of Kingston, in addressing Lieut. Governor Morris, said, as quoted in the Globe of yesterday:

"It may not be known officially to Your Excellency, but I assert it as a fact if fearless of contradiction, that when this country was plunged into difficulties through the alone fault of the Government at Ottawa, and when good men, such men as Archbishop Taché and Father Richot, were deceived into the belief that the promises made to the people by the Government would be carried out in letter and spirit, but [illegible] to the utmost of their power the rights of the people, it was then [illegible] promised, without any promise [illegible] by the Government at Ottawa, but by the English Government through its representatives, that all that occurred during the troubles of 1869-70 would be indemnified. And what do we find now? We find the promises solemnly made broken, and the faith of Governments forfeited. We find one man arrested and another being hunted down like a wolf, in the very face of indemnity being granted—the men who stood foremost in protecting the standing out for the rights of the people of this country when they were helpless."

Mr. C. also referred to what he and those who were along with him firmly believed, viz., that the whole affair was a "political game raised up by interested parties to serve political ends, in "view of the coming election for the "County of Provencher," and he

"Protested against the principle of "making the interests of a Province and "the peace and safety of its inhabitants, "and its future developments, subser "vient to the political scheming of any "parties, whether that scheming is "meant to subserve the interests of Gov "ernments as Governments, or men."

To this the Governor replied that he could not interfere to prevent the trial. It was out of his province. There were Judges charged with the administration of the law, and magistrates had been appointed with the power of issuing warrants. When these warrants had once been issued a certain legal course had to be followed, and with that course he, the Governor, had neither the power nor the inclination to interfere. "The Statutes of Canada," Governor Morris added, "expressly gave jurisdiction to the "Courts (of Manitoba) over offences committed before the transfer of the country, though those offences had to be "tried by the laws then in force." As far as the alleged promise of amnesty was concerned, Mr. Morris said he had nothing to do—that must be settled between those who claimed the amnesty of the Dominion Government; while he affirmed that no power but that of the Queen alone could declare such an amnesty. He could as Governor take no cognizance of such a claim, but would forward their statements to the authorities at Ottawa.

This disputed question will now come up and we will know whether there is a Court of Jurisdiction, and whether John A. can find it out. He has so often asserted that this was the obstacle in the way of Justice. He must now come to the front as Minister of Justice and either protect Riel and Lepine or allow them to be dealt with according to the law, with which Governor Morris says is competent try them.

John A., while in Peterboro, declared that the killing of Scott was murder, and wished that he could only get hold of the murderers. At the same time he had given his word of honor to Bishop Taché that it would be forgiven. Now he has one of them what will he do? Perhaps let the sentence of the law be passed and then reprieve, but this would be no amnesty, and only a subterfuge by which to escape from the meshes of the net of tricks and dishonest conduct.

The question of this murder had almost died out and perhaps an amnesty would have been preferable to unearthing this unfortunate affair, but John A. did not avail himself of an amnesty proclamation as that would be running foul of the Orange Society, nor has he taken the side of law and order, and punished the crime. This much at any rate has been learned; that John A's favor depends on the amount of influence the recipient thereof possesses and can use in elections.

TOWN COUNCIL.

SPECIAL MEETING.

The Council met on Saturday evening in special session called by the Mayor

Present—His worship the Mayor and Messrs. English, Melm, Paterson, Hopkins, Sperry, Dixon, Burrit, Moore and Toole.

The Mayor stated that his reason for calling the Council to-night was that today in a conversation with Messrs. Hall, Stratton and Dixon, it appeared that a very valuable iron mine had been discovered in the front of the township of Snowden, and possibly the discovery would affect the action of the Cobourg Railway Company.

He called upon Mr. Dixon who explained the particulars of the discovery of the mine, the excellency of the ore, and the advantages of transporting the ore to lake Ontario by way of Peterboro, urging the Council to lay these matters before the Cobourg Railway Company.

At the request of his worship the Mayor, Mr. Boyd of Bobcaygeon was heard before the Council in relation to the extension of railroad communication back.

Moved by Mr. Toole, seconded by Mr. Dixon—That in view of this discovery of iron ore in the township of Snowden, the Corporation is prepared to pay, in connexion with the County, a bonus of $415,000 to any Company that will build a Railway from the town of Peterboro to the village of Haliburton, by way of Bobcaygeon and the mines in Snowden. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Toole, seconded by Dr Burritt—That the Mayor and Messrs. Boyd, Moore, Dixon and the mover be a deputation to wait on the President of the Midland Company to ascertain if that Company can be induced, and if so on what terms, to extend their line from Peterboro to Bobcaygeon and the iron mines and Haliburton. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Moore, seconded by Dr. Burritt—That the Finance Committee consult the Committee of the Town Trust in reference to obtaining a fund wherewith to pay the Town's share of building the Locks Bridge, and that the Clerk request the Contractor to deposit a signed contract with the necessary sureties.

Moved by Mr. Toole, seconded by Mr. Moore—That the Clerk be instructed to give the necessary notice of application to be made to the next Session of Parliament for a Charter to build a Railroad from this town to the township of Snowden, &c. Carried.

The Council then adjourned.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The Board met on Tuesday evening.

PRESENT—The Chairman and Messrs. Edwards, McLelland, Toole, Scott, Rutherford, and Edmison.

The Secretary read over the previously unsigned minutes, when they were confirmed.

A letter was read from the Secretary of the Mechanics' Institute, asking for the use of a room for a class in Commercial Arithmetic, Book Keeping and Mechanical Drawing.

This was referred to the Chairman of the Property Committee, with power to do what he thought right.

Mr. McLelland, Chairman of the Building Committee, reported that the Committee had been unable to let the contract on better terms than the late tenders, and being satisfied that it was too late to undertake the work, they advised extension of time, believing that if extended to June or July it could be got done for $4,000. They suggested, therefore, an extension of six months.

Mr. Scott understood that the Committee were to let the contract at once and the work proceeded with.

Mr. McLellan explained that if he did let the contract extension was asked for anyway, and hence the Committee thought it better to have an extension so as to try and get it done better.

Mr. Toole thought the contract should be let so that the contractor could prepare and build the foundation this fall, then he could complete the work early next season.

Mr. Edmison asked what could be done in the meantime for school accommodation, as he believed the rooms were crowded.

Mr. Rutherford thought it was unfortunate that the Committee did not enter into the contract, as he was satisfied the work could not be done for less than $4,500—the lowest tender—and he understood that they were advised to give it to the lowest tender if he furnished satisfactory security. The difficulty of securing brick was the business of the contractor, and not of the Board. He was of opinion that if the time was extended to March it could then be completed.

Mr. Edmison now thought it too late to commence this year, and he advised, in consequence, commencing de novo, by advertising again; as, if the term be extended to the 1st of July, better terms can be obtained. It might be got for $4,000.

Mr. Edwards moved, seconded by Mr. Edmison, that the Report of the Building Committee be received and adopted and that the Committee be requested to advertise for tenders, and extend the period for construction to the 1st of July, 1874.

Mr. Edmison wished the Principal who was present, to give his opinion as to the advisability of providing other accommodation in the meantime.

Principal Dixon stated that the rooms of the Primary Divisions were now over crowded, so that it was difficult to get along. He thought if one room could be obtained they could get along till the new house should be built. If no room could be secured, then he would have to try the half day system adopted in some places. When small children could attend just half each day, one portion attending in the forenoon the other portion in the afternoon. This, it was thought, might remedy the evil of over crowding for this winter.

Mr. Rutherford asked Mr. Brown, County Inspector, who was present, what had been done towards the union of Auburn School to the Town.

Mr. Brown remarked that nothing had been done as it could not take effect till after the 25th of December. He advised the Union and also advised a union of No. 2 North Monaghan, as by the extension this section was deprived of the greater portion of the former support.

The matter was discussed, and although some could not see the advantages of a union with No. 2, it was not unfavorably received.

Mr. Edwards asked through the Chairman if anything had been done by the Property Committee to abate the nuisance complained of by J. T. Henthorn, Esq.

Mr. Toole in reply said nothing had been done, but arrangements were being made to appeal to it.

The Board then adjourned.

Ontario and Quebec Railway.

The first sod of this Railway, in the County of Peterboro, was turned on the 30th ult., on Boyd's farm in lot No. 4 in the 1st con. of Belmont, by P. M. Grover, Esq., M.P. The engineer of the road, Mr. Keefer, has been engaged for the past week in locating this portion of the road and we understand it is the intention of the Company to continue the construction of the railway westward through the County as rapidly as circumstances will permit.

Sale of Town Lots.

The Town Lots, being sub-divisions of lots 12 and 13 South of Sherbrooke Street and west of George Street, were sold by Mr. McNeil on the 26th ultimo, when they were disposed of for the following prices: Lot 1, to Geo. A. Cox, $280; 2, Thos. Donnelly, $230; 3, Thos. Greenhow, $255; 4, Fred. Taylor, $305; 5, John Stock, $260; 6, W. James, $196.

Agnes Wallace's Troupe.

We notice by the paper on the walls the return of the little curlbonna Agnes Wallace, and the prince of comedians Sam B. Ville, supported by a company of twenty first class artists. They have a full uniform band and superb orchestra, whose appearance everywhere creates the greatest furor. They have been playing to crowded houses everywhere, and all the papers speak of them in the highest praise. Remember they will be here but two nights, see advertisement in another column.

Tom Thumb.

By advertisement in another column it will be seen that Gen. Tom Thumb and party will appear in the Music Hall on Monday 13th inst. We give the following extract from the London Times:—"Many a lady of fashion, even in Court circles, may well envy the charming Mrs. Tom Thumb and her wee sister, Miss Minnie Warren, for the great variety magnificent richness of their dresses, to say nothing of the more than princely display of diamonds of the first water, which an outlay of £10,000 has secured these charming little ladies from the Great Republic. But 'handsome is he who handsome does,' is the true old proverb, and all who witness the performances of these most captivating miniature ladies, aided by the heroic General Tom Thumb and the gallant and inimitable Commodore Nutt, will unite in saying this entertainment is as surprising and delightful as it is bewitching and extraordinary."

Joseph Arch at Hamilton.

This gentleman who is at present making a tour through Canada to report to the National Agricultural Laborers' Union of England, of whom he is President, the advantages offered by the Dominion as a field of emigration for agriculturist, was entertained at supper at the Tecumseh House Hamilton on the 1st of October by the Hamilton Trades' Unions.

Firemens' Concert.

We understand that it is the intention of the Fire Brigade to have a grand concert at no distant date. Already a Committee of the musical young men of the Brigade has been appointed, and we have no doubt but that in such hands the affair will be a great success. The object of the Firemen in getting up this concert is to assist in keeping up the funds of the Benevolent Fund of the Brigade. During the past year quite an amount was expended towards supporting those Firemen who, through sickness or other unavoidable causes, were unable to work. The cause is a good one and should be well patronized.

THE SPANISH FIGHT.

The Republicans and the Intransigentes appear to have had a brush on Saturday or rather more vigorous a character than any that have occurred for some time. The scene of the encounter was the town of Alicante, which the Intransigentes bombarded. A dispatch from there, through Republican channels, says the efforts of the foreign consuls to prevent the bombardment failed. Admiral Yelverton declined to go beyond his instructions from London, which were to maintain an absolute neutral position. All the merchant shipping left the port and anchored outside. The British fleet was moored in the harbor on the right, and the French on the left, and eleven other men-of-war, including Germans, occupied the center inside of these lines. The Intransigentes iron-clads, Numancia and Mendezanues, took up position and prepared to bombard the place. The German commander at the last moment offered to stop hostilities, but the English and French authorities refused to join him in the act. The bombardment opened at five o'clock in the morning, and 500 projectiles, some filled with petroleum, were thrown into the place. Great damage was done, and several edifices are in ruins. A vigorous fire was returned from the forts and batteries on shore with effect, for the rebel iron-clads shipped cables and withdrew in a damaged condition. Minister Malcomere telegraphed at noon that the bombardment had ceased, and declared it was a wanton outrage, which should be held up to the reprobation of Europe. The men-of-war Vittoria and Asturias, recently released by the British will, it is said, be dispatched to the relief of Alicante. A later dispatch says that the insurgents directed their fire chiefly at the castle which overhangs the town, at an altitude of 400 feet, hoping that by the fall of its walls a part of the town might be destroyed. One shell struck the public building in which the national and town authorities were assembled. The walls of the town are damaged in several places. The rebel vessels at one time came close to the shore, but were driven off by a rapid and well directed fire from the jetty. The Mendez Nunez lost her funnel.

CHOLERA IN THE EAST.—The Japan Mail published at Yokohama, of the 30th of August reports as follows:—The following is an extract from a private letter from Hongkok:—"Cholera is raging here.—There is a prison also at 200 yards from my house, exactly one tenth of the prisoners in which have died, and about one-third have been or are sick. In the next garden to this the gardeners have been decimated in a fortnight. In our garden there have been but few cases, and these have been reported to me at once and have been happily cured by laudanum, chlorodyne and brandy in the first stage, and camphor water and acetate of lead as a second resort. The panic has been wonderful. For one or two days, at the worst time, the place seemed almost a city of the dead. Save the boats of foreigners one saw no craft moving in the usually busy river. The people seemed to have fled to their inner rooms, and one felt almost alone. The great noblemen shut themselves up; their slaves and retainers fled to the country; the coolies were dismal, the market unattended. Every morning I sent my boy to buy rice. He went the whole length of the chief market—nearly a mile and a half long—and could not buy that first article of food. The rice boats fled the pest-stricken city, and famine seems to threaten.

A dispatch from Kingston, Jamaica, says the British steam sloop Niobe arrived on Saturday from Omoa, Honduras, bringing the following intelligence: General Antonio's troops, after assassinating a detachment of Poindo's forces, which under a flag of truce approached the Fort, entered Omoa, and imprisoned all British residents, garried the consulates of America, England, Spain and Portugal, tore the American flag to pieces, and looted merchants' warehouses and mills, leaving them a perfect wreck. The Niobe and some other vessels, and dismissed the commander of the imprisoned foreigners, and an explanation for the outrage. The authorities refused to accede to the demands of the Commander of the Niobe, when a bombardment followed until the flag of truce was hoisted, and the prisoners surrendered, and compensation guaranteed.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtue of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. This is the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the smell of Oils which they may contain.

DR. WHEELER'S COMPOUND ELIXIR OF PHOSPHATES AND CALISAYA is the best tonic in use, because it is the most physiological, being composed of ingredients absolutely essential to the development of the system. It speedily relieves indigestion, promoting a vigorous appetite and healthy nutrition. All cases of general debility, arising from wasting disease, such as consumption, scrofula, all diseases of the skin, diseases of the blood, prostration of the nervous system, caused by protracted mental exertion, anxiety, over-work, or bad habits, will derive immediate benefit from it, frequently beginning with the first dose. It is a delightful cordial to take, and its use may be protracted for an indefinite period, without becoming disagreeable to the patient.

CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER

A family medicine, well and favorably known for the past ten years, never failing in a single instance to give permanent relief when timely used, and we have never known a single case of dissatisfaction where the directions have been properly followed, but on the contrary all are delighted with its operations, and speak in the highest terms of its Virtues and Magical effects.

The CANADIAN PAIN DESTROYER has won for itself a reputation, as a blood purifier alternative stomach tonic, unsurpassed in the history of medical preparation. It seldom fails to cure Dyspepsia, Liver Complaints, Indigestion, Heartburn, Sick Headache, Kidney Complaints, Acid Stomach Phthisic or Asthma, and restores to vital activity the system debilitated by suffering and disease.

Its magical and wonderful success in curing sudden colds, sore throat, coughs, diptheria, pains in the side, loins and back, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatic and other pains in any part of the body and from whatever cause, has given it a place in every household and is last superceeding all other preparations of the kind.

It is also an effectual and prompt remedy for scalds, burns, bruises, sprains, chilblains, cholera morbus, billious cholic, cholera infantum dysentery, &c.

Price 25 cents per bottle.

Dr. McDONALD'S VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

Thousands can take these Bitters and say they are the best medicine they ever used, who have been long afflicted with various diseases, but are not benefited, because their bowels are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so duringseasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored vitiated matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these TONIC BITTERS display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.
4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely one aim.
5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.
A full and complete assortment has been supplied to and always kept on hand by

Select Poetry.

The Missionaries Farewell.
BY REV. W. H. PORTER.
Lo'th, my native land, I bid thee,
And thy shores recede across the
From this vision so dimly visible now
Farewell, God alone can tell.

It may be to plains the glowing
Zone of love, and fly pure,
Where the streams of mercy flowing
Love their endless, fruitful shore.

It may be to tell the story
Of the cross to other lands;
Where the banner, swell His glory
Amid willing, toiling hands.

It may be to scenes of gladness,
Or perchance to scenes of sorrow,
To the joyless paths of sadness,
Where the shades of death are.

It may be to save and succor,
Cheered not by the light of love,
Regions of a brighter manner,
Till we touch the shores above.

But wherever duty calls me,
Though to pain, and toil, and loss,
Let my promptness prove me one Joy
Of a ransomed cross.

We, Joy of our high profession,
Hive to follow and adore,
By whose death and resurrection,
Wrath we share and heaven secure.

We, Joy of the Great Commission
Of our dying, risen Lord,
Faithful to perish our mission
And prosit in His reading.

Tell to all the wondrous story
Of a heaven'ly love and grace,
Till "the earth filled with His glory,"
Echoes to angelic praise.

Soon our labor will be over,
And our working days be done,
Then we'll join in praise forever
To the Lord's anointed Son.

OTONABEE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.
This Society's Show was held in Keene on the 10th inst. The day was very favorable and the number of visitors large.
The show of horses of all classes was good and the number of entries about equal to former years. Jas Millar, Esq., carried off the first prize for a draught team, Messrs. Standley and Blezard coming in for 2nd and 3rd prizes. The carriage horses were of a useful class, as for general purpose teams, and in this respect deserves as much encouragement as heavy horses, most farmers finding a team fit for both road and draught the most useful.
In Cattle and Sheep the class of animals shown was in advance of former years, although the number of entries was not equal to those of the past. Mr. Knox showed a first class Durham Bull, and Mr. Sylvester Fife a first class Devon Bull. The best cows were grades, no thorough breds being exhibited. In sheep Messrs. Jos. Redmond, Wm Taylor, A McFee and Geo Wood were the chief competitors and showed very good animals. The prize list gives the judges opinions of the best ones.
The Swine families were not numerously represented, Mr. W Drummond having the ground almost to himself.
Implements were not represented, except in farm waggons, Mr. Thos Mather again showed one of his splendid waggons, in style and finish it could not be surpassed in the Province. Mr. Nelson of Keene competed with him, with a plain but very serviceable waggon. Mr. Mather also exhibited a very handsome cutter.
The inside of the Hall was not equal in the number of entries to other years, owing perhaps, to the Riding Show being within a day or two of the Township Show, but the quality of meats, grains, fruit, dairy produce, and ladies work was of the best—could hardly be equaled anywhere. It will be remarked by those accustomed to read the prize lists, that the same better makers largely contributed the prizes from year to year. Mrs T Blezard, Mrs D Moore, Mrs Wm Smith, Miss Jas Mitchell and Mrs A Gillespie being the successful competitors according to the tastes of the judges this year, and they had some difficulty in deciding, as all shown was of very good quality.
A new feature was the competition of girls under 15 years of age in home made Bread, and they did their part so well that the judges not knowing of the distinction between them and their mothers awarded their bread a prize amongst that made by the older housewives. This is not a bad way of letting young gentlemen know where they can obtain a help meet fit at least to make good bread and better for their huge locks.
The show of ladies work must be judged by the prize list, as we fear to venture an opinion where wiser heads and better judges have already decided.

THE ASHANTEES.
BRITAINS AND AFRICAN ASPARGOS MEN—THEIR MANNERS AND CUSTOMS.
In a burning article the Daily Telegraph combats the idea that the Ashantee people owe to the British Government any respect and consideration. Our contemporary says:—
"The Ashantee country is a great African power. It numbers about 2,000,000 people, of whom some 200,000 are capable of bearing arms. They are a warlike race, war-loving by nature, their chief and sport always are fights, and something like civilization amongst them in regard to their wants than Dahomey or Coomassie. Every country has its good and bad, its noble and its ignoble men. But the Ashantee is a man who, having fairly fought his enemy, marks no cowardly mutilation of the dead, and spares even the women and children when they have ceased to resist. Human sacrifices are horrible, but they are not peculiar to Ashantee. Every one knows that the Dahomans are addicted to them on a scale of unparalleled atrocity. Yet we have not declared war against Dahomey, nor have we ever thought of doing so. Why, then, should we declare war against Ashantee? Our own people are happy."

PETERBORO', OCT. 16, 1873.

Editorial Items.

A Hint.

There are not a few who forget that the Printer has liabilities, and some of them forget this for several years. Our intention is to solicit payment of all claims of two years or over, now due; and where a disposition for further delay is manifested, to place all old accounts in the hands of a Solicitor for collection at once. We trust, however, that this gentle hint will prevent any such action on our part. The following statement will demonstrate the necessity for doing something in this matter: Suppose 100 of our subscribers owe $10 each, equal to $1,000. 100 more may be set down at over $5 each, or $500. 100 about $3 or $300; besides smaller sums; making in all over $2,000 of arrears, older than 2 years. Now we are persuaded that many of these would pay at once if called on, but this is very difficult. Just think of the expense of visiting so many persons scattered over every imaginable corner of the County. Our friends, we know, will not entail the trouble and expense on us.

The Barrie Examiner

Regrets the interruption to the annual Press gatherings, for it is satisfied that they prove the means of removing the acrimonious spirit so frequently displayed The Editor cannot have read the papers lately or he would be satisfied of a different state of things.

The Examinations

For promotion to the Collegiate Institute were held on Monday and Tuesday. The papers are not prepared with a view to crowding the High Schools. There were 99 candidates, some of these were examined before, and through a whim of Dr. Ryerson or of some of the Inspectors are now being re-examined. The number of candidates and also the questions given, and in addition, reading and dictation, entail the necessity of carefully examining 4000 questions, and will occupy several days. The result of the examinations therefore will not be known till next week.

General Tom Thumb.

The Hall on Monday evening was so densely crowded to see the General and party, and there were such numbers still seeking admittance, that the doors had to be closed, and a second performance followed about 9 o'clock. The Lilliputian actors fully sustained their character, Commodore Nutt keeping the house in continued merriment. The omission of some of his frolics would not have marred the pleasure of the evening. Mrs. Tom Thumb sings very nicely with a child-like sweet voice, and has a very pleasant and agreeable appearance. Miss Minnie Warren is somewhat smaller than her sister, very childlike but quite active, performing her part well Although she has not the appearance of being more than 4 or 5 years of age she is 25 years old. and the Commodore is reputed to be 29. The General is stout and healthy, muscular for his size, says he is 35 years of age, although his appearance would indicate 10 additional years. The party have made three tours round the world, and those who saw them on Monday evening are not likely to ever see them here again.

To the Ladies.

Opening of Show Room. A Grand display of fashionable Millinery, Flowers, Feathers, Mantles etc., Friday, 17th inst. at Macdonald & Elder's, sign of the Elephant.

The Roger Estate Sale.

We would remind our readers of the Roger Estate Sale, next Wednesday. The desirability of the situation and the advantage of having land ready for immediate gardening, must recommend the lots to many. A street, 66 feet in width runs right through, thus making every lot readily accessible from either end. We would recommend all to attend, as this sale offers good chances for investment. See advertisement as to time, etc.

Mr. A'Beckett

Formerly Mayor of Cornwall, has been appointed Police Magistrate for that town. The population is $3,500.

Mr. John McKeown

Has received the appointment of County Attorney and Clerk of the Peace for Lincoln, and has entered on the duties of the office. The Welland Canadian gives expression to the hope that he has higher aspirations still. If he intends to continue political agitation, he should not have received the appointment.

Sir John A. Macdonald's Popularity, and how Obtained.

The Irish Canadian gives the way adopted to prove John A's popularity with the Irish Catholics, over George Brown's. It is somewhat characteristic of the man. Frank Smith is at a Bazaar, and at the close of the sale puts up a walking cane for sale, to be presented to John A. or George Brown as the case might be, according to the political bids of these present at the bazaar. The hon. Senator Smith, however, soon found that George had 30 bids and John A. 19, when, characteristically, Mr. Smith bought John A's popularity by giving 100 bids at once, proving to a demonstration that his master's popularity depends entirely on the length of the purse of his sycophants, and partizans. Frank Smith cannot be the shrewd man he is accounted, or he must have foreseen his own estimate of John A's character when he placed it at $10.00.

The Opposition Programme

Is about to remove from Toronto to Ottawa. It will open there about the meeting of Parliament

Rogers & Co.

Look out for the new advertisement of Rogers & Co., next week. They have a large stock. Their Fall circular will also be issued next week.

Rumour.

In the late elections in Kansas, the Republican party has been striking strength to such an extent as to cause the friends of a return of a monarchy to feel doubtful. Bateman is now on trial on a charge of betraying the garrison of Metz, or of not using all the means at his command to defend the fortress. The result of the trial is to be framed with a despatch to the safety of the Council.

The Fall Assizes

Are being held at Cobourg this week. They will open here on Monday 27th.

The Case

Of the Cribbing of the proposed extension of the Harbour at Cobourg is estimated at $80,000.

Burglary in Cobourg

The World says, Mr. William Flood's gunsmith shop on Division street was broken into on Saturday night and a revolver valued at $16, two boxes of caps, about $8 worth of patent reversible nipples, and one powder flask were stolen therefrom. The total loss is nearly $30, and for a young beginner, who is not overburdened with fifth lears, it is a serious loss.

Rice Lake Bridge.

Work on this bridge is progressing rapidly. Two hundred cribs are finished and will soon be placed and filled. Mr. Barber, who carries the whole weight of the road and bridge on his shoulders, is equal to the occasion, and will run his trains to Peterboro early in the summer. It will then cease to be the bridge of sighs.—World.

The Canadian Freeman

Has passed into other hands and the retiring Moylan waves adieu to the vanities of the newspaper world in a touching vale, wherein he generously forgives all those whom he had in any way offended or injured in the discharge of the double duty of defending Sir John and the Faith. He even affects to drop a tear of forgiveness upon Dr. Ryerson.—Ex.

Port Perry.

A case of several young men of that place having dragged a girl named Sheehy, whom they met on her way home from the village, and then were guilty of abusing her, has been tried at Port Perry, and sufficient evidence has been elicited against five or six of them to send them up for trial for rape and dragging.

The Last Ray of Hope.

The Conservatives of Toronto are jubilant because one of their partisans has been elected Water Commissioner. This they look upon as a clear acquittal of John A. for bribery. Drowning men catch at straws. How much was spent to elect the Commissioner?

A Curious Case.

An examination of candidates for the office of Flour Inspector lately took place at Montreal. There were three examiners and two candidates; two of the examiners agreed, and awarded the Hon. John Young (one of the candidates) a certificate, and refused a certificate to the other candidate, a Mr. Richardson. Whereupon an action is instituted against said examiners to compel them to give Mr. Richardson a certificate of qualification; also, partly on the ground that the third examiner believes him qualified.

The Belleville Independent

Is not very consistent in its advocacy for a railway to that village. It can only see its way to write up the Midland Co'y and the Omemee branch. We would like to know how many of the public men of that village are of the same opinions on railway matters as is the Independent? In a late visit to that enterprising village we found two advocates for railway via Omemee, and heard of a third. Are there any others—advocates of such a foolish scheme, in that community? There are strong assurances to the contrary. Many of them are willing to aid the first Railway Co'y that they can induce to build a road to their village. This is consistent. But the advocates of the Omemee road are doomed to disappointment, and had better join their more philosophic friends and work to secure a possible scheme.—Their pet scheme is impossible.

Not very cheering for the West.

The Rev. J. B. Armstrong, Wesleyan Methodist, who spoke at the Missionary Meeting in the Methodist Church, on Tuesday evening, said, that 45 miles north of Winnipeg in 10,000 miles square there is not an acre that can ever be cultivated, so rocky and rough is that portion of the country, and he recommends favorable dealings with the Indians of that section of country as they are likely to remain there, and as they are of a superior class their influence would be extended over the whole vast district to the west and north. Bigamy is the crying sin of the tribes, he says, and how to get rid of its consequences is the most puzzling question to the Missionaries of the Gospel

Who has opened a class in Bookkeeping and Commercial Arithmetic under the auspices of the Mechanics' Institute, intends opening a Saturday Class in the same subject for teachers. This is a first rate opportunity for those who wish to obtain a practical knowledge of those subjects without much outlay or loss of time.

Commission.

A new Commission of the Peace has been issued. Between fifty and sixty new names appear on the list.

Ploughing Matches.

The East Riding Ploughing Match will be on the 29th inst., on Mr. Henderson's farm, Otonabee, about six miles from Peterboro.

The District Ploughing Match will be on Messrs. Alcorn & Haigs farm between Port Hope and Cobourg, on the 22nd.

Mr. Fowler

Is working away at the Bowmanville and Georgian Bay Railway. He has held meetings in Lindsay and Port Perry, but has not been as cordially received as he anticipated. He intends holding meetings in Fenelon next. If the Fenelon people consult their own interests they will come in with the Cobourg and Peterboro enterprise and then they will be sure of a Railway next season. We regret that Mr. Fowler's energy was not being used for this enterprise.

Honey and Poison from the same Flower.

The English press have given strong utterances to their opinion on this Pacific Scandal of ours, but the amusing portion of the affair is the consolation each party draws from those articles. One party says:

"The Times has taken pretty strong ground, but it is eclipsed by the great Conservative organ, the London Standard, which edgewise on the whole business in the plainest terms, denounces the Ministry for being concerned in it, and points to their dismissal as often as the only way of [illegible] the honour of Canada. [illegible] of English [illegible] party personalities be eliminated as far as in considering political questions. The dose of faith in their leaders that Canadian Conservatives are asked to swallow is too gross for their English brethren."

The other party says:

"For all these reasons, we cannot but feel that, in view of the [illegible] which the English papers possess, their tone is highly favorable to the Ministry [illegible] with them all the facts are known in England, and it will be entirely on."

After this, who will say that a favorable moral point of view under such circumstances of the case of the Minister of each party.

DOES IT MEAN REBELLION? OR WAR TO THE KNIFE? OR ANNIHILATION OF THE GRITS? OR WHAT?

From the Ottawa Times.

There never was a time when Parliament was called together under more exceptional circumstances. A Ministry is on trial for its conduct of public affairs. But we cannot try the Ministers without putting the Opposition in the witness box, and then what do we find? That the record against them is worse than any that can be shown against Ministers. This is the fact, and the proof will come sooner than they contemplate. The question has been narrowed down, and the chief organ has given the challenge. The friends of the Government should be ready when the time comes to show what the Opposition did at the last election.

One thing is certain. When they meet they think they will mislead the twenty-four or twenty-five Ministerialists who signed the requisition to the Governor-General in favor of a prorogation. No mistake could be greater. The members who signed that document, did so in ignorance of the evidence. They did so in estimation of their public duty being before any other, and, as we are bound to confess without due regard to the rules which ought to govern Parliamentary conduct. But if they were astray in boarding the representative of Royalty, it certainly does not allow that they must always be astray in holding him perpetually in the wrong. A western Ministerial organ has given prominence to this idea, at the realisation of which we barely hinted a few days ago. But should the Opposition attempt any further disrespect to the Crown, we warn them candidly that their days are numbered.

When Parliament meets there is a solemn duty before it. They will be mistaken who think that they can barter their party allegiance in the hope of promotion in the Opposition ranks. No obligation can be more binding than that of sustaining the existing Government, at least until a Parliamentary committee shall have proved something more against ministers than anything that has yet been revealed. The case is somewhat peculiar. Ministers have been a very long time in office.

The John A. party must be getting desperate. "Should the Opposition attempt any further disrespect to the Crown we warn them candidly," says the organ, "that their days are numbered." Their lives are, therefore, in danger if they speak a single word against the Premier of bribers, John A. For who holds the Governor General responsible in any way for what has been done? The only reasonable explanation of such threats that can be given, must be that, as Sir John A. has already bartered away the great rivers and lakes to the Yankees, the Opposition silence must be maintained at a risk of bartering the land also. Threats are of no avail in this case.

Killed.

A man named Wilkes died in Toronto on Monday from the effects of kicks received in a tavern or groggery. Low groggeries for polluting society and making men insane should be put down everywhere

Spain.

Matters assume a more cheering aspect since the election of Castelar. The insurgents are doing their utmost but there is little hope of success for them. Spain should be free.

PHILOSOPHICAL.

We recommend the following tit-bit to the attention of a certain class of creatures who hope to raise their own character by blackening others.

Punch and Judy tell of a Yankee editor who in speaking of a large and fat contemporary, remarked, that if all flesh is grass he must be a load of hay. "I expect I am," said the fat man, "from the way in which the Donkeys are nibbling at me."

Not unfrequently we find whole columns of our reports appropriated by animals of the above species, without credit, to which we never object, for if they do not copy from some enlightened source their readers will be treated to only bar room gleanings strong with the odor of a certain class of messengers from Lake Infernus to whom is always applied the adjective blue.

In any criticisms that may appear in certain quarters, we feel certain that, as the old toper said when admiring the redness of his nose, "blood will show itself."

WESLEYAN METHODIST.

The 49th anniversary of the Wesleyan Methodist Conference Missionary Enterprize was held here on the three first days of this week. The President of the Conference and officers of the Society were here and held a very interesting meeting on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Fernley, of Montreal presided, and the Revd. Dr. Wood read the report.

The Revds. Mr. Potts, of Montreal; Mr. Aby, I. B. Armstrong, and Gemley, moved or spoke to resolutions, and in the distinguished laymen, besided the Chairman, who spoke, were Mr. Clendennan, of Montreal, and J. McDonald, of Toronto.

At the close of the addresses subscriptions were taken up to nearly $1,600 towards building mission houses at Yeddo and Yokohama, in Japan, where the Society has opened missions this year.

The Report and speakers appeared to have exalted and progressive views of the Mission work, especially in Japan and our new Nor' West Territory.

THE SCANDAL.

Is now as fully understood in England that the press there is dealing with it intelligently. The party lines of Conservative or Liberal do not there blind their eyes and warp their judgment as they do too often this side the Atlantic. Their strictures too are making the Ministerial party here restive. They begin to feel the [illegible] of earthly things, and the remorse that accompanies being found out in the commital of crime. There is no sign of repentance of the evil. There are no manifestations of a more upright course. The acknowledgement of taking the money, and the reasons for so doing are so lightly talked of, that evidence [illegible] of their sobriying in their own shame. All parties are looking forward to the coming struggle, one party depending on the justness of their cause, the other on the depth of Sir Hugh Allan's purse, and the willingness of the owner to deal it out liberally to ensure their ends.

The result of condoning the crime by a free distribution of gold, never enters into the calculations of the Premier or his satellites. But surely the people's representatives are not lost to a sense of honor and justice, as to sanction by their votes the admitted bribery of all that could be reached in the Dominion.—Twenty-seven members of Parliament, Sir Hugh swears, or does not deny, hold their seat by virtue of his money. Sir John got his share, $65,000; J. H Cameron, $5,000; Langevin, $20,000, and so on. Will these men be allowed to vote unchallenged, to acquit themselves? Nothing no unbought of can be permitted.

The party of "Union for Prog" are using every effort, straining every nerve, to whip their followers into line. Threats are used, and in some cases many tangible inducements are held to be applied. No men can now vote for the maintenance of the Ministry without being open to the grossest imputation of having received his price. We feel satisfied that many will support the Ministry against principle, but their doing so will not [illegible] them from the disgrace of being paid.

Mr. R. Northcott's appointment as Inspector of Drains was cancelled, and Mr. Clenenti, P. L. S., named to supply his place.

Mr. Geo. Howden was authorized to put on brush on the new road where the brush had been burned, to the amount of $5.

CRICKET.

The return match between the Westwood and Keene Cricket Clubs, was played on Saturday last in Westwood. The game hotly contested throughout, especially the second innings, owing to the big score made by Westwood during their first innings. The batting of J. Lancaster and J. Powell was excellent and also the bowling and wicket keeping of W Brown, C. Fargo and J. Powell. The bowling of Robt Londerville and Geo McCartney during the second innings was particularly sharp. Great praise is due to the Westwood Club for their courtesy and sumptuous feast furnished at the close of the game. The following is the score.

THE CALL OF DUTY.

The English press have, with the exception of a few silent, and for the most part insignificant, journals sounded no uncertain alarm as to the duty of Canada with respect to the Ministerial offenders in the matter of the Pacific Railway contract.

The public in this country seemed to some persons, a short while ago, to be relapsing into their usual lethargy about politics; but if this were so, the voice of the leaders of opinion in the mother-land has, we trust, roused them from their selfish stupor, and to-day Canadians stand face to face with a gigantic moral evil, which threatens the highest well-being of the commonwealth as it was never threatened before. A fortress which was in jeopardy, and in the heart of which was a band of traitors, would be in no greater peril than is our country from household foes. There is no alternative now for the people of Canada between a vigorous resistance to these traitors in their midst and an ignoble surrender to them of a people's honor.

To-day the voice of God is speaking to the hearts of this nation as it did once of old by Moses to the children of Israel. And the burden of the message is now, as it was then, "Choose ye this day between good and evil." The responsibility for the choice at this the most critical period of the history of Canada is as solemn as was the case with the Jewish multitude. A choice of evil instead of good by us will surely lead as also into the terrible wilderness of moral degradation, in which the present generation at least will suffer the life-long consequences of their fatal choice—a choice which, while dishonoring us, will wound in the most cruel way our mother country, as well as bring shame upon her.

It is just possible that the Canadian people may only when it is too late fully awaken to a sense of their duty towards their faithless public servants—may too late bitterly regret their irreparable suplcness, pusillanimous and apathy. It is not yet, however, too late. Therefore most earnestly and solemnly do we beseech every one who loves honor, and who therefore best loves the country of his birth or of his adoption, to resolve that he will do all that man should do to save this land—from dishonor. She has not yet place yet among the nations. Let us not stand her there to be a miserable by-word and a reproach. Rather let her go among them as one that has passed through the furnace of temptation indeed. but who is glorious in that she came forth unscathed from the fiery ordeal, and who in bright with the promise of the noble future that awaits every nation that, having followed righteousness, is assuredly exalted by it.—Montreal Witness.

What Next?

The party of U. P.'s are getting tired of political agitation. They dont relish hearing so often of John A's corruption. They think it time that something should be done to put an end to it, not the corruption, but the revelations concerning it. They are ready for a change. Who would be surprised to find them thrusting John A. in a large body on the 22rd instant. He is loosing his influence. They cannot hope for a continuation of fat things from him, and hence the policy of seeking another leader—and another party if possible. Let the country take heed and be not led away with their specciousness.

Improvements.

As our readers are aware, the Ontario Government is expending $1,000 in improving the Burleigh road. Of this sum the County granted $150 and the township of Burleigh, etc., $100, the Government furnishing $750. This sum, it was found, would not meet the necessary requirements, owing to the destruction of bridges, crossways, etc., by fire. The Warden and Mr. Ullyott having applied for a second grant, were successful in securing $200 more on condition that $100 be raised from private resorces, which has been done, the lumbermen of that district describing $65 of $100, the Warden thought he could recommend the County Council to furnish the balance, $35, thereby securing $400 toward the repairing, erection of two bridges on the road; and the blasting of some rocks that are much in the way. It is thought that this expenditure will make the road passable to the Monck road. The settlers of Burleigh must feel thankful to Mr. Millar for the interest taken by him in their settlement in securing the large improvements on the road at a time when very much needed.

Mr. Moylan repaying his Master.

The Mail says:

"Mr. Moylan presented to Sir John A. Macdonald a very handsome silver mounted walking cane which was won for the Prime Minister by a large vote over the Hon. George Brown at the recent Notre Dame banner."

Sir John has placed Mr. Moylan in a comfortable position for life. Why should he not come to his master's rescue in the hour of his extremity. Mr. Moylan had his price and he received it. The political significance of presenting a silver mounted walking cane to a Minister accused of the most flagrant violations of the trust imposed in him, and a disregard of political morality or honesty, can have no other import than this: That Mr. Moylan was at the bunsar and pulled the wires by which the vote was secured. Few know how much the cane cost the donor, indeed, John A might have had a vote in the matter himself. The bids were limited to 10 cents each. The Irish Canadian gives the actual votes as 35 for Mr. Brown, 19 for John A., when Frank Smith bid 50 ten cents at once. George Brown and John A. stood really at 35:20.

The Rev. Mr. Knight

Of Dundee, whose case has for some time attracted considerable attention in the religious world, lately made a full statement of his views on the point at issue. The statement has been considered by Mr. K's Presbytery, and his been deemed so satisfactory that no further proceedings are to be taken in the matter —Globe.

The Rev. Mr. Wallace

Of Edinburgh, who has been charged with preaching and publishing erroneous doctrines in reference to the resurrection and other points, has expressed regret that from writing hurriedly he may have expressed himself somewhat unguardedly on the points in question, but avers that he did not, and does not hold opinions at all in opposition to the teaching of the standard of his Church. The Presbytery are to-day to consider the whole matter, and it is generally understood that the difficulty will be amicably settled—Globe.

THE COMMISSION.

The Port Hope Times writes thusly anent the Commission just closed:

We did not require the Commission to inform us that money was freely used in the last elections. Everybody knew that who pretended to possess ordinary intelligence. But simply because Sir Hugh Allan, who is the wealthiest man in the Dominion, and is more deeply interested than anyone else in many enterprises of a national character, sent a blood money to the election fund, an immense outcry must be raised. We hold that it is not the extent to which a man contributes toward such a fund which makes it discreditable, but the giving at all, no matter how insignificant the amount. The principle is a bad one, and we trust the recent developements will be made serviceable as a lesson to all political parties to abandon the purchase of votes in future. Indeed, we trust Sir John Macdonald will make his new election bill very stringent upon this point, and we believe it will be to the advantage of the country if such a measure is passed and rigidly enforced. It will tend to secure us a better class of public men, and cut out the shoddyites, and men with more money than brains from public life altogether.

Our confrere, we doubt not, wants to get clear of the corrupt practices that he has known to exist. But how can he bring this about?

Surely not by retaining in office men who have admitted on oath that they spent $358,000 in bribing the electors, and then excuse or palliate the crime by saying, "It's done in England. Money was being spent by the Grits."

What confidence can be placed in the man who refused a pure election law, while there was a chance of Allan's money flowing freely, but now when there is no hope of more, cry for a stringent election law!

Sir,—I am authorized to state for the satisfaction of Stockholders and Customers in this vicinity, that there is not the slightest foundation for the report 'That the Montreal Company are about purchasing the Dominion Telegraph Company." The report is supposed to be a ruse to raise the price of Stock in the former Company.

Matters in France.

It is reported that when the French Assembly will be asked to vote in favor of the restoration of Monarchy and the elevation of Comte de Chambord as Henry V., M. Rouher will propose as a substitute, that the Monarchial principle be established, but that it be left to the country to decide which monarchy is preferred.

The Montreal Witness says:

That one sort of wrong doing leads to other sorts of wrong doing is a trite but true saying. How wonderfully it is illustrated in connection of the rejection in 1872 of Mr. Blake's anti-bribery bill by Sir John A. Macdonald's followers. Had that bill been passed, three-fourths of the late general election would have been voided. Had that bill been passed there would not have been cash in legitimate election expenses for the expenditure of one quarter of Mr. Rush Allan's so called subscriptions. In that case, Nicholas might never have entered into their leagues at all, or very with Sir Hugh. If they had been guilty of no other act of infamy than that of rejecting the bill, they would be responsible for all the corruption which has followed. It will tend to secure us a better class of public men, and cut out the shoddyites, and men with more money than brains from public life altogether.

John T. Irving.

The self confessed Nathan murderer, was was visited in his cell at San Francisco on the 30th ult by Captain Irving and Detective Dennenberry, of the New York police force, who have great thether to bring him to this city. They recognized him at at once and he recognized them. Irving still holds to his story of his complicity in the Nathan murder and says upon this point that he knows a great deal which he has not yet told on anybody, and which he will make known to the Chief of Police here on his arrival in this city. The detectives were to have started with him on their return in a few days.

Destructive Fire at Port Hope.

On the 8th inst. the grain storehouse belonging to the Midland Railroad was on fire, and before the engines could render any assistance, the whole building was in flames, and about 4,000 bushels of wheat was totally consumed; a schooner, also, before she could be removed was badly burned.

A telegram to the Globe says: "A destructive fire broke out in the Grain Storehouse belonging to the Midland Railway, between one or two o'clock yesterday morning. The building, which was of wood, was totally enveloped in flames before the alarm was given, and an adjoining shed, used for the storage of merchandize, also the property of the Railway Co, was speedily demolished. The flames communicated to the workshops used by Mr. Jas. Billiagsly and Mr. Henry Hacker, ship-builders, and so fierce were the flames that they were unable to save their tools. The schooner Mail, of Montreal, owned by Mr. Matthew Ferris, of Brighton, which had been undergoing repairs, was considerably damaged, a portion of her rigging being burned. She was partly insured. Messrs. Walton had some shipping material destroyed which was worth $70 or $80. Three box cars belonging to the Railway Co., loaded with barley, were burned, and the cars of one of the mail trains were scorched, which will necessitate repairing them. The other rolling-stock was run out of the way.

Messrs. Irwin & Boyd had about 30,000 feet of lumber destroyed. There was some 3,000 or 4,000 bushels of grain in the storehouse, which was all burned. It belonged to Messrs. Baker and Dundas, of Lindsay. At the present time it is impossible to ascertain the exact amount of loss by the fire, or the extent of insurance. The Midland Railway estimate their loss at about $3,50), upon which there is no insurance of $1,000. Mr. Billingsly's loss is about $450; Mr. Hacker loses about $150. Neither of them were insured. We have not been able to learn whether the grain was insured or not. The total loss will probably amount to about $10,000. Nothing is known as to the origin of the fire, but it is thought to have been the work of an incendiary. Had there been a strong wind from the east, the fire would have been a most disastrous one, as it would cleared the large quantity of lumber on the wharf, and destroyed a large amount of rolling-stock belonging to the Railway Co.

Short-Horn importation.

Two very fine Short-horn bulls arrived last week by the Phenecian from England, for Mr. Brown's herd at Bow Park. One of them is a red Bates bull, bred by Mr. J. H. Sheldon, of Brailes House, Warwickshire, and a magnificent animal. He was got by "9th Duke of Geneva" (28321), from "Lady Lewin Barrington," by "Duke of Brailes" (23724). He is styled "Duke of Barrington 4th," and will no doubt prove a most valuable accession to the Bow Park herd. The other bull is a pure Booth, bred by Mr. Hugh Aylmer, of West Dereham Abbey, and a very fine animal. His name is "Royal Tudor." He was got by Mr. Booth's great bull "Royal Broughton" (27352); his grandsire was Mr. Booth's "Prince Christian" (23161), and his four previous sires were "Majestic," "Hamlet," "Leonard" and "Buckingham," all famous Booth bulls bred at Warbie.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that the known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power, and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation of this Oil the closest change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which possesses the most astonishing results, and having a universality of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Whoop ever applied you got the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of oils which they may contain.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

THE REASONS WHY

LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's

CELEBRATED

Perfected Spectacles,

AND EYE GLASSES,

have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand [illegible]

2nd. Because they will restore sight when allowed by the common glasses and will also be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.

3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selection.

4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.

5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.

6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.

Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

The Old Home.

The prophet by the old mill stream
A trifle taller may have grown,
The lotus rought the tongues given
Perchance more falsely thrown;

Yet still the same green home are there
That brought their violet eyes in Spring,
And heard through harvest a golden year
The winnowe echoes ring.

Of children in the Apes' morn
Knee-deep in yellow cowslips' bloom;
Of lovers' whispers lightly borne
Through sultry twilight gloom.

And still upon the hot-bricked town,
The [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]
Echoes of sweeter days.

Yet still 'tis not the same old spot—
The old familiar friends are gone,
I ask of strangers who know them not;
All strangers, every one.

The morning breaks may sing the same;
[illegible]
Has passed in years away.

NOTED WOMEN.

"I met a famous woman many years ago on a steamer," said Charles Sumner to a newspaper correspondent. "We were going from Marseilles to Genoa. Among the passengers the woman in particular attracted my attention, because she held by the hand a very beautiful child. I have never observed such hair on a child's head. It was the real gold in color, and fell to his knees, not in curls, but in waves. The lady wore the Spanish costume. I now recall her Spanish mantilla. She was short, we might call her thick-set, not handsome, yet holding her child by the hand, I had a curiosity to find out her name. She was accompanied by a tall, slender gentleman. They kept aloof from the other passengers, and seemed to find society enough in each other. Upon inquiry I found her to be the famous George Sand. At that time she was the topic of conversation everywhere. She made a very distinct impression on my mind. She was comparatively a young woman. I met Disraeli and his wife at Munich, when they were on their wedding tour. At the principal hotel we met at the breakfast table. Mr. Disraeli sat by the side of his newly made wife. He might have been, or at least looked about, thirty years old. His intensely black hair was smoothed to perfection. At that time he had become famous as an author. Everything seemed noticeable about him. Mrs. Disraeli appeared like a kind-hearted, middle-aged English woman, and Disraeli seemed the one to carry the idea that he had drawn the prize. Time has shown how devoted they were to each other. In the last few months we hear of his walking by her side and supporting her tenderly. She must have been nearly, if not quite, eighty. In my opinion, Disraeli is one of the most remarkable men of this age, when we remember the obstacles he had to overcome to reach the position he occupies in England. The prejudice which exists there against his Jewish faith alone is enough to chill the most ambitious. Is beauty confined to one period of our existence? Infancy and childhood are only promises; the summer is something more; but give me the golden reality of October, or the bracing chill of a December landscape if the intellectual powers are not on the wane. I have known beauty to go with the years, but this I fear is the exception, not the rule. One of the handsomest women I ever knew was the mother of Lord Brougham. At the time I met her she must have been over eighty years of age. I was then quite a boy, and abroad for the first time, and met with the kindness to be invited to the castle of this nobleman. The manners and figure of Mrs. Brougham betrayed none of the decrepitude of her age. I shall never forget her extreme kindness and efforts to entertain a young American. I remember that, amongst other things, she brought the bag which her son wore at the time he was Lord High Chancellor. The bag is worn around the neck of this exalted officer of the British Government. It is an elaborate affair, made of silk, gold lace and embroidery. When the Lord Chancellor goes into the official presence of his sovereign this bag rests on his breast, and it contains the petitions which the loyal subjects desire to be laid before the throne. Every new Chancellor must have a new bag, and these are always retained as the precious heir-looms of the family. The great seal of England is always kept in the bottom of the bag."

SPICE ISLANDS OF THE EAST.

From Professor Rickmere's "Travels in the East Indian Archipelago."

JAVA AND CUBA.

In its geological structure, Cuba, with its central axis of mica slates, granite rocks, serpentines, and marbles, has a more perfect analogue than Sumatra; for in java the mountains, instead of being formed by elevations of pre-existing strata, are merely heaps of scoriae, ashes, sand and rock, once fluid, which had all been ejected out of separate and distinct events. The area of Java is estimated at 38,250 square geographical miles; that of Cuba at about 45,000. The length of Java is 565 geographical, or 666 statute miles; that of Cuba, 750 statute miles. But while the total population of Cuba is estimated at only one million and a half, the total of Java and Madura is now, according to [illegible] thirteen million nine hundred and seventeen thousand, three hundred and sixty eight.

Both of these great islands abound in forests that yield large quantities of valuable timber. Java furnishes the indestructible teak from which the Malays and Javanese fitted out a fleet of three hundred vessels that besieged Malacca, two years after it had fallen into the hands of the Portuguese. In the number that [illegible] Barbosa saw in the Straits of Cuba, on account of the [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

The Royal Canadian Insurance Co'y.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL . . . . . $5,000,000.

LIMITED LIABILITY.

The present rates for Fire Insurance throughout the Dominion (the result of combination among the various Insurance Companies) are, it is believed, not only excessive, but unnecessary; and however severe the losses to those Companies may have been in the late calamitous fires in Chicago, Boston and other cities in the United States, the losses in the business of Insurance throughout the Dominion, does not warrant the great increase which has lately taken place in the rates.

Such being the case, the Hon. John Young, M. P., Messrs. Thos. Caverhill, L. A. Boyer, M. P., Benjamin Lyman, J. F. Sincennes, Andrew Robertson, James Crathers, Wm. Workman, J. R. Thibaudeau, John Duncan, E. K. Greene, John A. Perkins, Joseph Barsalou, E. G. Penny, J. Hodgson, R. J. Reekie, John Grant, Henry Bulmer, Wm. McNaughton, James Bevry, Henry Lyman, J. Donnelly, S. H. May, James Coristine, John Popham, wm. O'Brien, Andrew Wilson, Alex. Buntin and Thos Tiffin have secured an Act of Incorporation for the above Company during the last Session of Parliament to carry on the business of Fire and Marine Insurance.

The authorised Capital of the Company is $5,000,000, in fifty thousand shares of $100 each. Five per cent. is payable on subscription of the Stock, and five per cent. within six months thereafter. The remainder of the Stock is payable in such instalments as the majority of the Directors shall determine; not, however, to exceed five per cent. per call, and at periods of not less than three months' interval.

It is not intended, however, to call up more than ten per cent. of the subscribed Stock, which amount will be paid to the Receiver General for the benefit of Policy holders; said deposit to bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum.

Sale of Thoroughbred Stock.

John Walton, Esq., and sons have advertised an extensive sale of thoroughbred cows and grades, on the 31st inst. The sale will take place at Balsam Grove. Mr. Walton has long been known for possessing the best Durham stock, to which he lately added other classes of thoroughbred animals. He will sell a large number of Durham and Ayrshire grades. Those in by a splendid opportunity to obtain improved stock.

Sale of Lots.

At the sale of Mr. Boyd's lots yesterday prices averaged from $140 to $185 per lot of about 4 acres.

The Lodge Bazar.

Mr. Boyd is pushing this to completion at a rapid rate. It is now nearly ready for plastering, except the swing partition, and Mr. R. informs us that next week will see by completed before the time specified in the contract. Mr. Boyd is just the man to get it completed, as he has always hitherto completed his work in time, and to the satisfaction of all concerned, no matter who is in power.

Auction Sale.

Mr. Joseph Redmond's extensive sale of stock takes place to-morrow. His stock has been selected and bred with care, as the number of first and second class prizes taken by him at the shows this and other seasons indicate. Farmers who are so inclined can thus improve their stock by attending the sale to-morrow. Mr. Redmond's residence is only between three and four miles from town on the leading road to Keene.

The Hunt Bidding

Ploughing match will be on the farm of Mr. John Knox, Otonabee, to-morrow.

Ball.

The man whom John A. prayed to get his hands on, is on his way to Ottawa, if not there already, to shake hands with the hypocrite who pretended if he had the man he would punish him, for the killing of Scott was murder when John A. was here at the banquet. Now he will have to declare him innocent, so as to use him to save himself, if even that will save him. John A's consistency will be found in his inconsistency as usual.

W. G. Thomson's

Fall and winter stock of Dry Goods is now complete and his millinery and mantle showing rooms replete with beautiful patterns in bonnets, hats, jackets, &c.

The "Musical Gang"

Will endeavor to make trips on Mondays, Wednesdays and Saturdays until further notice.

Temperance.

Mr. George Allan has opened his Temperance House in the old stand on Hunter's Street. The whole premises have been refitted, papered, carpeted, and painted in first-class style, and it will be found a comfortable place for the travelling public to stop at. The sheds are large and a careful hostler is always there.

The Jubilee Singers.

These Singers visited this town on Monday and Tuesday evenings. The weather was unfavourable for large audiences, but those who attended were well pleased.—The singers sang in the old style of the South when in slavery. They are not of the usual class of Minstrels, and deserve to be well patronized.

Extensive Sale of Dairy Cows.

Anthony Garnett, Esq., of Cavan, will have an extensive sale of Dairy Cows and Thorough-bred Stock, on Friday, 7th of November. He has rented a portion of his farm, and intends giving up the dairy business.

Port Hope

And vicinity has had two or more Charivaris, and some of those engaged in the mischief have gone to Cobourg to await their trial. Served 'em right.

Elopement.

The Port Hope Guide under this head says:—A young lady from Millbrook came to Port Hope a few days ago to spend a week, "for the good of her health," you know. A young man from the same neighborhood called the other morning at the house where she was stopping, with a new satchel for her. She was ready, and taking the arm of her caller said, when passing out, "good bye, I'm off to the States. The young people have been and gone and done it. What a warning is this to unreasonable parents!

Mr. Fowler

Sends us a communication, which will be found in another column. He must have been in an unwanted mood on railway matters. While giving his communication a place, he must excuse us if we express our dissent to the personal allusions in it.

CHANCERY SITTINGS.

At the Chancery sittings held here this week, two cases were heard.

The first was LEAHY vs. BRADBURN.—Counsel, Mr. Boyd, of the Firm of Blake, Kerr & Boyd, and Messrs. Boultbee, Fairbairn & Poussette, Attorneys for plf. Counsel for deft. the Hon. Attorney General Mowat. Messrs. Dumble & Bleecker Attorneys. Dismissed with costs.

HENDERSON vs. CALDER.—Counsel for plf. Mr. Scott and Attorneys Messrs Boultbee & Morgan of Newmarket.—Counsel for deft. Mr. Boyd and Attorney Mr. T. M. Grover. This case was also dismissed with costs.

THE EVANGELICAL ALLIANCE

Has closed its sittings at New York, and the delegates have returned home. The meetings were as harmonious as could be expected from the diversity of opinions, countries and interests represented. Much good is anticipated from this meeting of the denominations of Protestantism, no less than fifteen of which were represented. The members of the different delegations have expressed their hopes of the result on the works of the christian missions in various parts. All those who have studied the history of the progress of denominationalism, the professions of members on platforms, and the everyday practices of those professors, are inclined to make some little allowance for the outbursts of passionate piety, and the love of applause, that manifest themselves at great gatherings. The fixed religious views or creeds of the past and present, with the ungenerous allowance among even boasting Protestant tolerationists, of the right of private judgment when it appears to interfere with the dogmas of a craft, together with the absence, largely, of investigation, and a too often expressed determination to remain in ignorance, will still continue to hamper the progress of the principles of the Alliance, no matter how necessary to christian progress in truth. As a test of the liberality of those who speak loudest of christian union, just let the members of any one church occupy any building to their beloved pastor, their intention of leaving their stated place of worship to such their last with some other branch of the visible church, so as to test an example of christian union, and then will they, of one accord, in hymns of praise, sing "Old Hundred" and "Coronation." Perhaps they will find that they can meet on a platform in the fourth portion of the [illegible] of them [illegible] the ground. The number of candidates (36) being large, and an additional number for candidates for promotion to the Collegiate Institute, entailed an amount of labor in excess of former Examinations. The questions were furnished by the Board of Public Instruction, Toronto, and were difficult, but not unreasonably so, except in a few instances.

THE WEST RIDING SHOW.

This season's Show was considered a very fair one. The articles on exhibition were equal to most of the same class shown at former shows, but the number of competitors should be larger. The number of small Township Shows tends to divert attention from the Riding Shows, and deserves, in consequence, the earnest consideration of those who wish to have one good show instead of several poor ones.

If the Musical Instruments shown by Mr. Pentland and Mr. Errett, and the Sewing Machines exhibited by T. Donnelly & Co'y, which occupied one corner of the Drill Shed themselves, and also those shown by Mr. McConnell, on the other side had been removed, that end of the Shed would not have been full.

The beautiful Carriages, Buggies and Waggons, and the Implements shown by Messrs. Whyte & Davis, and Mr. Peter Hamilton, filled the other end.

The show of Horses, Sheep and Pigs was very good; that of Cattle on the decline, it is thought.

The number of visitors was very large.

The total number of entries was

The Boat Racing Plowing Match

Has been changed from the 29th Oct., to the 24th October, at a meeting of the committee yesterday.

On Wednesday Night

There was a considerable change of business in town, if judgement could be formed from the changed position of signs. Some who were not lawyers had a shingle out through the night, and some showed an inclination to recommend the slab business or coal as the case might be. Of course it was fun, but fun should be within certain limits. There is no fun in nourishing up sign boards or removing business in the morning. The fewer such night amusements the better for the parties concerned on all sides. The perpetrators have a short lived pleasure and the subjects of such jokes don't admire them.

A Casualty Act.

Some person or persons yet unknown but suspected, entered the barn yard of Mr. Thos Dawson of South Monaghan on Friday night, last, and cut the throat of one of his best sheep, cut the ears of others and cut and carried away a considerable portion of his harness. They also, or others of a hundred, killed and carried away the geese of other farmers in the vicinity and committed various depredations against the peace of our Sovereign Lady, the Queen, and some of Her Liege subjects. We also learn that the scenes at roerdyism at the show of Centreville were not creditable to a people or community always hitherto reputed peaceable and law abiding The best way to get rid of such evils is to punish severely the perpetrators. There is little doubt but that whiskey drinking is at the bottom of all the evil.

The West Riding Show.

This Show came off on Thursday and Friday. The number of entries speak favorably of the competition, although in this respect it is not what it ought to be yet. The roots, grain and fruit were equal to anything shown of late years The show of baggies, covered and open, was excellent, our mechanics rivaling those of any of the cities, Messrs. Doherty, Fitzgerald & Sherlock, Lockhart and Chewett, Douglas & Logan, and McDonald showed some splendid work in buggies, carriages, cutters and waggons. Whyte & Davis and Peter Hamilton in implements, Donnelly & Co. and McConnell in sewing machines, Pentland and Errett in organs, etc., made very creditable displays. In connection with the prize list we intend to make more extended comments.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—Without wishing to animadvert on the management of your very creditable exhibition at present in progress in this town, I would make a suggestion, (which I do not think altogether cancelled for) with respect to the appointment of judges.

I noticed on Thursday evening, while mingling with the crowd, a very considerable difference in opinion as to the correctness of the judges decision in some branches of the manufacturing department. It was argued, and not unfairly, I think, that it would be just as reason, able to appoint a mechanic, say a tailor shoemaker or carpenter as a judge o farm stock, as to appoint a farmer a judge of mechanical work.

And while I have no doubt that the gentleman appointed to the honorable position of judges acted in all good faith, quite unconsciously, yet it is unreasonable to suppose that a gentleman whose life was entirely devoted to Bucolic pursuits, who might be infallible as to the points of a horse, cow or hog, could be equally clear in his decision with regard to the excellencies or demerits of a piano a sewing machine, a carriage or a buggy.

I would therefore suggest that the managers of your very splendid, and in my opinion very successful exhibition, should in the future make such an arrangement as would secure mechanics as judges of work where the practician in skilled labor can alone judge properly.

In Norwood and in Keene this course was pursued and gave perfect satisfaction

Yours, etc.,
AN OBSERVER.

THE ASHANTEE WAR.

From the Daily News, Sept. 29.

A large aspect was persented on Saturday by the large piers at the Royal Arsenal, Woolwich, being covered from end to end with boats for the Ashantee expedition These boats, twelve in number, which are for landing the troops on the Gold Coast, will each accommodate thirty men, and resemble in size the pinnaces of a man-of-war. They were made and supplied under a pressing contract within eighteen days, and another dozen were ordered at the same time to be sent in within twenty-five days. They are strongly but roughly built, and will cost about £60. One hundred and fifty oars or paddles accompany them. There is always a high surf all along the Gold Coast, and no boats but surf-boats can depend upon landing in safety. The convoy, which takes them out, has two surf boats of her own, built in the same shape as these, but smaller, and she also carries two lifeboats. Gangs of natives are usually hired to land their goods and passengers, and under their skilful management it is seldom that one of these surf boats ships a sea. The lading of the Bonny was finished on Saturday by putting on board the remainder of the barrack huts which are being sent out to form an encampment for the troops; the decks and other part of each hut bear corresponding numbers, and the material being very bulky, speedily took up all the room their was to spare in the ship, except a space reserved in the magazine for a hundred tons of small arms ammunition, which will be taken on board to-day. Amongst the last things embarked on Saturday were fifty casks of jams, jellies, and preserved fruits for the hospitals; and a large quantity of medical comforts, as well as medicine, cast out with expedition show that the authorities are not unmindful of the sick. The supply of tea, so valuable as an auxiliary in cases of fever, is insured by a consignment of a ton of freezing cast, delivered in vessels by a patent ice company in London. The "mixture," as it is called on board, is said to be of an excessive character, on dangerous that the owners of the ship have generally forbid its carriage, but arrangements are made for having it carefully watched during the voyage, and no part of it has been mixed with the general cargo. The heat condition of the water on the Gold Coast will be in some measure counteracted, not only through the liberal issue of large filters, but by supplying the troops with small and portable ones. Two hundred "pocket filters" are sent out in the Bonny, simply cakes of charcoal, scarcely so large as ordinary drinking flasks, and each provided with a tube The little filter being put into the water, be it ever so foul, it is said that a man may draw the liquid through the tube and drink it without risk. Fifty charcoal filters have been sent and as many more are to follow. These filters, which are enclosed in wicker coverings, cost about £1 a piece. The pocket filters can be usually sold as from 5s to 10s. The Bonny, having taken the twelve surf boats on her deck, left the pier on Saturday evening, and brought up alongside of the floating magazine to receive her ammunition. She stopped her crew yesterday morning at eight o'clock, and will probably sail on Wednesday. Another large ship, the 69th contracted to convey materials from Woolwich, is expected immediately.

THE TRIAL OF LEPINE FOR THE MURDER OF SCOTT, IN MANITOBA.

The only important witness in the Rev. George Young, and his evidence has not yet been received in full. Below is what has come to hand :

Rev. George Young sworn—My name is George Young; I reside in Winnipeg, and was minister in '69-70 In 1870 I was at Fort Garry occasionally; made more visits interior of '69; made a return in January, February and March, 1870; had occasion to visit several prisoners confined in Fort Garry; some of them were in one prisoner's in Dr. Schultz's building in December '69 by Riel whose guard often on the 11th of February on the parade near the town, Bunge, Power, Parslow, Stotland, Tone, Scott, Major Boulton, Mr. Farmer and others about 30 or 40, I was ordered to appear to the 4th of March on Saturday and when permitted to do so; I had to obtain permission from Riel; at first I had to see him personally; he was evidently in command of the force holding Fort Garry at the time and keeping them in prison; there were others with him in the room; I mentioned his call before Council of War, he spoke to me of others, such as Adjutant-General, captains; previous to the 3rd or 4th of March I do not remember having anything to do with any other persons; on the 3rd of March I was returning home and met a messen er, one of the guards named Turner, who told me in his own language, I was required at the fort; I acted in what was required of me—he said Riel had sent for me to visit a prisoner who was condemned to be shot next day at 12 o'clock; I went with him; I attempted to see Riel at once, but was told he was not at the Fort; I went at once to see Scott who was in prison; I found him in one of the rooms above the Company's office which was used as a prison; he was alone; there was a guard at the door; a few days before Scott was handcuffed and shackled, but at this time he did not have on these and was perfectly free from these, he informed me that he had been what they called a trial, and was condemned to be shot; that he had objected to the trial as he was conducted in a language that he did not understand; Riel told him that it was no matter as he (Scott) was a bad man and was to die. I was with him between two and three hours on that morning; his mind was unsettled, but he said they were bad enough to do it; the only question was would they dare to do it; he made arrangements in case they carried their sentence out; I did not visit any other persons that evening, but next morning early, I went down to see the late Mr. Ross, who was known and called Chief Justice of the Provisional Government under Riel for the purpose of appealing to him on behalf of the prisoner, but he was not at home, I called upon Mr. Bannatyne and told him what was going on; he had not heard of it, and did not credit; he thought it was an attempt to frighten him, I called upon Mr. McKenzy, sheriff; he had not heard anything and did not believe they would do it; I say Mr. Robert Tait; he also had not heard of it, and did not believe it; I then came to the Fort and went to see the prisoner for a few minutes; I then called upon chief Commissioner, Hon. Donald A. Smith, and informed him what had taken place and requested his assistance and influence with Riel; he had not heard of it and seemed much distressed by the information, and gave me his assurance that he would use his influence to prevent his execution, at the same time he advised me in case of trouble or in case of failure to notify him immediately; he advised me to go to Riel first; at that time Father Lecamy, a priest in connection with the Roman Catholic church, came in; I appealed to him; he said he had heard of it and would attend to my request; I went immediately to see Riel; I asked him if the man whom he had sentenced to be shot would be shot; he said it was their intention; he had been sentenced to be shot; there was another person present at that moment; I asked him if the prisoner (Scott) had been plotting against his (Riel) life; he said "no," but that he must impress the Canadian Government that he (Riel) was in earnest, he had selected Scott as he thought he was the worst one; I asked Riel not to execute Scott; I said that he was powerless in his (Riel's) hands; that it was an awful thing to hurry a man to his death; that Scott had not had time to prepare for death; he (Riel) seemed vexed that Scott doubted his sentence, and said, "Go and tell him he must die inside of three hours; if I hold a cross before his eyes it would impress him fully." I told him it was not usual to do such a thing with us; I asked that the execution should be postponed twenty-four hours; he said he would call in Adjutant-General and the question submitted to him; he added that Scott had been sentenced by the Council who, with one an exception, decided that Scott must die, but that he would submit it to the Adjutant-General, who, I understood, was the presiding officer on that occasion; he called the Adjutant-General into his room; Lepine is the person; he (Lepine) came into the room; I repeated my request to spare Scott's life, or that he should have twenty-four hours longer; Riel spoke to Lepine, and the result was a refusal; Lepine shook his head very decidedly and left the room; I conversed with Riel for a few minutes, he told me my request was refused; I then went to the prison to see Scott and sent a messenger to Mr. Smith; I found Scott alone in his cell; I told him of the refusal, and that there was reason to fear that the execution would take place; we then had devotional exercises until we were interrupted by the arrival of guard who came to take him out,

DIED.

GOODFELLOW, Monaghan, on the 10th inst., Elizabeth Jane, fourth and beloved daughter of Robert Goodfellow, Esqr., aged 18 years and 8 months.

Little mary white hands are folded
On our darling's loving breast;
Like a lily she reposes,
In her pure and quiete rest.
Angels came around her pillow
At the dawn of Sabbath day;
They have borne her spirit upwards
To its home so far away.

Like the lilies in their beauty,
She has faded from our sight;
She was ever sweet and lovely,
And so, blessing and delight.
How we miss her joyous footsteps,
Never more on earth to roam,
Long we'll sigh for darling Bessie,
Wandering from her quiet home.

North Monaghan, Oct. 19th, 1873.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtue of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients to certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Then in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the small oil left which they may contain.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forti-fied.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.
4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.
5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

OCTOBER.

There comes a month in the weary year—
A month of intense and delightful cheer,
When the ripe leaves fall, and the air is clear,
October, the brown, the crisp, the blest.

I like the State enough of bliss,
I drag the days of the cold abyss,
Christmas the child shall wait for in vain—
The month that opens the hyperborean.

And oh! for the morning crisp and crabbed,
With the swamp of the bounds upon the thumb,
The bark reeled cabin, the damp fire's light,
The break of the deer and the rifle's crack.

Do you call this trifling? I tell you friend,
A life in the forest is past all praise,
Give me a dozen such months on end—
You may take my balance of years and days.

For brisk and mortar brands filth and crime,
And a palm of swill that throbs and beats,
And man grow withered before their prime
With the curse passed in on the hour and minute;

And lungs are choked and shoulders bowed
In the smothering mist of mill and mine,
But he shows the shadow of oak and pine.

And of all to which the memory clings,
There is nought of sweet as thempany spots
Where our shanties stood by the crystal springs
The vanished bounds, and the lanky shots.

—From the ALDINE for October.

Choice Literature.

The South Huron Election.

We commend the perusal of the following article from the Cornwall Freeholder, and we trust the Reformers of the East Riding will ponder it well. There were enough Reform votes unpolled at last election to give Mr. Ingram a majority of 100, yet petty ill feeling engendered through municipal and other business, caused them to remain at home, and now an excuse for a man represents the East Riding.

"The Reformers of South Huron have been caught napping. They now doubtless see for themselves how different it would have been with them had they but done their duty. The sentinel may venture to think that he may safely go to sleep at his post, but the faithful soldier, sensible of what is due his country, never yields to the temptation. The Reformers of South Huron may examine themselves; but whatever may be their reflections upon their own conduct, those who entertain with them common views in relation to public policy have been given cause to regard them as weak brethren. We see it stated, and we have no doubt of its accuracy, that enough Reform votes were unpolled, in excess of the unpolled Conservative vote, to give the Reform candidate a majority of four hundred. Yet he escaped a defeat that would have been disgraceful by a paltry majority of fourteen. In the face of these facts the Reformers of South Huron cannot justify their apathy by any means, short of a confession that the many inconsistencies, if not the gross political immoralities, by which their party procurred and have retained office in Ontario, have resulted in their total prostration. That is certainly the only justification they can offer.

Their excuses may be many, as we learn they are; and those excuses we believe fully account for their delinquency, although they do not in the least degree justify it. They were displeased, a section of them at least, with their candidate, because of active measures he had at one time taken in favor of one locality to the prejudice of another, and therefore they thought it their privilege to sacrifice public interest to their own personal revenge. This was, as nearly as we are able to discover, the true cause of the almost melancholy result of the recent election. Excuses, as a rule, are not creditable to those who plead them; and in this case the best excuse that can be offered is simply disgraceful.

It is a remarkable circumstance that not one of the many local papers published in or about South Huron gives the number of votes polled. They give the majorities; but if they had given the number of votes polled for each candidate it would have been of more service, and people could easily figure out the majorities for themselves. We have seen the statement in one paper, what one we do not recollect, that the entire vote on this occasion polled for the conservative candidate was less than the majority at the previous election given for the Reform candidate. If this be the case then the organs of the Ottawa Government are claiming a gain for their side that, while it does not cancel the Reform majority in the riding, represents every man who at the previous election had polled for their candidate, as having staid at home. Clearly the state of the poll would throw some light upon the absurd calculations by which it is made to appear that the electors of South Huron have actually voted a premium to the perpetrators of a great national scandal.

A COSTLY NEWSPAPER.

Our town contemporary the Review, has been pursuing a course of late that is costing the people of the town about $4,000 to $6,000 a year. In furtherance of its hobby about Water Works, the readers thereof are aware of the appearance of several articles urging the unprotected state of the Town, in reference to capabilities to extinguish fires. These articles have been forwarded to Railway Companies and Managers. A meeting of fire Insurance Managers was held at Ottawa lately to discuss the rates to be enforced in different Towns and among the rest Peterborough was taken up. We copy from the report of the meeting.

AN EXTRACT WAS NEXT READ FROM THE PETERBOROUGH "REVIEW", REPRESENTING THE DIFICIENCIES OF THAT TOWN IN THE MATTER OF WATER FOR EXTINGUISHING FIRES AND ITS CONSEQUENT INADEQUATE PROTECTION IN CASE OF FIRE, ACTION THEREON WAS DEFERRED TILL TO-MORROW. We turn to the Report of to morrow, where we find the following:

"Resuming the discussion of yesterday, with reference to the deficient water supply of Peterborough, Ordered, That in view of the present inefficiency of the fire department and the inadequate supply of water in the Town of Peterborough the rates for fire insurance in that town be placed, on and after the 1st of August next, on the same footing as "Ottawa and other places."

We immediately enquired what effect this will have on Peterboro, and are told that it raises all insurance in the town one quarter per cent, or we must now pay $1.25 for every $100 insured instead of $1,00 as formerly. We believe we are under the mark when we say this town pays $16,000 a year for insuring property, if this is the correct sum, next year that will be $20,000 or $4,000 a year, has been placed to our burden by this unwise newspaper article, written to induce Water Works, a gas company by which a few may make a "haul" out of the public. If this is continued the people will have to pay dearly for their whistle.

The Court of Assize and general jail delivery opened here on Monday, His Lordship Mr. Justice Wilson presiding.

The Grand Jurors are:

A. H. Dickey (Foreman), Wm Beaupre, Francis J. Bell, Jas Charlotte, Sand Elliott, John Elder, Alex Gillespie, W. H. Hall, C. Irwin, Simon Johnston, S. McKibbon, Geo Payne, sen., R. Parnell, Jos Redmond, Jas Stephenson, John Sargent and Richard Birdsell.

The Judge congratulated the jurors on the fact that there were very few cases to bring before them, two cases of larceny and one of indecent assault. The larceny cases were of a nature not to require much investigation, and the assault would not perhaps require much. He referred to their duty in examining and reporting on the state of the jail and other matters, briefly.

The first two cases were undefended

The next case was Crawford vs Desbarats. This was a case in which Miss Crawford of Peterboro was plaintiff, Mr Desbarats of Montreal, defendant. The plaintiff brought an action to recover $605.48 for stories or novels written for defendants papers, the Hearthstone and Favorite. It appeared that in 1872, Mr. Desbarats published that he would pay certain premiums for a certain class of stories to be published in his papers. Miss Crawford competed, and after examination was informed by the Editor of the Hearthstone that she had been awarded the first prize of $500 for her story entitled "Winona," she wrote several other short stories for the same papers, for which she charged $8 a column. The whole account came to $605.48. There was simply no defence, except that the plaintiff had not shown that premiums were offered or agreed to be paid, as letters were not proof, as they might not be from the person at all. The jury returned a verdict for plf. of full amount.

TUESDAY.

The Queen vs Jas. Fox.—This case is known as the Dummer murder case, which took place in Dummer last November, when Mrs. Payne wife of Jeremiah Payne, and a relation named David Doughty were foully murdered near Stoney Lake, Mrs. Payne being enciente at the time. Suspicions were immediately cast on Mr. Payne's hired man, known then as Wm Brenton, and who had left that day without a settlement, although over $40 of wages were due him. He was arrested the same night about 12 o'clock in town, and was committed for trial. At the Spring Assizes the plea of insanity was raised, and the Judge laid the case over with a view to testing the truth of it. Dr. Workman of the Lunatic Asylum, Toronto being sent to examine him, as well as other medical men of the neighborhood.

Mr. J. D. Armour conducts the case for the Crown, Mr. Boultbee defends the prisoner.

The prisoner Fox or Brenton was placed in the dock about 10 a.m. and the following jury empanelled:

Jas Millar, Peterboro; John McIntyre, Douro; Chas Liddell, Peterboro; Duncan McIntyre, Otonabee; John Mowry, Ashburnham, Michael Leahy, Douro; Henry Head, Smith; David Henderson, Otonabee; Michael Kennedy, Douro; John Hope, Otonabee; Wm Hetherington, Peterboro; Peter Hugh y Otonabee.

Mr. Armour addressed the jury, going over the case from the first, showing the points on which he would tender evidence tending to connect the prisoner with the murder, the manner of the murder and the time and flight of Brenton. the winding course he took in getting to Peterboro the manner of the prisoner. his denying or not telling his own history, the manner of arrival in the settlement where the murder was committed, all tending to connect him with the act. He concluded by asking the jury to lay aside all feeling in the matter, either as to the horrible crime or any inferences they may have been making, and consider the case according to the evidence If they believed on the evidence the prisoner guilty, to give their verdict according, but, if they believed him innocent, or on the plea of insanity not conscious of the knowledge of the guilt, then they should acquit him.

Jeremiah Payne, husband of deceased, sworn—Lives on Lot 30, in the 7th con. of Dummer. His house is situated facing the South, the door opens to the South, there is a back door nearly opposite the front one, there is a partition across the house below dividing it into a kitchen, a bed room and a place for stairs leading to the upper flat, which was used as a store room and bed room. Witness and wife slept down stairs, the bed room is in the east end of the house, he had lived there three years last March, ever since married. They had one child, first saw prisoner in May 1872, on Sunday at a neighbor's. Witness was there when he came in, he wanted to find the way to Belleville through Belmont, he afterwards came to my house, it was stormy and he took tea. My father-in-law, F. Myles, and D. Drain, were there, he went away, he wanted work, my father-in law hired him to cut cordwood at 30c. a cord. He was about two months with my father-in-law, I hired him to come tome on the 1st of may, I was to give him $64 for six months. He worked for me during the the summer, he lost sixteen days, partly being away and partly by being sick, he was with me on the morning of the 14th of November last, he, my wife, the boy Doughty and myself and child took breakfast together; Doughty was about 14. I went after breakfast to Mr. Sutton's to a threshing Mr Sutton lives on lot 29, in the 9th con., and therefore a little south east of me, not more than half a mile distant. I left prisoner at home at work, fixing a root house, he and witness had been working at it before, it was about 100 yards north of the dwelling house. I left him to cover the top and one side. he used a pick, an axe and a shovel at it. Witness stayed at Sutton's until the machine broke at 2. to 3 o'clock, after dinner about 2 o'clock prisoner came to me. he wanted me to go home and settle with him. I showed him how to get on the horse-power where I was, he put his left hand around my shoulder. he said he had not got tea to dinner only milk Wife told him he could not go then, would settle with him in the evening or next morning. He asked me to go home and give him something to eat. Witness told him they could do that at home as it had often done before. He then left. I saw him till away into the lane, he went towards Mr. Drain's. Witness did not watch him further, I observed nothing unusual when with him except that he had milk on. After the breaking of the spring I went home. Wm Crow and John Tighe were with me. They came with me to my gate, my house is about seventy yards from the road. They went on homewards on the road west. As I approached the house I saw my wife lying before the door, I was within ten or three yards of her before I saw her. Her head was to the south and her feet towards the door and about four feet from it, she was on her back, dead. I shouted "murder, murder," I did not put my hand on her. Mr. Crow and Tighe were out of sight but soon came back, I do not know how. Thos. M. Murray and Dennis Delaney also soon came and a number of the neighbors. I went into the house and some others went with me, I think I went in first. I saw the cradle in the kitchen and the baby in it. I can't say there was anything disturbed in the house. My wife was dressed in her usual dress, can't say she appeared to be long dead, can't say she appeared to be doing anything when killed. I next saw prisoner in Peterboro in jail. I did not take notice to much around, I say the pick axe at the door. Can't say that I saw the dog. I am told the dog was shut up in the kitchen. The murder was committed on Thursday, when I last saw prisoner at my house he had on a light grey coat, striped pants. Parr produced that were taken off prisoner Witness identified them as the same ones. A portmonnaie was then produced which was found on prisoner. It contained a $1 bill and one dollar in silver, a box partly filled with caps. Mr. Payne said they were his. The bill I recognize because much torn, I got it in change from Mrs. Hill, Lakefield, some days before and gave it to my wife; she generally kept it. I know it particularly because when getting it I objected to it as it was patched. I put it in the portmonnaie along with $8 and gave it to my wife. I never saw it again till in jail, when in his cell the turnkey showed it to me. Next morning, I missed a rifle, a pair of blankets, a shirt, a quilt and some bread. I know the bread was gone for I had been at the cupboard in the morning and saw three whole loaves and a part loaf which was used for breakfast. The rest could not be used. I have searched for these things but could not find them. The prisoner gave me his name as Wm. Brenton. He never helped me to kill any animal, either sheep or chicken. I killed the sheep; I owed him $40 when he went away. There was no man working about that day except prisoner. I never saw the boy Doughty alive after breakfast that day. I saw his body next morning when it was being taken away. The bodies remained where they were till Dr. Bingham came. My place is 25 to 30 miles from Peterboro.

Cross-examined by Mr. Boultbee—I know the place where it was said prisoner was seen, about a mile west of my house. I have searched for the things lost, the place is rough and rocky. They may have escaped my search but it is not like ly. I do not know of any other man hired that year in our settlement. The wages I gave him were low. he was a good worker, wages that year were $16 to $18 a month. He offered to work for that, as he was not a river driver and not fit for shanty work. Witness saw nothing strange with prisoner during the summer, he conducted himself well. He had said something about hairs in the bread and that they turned to worms and snakes in his insides.

To Mr. Armour—I used the same bread.

John Tighe sworn—I live in Dummer, on lot 29, 5th con., nearly at the centre. about S.W. from Mr. Payne's. The road to Payne's house runs through my land, I was at Sutton's threshing on the 24th Nov., Mr. Payne came after I did. He remained till the machine broke, machine broke about 2 o'clock or a little after, I stopped to see if it would run true. Afterwards Wm. Crow and Jeremiah Payne left with me. We went towards home, passed Payne's gate, Mr. Crow and I went on home. Mr. Payne went to his gate; after going about fifteen yards heard a loud shout, listened for an instant, and then ran where we heard it. We saw Payne running down through the field shouting "Murder, murder! My wife is murdered." He wanted us to go up, I didn't like to go. we could see the body from where we stood. When Mr. Delaney and McMurray came they went up. Mr. Crow stopped at the road. This was about from 3 to 4 or 5 o'clock. We found body on the back, hands up as if in defence, her throat cut, but could not tell how the face looked, the feet were about 4 feet from door, apparently her head was as if brains knocked out; I was excited, The pick-axe was about 2 feet from the body, there was blood on point, handle was out; I did not see the handle then but it was shown to me afterwards, I don't know who found it. I went in, Payne opened the door, Dennis Delaney and Mr. Murray followed. We met the dog in the door, I saw Payne with baby in his arms, the back door was shut; we went through the house, saw nothing to cause remark, didn't remark dishes, went out at same door came in at. Delaney took the baby, afterwards Payne took it, Crow and witness looked for the boy. Delaney came back, I and Delaney went to search for the boy Doughty. Saw a tin pale at the root house door, we went and saw the door open. went a little farther and saw the boy on his back inside, I then turned and went to search for Brenton; Delaney came back and said the boy's throat was cut. Richard Darling and I started for Peterborough, I on Mr. Payne's horse, Mr. Darling on his own. Kept trace of Brenton about 6 miles, Darling came as far as Warsaw, got there about six o'clock; we fee'erred by directions obtained on the road, as we inquired of everyone, and also went into houses and enquired. I lost track of him at John Hughes, where he had gone in to get a drink of water. I went to Peterboro, got there about 8 o'clock, went to telegraph office and telegraphed to Port Hope, and notified Coroner Dr. Kincaid. I went back with Dr. Kincaid, got back about one o'clock the Dr. said. The body was taken up before we went back into a kind of lean-to at back of house, didn't see the boy Dougnty, I did not examine the house to see the condition of things at any time.

Cross-examined—I did not search for the lost articles. I was partly acquainted with prisoner, but not much, he would not hold conversation with any one, I thought him more than usually reserved for a farmer, and smart.

Denis Delaney, sworn—I live in Douro, was at Sutton's the day referred to, I owned the threshing machine, saw Payne there, didn't know him when he came, the machine was broken down about two or three o'clock, I stayed three quarters of an hour afterwards, then went away. I saw prisoner there about half an hour or an hour before brake down. I first saw him inside of horses in the act of getting on to the power, I didn't see him going away, there is only one road he got there, we came away the same road he left. Thos. McMurray was with me, I had the broken part of the machine with me. Before we come to Payne's we heard some persons shouting, stopped to listen, and on hearing another about we started on. We had only started when we heard the shout again, when we came we saw Tighe, Payne and Crow coming towards the gate, got off and went to house, Mr. Crow stopping to hold the horses, witness, Mr. Payne and Tighe went to house. I saw the corpse, I did not examine body, I did see where the blood on pick axe, Mr. Payne showed me door, I followed in, I saw the cradle and baby about three feet from door, in door, there was a chair between the door, cradle and up against the cradle, I saw the head of the woman laid backwards, position, didn't notice clothing of body, quilt on corpse usually on bed, I saw Mr. Payne take up the baby, I commenced to go, when he spoke. I heard of the boy, met Tighe and said to him, "Come and we will look for the boy." We went towards the root house, and opposite the door could see the body plain, could see the boy lying on his back; as far as I could judge his throat was cut—came back to yard. I remained there about three-fourths of an hour, and went away, I had not the pick axe in my hands, I saw the handle afterwards at the jam of the back door.

Thos. McMurry, sworn—I was at the threshing on 14th of November, went there with Delaney, was there when Mr. Payne came about 7 or 8 o'clock, he stayed till the machine broke down, that was after 2 o'clock, saw him come saw him go away, he stayed about 5 minutes saw him about 50 yards away in same direction he came. After the brake we stay ed nearly an hour. Payne could not be gone over ten minutes before us. I saw the body as described, I just looked at it saw the pick axe a little way from her feet, saw blood on it, fresh blood, went in the house with Mr. Payne & Delaney, can't say there was fire in the stove. saw dishes on the table, cups and saucers, went to root house after Mr Delaney & Tighe, I saw the boy dead, I looked but saw no marks of clay as if struggling, blood ran from the neck on to the ground did not observe that his shirt was open I saw what looked like the handle of the pick, it was larger at one end than the other I went away with Delaney, I don't know prisoner except by seeing him at threshing

I heard of the boy, met Tighe and said to him, "Come and we will look for the boy." We went towards the root house, and opposite the door could see the body plain, could see the boy lying on his back; as far as I could judge his throat was cut—came back to yard. I remained there about three-fourths of an hour, and went away, I had not the pick axe in my hands, I saw the handle afterwards at the jam of the back door.

Cross-examined—I was not one of the men who searched for the lost things.

Thos. McMurry, sworn—I was at the threshing on 14th of November, went there with Delaney, was there when Mr. Payne came about 7 or 8 o'clock, he stayed till the machine broke down, that was after 2 o'clock, saw him come saw him go away, he stayed about 5 minutes saw him about 50 yards away in same direction he came. After the brake we stay ed nearly an hour. Payne could not be gone over ten minutes before us. I saw the body as described, I just looked at it saw the pick axe a little way from her feet, saw blood on it, fresh blood, went in the house with Mr. Payne & Delaney, can't say there was fire in the stove. saw dishes on the table, cups and saucers, went to root house after Mr Delaney & Tighe, I saw the boy dead, I looked but saw no marks of clay as if struggling, blood ran from the neck on to the ground did not observe that his shirt was open I saw what looked like the handle of the pick, it was larger at one end than the other I went away with Delaney, I don't know prisoner except by seeing him at threshing

PLOUGHING MATCH.

The district ploughing match, under the auspices of the Council of the Agricultural and Arts Association of Ontario, took place to-day on the farm of Mr. W. Ainsworth, two miles east of Port Hope. The day was fine, and the land in good condition, giving a fair opportunity for the ploughmen to show their skill, which was quite up to the mark. There were 26 entries, though a number from a distance did not come, no doubt on account of yesterday being wet. Among the absent were two double-furrow ploughs, which were greatly missed.

The following is the prize list :—

Peterborough takes three prizes. One among the iron ploughs, and a first by Mr Smithson, of Otonabee, with the wood on plough. In the class of young men under 21, Mr.J. Henderson, of Otonabee, takes second prize; Whitby took five prizes, and Scarborough two. The prize list as above we copy from the Globe.

THE EAST RIDING PLOUGHING MATCH.

This match came off yesterday on the farm of Mr. John Knox, in Otonabee The day was fine and the field a good one. There were only eleven entries—7 in the mens' class and 4 in the boys' class. The work was well done by all the competitors The ploughers, with one exception, were all comparatively young men—a proof that the young farmers are not behind in cultivating the arts of their profession.

The Judges, Messrs. J.Smithson, Hugh Christie and John Cleghorn, commenced their work about four o'clock, and as soon as they had decided Mr. Rotburgh read out and distributed the prizes to those who had been successful, viz. :

MENS' CLASS

1st John Henderson, a plough worth $15
2nd David Henderson 14
3rd Thos. Stewart 10
4th Jas. Stewart 8
5th Robert Renwick 6
6th Thos. Barney 5
7th Duncan McFee, a stone-boat.

BOYS' CLASS.

1st Jas. Fife, son of John Fife, Asphodel, a plough worth $16
2nd Jas. Wood, a plough worth 14
3rd Andrew Cameron 10
4th John McFee 8

The ploughmen, directors and many others then retired from the field to Mr. Knox's fine, large residence, where a sumptuous dinner was prepared for them in exquisite style, and with a liberal hand, to which ample justice was done These annual competitions ought to be encouraged, as tending to cultivate sociality and friendly rivalry in the cultivation of the soil, and creating a strong attachment to the noblest of all professions, that of the honest husbandmen.

ASSESSMENT LAW.

The Toronto Banks have memorialized the Ontario Government on the subject of Taxation on the following terms :

The memorial of the undersigned representatives of the banking interests of the city represents as follows :

1. That the banking capital of the Province of Ontario is of the utmost importance to the development of its resources, and the maintenance of its prosperity.

2. That the industrial enterprises which furnish the material for taxation have been fostered by it for years, and rest upon it to a large extent at present.

3. That the industrial enterprises which furnish the material taxation have been fostered by it for years, and rest upon it to a large extent at present.

3. That the taxation of such capital, in the Province of Ontario, will tend to repress the development of its industrial and commercial enterprise, and lead to the transfer of banking institutions to the province of Quebec.

4. That the effect of such repression and transfer will be a great disarrangement to progress; it being within the knowledge of your memorialists that means are now being taken for the removal of capital from local institutions to other fields of employment.

5. That the operation of such a tax will tend to prevent that investment of foreign capital in the monied institutions of the Province which has hitherto so largely contributed to its prosperity.

6 That the continuance of the tax will not only defeat the object of raising a revenue from those particular institutions by causing their removal from the province, but will operate to reduce the general volume of municipal revenue, by narrowing the area upon which taxation is levied.

7. In addition to these considerations, applicable especially to this Province, your memorialists represent that by special statutes all banking capital was exempt from municipal taxation so long as a particular tax on the circulation of notes was payable to the general Government.

8. That by recent legislation, the repeal of this particular tax was accompanied by a prohibition to circulate notes of small denomination, such prohibition being incorporated in the same act as the repeal, and being expressly designed as an equivalent to a continuance of the tax.

9. That this prohibition has resulted in a greater gain to the government than would have arisen from the continuance of the tax, all which involves a diminution of banking profits—the banks being virtually asked to a greater extent than before. They claim in equity, therefore, that the exemption should continue.

In the meantime a convention of Mayors, Aldermen and Councillors from the principal places is in session at Toronto, and passed the following resolution :

After some desultory discussion

Mr. Harman moved in amendment to the order of the proceedings, "That this Convention is of opinion that persons property should bear its fair burden to assessment."

Mr. Tonle seconded the motion.

After considerable discussion, upon the motion being put to the meeting, only Ald Thomson voted against it. It was consequently carried.

On the second day of the convention "All land and personal property in the Province of Ontario shall be liable to taxation, subject to certain exemptions."

Ald. Moffat moved, seconded by Mr. Holden, that the first exemption, which is as follows, should stand :—

"All property vested in or held by Her Majesty, or vested in any public body, or body corporate, officer or person in trust for Her Majesty, or for the public uses of the Province; and also all property vested in or held by Her Majesty, or any other person or body corporate, in trust for or for the use of any tribe or body of Indians, and either occupied occupied by some person in an official capacity."

Mr. Holden moving that clause 3 of the exemptions read "Except buildings only, and not the land, which shall not apply to burial grounds."

Mr. Crossa seconded the amendment.

Several other amendments were proposed and withdrawn, and Mr. Holden's amendment carried.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Upon the re-assembling of the Convention,

Ald. Thomson said that he believed that the object of the resolution last passed before the adjournment was to exempt all places used as burial-grounds in connection with churches, and the last seemed to have been overlooked that there were burial-grounds in common by all denominations. He moved, seconded by Ald. Wathrow, "That clause 3 read also to exempt all lands set apart and used as burying-grounds, whether in connection with buildings used as places of worship or not." Carried.

After discussion the following motion, with amendment, was carried, which was as follows :—" The buildings and grounds of and attached to every university, college, incorporated grammar school, or other incorporated seminary of learning, whether vested in a trustee or otherwise, so long as such buildings and grounds are actually used and occupied by such institutions, or if unoccupied, but not if otherwise occupied."

Ald. Moffat moved, seconded by Mr. McCormick, "That the grounds of these institutions be not exempted."

Some further discussion in reference to provincial buildings also took place, but was not of sufficient importance to give in extenso.

The next clause was as follows :—

"The income of a farmer derived from his farm, and the income of merchants, mechanics or other persons derived from capital liable to assessment."

The clause was allowed to stand.

The next clause was the following :—"So much of the personal property of any person, as is invested in mortgage upon land or is due to him on account of the sale of land, the fee or freeholder of which is vested in him, or is invested in the debentures of the Province, or of any municipal corporation thereof, and such debentures."

Mr. Holden moved, seconded by Mr. Allan, that the clause read as follows :—So much of the personal property of any person as is invested in the debentures of any municipal corporation and such debentures," which was carried.

Upon resuming, the 17th clause was taken up. It was as follows :—

"The stock held by any person in any railroad Company, and the building societies shall be liable to be assessed, and so much of the personal property of any person as is invested in any company incorporated for the purpose of lending money on the security of real estate; provided that this shall not exempt the interest or dividends derived from such investments."

Mr. Edwards moved, seconded by Mr. Toole, "That the whole clause be struck out except the words, 'The stock held by any person in any railroad company.'"

They could deal with companies when they came to discuss personal property with a view of dealing what it was.

Mr. Edward's motion was carried.

The next clause was as follows :—"So much of the personal property of any person, as is equal to the just debts owed by him on account of such property, except such debts as are secured by mortgage on his real estate, or may be unpaid on account of the purchase money therefor," was struck out.

The following was passed in order; The next clause was as follows :—"The stipend or salary of any clergyman or minister of religion, while in actual connection with any church, and doing duty as such clergyman or minister to the extent of one thousand dollars, and the parsonage or dwelling house occupied by him, with the land thereto attached, to the extent of two acres, and not exceeding two thousand dollars in value."

It was moved that the clause be struck out, which was agreed to without discussion.

The next clause—"Rental or other income derived for real estate except interest on mortgages," was allowed to stand.

On the next clause—"Household effects of whatever kind, books and wearing apparel."

The opinion was expressed by a number of Delegates that the furniture of hotels and large boarding houses should not be exempt.

Mr Harman said that he assessed the furniture in hotels and also that in the Toronto Club House.

Mr. Deacon moved, seconded by Mr. Allan, "That the words 'excepting in hotels, saloons and taverns.'" Carried.

The convention had gone this far on Thursday evening

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of OIL of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtues of its own. Science physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alchol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

The Royal Canadian Insurance Co'y.

AUTHORIZED CAPITAL - - - - - $5,000,000.

LIMITED LIABILITY.

The present rates for Fire Insurance throughout the Dominion (the result of competition among the various Insurance Companies) are, is is believed, not only excessive, but unnecessary; and however severe the losses to those Companies may have been in the late calamitous fires in Chicago, Boston and other cities in the United States, the losses in the business of Insurance throughout the Dominion, does not warrant the great increase which has lately taken place in the rates.

Such being the case, the Hon. John Young, M. P., Messrs. Thos. Caverhill, L. A. Boyer, M. P., Benjamin Lyman, J. F Sincennes, Andrew Robertson, James Crathers, Wm. Workman, J. R. Five per cent. is payable on subscription of the Stock, and five per cent. within six months thereafter. The remainder of the Stock is payable in such instalments as the majority of the Directors shall determine; not, however, to exceed five per cent. per call, and at periods of not less than three months' interval.

It is not intended, however, to call up more than ten per cent. of the subscribed Stock, which amount will be paid to the Receiver General for the benefit of Policy holders; said deposit to bear interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum.

VINEGAR BITTERS

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded, possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary encouragement as they have in Canada:
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because they will reclaim sight abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Pair [illegible], two sheare [illegible] paper selections.

Kicked by a Horse.

A man named W. Robinson in the employment of Messrs Smith, Boyd & Co., and working at Nassau Mills, got severely injured on Tuesday by the kick of a horse. Robinson had dropped the lines to assist another teamster with a team that was a little ugly, and on returning to his own and just as he lifted his lines the horse struck him on the head with one foot and also near the abdomen with the other. Medical aid was at once secured. We understand that the poor fellow is badly hurt. The horse was never known to kick so before, he had been lately stabled up awhile and it is thought kicked with play.

Got a Copy.

There is another new building By law. Parties building would do well to get a copy and peruse it. If carried out to the letter it will prevent much work of a class not calculated to resist the firy element.

Who is the Wise Man.

Who delayed fitting and fixing the Water Tanks until the frost has set in again? The water off the roof of the Union School Building is injuring the property of J. T. Henthorn Esq., now if a Tank were built near the school on the street and all the water off the building conveyed to it, it would be very convenient in case of fire in that direction, and the water would be prevented injuring Mr. Henthorn. The cost of the labor to divert it from Mr. Henthorn's would make the tank and pipes to it. It is useless to say we must have "water works," water works can't be built in a day, and where are the provision's against fire near the Union School.—There is a tank opposite the Presbyterian Church, but it is doubtful whether it contains water at all.

Mr. Minore

Of Brantford, has come to Peterboro to take charge of the confectionery establishment of Messrs. Braden & Kane, and we copy with pleasure the following from the Brantford Courier:

"We understand that Mr. John Minore, is about to leave Brantford, in a few weeks, to take charge of the Confectionery Works of Braden & Kane of Peterboro. We have much pleasure in congratulating the firm in thus securing the services of so faithful, trustworthy and efficient a workman. We wish Mr. Minore every success in his new home. He has been an old and respected inhabitant of Brantford, and many here will greatly miss him. He has during the time of his residence filled at time the office of Town Councillor and School Trustee, and has discharged the duties in those offices in a faithful manner."

Charlton's Directory

Mr. Charleton is now delivering his Directory for the Town Peterboro. It is a neat useful sheet, got out annually by by him. He informs us that the next will be double the size, and printed at a large expense in six colors. He also publishes one in all the principal towns in Canada.

Latest from Ottawa.

THE MINISTERS RESIGNED!

Mr. McKENZIE SENT FOR.

Sir John dared not test the feeling of the House by a Direct Vote

About three o'clock yesterday a telegram was received here that John A. Macdonald's Ministry had succumbed to popular indignation, and fearing a vote of censure had he tendered his resignation which was accepted and Mr. McKenzie sent for. It was not expected by Sir John's friends that he would so ignominiously retreat from the bold stand he all along has taken. The meshes of his own making, however, were too strong for him, and the very means by which he sought to retain office has been the means of securing his overthrow. We must not rejoice so much on account of his defeat, as on account of the fact that there are men in the Dominion yet who are more concerned for purity and national honor than for a party triumph. Canada has undergone a series of humiliations in the matter of treaties and arrangements with outlying provinces. The manner of dealing with the North West has caused heartburnings that will not be easily allayed. It will require years of wise and careful legislation to undo the evils of the past years, and to restore to the people that confidence in men that should exist. John A. Macdonald was admired for his cunning and political manœuvres, but all his cunning could not save him from the infamy attached to this last action of his political existence. Let us hope that no man like him shall ever again attain power in this Canada of ours.

RAILWAYS.

A meeting of the Railway Committee was held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday evening; Mayor Cox presided. Most of the members of the Council and Messrs. Jas. Hall, Wm. Hall, Geo. Hilliard, J. G. Haslitt, Mr. Bonsaine and others were present. Col. Chamblies was also present and addressed the Committee on the present state of the Cobourg and Peterboro road. We were not present at the commencement of the meeting, but from what transpired afterwards, it appears that from present stringency in the U. S. money market, Capitalists are unwilling to lock up money for the present in works of almost any kind. The Company is anxious to complete the works as soon as possible, and Col Chamblin wants the Town to now hand over the debentures that it may not be delayed at all. He stated that the Company had past already $180,000, and that C—— and given $160,000, or $280,000 in all. The road was now completed to Mud Lake from Redmond's in Otonabee. The Rice Lake had a great deal done to it, and he was anxious, indeed had a pride in completing the bridge. If the town now would hand over the debentures, he would have the cars running from Cobourg to Mud Lake by next [illegible] without doubt. The proposal for the bridge was on "Bob Zigzag," all round. The iron was held from Mud Lake to Bridgenorth; three trains would be required; gall boasted that it was sufficient to keep any Ministry in power ten years.

This source of gain was just about gone when the Pacific Railway was commenced; a calamity, no doubt, to the country, and 12 party to open up and settle the western territories, so long as the possession of the red man and the buffalo. But everything that John A. touched either became blighted or became the cause of political infamy. The great Pacific Railway, calculated to span the continent, unite the East and West, bring China within a few days travel of us, convey the industries of the East Westward, and in return enrich the East with the bounteous agricultural and mineral productions of the west, has been so abused that men's hearts have been solidified into golden idols, and the commercial enterprises of the country turned into corruption and moral disfeatment. Under this load of guilt emanating for twenty-five years or so, John A Staggers. The hands that he held up as clean, have been proved by his own oath to be deiled to the elbows in the mire of his own abominations. He obtained and pocketed the money—he asseverated himself innocent of and used it to spread the contagion of his own moral obliquities from the Atlantic to the Pacific His days are now numbered The mighty are fallen! History may record the deeds of the man, but only to the shame of the country and the people who supported him in his political immoralities. The debates on this momentous question are so long that we cannot give them in full, and to mutilate them would not satisfy our readers. We trust that some enterprising publisher will give them in full at an early date. The history of the guilt of a Ministry any more than the sins of a private individual cannot be a source of much pleasure, but the mighty effort put forth by the people to redeem their honor—remove the stain off their escutcheon, and declare their emancipation from the love of office and thraldom of mammon would afford proof of the remaining desire to establish our Dominion in righteousness instead of iniquity, and would remain to point out the breakers from which the ship of state was saved by the timely intervention of men of wiser heads—of higher and nobler aspirations, and purer motives.

THE ASSIZES

Messrs. Gilmour & Co. ex. Pearce and Weller. This case as before stated commenced on Thursday afternoon and occupied the whole time till about 11 a.m. on Tuesday.

Witnesses were sworn, among whom were surveyors, on both sides. The bulk of the evidence went to prove that the 4th concession of Belmont runs out on the north side of an island in Belmont Lake; that on the north shore of the lake the west lines of the third concession become contiguous to the east side of the fifth concession and that northward there is no fourth concession.

The jury brought in a verdict for the defts. Pearce and Weller, stating that they could not find that there was any fourth concession at the place in dispute.

The Queen ex. Buckett.—This was the next case. From the evidence it appeared that Joseph Dann, a veterinary surgeon, charged F. J. Buckett, of this town, with having stolen and having in his possession an "Injection tube," or pump, belonging to the said Dann.

Joseph Dann, sworn—I live in Peterboro and am a veterinary surgeon; I have seen the instrument now shown me. I owned it; I bought it from H. D. Smith, of Toronto, some time before I left college; I had it in my possession till the 28th of September, 1872.

Mr. Dann here gave a detailed statement of the occasion of losing it, on the night he was "tarred and feathered" in North Monaghan, about thirteen months since. He then had it in the buggy when he was pulled out and abused, when the man drove off and left me among those who pulled me out.

I next heard of it August 1873, I heard Mr. Buckett was using it. He follows horse doctoring. I once asked him for his license as a Veterinary Surgeon, he did not show them to me, he has been doctoring ever since. A man in Smithtown told me Buckett had it, I got the Police Magistrate to issue a warrant and constable Howden searched. I went with Mr. Howden to Mr. Hopkin's saddlery where Buckett's office is, Howden found the instrument among a number of instruments, I recognized it, and after examining it, said it was mine. When I saw it, I said it was mine.

To Mr. Scott:

It was about 10 minutes to 10 o'clock, when the man called for me at the Royal Canadian Hotel. It would take about 30 to 45 minutes to go to the place. I did not look at the time when I got home. I went to clean myself, I was all of half an hour coming home. I left a little after the other parties left me. It was on the concession line, I came to the gravel road again and along the gravel road to Reid Street home. They could not have passed me while on the gravel road, while on Reid Street I heard a buggy on the gravel road, I don't know how far it would be for them to go round for to get to town. I did ask the man his name who took me out, he said it was Lyttle, but I did not find out who he was. I heard of the instrument this August, a considerably time before the volunteers went into camp, I wanted a while to consider what I should do before I acted. I did recognize the instrument as soon as I saw it, I looked at it all over to satisfy myself and then said, "It was mine." I knew it it by the hose which had a weak side, and by a marble valve. but especially from the hose. The hose is now shorter than when I had it. I said so to the constable. I can't say how much shorter, can't say exactly as to its length

Mr. Hutton sworn—I am Police Magistrate here, the examination took place before me. this statement was made in my presence by Mr. Bucket. after warning him, and read over to him when he signed it. He said he had it three years and got it from Arnold & Sons, London, and believed he had the invoice of it yet After going to my law office I got a letter and parcel by express, I have the letter yet, I do not know what is in the parcel or enclosed, I told both Dann and Beake about it, they did nothing about it.

Wm Steadly sworn—I live in Toronto, am a Brass finisher in the employment of Mr H D. Parliamentary.

The debate on the address from the throne had not concluded on Friday evening. The reports from Ottawa indicated an Opposition majority, but not a large one, and most Conservatives here are eating a dried apple and a dissolution. This, indeed, may this plain, and an appeal to the electors may be near us. We would remind the electors of the possibility thereof, and the necessity not to be indifferent to the results. The scandal has been of such a nature as to disgrace the Dominion and sicken the people in the respect of other nations. This disgrace requires to be wiped out, and if an opportunity is offered, we trust that the electors will be found alive to their duty in the matter.

THURSDAY.

JACKSON vs. HULL.—This case commenced on Wednesday, on the Court resuming after 1 o'clock. W. H. Scott for Plff; Hector Cameron and D. G. Hatton for Deft.

The Plaintiff Jackson took action against Robert Hull for defamation of character. Hull, the defendant, is a lad of about 16 to 18 years. Mr. Robert Jackson had brought him from England about two years ago. He paid his passage and fare to Otonabee, kept him for a year, and paid him additional to his passage £3 10s sterling. He also gave him $60 for the second year, and schooling in the winter, which the boy accepted and remained with them nearly two months going to school all the time. In February young Hull learned that he could get more wages from others without schooling, and he accordingly left Mr. Jackson, who told him if not satisfied he could go, which he did in February, and hired with Mr. D D. McIntyre. Shortly after his going away the boy and a son of Mr. Jackson had a dispute, when young Jackson threatened to kick Hull, if not there as soon as he was able to stand a good kicking or 'whipping.' In April, Hull began to circulate that he had seen young Jackson guilty of brutality, alleging to one party, E. Shannon, that it took place in the last of October or beginning of November, and to another person, John Buttery, that it took place in winter when the snow was on the ground. After a time, Jackson hearing of it, sent him a lawyer's letter threatening that if he did not withdraw the charge he would take action in law to punish him. Hull then went and swore against Jackson before Jas. Miller, Esq. Young Jackson fearing that Hull might swear away his character in this horrible way, and the penalty being severe, for a time left the place, awaiting an opportunity of getting evidence against Hull for perjury.

This action was brought by Jackson after having obtained evidence, as he believed, to prove the falsity of the charge.

The Hull charge was supported by only his own evidence. To refute this young Jackson swore it was false. Mr. Jackson, who is well known, swore that the door at which it was alleged he entered when he saw the matter, was previously nailed up and has not been opened since the middle of October. He also swears that Hull nailed it up by his orders.

Mr. Wm. Duvell, a man of undoubted veracity, swears that he tried with the same hammer, hanging in the same place, and the same quality of a candle in it; that he could not see the boy at all where Hull alleges he saw him, and saw him minutely. That he tried in every way to see him and could not even see his shape, and that the beast was taken out off the stall in his presence, and even then the boy could not be seen, where Hull alleged he saw him, although he, Mr. Duvell, looked closely in order to test the possibility of his seeing him, but could not.

Mr. Wm. Dawson was present with Mr. Duvell, and testified to the truthfulness of Mr. Duvell's evidence.

Robert Shannon swore that Hull had told him that he only said so of Jackson for a "lark."

Hull, however, still held to his testimony before Mr. Miller. It was urged that he had been advised by a chum, one Robinson, to stick to his word, and if he said a thing to stick to it and swear it.

Robinson was put in the witness box and testified that he had advised this, and declared that if he said a thing, he would stick to it, which might be taken in a bad or good sense, of course.

The jury could not agree on this case, and were dismissed, 9 being for a verdict for plff., Jackson, and six against, but we learn that the only cause of difference was as to whether Mr. Duvell and Mr. Dawson were not mistaken, as not being able to see him as they testified.

Very few who know these men will sympathize with those members of the jury who doubted Mr. Duvell's oath or Mr. Dawson's oath, while accepting the oath of the lad Hull. This case shows how careful all men should be in the selection of hired help. When on the unsupported oath of one boy, man, or woman, the good name of a son, a daughter, a wife, or perhaps one's self, may be sworn away, and the peace and reputation of a whole family blasted forever. The consequences of the jury's error not to be doubted, but their good judgment may reasonably be expected may steer the inference—how carefully avoid evil associates and to shun the appearance of evil all should be.

FRIDAY.

"True Bills" were found against F. G. Hutchison, on a charge of stealing an overcoat belonging to Joseph Dean, said to be last the night Mr. Dean was named, and about about two years since.

The Grand Jury threw out the charge against John Gamble and Alex. Rutherwright, or, in other words, brought in "No Bill."

GILMOUR vs. PEARCE, et al.—This is a trespass case brought by Messrs. Gilmour & Coy, against Thos. Pearce, et thereto, for cutting timber on a lot owning by the Ash estate, of Belmont.

The defence is that there is no such Lot, nor any 4th concession, where the lot is said to exist. It is held that the 4th concession is crushed out in consequence, and that hence it does not exist. It then a very important [illegible] part of Thursday

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six or seven of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtue of its own. Scarce a physician know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the small et Oils which they may contain.

T. LANNIN,

Peterborough, July 31st, 1873.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers to the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections

Going Down Hill.

A story they tell of a lunatic man,
Who slid down hill on a warming-pan;
He steered himself with the handle, of course,
And checked away as he would a horse.

His legs, it is true, were somewhat in the way,
And his coat rather tight, if a body might say;
But he landed all right at the foot of the hill,
And, for all that I know, is sliding there still.

You smile at the story, and wonder how folks
Can get from their brains such a terrible hoax:
But sliding down hill is many a man
On a much worse thing than a warming-pan.

Some are going down at full speed on their pride,
And others who on their sinfulness slide;
But the strangest way of taking that ride
Is to go, as some do, on a beer-jug astride.

Beware of such coasting, or, like Jack and Gill,
You'll make sorry work in getting down hill;
Beware! for, with what other evil you tug,
'Tis nothing like sliding down hill on a jug.

The Bible Proved by its Work.

Suppose I have never seen or heard of a sewing machine. I have no idea of its parts, of its construction, or its use. But no matter how—after a time I come into possession of one. It is not set up, however, or even put together. I have the wheels, the bands, and arms, and the cloth plate, and the shuttle, and the needles, and the treadle—in short, all the parts which compose it. But not being a machinist, and never having seen one, I do not know how to put the parts together, nor what they are for. So I throw them into a box and put them away. By-and-by, there comes to me through the mail a pamphlet. The postmark is dim, and I cannot make it out. It has no name on it, either of author or sender. I look it curiously through, and find it full of cuts and explanatory letter-press. And as I turn over the leaves, I am struck by the resemblance of some of the plates to some of the parts of the almost forgotten and useless machine. I look more closely and find that it is a guide for the setting up and running of something it calls a sewing machine. I get out and open the old box and compare the pieces and the book, and following carefully I find it all goes accurately together. I thread the needle, and taking a piece of cloth, I find that it works precisely as the book said it would.

Now I care not where the machine came from, and I care not where the book came from. I may not know who wrote the book, or even so much as that the inventor ever heard of him, or his writing. The letter-press of the pamphlet may be mixed up with fables, and mechanical theories and speculations. The cuts may be from wood, and poorly executed. But, whatever else is true, this much I know is true, namely, that the idea of him who made the book, are identical. In that in which it pretends to be a guide—that is, the putting together and running of the machine—it is an actual guide-book; and being thus true for the end for which it was made, it is, for such ends, an absolute authority. If it could be proved that the inventor of the machine wrote the book with his own hands, and that all his theories and speculations were correct, and that it was free from mistake throughout, even to the grammar and punctuation, it would not add to its essential truthfulness or binding authority one iota. It works. It stands trial. It does what it claims to do. And that is all we ask or want.

Now suppose somebody should go to picking flaws in its spelling or grammar, or outside theories, or chronological calculations, or obscurities of style, or the taste of some anecdote that fills a vacant spot, or the credibility of some wonder related, or because a stray leaf from an old almanac had got bound up in it; suppose, for such reasons, he should counsel throwing it away, and trusting to luck to get the machine together. Would you not call him a fool or else think he was jesting?

Or suppose, on the other hand, that some one who deeply felt the need of it, and who feared it might be thrown away on account of the flaws, should undertake to sanctify and defend all the points objected to; suppose he should even plant himself on the assertion, that, if one of the flaws were thrown away, the whole thing had got to go by the board with it, would he be any less foolish than the other?

Essentially, and for the purpose for which it was made, it is true and infallible, as proved by trial. Who wants any more?

Come back now to The Book and the world, and see if we have not for Christianity an argument equally simple and irrefragable.

Here is a disordered community. For our present purpose, I care not when or how it came so, nor in what the disorder consists. I have no word to say of Adam, or Eve, or serpent. It is a fact, staring every observer in the face, that humanity is disordered. We have only the separate and disjointed parts of a complete humanity. The individual is disordered. The family is disordered. Society is disordered. States are disordered. The great company of nations jar, and do not fit nor work together.

Here also is a book. For our present purpose, I care not where, nor how, nor by whom it was composed. Look into it. It contains pictures of the present condition of the present condition of humanity. It tells how to put the parts together, and make it complete. Try it by this test, and it is faithful to its principle, and on that side—the principle of love—you can build up a perfect world. Just so far as the world has progressed, it is towards the realization of the idea. Carry it out completely and he result will be a perfection.

Now somebody great to picking flaws in the book. He questions its chronology; he suspects its historical accuracy; he doubts some of its singular morals; he impugns some of its theories of man or of nations. Taking as profitable, and as subservient to the question, an exploring of its

Or somebody else says, that in order to keep one's hands of its whatever you must hold and defend the absolute accuracy of every book, of every chapter, of every verse, and he calls by hard names those who cannot agree with him. Such a course is at least an unwarranted assumption. Neither the book nor Christianity, nor reason asks it.

In bringing out the argument, we can afford to disregard the position of both. It is enough that, taking the central principle for a guide, you can put together and "run" humanity perfectly. This one fact proves conclusively that the essential idea that is embodied in humanity, and the essential idea of the book are the same. In that wherein it pretends to be a guide—that is, in putting together and building up humanity—it is an accurate guide, and being thus true for the ends for which it was made, it is, for such ends an absolute authority.

Soft Answers.

That school-child made a good reply who said that meek people were as those who "give soft answers to rough questions." But how far the world is from taking the Scriptural standard, and considering meekness a valuable quality, we may learn by a common use of the word. Who would like to have said to him, as of Moses, that he was "very meek"? Some hing meanspirited would be the popular acceptation; nobody would understand the words to express an enviable virtue, if used in the general conversation of today. And yet, how does the Giver of all blessings signalise the meek. They are among His especially blessed—"they shall inherit the earth."

A gentleman came to Sir E. Wilmot in great wrath at an injury he had suffered from some person high in worldly position, and was considering how he could best show his resentment. "Would it not be manly to resent it?" "Yes, but Godlike to forgive it." The idea an instantly soothing effect, and he left that interview thinking no longer of revenge.

It is related of Anthony Blanc, one of the earliest converts made by Felix Neff, that when he was struck on the head by an opponent of the truth, he said, "May God forgive and bless you!" The other exclaimed in a fury that he would kill him. Some days afterward anthony met this man in a narrow Alpine road, and fully expected to get struck again; but, to his amazement, a hand was outstretched with the heart-felt words, "Mr. Blanc, can you forgive me?" The soft answer to this blow had softened his heart "breaking the bone."

Does not Sir Mathew Hale seem the greater man, when we recall his reply to Cromwell's angry speech, "My lord justice, you are not fit to be a judge?" Hale had refused to lend himself to some arbitrary action, and his only answer to the Protector's words was, "Please your highness, it is very true." His great upright soul was also crowned with humility; and a source of many of the hard answers which crease life's angry alterations is pride.

On merely worldly ground there is great wisdom in soft answers; for the speaker is so apt to win the day, and gain his object in the end. De Quincey tells of himself, that when travelling once on the roof of a coach he fell asleep from weariness and weakness, being at the time in bad health, and lurched against another passenger, who woke him with much surliness and complained morosely of this invasion of his comfort. De Quincey apologised, said he was unwell, but would do what he could to avoid falling asleep for the future. Nature would not be coerced, however, and he was soon slumbering again; when he felt the arm of his surly neighbor pass around him to prevent his falling, and in all the stages of the journey thereafter he acted with the tenderness of a woman toward the invalid.

There are a few sweet, placid tempers to whom the "soft answer" comes comparatively easy; but with most persons, it must be the fruit of resolute and self-conquest, of a habit of mind produced by watchfulness and prayer. One can sympathise with the passionate schoolboy, who pondered on the subject, asked another, "What soft thing is very hard?" and explained his meaning thus:

"If it is not a hard thing for a fellow to give a soft answer when he's right down vexed, then I don't know where you will find anything that is hard.

But, if the schoolboy learns the lesson the man will have less trouble in putting it into use. "The beginning of the strife is as when one letteth out water; and the soft answer will always enable us to fulfil the following injunction: "Leave off contention before it be meddled with." Yet how easily we justify ourselves in this wrong doing prompted by the demon pride! How quickly does the sharp retort rush to the lips! How clever we deem ourselves when the thrust (probably as poisoned as we could make it) has been given. We do not remember that this, like other human temptations, was met and conquered by our Great Exemplar; we do not "consider Him who endured such contradictions of sinners against Himself;" who, when he was reviled, reviled not again; when He suffered He threatened not;" although the twelve legions of angles stood ready at His call.

Appetite.

At certain seasons, as in spring and summer, the appetite of the very robust is apt to fail, and the relish for meats and heavy food is apt to wane. This is all right enough, for animal diet in warm weather heats the blood, tends to headache, and if generally and wholesome, unless sparingly used. On the other hand, fresh vegetables, berries, fruit add bread are cooling, corrective, and when the palate [illegible] Don't be afraid to go without meat for a month or so, and, if you like, live purely on vegetable regimen. We will wager that you will [illegible] strength than in summer to the time and then [illegible] dinner spectacled host, at whose dining on the regulation roast.

Many persons regard a hearty desire for food as something sensual, indulgent, and to be constantly discouraged. This a gentler and more forceful principle than that of running the opposite

It is just as necessary for the man who works only with his brain to eat beef and mutton as for the man who labors solely with his hands. The stomach and the brain are twins; the former being the elder and having the prior right to care. Let that be well provided for, and it will sustain its brother. The people who strive to check a wholesome and natural appetite are the people who regard dinner merely as a feed, not as the centre of an agreeable social custom and as the domestic event of the day. We are sorry for them, as they must regard eating at all as a prosaic duty, obligatory on them because they have a bias in favor of living. We all know that we eat to live; but we by no means live to eat simply because we enjoy what we eat. We are not gourmands because we relish chops, nor are we invalids because we want strawberries.

A good appetite is a good thing, but not if it is to be worried by urging or neglect.

The Mystery of Perfume.

No one has yet been able to analyze or demonstrate the essential action of perfume. Gas can be weighed, but not scents: the smallest known creatures—the very monads of life—can be caught by a microscopic lens and made to deliver up the secrets of their organization; but what is it that emanates from the pouch of the musk deer, that fills a whole space for years and years with its penetrating odor, an odor which an illimitable number of extraneous substances can carry on without diminishing it in size and weight—and what is it that the warm summer air brings to us from the flowers, no man has yet been able to determine. So fine, so subtle, so imponderable, it has eluded both our most delicate weights and measures, and our strongest lenses. If we could come to the essence of each odor, we should have made an enormous stride forward, both in hygiene and chemistry; and none would profit more than the medical profession if it could be as conclusively demonstrated that such an odor proceeded from such and such a cause, as we know of sulphur, sulphurated hydrogen, ammonia, and the like. As it is, no one knows anything; and if the art of the perfumer forms one of the chief delights of our civilized senses, the cause by which he works is a mystery solved by none.—Every Saturday.

Honor.

Honor is a very different thing from honesty. There are men who scrupulously pay their debts and promptly meet their notes of hand, who are utterly deficient in the nice sense of personal dignity which we call honor. Yet in the necessary commerce of life, the dealings of men and women with each other in business and in friendship, there can be no perfect or satisfactory issues where honor is not regnant. Let us illustrate by reference to some everyday matters.

You are a guest in the family of a friend. Being a guest you are admitted into the privacies of the home. The members of the household go on in their ordinary way in your presence, thus paying you the highest compliment in their power, by making you one of themselves. Now, if you go from there, and afterwards in your own home and in society make their idiosyncrasies the theme of your conversation, tell of the ill-temper of this one, and the parsimony of that, and the oddities of a third, you are in plain words dishonorable. You were trusted in the outspoken confidence of friendship, and you have violated a trust. Ladies' maids and valets sometimes do this in print with regard to the great people whom they have served, and their revelations are interesting reading to a class likeminded with themselves. It seems to us that neither ladies nor gentlemen, however, would care to penetrate garnished interiors by such doors as these.

The literary disputes that so frequently arise concerning the authorship of popular poems and brochures would be impossible, were all members of the literary craft filled with the sense of honor which ought to inspire those who make and color public opinion. Unfortunately the histories of counterfeit authorship reveal a very dark page in this part of human nature; and the conscious plagiarisms of authors who need not steal in order to be readable, are among the inexplicable mysteries of life

In the training of children from the very first, by precept and by thrice-powerful example, the principle of honor should be strengthened. They should be taught never to listen to conversation not meant for them; never to speak unkindly of any one; never to trespass on another's rights. Sometimes the white flower of honor grows spontaneously from strange soils, but seldom except where such conditions as these.

Honor is a very different thing from honesty. There are men who scrupulously pay their debts and promptly meet their notes of hand, who are utterly deficient in the nice sense of personal dignity which we call honor. Yet in the necessary commerce of life, the dealings of men and women with each other in business and in friendship, there can be no perfect or satisfactory issues where honor is not regnant. Public Meeting.

A public meeting in the interest of the Ontario Temperance League will be held in the Temperance Hall on Friday evening, 14th inst, at 8 o'clock, when Mr. Thos. Naughton, of Cobourg, and Mr. H. Watson, of Ottawa, and others will deliver addresses All lovers of law and order, and friends of prohibition should attend.

The Fenelon Falls "Gazette"

Says the Independent intimates an intention of removing to Lindsay, and there coming out as a U. Proc, fully pledged. The Independent has not borne out its independence or neutrality of late. It is not violent yet in its utterances, but there need be no doubt in the minds of any one who reads the opinions of the non-Independent, that it is not Independent.

Large Turnip

In the Review of the 7th inst., it is stated that Mr. Wm Foster jr of North Monaghan left at the Review office a turnip weighing 19 lb 8 oz, and contemporaries are challenged if they can beat that In the Globe of the 8th inst., is the following: Mr. Archibald I. Black, of Strathroy has grown a twenty-five pound Turnip this season. Who can beat that?—Com.

Mr. Cleaver

Returned home from Ottawa on Saturday. He looks careworn and sad. He has returned home no doubt "for the good of his party," and although he is not certain as to the results yet, as he is not yet sure that John A is defeated, but begins to fear that the rumor is correct. He was in the House at Ottawa but was unable to come to any conclusion as to the premier or future tactics of his party. John A did not announced his decision. Mr. C. was last heard of stating Sofia A to get a vote of lead ghosts to whom the next time he held out his hands to say "thine hands are clean."

The "Leaders" Opinion of its former Friends.

In a late issue of the Leader we find the following: "What did the Grit leaders fight for but offices, and how did they succeed in seducing followers of Sir John from their allegiance by holding out tempting offers of place and emoluments, which have now disappeared like a mirage in the desert."

This is an admission that the great liberal conservative party was held together by hopes of office, and that they deserted their leader for office which they cannot get. The Leader knows the principles that bind the party together; but it is cruel to thus declare it so soon and so loudly. It was the boast of Sir John at the Banquet here, that he helped his friends, and especially those who went over to him from the opposition; but it was cruel in Sir John to sweep away the means of repaying those friends who so long stuck to him, although they could not vote for his last acts of bribery. Past kindness should not so soon forgotten.

If Sir John's friends had been as wise in their generation as Mr. Beatty, and secured their pay beforehand they could not be cheated out of it at the last moment.

Mr. Grover

Had some misgivings when leaving the capital as to his future. "The greatest living statesman Canada has ever seen or ever will see" is no more. He had come longing to meet Tupper to get an exposition of the fourth commandment, but did not succeed in meeting him On the way home he would likely have some doubts as to Tupper's ethics. He is fast loosing his health and cannot much longer stand the wear and tear of long night speeches and the cares of State. We understand he contemplates retiring at the close of this parliament, come sooner or later, and the party are casting their eyes round them for some one on whom to cast his mantle But where shall a dummy be found in the E. Riding! We have not yet received nor are we likely to receive Mr. Tupper's new exposition referred to.

Church Opening.

The New Wesleyan Methodist Church on Charlotte street will be opened on the first and second Sabbaths of December. On the first Sabbath the Rev. S. S. Nelles D.D., LL.D., will preach at 10.30 a.m. J. W. Gooderham, Esq. of Streetsville at 2.30 p.m. and at 6.30 p.m. the Rev. Mr. Dewart. On the second Sabbath the Rev. S. Rose, Book Steward, will preach at 10.30, at 6.30 the Rev. H. Poole. On Monday after the second Sabbath, there will be a Tea Meeting in the evening, of which full particulars will be given in due time.

Will they Rebel again?

We clip the following from the Manitoba Gazette, given as a translation of a portion of an article that has appeared in the Metis, the organ of the halfbreeds.

"How shall we be delivered out of this? Shall it be by the slow means which the constitution gives us! Must it be by SUPREME AND DESPERATE EFFORT in which an outraged people shall hunt before them with blows from the but ends of guns, the traitors and the renegades who have degraded and dishonored them! Shall it be by the wise interference of Her Majesty's Government! We know not. The people are profoundly irritated and stirred up. It is only with great difficulty that the leaders keep them within the limits of resistance and constitutional means. Let the actual situation be prolonged and aggravated, and we cannot answer for anything. That is what we do know"

Deer Shot.

Mr. Thos. Lysle, of Ashburnham, shot a large deer behind Armour Hill on last week.

The Town Council

Spent a little of their time on Monday evening discussing the publishing of the By-law to provide for handing over the $40,000 to the Cobourg and Peterboro' Railway Co. so as to aid in securing the completion of the line next summer. It is a pity that they did not pass their resolution to publish it in all the papers and allow regular rates. We would then get about as much for the one job as we now do for all the rest of the Town printing for the year, and it would have otherwise been gratifying to us.

"A Providential Hitch."

The 6th of this month was kept as a day of thanksgiving. It turned out also to be the very day after the Macdonald Ministry resigned Can Lieut.-Governor Howland and the religious bodies of Ontario have had a prophetic intimation of the fitness of the day for the occasion. It certainly had the appearance of a providential hitch.

The eternal fitness of things seems to have been recognised by some happy chance, as the day on which the "good news from Ottawa" has been heralded throughout this Province, is set apart for a general thanksgiving, and surely if ever the people of this country and of this Dominion had reason to be thankful, sincerely and devoutly thankful, it is on the day which has been set up again in Canada the standard of public virtue, and cast into political perdition, the traitors who have betrayed the great interests of the country, and brought dishonor on the Canadian name."—Ex.

THE FUTURE OF PETERBOROUGH.

There are times in the history of places as of individuals, when a wrong act, or indifference to public interests, may seriously affect the present and future progress of the place. The present moment is an important one to Peterboro. Her progress for a year or two has been very marked—second to no Town in Canada, we believe—and the continuance of that progress depends largely on the action of those who at this moment control our destinies as a town.

The great drawback to Peterboro, it has been admitted, is the difficulty of getting to and from it. The lakes, with six or seven miles of land carriage, militate against us in the north, and freight rates to the front, as well as the difficulty of getting goods away when required, have been against us from the south. Our public men have seen this and hence the movement to obtain the resuscitation of the Cobourg Road and also its extension northward and westward.

Individual interests have retarded the completion of this much to be desired object, but we trust that no individual interests will be allowed to prevent the speedy realization of that on which so much of our future prosperity depends. The people are all aware of the benefit of the reopening of a second means of communication with the front, and they are also alive to the importance of northward extension. This need not now be discussed, but the financial crisis across the lines has locked up capital so, just now that it cannot be obtained for anything unless the necessities of trade. This is [illegible] and [illegible] encouraged, [illegible] the people [illegible] forward and [illegible] with [illegible] and [illegible] the track to [illegible]

By so doing we are guaranteed the Road by next July—open all the way, Rice Lake and all, to Mud Lake—and also the extension to Fenelon Falls, and perhaps the whole back country, by running a road northward. When Sir Hugh Allan was here he talked of this being the junction of a road toward the Canada Pacific. Any road now made with the right to use it for that purpose would be furthering that end and would be as good as so much money in the Ontario and Quebec Road, and also in the junctions to the Pacific Road, as well as securing a road through the north of this County and district. We do not doubt the wisdom of the ratepayers in seeing these things, and what is sought is, to secure these objects at once, before other places deprive us of the results by stepping in before us.

The By-law in to-day's issue fully explains itself. It is to enable the Council to hand over the bonus already voted. Now, believing that there is enough done to guarantee the completion of the object for which the bonus was voted. Over $280,000 has been spent. Our bonus would now put the Rice Lake Bridge in a condition to cross it with teams, awaiting filling in solid. What is sought is to secure the use of this road a year or two sooner than we can by holding back The good sense of the people will vote to secure this end

The extension northward, too, should be in the foreground. The Victoria Road and the Bowmanville Road and the Port Perry, or Whitby road, are all anxious to secure the best road to the north, and the Midland, too, seeks another branch in that direction by way of Omemee. All these are calculated to injure Peterboro, not for a day or a year, but for all time. As the first road in excludes all others indefinitely. The whole matter is the interest on $40,000 for six months, or only $1,200. The loss or gain of this sum is the matter in dispute.

Let us save the amount some other way, and give it at once if by doing so we can make Peterboro the starting point North and West. Men will be found ready to push the Road on, if Peterboro does not prevent them and drive them away. If the Road is worth $2,400 a year to Peterboro when built, it will surely be worth one half year's interest to get it built a year sooner. No opposition is anticipated to the handing over of the bonus on conditions of the speedy completion of the road, but it is only reasonable that the matter should be fairly placed before the people.

THE ONTARIO ROAD,

Or the Ontario and Quebec road, is now talked of as going by the way of Collingwood instead of Toronto, and notices are given of seeking a charter to that end. A road to Fenelon Falls would be thirty miles in the most direct route to Collingwood, or the Georgian Bay. By securing these thirty miles now, with the right of running powers over it for the Ontario and Quebec road, would be as good as giving that road $50,000 of a bonus. This should not be lost sight of In fact every motive to extension northward is strong and the result cannot be doubtful. Action now will secure us the first place and will enclude competition. Not a moment should be lost. Peterboro has Port Hope, Lindsay, Bowmanville, Whitby and Toronto interests all against her. The giving of the $40,000 now, with united action, will almost entirely secure us what our past inertness has almost lost to us in the northern trade

THE NEW MINISTRY

Have all gone to their constituents. The writs have been issued and they are likely to be returned without opposition. Very little can yet be given concerning the probable results of the late Conservative disaster at Ottawa, but disorganization is sure to follow. John A. Macdonald has been chosen Leader of the Opposition. This is only a proof of their rushing on to their own destruction. No greater mistake could be made than to suppose that the man who was acknowledged guilty of all the corruption of which they were charged can be a successful leader of a party. They must get new blood into their ranks and select a new leader before they can hope to muster even a fair show of opposition, but this is their business. They are very much excised at Mr. Scott being in the Cabinet. This is not to be wondered at. Mr. Scott has the confidence of a large portion of the population of Canada, and as a Crown Land Agent, few have succeeded so well, notwithstanding the cry that was raised against him.

The new Cabinet has been wisely selected. Their policy cannot be foreshadowed except from the measures advocated while in opposition. A purer Election Law will be one of their first measures, and other reforms will soon follow A brighter future is in store for the Dominion as the country will not be at the mercy of men without a policy or a principle, except that of office or gain. There are some who would have us believe that only under a Conservative government can there be any progress. Now, this is the reverse of past experience, for progression is the necessary consequence of reform Railway progress is just as certain under Mackenzie and Blake, at Ottawa, as it was when they took offices in Ontario, and few will doubt the wisdom of their policy in the latter case.

The public mind is much aroused over the return of Riel for the County of Provencher, lest he may take a seat at Ottawa. He cannot take a seat while charged with the crime of murder, as he would be arrested at once. Bishop Tache has asserted that John A.'s Ministry promised an amnesty; of this there is little doubt. But he had not the boldness to carry it out. If it has been promised it should be granted. If not, let Riel be brought to trial as soon as possible and answer for his conduct. The desterdiness of Ministers in keeping this hanging over the Metis of Manitoba, while to please a party in Ontario, they allow the matter to remain unsettled, deserves the just reprobation of all parties. Murder like crime that should be punished, no matter who may be the murderer, unless there are extenuating circumstances, but of these the Crown or a Jury of his Peers should be Judges.

THE FIRE.

On Tuesday morning about four o'clock fire was discovered in the Grocery [illegible] by Mr. Sheridan as a [illegible] Mr. [illegible]

THE ASSIZES

The number of cases in this Court and the length of them has extended the Court beyond precedent, and it is not likely that they will be all disposed of until Saturday.

Those disposed of since our last report are:

Morgan vs. Rubidge—Verdict for plff $160. Dumble for plff. Rubidge for deft.

Tully et al vs Chamberlain—Verdict for plff $1049.89. Hatton for plff, Scott for deft.

Ventriss vs. Brown et al—An action to recover damages for selling plff's goods under an execution for a larger amount than was properly due from the plff to the defts on the judgement under which the execution was issued. Verdict for plff on first and third counts, for defts on other counts. Damages $.50.

Duggan vs Nugent—This was an action to recover damages from deft for having set fire to a fallow whereby a considerable part of plff's property was destroyed by the fire spreading. Verdict for plff for $112 Dumble for plff, Moore for deft.

Morrison vs. Sullivan—This was an action brought by the plff., Mary Morrison who resides in Emily, against Denis Sullivan, also of Emily, for damages for breach of promise of marriage.

Sullivan had been keeping company with the plff, and as she asserts, promised to marry her, and the company keeping resulted in the birth of a child His friends were somewhat against him marrying her, partly because she was of a different faith, and, as he alleged, because of her character, and they sought to get him since to marry another young woman of his own faith, and who was the only daughter of a neighbouring farmer. He stopped his attentions to the young woman, Morrison, and eventually refused to carry out the alleged promise

The witnesses on behalf of the plff, appear to have satisfied the jury of the existence of a promise to marry the girl The attempt to establish her having a bad reputation failed altogether; it might be said, being "hear says." Patrick O'Donnell had talked against, but never saw anything wrong with her.

Michael O'Donnell said she was pretty smart to talk, and heard that she had said "she didn't care for the boy (the raft) as much as for the land.

To Mr Dumble—she admitted that he had said she was a "good girl," and would stick to her word.

Mary Kennedy, sister to the deft. lived a mile from Mr. Morrisons Knew nothing about plff. but reports; her reputation was not good; didn't think deft., had any property; he hired out for a living; she had heard Mary Sullivan say that Mary Morrison was better engaged on a certain day than being with Denis Sullivan, as she was in bed with Jonny O'Donnell.

Mary Sullivan was at Ned O'Donnell's on a day spoken of; Mary Morrison was there sick; she was sick and in bed in a room; Isaac Moore, Peter McGrah and John O'Donnell were there; witness went in to the room; there was no one there then but the young woman, Morrison; she was in bed; O'Donnell afterwards came in and sat on the bedside. Isaac Moore came in shortly after, I afterwards came away; John O'Donnell was then lying back on the bed.

To Mr. Dumble Peter McGrah was in the room at the same time. and so was Isaac Moore; it was about 11 o'clock in the forenoon; there were no chairs in the room; witness also sat on the bed side beside plff

Isaac Moore sworn—Remember the occasion spoken of at O'Donnell's; the day was wet, and they all went there to pass it away; The plff was sick or asleep, [illegible] was in bed; plff was at [illegible] witness answered in [illegible] acquainted; he saw nothing wrong; they were making [illegible]; plff was a good singer, and all were pleased to hear her sing, and others present [illegible]

[illegible] was against her reputation for [illegible] with Sullivan's friends; she had a good reputation as far as I [illegible] hear.

LATEST FROM OTTAWA.

The Citizen, Opposition paper, learns that Hon Mr Smith, Minister of Marine and Fisheries, will not have opposition in Westmoreland! Mr Smith went east en route to his constituency to-day. The failure to oppose him indicates that the corruptionists are likely to discover that in the resolution deliberately come to in caucus on Thursday last, decided themselves to offer the most one sensational opposition to all those whom they called renegades and traitors, they have undertaken more than they can accomplish The new Minister of Marine was one of those singled out to be made an example of, but now it comes from a quarter that ought to be informed that he is to be allowed to walk the course. Resolutions full of sound and fury are easily made, but it is often safer to back out of them than to attempt to carry them into effect. The crusade against the ministerial candidate for Westmoreland is not the only enterprise in the moment of their rage and disappointment undertaken by the corruptionists which have to be abandoned.

A vigorous attempt is being made to save the fail of the great Conservative Administration A dinner on a small scale last night is to be followed by one on a large scale on Thursday The Conservative Association is thought to be rather too select in respect of members to be of much utility. It is described as a nucleus, and it is likely to be nothing more.

Hon. Mr Laird, Minister of the Interior, left town to-day for Prince Edward Island, to attend his election Hon. Mr Burpee, Minister of Customs, also left on the same errand. Hon. D A. Macdonald will return in a few days. He will be unopposed in his constituency.

The Tory organ here quotes Hon. Mr. Fournier's majority at the last election, and says that his return may be regarded as almost certain.

THE RECENT APPOINTMENTS.

It is said the "ruling passion is strong in death," and the late Ministry in the throes of dissolution, gave evidence that as by corruption they were disnursed, in corruption they would die. The motives of their supporters too are curiously evinced; scarcely a prominent follower or electioneering agent, who were all so wont to proclaim their disinterested patriotism, but has extorted the rewards of office from the dying Ministry. It has been the custom that no Administration, pending a want of confidence vote could dispense the patronage of the Crown; but to their eternal shame be it said that during the past few weeks the Government of John A. Macdonald has had the effrontery to place in lucrative offices every needy follower who pressed them from blatant and unprincipled demagogues like H. S. Macdonald and Charlie Rykert down to the lowest butt-hunter of the lot. It was not thought even to be "too much" to place a scoundrel like T. P. French, in the position of Post Office Inspector! It will be the duty of the new Government or of the House, to see that the purge applied to the House shall extend to the public departments—that tools, time servers and other Tide Barnacles be swept away, and that a new order of thing is established. None of the appointments made by the late Ministry since the meeting of the House ought to be allowed to stand, as the men so lost to self respect as to accept office under such circumstances are not fit to hold any position of public trust or responsibility.—Ex

What have the creatures who did the dirty work in this county at last election gotten? or what have they been promised? They deserve well of their master, if their wages are to be measured by the foulness of their acts Was no surgeon required for Rockwood.

The Cornwall Freeholder in referring to the Reform Ministry says:—

There can be but one opinion expressed by the country when the personal composition of the new Administration becomes known That will be an acknowledgment of fitness in every sense. They are men who have consistently struggled for what they believed conceived to be a high political crime and misdemeanour perpetrated by those who for years had enjoyed that confidence of which their offence was a shameful violation. They have won Parliament, and, we may add, the country, over to their views; and now, while being charged with a great responsibility, they are entering upon their reward.

The acceptance of office in the new Administration, an important office, by Mr. Macdonald of Glengarry, is a feature of the new Government that calls for special remark. It need not be said here that Mr Macdonald was an available man. That would not be disputed anywhere or by any party. We may say that next to Mackenzie and Blake, the name which always came next, when anticipations of new cabinet were indulged, was D. A. Macdonald. It will be most gratifying to Mr. Macdonald's constituents, and to his friends everywhere, that his long and staunch support of the Reform cause has been recognised by his receiving not only a seat at the Privy Council table but one of the most important bureaus in the public service. In this connexion as may add upon good authority that the present opposition have come to the conclusion not to oppose the return, so far as they can control such a matter, of any of the new Ministers from Ontario and Quebec. Those from the Lower Provinces they have resolved however, to treat very differently. There can be no doubt, we feel assured, Mr. McDonald will be returned by acclamation for Glengarry.

THE NEW MINISTRY.

On Thursday, as about to go to press, we were enabled to give the glorious news that the John A. Macdonald Ministry had resigned. Aware of the fate to which a vote of the house would consign them, they sought delay after delay in order to stave off the result. In the House there were men who had given them a support on local or other personal grounds, but the Pacific Scandal was more than they could bear and more than they dare support and return to their constituents. Sir John himself aware of the fact and, on Wednesday morning, announced that the Ministry had resigned, and that the resignation had been accepted and Mr. Mackenzie had been sent for to form a new Ministry. This was the only course open to them, as to court a vote would have shown to the world the the cunning of the leader was gone and that an overwhelming defeat awaited the party.

Mr. Mackenzie accepted the responsibilities and has succeeded in forming a cabinet likely to give general satisfaction. The following are the names of the Reform Cabinet.

ONTARIO.

Mr. MACKENZIE, Premier, and Minister of Public Works.

Mr. BLAKE, without portfolio.

Mr. CHRISTIE, Senator, Secretary of State.

Mr. CARTWRIGHT, Minister of Finance.

Mr. D. A. MACDONALD, Postmaster General.

QUEBEC.

Mr. DORION, Minister of Justice.

Mr. LETELLIER DE ST. JUST, Senator Agriculture and Immigration.

Mr. FOURNIER, Inland Revenue.

One seat vacant.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

Mr. A. J. SMITH, Marine and Fisheries.

Mr. ISAAC BURPEE, Customs.

NOVA SCOTIA.

Mr. COFFIN, Receiver-General.

Mr. ROSS, President of Council, and pro. tem. Minister of Militia.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

Mr. LAIRD, Minister of Interior.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

The now defunct Minister has always maintained himself in power by acts that would cause other men to blush, and not one of the least of these outrages was perpetrated the very morning that he was compelled to tender his resignation to His Excellency Lord Dufferin, on that morning.

The Hon. S. L Tilley was appointed Lieut.-Governor of New Brunswick; John Crawford, M. P., Lieut-Governor of Ontario; Hon. Hugh Macdonald, M.P., Judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia; Thos. R. Ferguson, Collector of Customs at Gollingwood.

Other appointments have been made, it is said, but not yet announced.

They thus, in the very act of expiring, and when they knew that they were not in possession of the confidence of the House, proceed to make appointments to the most important positions in the country. And, while Mr. Tilley, Mr Crawford and Mr. Macdonald were defending the outrages of a leader, they had the promise of office and of emoluments for their party allegiance.

It is astonishing that the Governor-General allowed himself to be a party to those appointments These acts are enough to cause the names of the parties thereto to become a byword in the mouth of all honest men in the Dominion, but still they are only in keeping with their past history in all their transactions.

It is a matter for rejoicing that the country is now freed from the stigma of supporting dishonest, dishonorable men, and that it was found that our representatives were not all overcome by the influence of Sir Hugh Allan's gold. We hope now to see the affairs of this country wisely managed by honest men. who will, when force of circumstance requires it of them, resign their charge in honor. with names unsullied by corruption or bribery, and with the satisfaction of having left behind them wise and useful legislation. The state of the country at present does not warrant us to suppose that they have an easy work before them. Men have to be taught to respect the principles of the moral law, and to reject every offer that is likely to pervert their judgment or blind their eyes to what [illegible] the era of corruption that has [illegible] will have left its impression on the people—an impression that can only be erased after years of discipline.

Retiring Members.

Alderman Heney who offered Mr. Cunningham $12,000 to vote for the Government is still in care of the Sergeant at Arms. His case is not disposed of yet. This foul act of John A's Ministry is enough to condemn them.

Assizes Continued.

Choat vs Meyers—This was a case brought by Mr. T. G. Choat against Wm Myers of Burleigh for damages for losing two horses by glanders caused as alleged, by Mr. Meyers having put a mare, said to be glandered, in pfl's stables.

Some of the witnesses stated that the animal was glandered, others stated that she was not glandered. Reports of her being so were also testified, but the jury thought there was no direct proof and gave a verdict for deft Meyers.

Teachers' Institute.

Dr. Sangster, late of the Normal School, will lecture here on Friday evening, 21st instant. He will also conduct a Teachers' Institute on the 21st and 22nd. Friday will be a general holiday in all the schools, the teachers of which attend the meetings. All should attend and thus acquire a knowledge of all that tends to their own elevation and that of their profession.

Their Dying Struggles.

In their death pangs John A. Macdonald appointed John Crawford of Toronto, Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, and Mr. Tilly Lieut.-Governor of New Brunswick. These appointments must be at variance with general usage, as no Ministry while impeached of high crimes and misdemeanors should attempt to discharge any public business while they were undergoing trial. Surely the new Ministry will cancel these appointments.

W. H. G. Mackintosh, M. P. P.

For Worth Looks, receives the appointment of Junior Judge for Leeds and Grenville.

RIDING

The Election of 1872 in the Riding of this County and the [illegible] connected therewith will long be remembered, and the perpetrators fraud will be treated with scorn an contempt by every honest man wh understands the nature of the frau and the concomitant acts of injustice.

We would invite attention to a few figures taken from a "Blue Book" issu as from Ottawa, viz: "Return of the second General Election for the House of Commons.

On the 140th page of the Return our West Riding expenses are given which will be found in another column

The Returning Officers, Clerk an Constables fees are placed at $50 each $36 are paid.

The Proclamations cost $30.

In 1871 when Sheriff Hall was Returning Officer they cost $1 and printing them $3

Dr. Burnham charges for mileage $4 or pay for travelling 410 miles.

Sheriff Hall charges $8.60, or pay for 86 miles, or in other words Dr Burnham travelled about five times as many miles as Sheriff Hall.

Again for establishing polling Divisions Dr. B. claims $32 but only gets $16. We find no such charge in Sheriff Hall's account.

The Doctor's poll books, voters list and copies cost $53. In 1871 only $ 70.

Commission warrants and returns $11.50 was claimed, only $18.50 paid in 1871 these cost $16.

The electors will be anxious to learn what directions he travelled to get over so much ground—410 miles.

It is about 15 miles to S. Monaghan miles to N. Monaghan, 13 miles to Enismore, 7 miles to Bridgenorth, or about 40 in all. He may have had to go over some of the ground twice, say the whole of it, then that would make 80 miles or $8. How does he make 410 or over five times 80 miles?

In reference to the mileage, a wag asks, was the Returning Officer chasing his Clerk up and down the Concessions? Perhaps so.

Poll books, voters' lists and copies are put down at $53. They might cost one-third of the amount—not more.

Mr. Pearce, in a Riding nearly 100 miles long by 40 broad, containing 19 Townships, or nearly so, and difficult of access, puts his mileage at $68 60, or 686 miles, only 276 more than in the West Riding, yet every one knows that it is father to Haliburton than to all the polling places in the West Riding. Burleigh is also 67 miles from Havelock, and then there is Harvey, Galway, Minden, Snowden, &c., as well as the old townships. We ask again, how were the 410 miles made out? Four times round the entire Riding would not amount to 410 miles.

It is not much wonder that there were loud complaints about the way Commercial Arithmetic, &c., have been lately taught in our schools, for we feel confident there is not a boy or teacher now in the whole School who could make out an account after the manner of the account of the Returning Officer of the West Riding. But if this is an example of the effects of past training, save us from it in future.

LAMENTATIONS.

There is great sorrow at Ottawa. All Mr. Clarkson's dishonorable conduct has not served John A. At last accounts he was disconsolate; he was musing over the situation, especially over his lost honor and the degradation to which he had brought himself. His sighs were distinctly audible Mr. Grover was trying to comfort him, but could not. Unconsciously they both were gazing in John A.'s face, pitifully; but the great briber could afford no relief. Mr. Grover's dreams reveal the workings of his heart. Both the Peterborough inanities are taking opiates Mr. Clarkson was trying to say "Doctor," but was very weak. With closed teeth Mr Grover can be heard every now and then saying, "the Grits" Alas, alas! how uncertain are human affairs. Mr Grover fears a committee of enquiry int the election affairs. He is anxious t have the fourth commandment expanded to calm his troubled spirit, and to ease his distracted conscience. The great Tory camp is in sorrow; their sins hav found them out.

Misrepresentation.

The Review professes to give a report of a meeting of a Railway Committe held Tuesday evening in the Council Chamber. The report is incorrect; but what can we expect from such a source? Mr. Stration did not say that "all parties were agreed that Cobourg had done more than she ought to have done in order to assist in getting the road." This is the more imagination of the Review reporter, whose hearing is perhaps as faulty as his principles. The spirit of the old man still exists. It is a pity that men can be found who lend themselves to the perpetuation of misrepresentation and it is still worse when they are found willing to do so for the paltry pay of a few dollars a week.

Steamer Burned.

A telegram from Oshawa, conveying the following and intelligence of the burning of the Bavarian reached here on Thursday:

OSHAWA, Nov. 6.—The steamer Bavarian, bound down, took fire last night about 8 o'clock, opposite here. She was a mass of flames in an instant. Only two boats were lowered. Both of these reached land containing 22 persons. There 14 remaining, who were all lost [illegible]. Amongst the 14 were Captain Carmichael Toronto; the Chief Engineer, from P[illegible] scott; the Steward, Mr. Spencer. Lachine; Mrs Sibbald and her daughter Brockville; Miss Ireland, Kingston; and Mr. Hillyard, Chatham.

The persons saved are John Henderson, Charlotte; J. J. Parmer, Toronto; Jas Clare, Manitoba; Chas. Bradley, Jas. Finesame. two firemen; J. Leconte, Wm Merchester and John Revere, and some others whose names are not yet known. Among those left to perish were the Captain. Chas. Carmichael. Wm. Fincastre, Wm. Spence, Mrs. Sibbald and daughter, Miss Ireland, Kingston; Mr. Hillyard, Chatham. The parson, who got ashore, reports that there was very little screaming, but as he left there was some moaning. The captain was seen in the water on a plank, but is supposed to have perished. The Bavarian was the old City of Kingston, rebuilt. She was burned in the St. Lawrence a year ago in June, all but the hull which was iron. She seems to have been doomed to destruction. She was about 15 miles from shore when the fire broke out about midship. It spread so rapidly that the boats were lowered at once, but one of them drifted away without any one, whose presence might have been the means of saving all that were lost

Persons.

We are glad to learn that Wm Wood, Esq., of Harvey, is so far convalescent as to be able to return home. He is improving rapidly.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best Oils that are known, each one possessing virtue of its own. Science & physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alchol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

THE NEW [illegible]

On Thursday, as about to go to press, we were enabled to give the glorious news that the John A. Macdonald Ministry had resigned. Aware of the fate to which a vote of the house would consign them, they sought delay after delay in order to stave off the result. In the House there were men who had given them a support on local or other personal grounds, but the Pacific Scandal was more than they could bear and more than they dare support and return to their constituents. Sir John became aware of the fact and, on Wednesday morning, announced that the Ministry had resigned, and that the resignation had been accepted and Mr. Mackenzie had been sent for to form a new Ministry. This was the only course open to them, as to court a vote would have shown to the world the the cowning of the leader was gone and that an overwhelming defeat awaited the party.

Mr. Mackenzie accepted the responsibilities and has succeeded in forming a cabinet likely to give general satisfaction. The following are the names of the Reform Cabinet.

ONTARIO.

Mr. MACKENZIE, Premier, and Minister of Public Works.

Mr. BLAKE, without portfolio.

Mr. CHRISTIE, Senator, Secretary of State.

Mr. CARTWRIGHT, Minister of Finance.

Mr. D. A. MACDONALD, Postmaster-General.

QUEBEC.

Mr. DORION, Minister of Justice.

Mr. LETELLIER DE ST. JUST, Senator Agriculture and Immigration.

Mr. FOURNIER, Inland Revenue.

One seat vacant.

NEW BRUNSWICK.

Mr. A. J. SMITH, Marine and Fisheries.

Mr. ISAAC BURPEE, Customs.

NOVA SCOTIA.

Mr. COFFIN, Receiver-General.

Mr. ROSS, President of Council, and pro. tem. Minister of Militia.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

Mr. LAIRD, Minister of Interior.

ANOTHER OUTRAGE.

The now defunct Minister has always maintained himself in power by acts that would cause other men to blush, and not one of the least of these outrages was perpetrated the very morning that he was compelled to tender his resignation to His Excellency Lord Dufferin, on that morning.

The Hon. S. L. Tilley was appointed Lieut.-Governor of New Brunswick; John Crawford, M. P., Lieut-Governor of Ontario; Hon. Hugh Macdonald, M.P., Judge of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia; Thos. R. Fortescue, Collector of Customs at Collingwood.

Other appointments have been made, it is said, but not yet announced.

They thus, in the very act of expiring, and when they knew that they were not in possession of the confidence of the House, proceed to make appointments to the most important positions in the country. And, while Mr. Tilley, Mr. Crawford and Mr. Macdonald were defending the outrages of a leader, they had the promise of office and of emoluments for their party allegiance.

It is astonishing that the Governor-General allowed himself to be a party to those appointments. These acts are enough to cause the names of the parties thereto to become a byword in the mouth of all honest men in the Dominion, but still they are only in keeping with their past history in all their transactions.

It is a matter for rejoicing that the country is now freed from the stigma of supporting dishonest, dishonorable men, and that it was found that our representatives were not all overawed by the influence of Sir Hugh Allan's gold. We hope now to see the affairs of this country wisely managed by honest men, who will, when force of circumstance requires it of them, resign their charge in honor, with names unsullied by corruption or bribery, and with the satisfaction of having left behind them wise and useful legislation. The state of the country at present does not warrant us to suppose that they have an easy work before them. Men have to be taught to respect the principles of the moral law, and to reject every offer that is likely to pervert their judgment or blind their eyes to what is right. The era of corruption that has just closed will have left its impression on the people—an impression that can only be erased after years of discipline.

Bribing Members.

Alderman Heney who offered Mr. Cunningham $12,000 to vote for the Government is still in care of the Sergeant at Arms. His case is not disposed of yet. This foul act of John A's Ministry is enough to condemn them.

Assizes Continued.

Choat vs Myers—This was a case brought by Mr. T. G. Choat against Wm Myers of Burleigh for damages for losing two horses by glanders caused as alleged, by Mr. Meyers having put a mare, said to be glandered, in piff's stables.

Some of the witnesses stated that the animal was glandered, others stated that she is not glandered. Reports of her being so were also testified, but the jury thought there was no direct proof and gave a verdict for deft Meyers.

Teachers' Institute.

Dr. Sangster, late of the Normal School, will lecture here on Friday evening, 21st instant. He will also conduct a Teachers' Institute on the 21st and 22nd. Friday will be a general holiday in all the schools, the teachers of which attend the meetings. All should attend and thus acquire a knowledge of all that tends to their own elevation and that of their profession.

Dying Sayings.

In their death pangs John A. Macdonald appointed John Crawford of Toronto, Lieut.-Governor of Ontario, and Mr. Tilly Lieut.-Governor of New Brunswick. These appointments must be at variance with general usage, as no Ministry while suspected of high crimes and misdemeanors should attempt to discharge any public business while they were undergoing [illegible]. Surely the new Ministry will cancel these appointments.

[illegible] M. P. P.

For Wentworth Lundy, dismissed the appointment of Junior Judge for Leeds and [illegible]

ELECTORAL [illegible]

The Election of 1872 in the Riding of this County and the [illegible] connected therewith will long be remembered, and the perpetrators fraud will be treated with scorn and contempt by every honest man who understands the nature of the fran and the concomitant acts of injustice.

We would invite attention to a few figures taken from a "Blue Book" sent us from Ottawa, viz: "Return of the second General Election for the House of Commons."

On the 140th page of the Return our West Riding expenses are given which will be found in another column.

The Returning Officers, Clerk and Constables fees are placed at $50 each $286 are paid.

The Proclamations cost $30.

In 1871 when Sheriff Hull was Returning Officer they cost $1 and printing them $3

Dr. Burnham charges for mileage $4 or pay for travelling 410 miles.

Sheriff Hall charges $8.60, or pay for 86 miles, or in other words D Burnham travelled about five times as many miles as Sheriff Hall.

Again for establishing polling Divisions Dr. B. claims $32 but only gets $16. We find no such charge in Sheriff Hall's account.

The Doctor's poll books, voters list and copies cost $53. In 1871 only $8 70.

Commission warrants and returns $11.50 was claimed, only $18.50 paid in 1871 these cost $16.

The electors will be anxious to learn what directions he travelled to get over so much ground—410 miles.

It is about 15 miles to S. Monaghan miles to N. Monaghan, 13 miles to Lakefield, 7 miles to Bridgenorth, or about 40 in all. He may have had to go over some of the ground twice, say the whole of it, then that would make 80 miles or $8. How does he make 41 or over five times 80 miles?

In reference to the mileage, a wag asks, was the Returning Officer chasing his Clerk up and down the Concessions times? Perhaps so.

Poll books, voters' lists and copies are put down at $53. They might cost the one-third of the amount—not more.

Mr. Pearce, in a Riding nearly 100 miles long by 40 broad, containing 19 Townships, or nearly so, and difficult of access, puts his mileage at $68 60, or 686 miles, only 276 more than in the West Riding, yet every one knows that it is father to Haliburton than to all the polling places in the West Riding. Burleigh is also 67 miles from Havelock, and then there is Harvey, Galway, Minden, Snowden, &c., as well as the old townships. We ask again, how were the 410 miles made out? Four times round the entire Riding would not amount to 410 miles.

It is not much wonder that there were loud complaints about the way Commercial Arithmetic, &c., have been lately taught in our schools, for we feel confident there is not a boy or teacher now in the whole School who could make out an account after the manner of the account of the Returning Officer of the West Riding. But if this is an example of the effects of past training, save us from it in future.

LAMENTATIONS.

There is great sorrow at Ottawa. All Mr. Clinton's dishonorable conduct has not served John A. At last accounts he was disconsolate; he was musing over the situation, especially over his lost honor and the degredation to which he had brought himself. His sighs were distinctly audible Mr. Grover was trying to comfort him, but could not. Unconsciously they both were gazing in John A.'s face, pitifully; but the great briber could afford no relief. Mr. Grover's dreams reveal the workings of his heart. Both the Peterborough inanities are taking opiates Mr. Clinton was trying to say "Doctor," but was very weak. With closed teeth Mr Grover can be heard every now and then saying, "the Grits" Alas, alas! how uncertain are human affairs. Mr. Grover fears a committee of enquiry into the election affairs. He is anxious to have the fourth commandment expanded to calm his troubled spirit, and to ease his distracted conscience. The great Tory camp is in sorrow; their sins have found them out.

Misrepresentation.

The Review professes to give a report of a meeting of a Railway Committe held Tuesday evening in the Council Chamber. The report is incorrect; but what can we expect from such a source? Mr. Stratton did not say that "all parties were agreed that Cobourg had done more than she ought to have done in order to assist in getting the road." This is the mere imagination of the Review reporter, whose hearing is perhaps as faulty as his principles. The spirit of the old man still exists. It is a pity that men can be found who lend themselves to the perpetuation of misrepresentation and it is still worse when they are found willing to do so for the paltry pay of a few dollars a week.

Steamer Burned.

Oshawa, Nov. 6.—The steamer Bavarian, bound down, took fire last night about 8 o'clock, opposite here. She was a mass of flames in an instant. Only two boats were lowered. Both of these reached land containing 23 persons. There 14 remaining, who were all lost [illegible]. Amongst the 14 were Captain Carmichael, Toronto; the Chief Engineer, from Port Hope; the Steward, Mr. Spencer. Lachine; Mrs Sibbald and her daughter Brockville; Miss Ireland, Kingston; and Mr. Hillyard, Chatham.

The persons saved are John Henderson, Charlotte; J. J. Parmer, Toronto; Jas Clare, Manitoba; Chas. Bradley, Jas. Finesmore, two firemen; J. Lecosta, Wm Merchester and John Revere, and some others whose names are not yet known. Among those left to perish were the Captain, Chas. Carmichael, Wm. Fiscourre, Wm. Spence, Mrs. Sibbald and daughter, Miss Ireland, Kingston; Mr. Hillyard, Chatham. The purser, who got ashore, reports that there was very little screaming, but as he left there was some moaning. The captain was seen in the water on a plank, but is supposed to have perished. The Bavarian was the old City of Kingston, rebuilt. She was turned in the St. Lawrence a year ago in June, all but the hull which was iron. She seems to have been doomed to destruction. She was about 15 miles from shore when the fire broke out about midship. It spread so rapidly that the boats were lowered at once, but one of them drifted away without any one, which property intended might have been the means of saving all that were lost.

Persons.

We are glad to learn that Wm Wood, Esq., of Harvey, is so far convalescent as to be able to return home. He is improving rapidly.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of SIX of some of the best Oils that are known, each one possessing virtue of its own. Being a physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed preparations of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

VINEGAR BITTERS

PURE VEGETABLE FREE FROM ALCOHOL

WALKER'S CALIFORNIA VINEGAR BITTERS

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye by their proper selections
4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirements of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.
5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

THE HOPWOOD TRAGEDY.

THE QUEEN v. DAVID NESBIT.

This case came on for trial Wednesday morning. The Court room immediately on opening was crowded to excess, and many who came late were unable to gain admittance. A good many women were present. The prisoner was neatly dressed and presented a respectable appearance. He did not manifest any indications of anxiety; on the contrary his features were full, his complexion ruddy and his eye steady. He was defended by Mr. Jas. O'Reilly, Q. C., and Mr. Adam Hudspeth. Mr. J. D. Armour, Q. C., for the Crown.

The following Jury was sworn:—Jno. Henderson, Jno. Wilcock, Wm. Brown, Neil McCarvey, P. McNevin, Jas Marshall, Jas Freese, Robert Shaver, Jno. Thompson, Jas. Greenes, Alex. Burnet, Robert Best.

In opening the case Mr. J. D. Armour briefly narrated the circumstances connected with the tragedy, and said he thought [illegible] have no reasonable doubt that [illegible] was the person who fired the shot, though no person actually saw him fire the shot. But it would be shown by the circumstances and facts connected with the case that the deceased had no weapon, that there was no weapon in the house; but that the prisoner was in the habit of carrying weapons, and from the statements made by the prisoner afterwards there was not a shadow of doubt that it was he who fired those shots. The evidence would necessarily be short and simple; the circumstances under which the offence was committed were all very simple and plain, and could leave no doubt upon their minds. The first witness called was,

MARGARET HOPWOOD, sworn.—I live in Lindsay, my father's name is James Hopwood, I am 12 years old; on the morning of the 12th of July last I was going from my father's house to the station with my sister Eliza Jane and my aunt, Sarah Alice Hopwood; this was about 7 o'clock, a.m.; we met the prisoner near the Catholic church, as were going on Glenelg street to the station; he was going towards our house, which is on the south side of the street; the prisoner asked aunt where she was going; I think she said "not far;" he said he would walk along with her as there was no person to hinder him; she turned around and said she would go home; he said he would walk along with her; he turned back towards our house and I followed her; I went on to the station with my sister.

Cross-examined by Mr O'REILLY.—I had known the prisoner almost a year; my aunt lived in Lindsay that time; I do not know where she boarded; he came to my fathers house with my aunt; he stayed about three or four hours and took dinner; they ate together; they went away about four o'clock; we lived in Springville, near Peterboro', then, and they came from Lindsay; I don't know where the prisoner lived then, but I think he lived in Lindsay; I never saw prisoner before; my aunt wrote that she would come and we expected her, but we did not expect the prisoner; they were on good terms; I don't they remained in the house; my aunt wished to get home that evening; I don't know that he paid aunt any particular attention; he came to our house about the 12th of July, 1872; and prisoner came a couple of days afterwards; he came on foot and remained all evening; I don't know who requested him to stay; he went to the station about three miles distant and aunt walked a part of the way with him; they took showed affection for each other; he was sober on both occasions; I have heard them talk together; my aunt lived in Peterborough a while before she came to Lindsay; before that in Stratford; I have heard the name; aunt spoke of a child she had with a person in Stratford; I do not know if prisoner was there then; I do not know of a prentice boy having his ears cut off for paying attention to my aunt; my aunt stopped at our place almost a month before she came to Lindsay; my father came from Springfield to Lindsay about last Christmas; I next saw prisoner in my father's house about the 1st of July; my aunt was there; I went away before he left; he was conversing with my aunt in a quiet, friendly way; my aunt was glad to see him; I was away about a half an hour; prisoner was not there when I returned; he exhibited some affection for aunt then; aunt did not seem to be very fond of him; I did not see them embracing or kissing each other in Springville; my sister was present at the interview in Lindsay; they were good friends; they were cool to each other when they met as we were going to the train; there was nothing said about a letter she had; I did not hear anything said about the letter.

MARY ALICE HOPWOOD, sworn.—I live in Lindsay; I am a daughter of Jas. Hopwood; I was at home on the 12th July last; my aunt was there; my father and mother were in Springville, they having gone the previous morning; there were in the house that morning Jas Brunell, Jno. Hopwood, and Leslie Hopwood; and my aunt who had said over night; Brunell and my sister Sarah Eliza were gone to Peterborough, and left the house about 8 that morning; my sisters, Maggie, Eliza Jane, and my aunt left before they did to go to the station to see my sister on the train; my brother John went away early in the morning for he was working on the boat; my brothers, Charles Taylor, Leslie, and myself were the only ones left in the house; Charles Taylor is only ten years, and Leslie three years old; the first I saw was aunt with prisoner coming in the gate; I did not recognize prisoner at first; aunt came in first; when she came in she said something. I did not understand about that fellow; she came into the parlour; he was at the bottom step of the verandah when aunt made the remark; he followed her into the parlour, and she said, "Nesbit, I thought I told you yesterday never to enter this house again," and we said to me "Good morning, Mary Alice," and I did not let on I heard him and passed through the hall into the kitchen; when I was returning through the hall into the parlour I saw aunt going into the sitting-room, where there is a bed, and which was used then as a bed-room; prisoner followed her into the door; the door of that room was not shut; I was in the parlour and paid no attention. but I could hear their voices, though I could no understand what was going on; aunt said, "Nesbit, I won't go; I told you I would not go;" I passed thro' the sitting room into the dinning-room, next to the sitting-room; the table was in the centre of the room and he was standing with his arm resting on it. Nesbit said, "Mary Alice, what have you against me," or "have you anything against me," I don't know which; I did not answer him: he said, "if will you be so kind as to give me a drink of water" I went to the door of the dining-room toward the kitchen and called my brother Charles to bring him a drink of water; I came through the hall into the parlour where I was cleaning a cupboard; I thought I heard a noise as it something had fallen and went to the parlour door and saw aunt holding on to the door with her face turned over her shoulder looking at him; the door turns into the sitting-room towards the north; I was standing at the parlour door; I saw one hand but not the other; I heard a second shot; when I saw her standing at the door I knew what the first noise was; I don't remember whether I saw her fall or not after the second shot; the sixth I remember was coming out of the parlour and coming to the door with her face turned towards the parlour, and Nesbit was on the floor was [illegible] he had been [illegible] I saw Nesbit [illegible] I saw him [illegible] I saw him [illegible] I saw him

Cabinet Changes.

The following changes in Mr. McKenzie's cabinet are rumored:—Hon. R. W. Scott to be appointed Post Master General; Hon. D. A. Macdonald to be removed to the Bureau of Militia, and Hon. Wm Ross to the position of President of the Council.—Ontario Chronicle.

In Custody.

Mr. Dodge, of North York, the parliamentary "artful dodger," was served by Deputy Sheriff Nicholson, with warrants on Wednesday so soon as he left the House. As requested in his remarkable speech in defence of Sir John, he is in a fair way of being taken out and hung.—Ex

What's Up?

The Norwood Register is gone over to Messrs. McKenzie, Blake & Co. in politics. What's up? Are Mr. Grover's nearest and dearest friends going to desert him? Or are they preparing the way for shelving him quietly. There must be something in the wind. The Register didn't report his last speech how is this? Surely he will give that speech that the great man of the East may not go silently into forgetfulness.

The Outlook.

That we have in our midst some parties, who have no fear of the law or respect for their neighbors' property in their hearts, appears to be very evident from the burglaries and roberies which have taken place. Several houses have been broken into or attempts made to do so, two stores were entered and a few articles taken; Mr. Cooper was robbed upon the highway, and we have heard of parties calling at houses and demanding money and eatables, and forcing compliance with their demands. With these facts before them, the public should see that their houses and stores are well secured, and should they be visited give the visitors a warm reception. From the recent operations, we draw the conclusion that the participants in the recent burglaries are persons residing in the town or neighborhood, who are either unable to obtain work or two lazy to earn a living, or why would they take provisions. If such is the case our Chief Constable and his assistants should be able in a short time to obtain a clue to their whereabouts, and rid the community of such objectionable persons.—Port Hope Times.

Plain "Mr."

Apart from the political differences which distinguish the new Reform Ministry from its Tory predecessor, there is one grand and distinctive feature which will entitle the new Cabinet to the popularity of the people. No tinselled title or shoddy imitations of Old World nobility find a place among its members. Like the people whom they represent, plain "Mr." is all that is necessary to use in addressing any of the new Ministry, except in so far as courtesy and usage accords to the occupants of the high positions they have been called upon to fill the honorary prefix of "Hon." It is essentially a People's Government, and not a Cabinet of shoddy courtiers, whose native names were buried beneath a flood unmeaning initials and preposterous titles.—London Advertiser.

The Cobourg Sentinel

In noticing the award of the contract for the harbour works at that place to Messrs. Cook & Dunwoodie of Campbellford, says the people of Cobourg should "feel grateful to Hon. Mr Cockburn, Senator of Peterboro, and the late government of Sir John A. Macdonald for this mark of favour to the town." The Sentinel thus acknowledges the grant for improvements at Cobourg was a favor not based on a good claim.—Port Hope Guide.

From Ottawa.

Bishop McIntyre, of Prince Edward Island, and Rev. Father McDonald, one of the priests of his diocese, are here to consult with the Government on the School question. The Act of Confederation admitting them to the Union does not, as in the case with the British North American Act, effect the educational question. The Islanders are desirous to avoid the difficulty into which New Brunswick has fallen in the settlement of this question, and it is with that object in view that the Bishop and his coadjutor are here. It is understood that they were greatly pleased with their interview with the Premier.

Hon. H. L. Hatton.

We see it stated that the Hon. L. H. Holton was offered the Financial Department in the new Cabinet, but declined on the ground of private arrangements which made it impossible for him to undertake the duties at this time. This agrees with our views expressed on Saturday last Mr. McKenzie, we were sure, could not have overlooked so able and experienced a Financier as Mr. Holton had his services been at the disposal of the new Premier.—Chronicle.

Sir Hugh Wants to be Exonerated.

The Ottawa Free Press of last evening contains this interesting bit of news:—"The Pacific Railway trouble is not yet at an end; as Smoke Fraser would say, 'the tail still remains to be flayed.'". It appears that Sir Hugh Allan is now entering actions against the several Directors of the Board to compel them to "shell out" their proportion of the expenditure incurred in obtaining the charter. This action of Sir Hugh will give rise to to a series of interesting issues, which may possibly result in frean and important developements.

Majority of Twenty.

It is a significant fact that a requisition signed by 112 members of the House was presented to Mr. Blake asking him to take a seat in the Cabinet. Mr. Blake has shown great consideration and self-sacrifice in yielding to this influential request and the country owes him a debt of gratitude. This expression would indicate for the new ministry a majority of twenty.

Prospectus of the New Dominion Monthly for 1874.

This magazine is the oldest and has the largest circulation of any literary magazine in Canada. It aims at being Canadian both in the character of its matter and in opening the way to Canadian writers, to whom such remuneration is given as the income of the firm will warrant, preference being always given to those who have formerly contributed without recompense. We do not think our Canadian homes can find elsewhere a publication at once so wholesome, so interesting, or so Canadian, and we ask all Canadians to sustain it. Its circulation is 3,200.—Witness.

The Reformer speaks thusly of Mr. Gibbs.

"HO, BOYS, CARRY ME BACK." The ex-Minister of Inland Revenue, and suite, reached Oshawa Monday, and will probably not return to Ottawa for several days. The turnips, cauliflowers, and other articles of winter provender, have also returned from Ottawa. Ottawa seems to be a bad place to keep Oshawa vegetables.

Botanical Oil Paintings.

We had the pleasure of examining several Oil Paintings, executed by Mrs Hallen of this town, which reflect great credit on her. Those paintings now in Mrs Hallen's studio are of superior finish The features are life like, bearing closest examination without deterioration. Now the holidays are coming, and oldely gifts will be in vogue, as usual, no finer or more cherished gifts could be sent or received than that of a dear friend, or of friends whom distance separates, but which can be in this way bridged over. An examination of her work will be found perhaps the best inducement to inaugurate this very desirable end.

To be prosecuted.

The Oshawa Reformer understands that the company owning the burned steamer Bavarian will prosecute the officer in charge of the pilot's boat for inhuman conduct.

Toronto Markets.

Fal. Wheat $1 13 to $1.18; Spring, $1.08 to $1 10; Barley, $1.11 to $1.15. Pork dressed, $5.50 to $6. Beef, $2 to $5 0

The Peterboro markets are not much changed. Beef brings $3.75 to $4.50. Pork $4 50 to $5.50. Hay $17 to $20. Straw is at famine prices.

The New Government.

Mr. Cartwright, Minister of Finance, is likely to be returned without opposition of a serious nature. There is no news of importance awaiting the nominations in a few days. It is believed that when the Commons meet again the strength of Mr. McKenzie's Government will be equal to John A's in his palmiest days. There is nothing transpiring in the matter of the Pacific R. R. or the Ontario and Quebec Road.

St. Andrew's Society.

The annual meeting of this Society was held in the Council Chamber, on Wednesday evening last. The President, Sheriff J. A. Hall in the chair. The following officers were elected:—President, Mr. J. F. Dennistoun; 1st Vice President James Maller, Esq., Warden of the County; 2nd Vice, D. D. Gallelly; 3rd Vice, Jas. White; Treasurer, J R. Ormond; Secretary, D. Wallace; Executive Committee: Robert Elder. Geo. Tully Alex Bertram. John. Erskine, James Hope, E. Moir, George Maurice Jones Rose, Wm. Cummings, D. McGregor Chas Henderson, Mr. Patterson, and John Cameron. The Treasurer's report showed a balance on hand of $214,99. A Committee was appointed to make arrangements for holding a conversazione on St. Andrews night this year instead of the usual Dinner. A grant of $20 was made to the Protestant Home. Mr. James Millar was appointed to collect the annual subscription of membership.—Review.

Taking to themselves.

It is said that the people of Hastings are about getting their village incorporated, and the part in the County of Peterborough is about separating from Peterborough and joining Northumberland and Durham To have the management of their own business in their own hands may appear very nice to them, but the cost of the luxury will rob it of some of the pleasure.

Accident.

While Mr. Alexander Graham, jr., of Otonabee and his wife & child were going home from Keene on Monday, in a cutter, they met a pitch with a load of Pork at a narrow place in the road, at this Mr. Graham's horses took fright and ran away, upsetting the cutter and throwing them all out. When the horses were found the cutter tongue was broken, and one horse had a leg broken The wife and child were not hurt, but Mr. Graham's face was badly cut. It is a matter for thankfulness that none of them were seriously injured; while the loss of the horse is enough to bear, it is nothing compared with what the death of himself wife and child would

Over 100 Years.

The Register records the decease of Mr Daniel Healey of Asphodel, at the good old age of 107 years The Register adds. He surely has fulfilled his allotted time on earth. There are none now who will doubt this. Mr. Healy lived in Asphodel over 40 years.

Manitoba.

Riel has received the same sentence as Lepine, but he keeps out of the way of Constables and Warrants. How long he may succeed in this way we cannot tell.

Routed Out.

Sir John A Macdonald would not try West Toronto, in the place of Mr. Crawford, whom he elevated to the Lieutenant Governorship. He couldn't leave England. He dreaded defeat in Toronto, knew well that if defeated there, Kingston would not have him, and wisely concluded that discretion was better than valour.

Mr. Cayley

Member in the Local House for Peel is dead. It is generally believed that a Reformer will be elected in his place.

Mr. Fraser.

Member for Grenville, takes the place of Mr. Scott, as Commissioner of Crown Lands. He will be re-elected by acclamation it is believed. After a great struggle, Mr. Fraser obtained his seat His elevation to a place in the Council of His Excellency now, will be ample reward for his energy and consistency.

Seven Sinners to Vacant

Tom Ferguson having been appointed collector of customs at Collingwood. There can be no doubt of a Liberal man being sent to the Local House in his place The Legislature will be well rid of the honorable member, as he was only a hero, bordering on a nuisance, respectable conservatives were not proud of him.

H. S. Richmond.

Having accepted a Judgeship, his Riding will be represented by another man, another of the P—U—P—S Gone.

Corporation Property.

There will be a sale of Corporation Property in the South of the town, on Monday in the Council Chamber. at one o'clock.

Great Land Sale.

There will be an extensive sale of valuable Building Lots in Peterborough, and Ashburnham, at Morgan's Hotel, on Saturday evening 29th instant. at seven o'clock. ORGANIZE! ORGANIZE!!

The Cobourg Sentinel has taken up the wail of the Mail, and cries organize. These are the "no party men" of 1867 the men who said that all party issues were dead—that there were no dividing lines between those in power and those in opposition: the only question was. who should sit on Government benches. The o men are now, however the "great Liberal Conservative Party"—the party o gentleman, the party of honor, of fashionable tailors, of knights and esquires They are now in opposition, and h there is a great "Conservative party which requires organization, resuscitation But, as there are no dividing lines between love of office, why do men of honor wail so for their recent defeat? The cry for organization in the Conservative ranks is nothing more or less than the wail of a sore horse he has who could not be eat el when in office, until their plunder and bribes disclosed their true character, and now they are longing for the flesh pots of Egypt again. They are now at Meribah but their leader's wand is powerless to sweeten their sorrow, an their wailings are becoming more affect ing The great party of "Union for Progress" were so much like the Horse Leech spoken of in a certain book, that their leaders were forced to do acts of the most unblushing and unheard of wrong. to satisfy their hungry cravings; and now th he he not in to give, they cannot be appeased. A copious outflow of their sorrow will relieve their troubled souls and prepare them for the inevitable. To organize, they must have conventions or caucuses, and that will be done cheaply to their honor as they will have to mingle with men, the cut of whose coat will be may a poor tailor. Can they do this?

BENTON.

This unfortunate man, now under sentence of death here, appears not yet to have realized the awful sentence that now awaits execution on the 11th of December next. He enjoys good health; his color is improved since the day of his trial, and the jailor reports his health good, and appetite fully retained. The Rev. Mr. Hooper, B C. Minister, has paid two visits to him, but came to no other conclusion than that he is not in a mental state to comprehend the position he is in.

During an interview sought with him to see if he fully comprehended his position, or if he had any desire that a reprieve should be petitioned for, we found it utterly impossible to make any impression on him. He received us kindly, talked with us on all subjects introduced, but in every instance showed indications of an unsettled state of mental organization. Evidently the man is not of a sane mind. He talked a great deal of printed orders, which he was bound to respect, of being robbed, and of large banking institutions, but when pressed on this subject, said the whole matter was long since settled. On being pressed for his mind on the subject of a petition for a reprieve, he said it was no use, and that he would not give threepence to get one up, as the authorities were all prejudiced against him; and then incoherently said the churches had spoken against him. and the printed orders had to be obeyed. He admits the Dunmore tragedy and justifies on the grounds of printed orders and state papers, and thinks that if he had one again. the rope would have to be used in the face of these orders. Notwithstanding, Dr. Workman's opinion and his own declarations to the Roll Governor, who visits him often, no one unbiased would him of half intelligence, or even of ordinary shrewdness, as to the sanity of the unfortunate man. It is to be hoped that the Executive Council will not allow the law of the surrounding country to be overthrown, but will consider the case, and, if they find that the prisoner should be reprieved, then the chief of their number to do that work, to enable the Executive Council to do their duty, as they have sworn to do, and not allow the law of Canada to be overthrown by the law of Lynch.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.

On Friday evening, Thos. McNaughton Esqr., of Cobourg, delivered an able lecture in the Good Templars' Hall, on the evils of intemperance and the necessity for a law prohibiting its manufacture, importation and sale. The lecture was one of the best we have had the pleasure of hearing. Mr. McNaughton laid bare the cost, the degradation, the misery and the immorality the traffic in alcoholic liquors is causing everywhere where permitted. and in a most earnest appeal besought all to work for the overthrow of the traffic as the surest way to get rid of the evil. His audience listened with wrapt attention during an hour and a quarter. Mr. McN. is lecturing in the interest of the Temperance League without remuneration and we can truly say that any one who can, will find the evening profitably spent in hearing him, profitably spent. A few such philanthropists in every town would soon remove the curse.

The Globe of Monday contains a short, pithy, well written article on "The License System," as it is managed in Toronto, from which we clip the following item:

"During the Assizes just ended, two men were found guilty of beating their wives to death, sentenced to the penitentiary, and two families of children have thus been made orphans and without a home. Two other men stood in the dock charged with the violent death of a woman ade by blows and kicks, but, owing to he medical evidence, they escaped scot free. But very recently a man was killed to death on the street, but the head side has so far escaped detection. Another man was so brutally kicked while on the ground, that his life was at first despaired of. And yet another man hastened his own death by excessive drinking, although an inquest was held to prove the fact. The inciting cause of all these revolting circumstances was proved to be whiskey, either bought at a shop, alias grocery, or drank in a tavern, alias groggery The proceedings of our criminal courts teem with cases of crime provoked more or less by intoxicating drink, and the daily records of our police courts overflow with cases of "drunk and disorderly." Every Judge on the Bench and grand juries without number, have denounced strong drink as the erying evil of the land and the fertile source of crime At the Assizes just ended, the grand jury in their presentment, have spoken out strongly and earnestly, against the large number of taverns, saloons, and groceries where intoxicating liquors can be so easily obtained; connecting this with the cases of crime brought under their action he jury expressed a decided opinion that a large portion of these cases arose from drunkenness, and the learned judge in his reply fully admitted the correctness and force of the opinion held by the jury.

Then follows an important sentence which the writer cannot urge too strongly viz.: "With these accumulated facts before us it becomes the duty of the journalist to enquire by what ways and means a retail liquor traffic of such fearful dimensions and leading to so much crime has grown up in our midst."

The writer fails to do more than point to the existence of the evil—a remedy he does not propose. To talk about limiting the number of licenses is only bringing the evil into a narrower compass and increasing its intensity. No remedy short of prohibiting is altogether will ever avail to abate the crime, misery and death that the License system is encouraging.

The Pacific Scandal has created a furore that has dashed from power a government that used money to bribe electors. But, we ask, has the money of Sir Hugh Allan been one tenth part as potent for evil, of 6 wards returning the vilest candidates as whiskey has been?

CUBA.

There is great excitement in the United over the execution of the crew of the Virginus The vessel was what might be called a blockade runner, and was taken in Cuban waters by the Spaniards, and, probably with a view to putting an end to this sort of thing, these severe measures were resorted to. The Washington authorities have ordered a war vessel to Cuba to protect American citizens and interests. This may hasten a crisis between the two powers. but our American neighbors are easily aroused and sometimes as easily quieted. The whole thing may end in smoke. Spanish rule, of late years, has not been of a nature to be regretted. The greatest evil of a nation has prevailed there, that is clerical influence in matters of State, and the result on the influence abroad and prosperity at home is too apparent in the struggle for the rights of the people. The rights of the people do not necessarily set aside religious influences, but too long and stringent restraints produce too much laxity which very often is characterized as disregard of sacred duties. The Spanish nation is struggling now for their rights in opposing the power of the Church in

FATHER TEMPLARS.

This "National Total Abstinence and Prohibition Society" is fast spreading itself over the whole of the British Empire, for the lodges or agents of the Order are found in Great Britain and Ireland, and nearly all the Colonies.

The fifteenth Annual Session of the Ontario Grand Lodge was held in Morrill Temple Hall, London City, on the 21st, 22nd, and 23rd Oct., at which over fifty Delegates were present; the inclement weather and the S. S Convention in Toronto, doubtless prevented many from coming.

The W. G. C. T., Rev. C. A. Mitchell, B. A., presided with unequalled ability and satisfaction. The officers reports show an unusual growth in the Order, a that numerically and financially it has never occupied a healthier position in the Province. There has been an increase of forty nine Lodges, 1,600 members, and $407 in receipts, being a credit balance of $600.

One of the objects of meeting in London this year was to confer with the British American Grand Lodge on the subject of union; and at 9 p m., on Tuesday, the Grand Lodge adjourned, and went in a body to the B. A. G. T. Grand Lodge, to unite in favor of total abstinence, which did much to remove the feelings of this past and open the way for close alliance, but the Ontario Grand Lodge

A SOMPANION.

From the Irish Canadian.

Sir John met the House on Monday, evidently cowed by the report of his unsuccessfulness of the attempts of his agents to bribe the less wealthy of the members, and appeared his own vindication and defence with hesitation and doubt. He tried his usual tricks he wasted hours in dismissing upon matters foreign to the real subject at issue before the House, and but slightly touched the grave charge so fully brought home to him even by the Supreme Councillship of his own creation. Towards the end of his speech he vindicated the reasonableness of spending money upon elections and child like—accused his opponents of having spent double the amount that he did! He concluded by uttering as a subject prayer—that his friends would not desert him—and with a mock heroism which he really did not possess declared his capability of meeting either victory or defeat with calmness and fortitude.

Mr. Blake followed the doomed Premier, and, in the course of his magnificent speech, held up to withering contempt, Sir John throwing himself, not upon the justice of his policy, the allegation of his followers, of the integrity of its conduct, for political support of the inside of his friends; but upon the mercy of Sir Hugh Allan! He, then, in a perfect master-piece of eloquence, which literally entranced the House of Commons and the crowded galleries, entered upon the confutation of the sophistical arguments of Sir John, upon the constitutional points involved in the question, and proved plainly, even to the most inveterately obtuse, that he (Sir John) was as guilty in his constitutional deliquencies, as he was guilty, beyond the hope of acquittal, of the grossest and most barefaced corruption and bribery The speech was electrical in its effect One after another, the, hitherto, supposed friends of the Government, rose in their seats, each one adding, in a few well chosen, but firm words, their testimony to the immorality of the whole transaction. A verdict of actual condemnation was rendered that evening, and the Government were challenged to brave a vote. They dared not, because they knew the possible result. Had they done so, they would have been left in a minority, and their functions, as an executive, would have instantly ceased. A few blind followers had to be provided for; and for their sakes, as well as to save the appearance appearance of many—who would have braved all shame and disgrace—the necessary odium of being compelled to vote so obnoxiously was obviated. The Government determined to resign their places and to accept a non-exit, rather than suffer the alternative of being condemned, as guilty, by a considerable majority.

Ottawa.

The Reformers of Ottawa have had a Banquet to give vent to their feelings over organs at Ottawa. The Banquet was a success.

Organs.

The Mail attributes the defeat of the John A. government to the absence of organization among the great Liberal Conservative party, and to the fact that there was only one matter mixed in the Perry, John A's, and that he was over worked—in fact had not time to organize. Organization is now to be the order of the day. The organ advises this in political, municipal and local matters. What next? It should be in the churches—only Conservatives have any claims to Paradise! But as nothing random can enter there, what may be expected? Simply that if no Grits get in—it will be thinly populated. The absurdity of carrying politics into Temperance Councils and Temperance Missions must disgust all wise and quiet men with those who give such advice.

On Your Mettle.

The Water Commissioners, Toronto, refuse admission to newspaper reporters. They must love darkness rather than light, their deeds being evil. There could be no clearer proof of evil intention than to prevent the publication of their general deliberations. In the second likely to be requested on a small scale, in the persons of the Toronto Water Work Commissioners. The Mail sympathises with the Commissioners.

Premier.

John Finlay, Esq., of Dunmore has sold his farm and is to enter at once to move into town to spend the decline of his life enjoying the rewards of his industry.

The Majority.

There are several candidates spoken of for the Mayor's chair for 1874. The principal points known were the genius Mayor Mc Cue, Chs. Perry, A. Smith and H. Calcutt. How many more aspirants may come we know not. Mr. Perry should remain at the receipt of Customs until collector Matthew was, to something better, although we have no anticipations of Mr. Perry following in Matthew's footsteps. Mr. Calcutt is to paid towards inaugurating annexation to strengthen his claims on the electors—if this be his intentions, the end fully justifies the means. We must await further developements and the completion of the list of candidates before making further remarks on this important subject. We have no doubt but each candidate will give good ground for claiming the chief post on the Council Board, yet to some of them it will be said, "give this man place."

Suicide near Minden.

A farmer named Joseph Mitchell living about five miles from Minden committed suicide by hanging himself in the woods on the 6th inst. No reason can be given for the act.

The Haywood Tragedy.

Daniel English Newton, who shot Sarah Alice Haywood on the 12th of July last in Lindsay was tried at the Assizes in Lindsay on Wednesday, and found guilty of "Murder." He is now under sentence to be hanged on the 22nd day of December. James O'Reilly defended the prisoner. We will give a full report of the trial next week.

East Toronto.

The Conservatives of East Toronto met in committee a few evenings since, and were not able to agree on a local candidate. They did agree to nominate John A. Macdonald, if he will accept it. Few think he will risk a certainty for an uncertainty. His chances for re-election, even in K ngston, would be slim.

Manitoba.

Legislation has been secured in the Manitoban Parliament, by which the English speaking element will be more legally represented than that of the Metis, or half-breeds. This is nothing more than the necessary sequence of emigration from English speaking provinces, which has increased the ratio of these speaking English to that of the Metis.

"Grip."

The last two cartoons of this spicy little visitor are better, if p ssible than any that preceded them. One of them represents Mr. James Beatty among the tombs of his dead fender-, clad in mourning and in deep meditation. The tombs re of Tupper, Hincks and others of the Ministry, are all named here, and he is treading lightly over the skulls of the departed, while Grip represents him as saying, "I'd comfort no man speak; let me talk of graves and tombs and epitaphs." The next cartoon is an excellent one. Political parties are placed in a class under the tuition of Miss Canada. Mr. Mackenzie is at the head and Sir John A. at the foot of the class, and the rest in the order of merit, with Sleet on the centre t ousers the two parties. Several moral maxims, such as, "Beware of the tempter," "Honest the best policy," "Never tell a lie," "Don't steal letters," "Shun shavers," &c., in front of the class, for an object lesson in the Pacific Scandal and its results. The closing representation in Miss Canada saying to the boy to the head: "Now, Alexander, b very careful or I'll put you where John is." In Grip continues to be the terrier corrector of public morals and the wise director of public opinion, regardless of party as nobly in the future as in the past, it will occupy no second place among its contemporaries.

COMPARATIVE STATEMENT.—Below we give a comparative statement (kindly furnished us by W. E. Roxburgh, Esq.) showing the differences in the various classes entered at the Fall exhibition of the East Riding of the County of Peterboro Agricultural Society, held at Keene and Norwood, for the years 1872 and 1873 respectively—

BLAIRTON.—We learn that the names of the two men who were killed at Blairton last week were a young man named Arthur Jones, and a married man named Fletcher. F. Fraught, a workman, had three of his ribs broken, while several others were slightly wounded. The accident was caused by the strong wind which blew across the derrick, causing the premature emptying of the bucket, part of the contents of which falling on the bank, the remainder into the pit on the men below.—Mail.

WORKING THE WATER OUT THE ROOFS OF BUILDINGS.

Messrs. Mason & Bradburn have arranged reservoirs over the top of their stores for receiving the rain water off the building. Connected with the reservoir is a system of water pipes which have stop-cocks on each flat. To these are attachable hose fifty to seventy five feet long that can be used in case of fire to the building. The pressure from the reservoir is sufficient, we understand, to force water through fifty feet of hose across George Street. This is a most useful application of the roof water, and must prove of immense value in case of fire. Arrangements like this, in each store, would materially lessen the risk to owners and Insurance Companies.

RISE RATES OF INSURANCE.

The action of the Insurance Companies at the late meeting referred to in the Examiner about two weeks ago is already bearing fruit. Renewals of Policies in Peterboro are now costing 1½ per cent instead of 1 per cent as heretofore. The advance is really equal to almost half the entire taxes of the town, if the positive amount of property insured were known. We referred to the cause of the increase in Peterboro, and no doubt was being attempted, we must have given the truth of the matter.

A NEW COMPANY

Has been organized, and a partial list of the Stock holders was given in the Examiner. The capitalists of Peterborough have taken up nearly all the stock required to be taken here. The rates we are told will be three fourths per cent or one half per cent lower than other Companies now doing business, as soon as organized here, which we believe will be in a few days. The new company will do a large business, as merchants and others cannot continue paying $1.25 if they can secure the same object by paying 75 cents. This present increase and the consequent antagonism has been caused by an over eagerness to force water Works on the town. We are not opposed to water works, but let us count the cost first. Estimates have been made from $60,000 to $75,000. The first attempt reduced these to $62,000. The last one to $70,000. Lindsay is now getting water works, on the Waterous system for less than $10,000, if our memory serves us right. Why should we have to pay more, than Lindsay? We have a noble river on each side of a creek through the centre of the Town, several small dams on the creeks, and several tanks in convenient places. Can we not get water works at the same rate as Lindsay? If we cannot it will be through log rolling and the working of "rings," which we intend to watch, if formed. If a proper system of Water Works can be got for ten thousand dollars, by all means let us get the works. But let no more than every dollar voted is properly applied. We do not need to grant bonuses for private influence or newspaper advocacy.

For the Examiner.

THE PROPHET OF DEATH.

Since God to grimly that sentence did proclaim,
O Death, hard dreadful is thy scary name,
So full of terror, swept in dread and gloom,
Man shrinks and shudders at life's certain doom.
I have seen children in their tender years,
When told of death, their cheeks were wet with tears;
Have sensed a terror in their youthful soul,
A dread unspeakable they could not control.
Behold that mother! affright him if you can—
He bears defiance at both God and man,
Bold and regardless, wreckless, dares and wild—
Even he trembles when he hears death's name.
Oh does the thought the mother's fear arouse,
That her own son, child his bloodthirsty boast:
Yells his cruel dead, he falls but names known who—
Turns death that whispered, man, thee, too, must die.
Oh watch that murderer on the fatal day—
He laughed at death while taking life away;
Pleased on that drop, his once white visage turns,
And quivering there white death stands face to face
Beside the deathbed of the thoughtless dead,
On him death lays its cold and icy hand;
He spurned the thought when life and health was fair,
Now saw the direst reality is there.
Cold dew of death on his brow gathers fast,
He dreads the future and regrets the past;
Great pangs of death all his frame paralyze,
The bright light fadeth and dim grows his eyes.
Then sounds the rattle—he recognizes brandon
Death's dart unerring in his breast it shoots;
He feels him, struggles, and pulsation up—
Friend, that is death, extinguisher of hope.
Plunged in dreary etern ss of that hour of clay
Reckon his soul, striving to pass away;
His spirit fled, his pale, cold frame you scan—
Cold, lifeless clay is all that's left of man.
If death on man that grave-like change hath brought,
Proud, thoughtless man, then death deserves a thought

From young and old, in high or low degree—
Not what you are, but what you soon shall be.
There's no discharge in that relentless war,
Thoughtful or thoughtless stands on equal par;
In vain the caution spurn the thought away,
All must taste death, despite it as they may.
Did you e'er pass upon the silent dead
Before the nails had closed the coffin lid?
Death you shall be, when once deprived of breath;
Brother, I ask, what think you now of Death?

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

This is one few preparations of medicine which have written and the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparing of great power of the best. This that good thing which the proprietors have for sale at Clyde, Ogdensburgh have the full confidence may be formed of its ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Then in the preparation, of this OIL a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

A BY-LAW to authorize the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to issue and hand over to the Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company, Debentures of the said Town of Peterborough to the amount of Forty Thousand Dollars.

WHEREAS by a By-law of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough Number 248 entitled "A By-law to provide for the granting of a Bonus to the extent of Eighty Thousand Dollars in Debentures of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to the Cobourg Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company to aid in the construction of the Railway of the said Company northward to Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls" the said Corporation was empowered to grant aid to the said Company to the amount of Forty Thousand Dollars to be issued and delivered to the said Company when the said railway should be completed except as to the fitting up of Rice Lake from the Town of Cobourg to some navigable point on Chemong Lake and provided that it should be so completed and in running order before the first day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four and another portion thereof namely to the amount of the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars to be issued and delivered to the said Company when the said Railway should have been completed except as to the fitting up of Rice Lake as aforesaid, and in running order from the Town of Cobourg aforesaid to the Village of Fenelon Falls in the County of Victoria provided it be so completed and in running order by the First day of March one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five Provided further that the said respective portions of the said Debentures were only to be issued and delivered as aforesaid in the event of the said respective portions of the said Railway being so completed and in running order by the times thereinbefore limited and subject further to certain other conditions terms and stipulations in the said By-law fully set out and mentioned

And whereas the said Company relying on the said By-law undertook the work of extending their Railway northward and have reached the point on the South Shore of Chemong Lake mentioned in said By-law but by reason of the scarcity of labor and the good and substantial character of their work and particularly the substantial character of the bridges and culverts which they have been so desirous of using in the construction of their road as to render it impossible for them to complete the said Railway within the time in the said By-law mentioned And Whereas the amount and character of the work by them executed and in a satisfactory manner performed in the construction of the said Railway from the Town of Cobourg to Chemong Lake has been certified from time to time in good faith with the said Company.

Be it Therefore enacted by the Municipal Corporation of the Town of Peterborough and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same:

1. That Debentures for the sum of forty thousand dollars be issued and authenticated in the manner pointed out by the said recited By-law and delivered over to the said The Cobourg Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company or whoever may be by them authorized to receive the same when and as soon as the Company shall have executed and handed over to the Town there bonds in a sufficient penalty for securing the proper disposition and expenditure of the proceeds of the debentures in the building and completion of the Road between Cobourg and Chemong Lake and further to secure the full completion of the said Road between said points on or before the first day of September next

2. And Whereas the early construction of the said Railway northward to the Villages of Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls as provided in the said recited By law will be greatly to the advantage of the Town of Peterborough and it is impossible for the said Company to complete the said Railway to the said Villages within the time in the said By-law mentioned namely to the Village of Cobourg on or by the First day of April A D 1874 and to the Village of Fenelon Falls by the first day of April A D 1875 herefore it is desirable that a reasonable time for so completing the said Railway to Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls be granted to the said Cobourg Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company

Be it therefore enacted by the Municipal Council of the Town of Peterborough that the time within which the said Company shall be required to complete said Railway to the Village of Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls to entitle them to receive the Bonus or Debentures in the said before recited By law mentioned shall be extended as follows that is to say the said Railway shall be completed except as to the filling in of Rice Lake as aforesaid and in running order from the Town of Cobourg aforesaid to the Village of Bobcaygeon by the first day of December one thousand eight hundred and seventy five and to the Village of Fenelon Falls by the first day of December one thousand eight hundred and seventy six

Provided always that all the other terms and conditions in the said in part recited By law shall be in full force and effect and shall not in and wise be modified changed or affected by this By-law except as aforesaid

3. That this By-law shall come into force on the day of one thousand eight hundred and seventy three but shall be subject to the approval and ratification by the Legislature of Ontario

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates—containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their proper action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Loss of Appetite, and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaints and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Gross Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Sciatica, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be properly taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings, they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppressions, a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement ex

Choice Poetry.

What Child en can Do.

It is not much that we can give
In doing good to others;
But we in joy and peace can live
With sisters and with brothers.
To playmates all we can be kind,
Nor fill the heart with sadness;
Our parents' wishes we can mind
And fill their hearts with gladness.

But, more than all, we can obey
The precepts of our Saviour,
And prove our love to him each day
By goodness of behaviour.
So, whether short, or whether long,
The life that is ordained us,
A merry like a pleasant song
We may all leave behind us.

NEWFOUNDLAND.

New Coal Discoveries—Salt Springs—A prosperous Fishing Season.

Correspondence of the N. Y. Evening Post.

St. John's, Nfld., Oct. 15, 1873.

After passing through the dense fogs which usually overhang the submarine banks of Newfoundland, the first western land sighted by outward bound vessels is Cape Race, the most southern point of the island of Newfoundland, Should the destination of the voyager be a port on the St. Lawrence he finds himself, after a few more hours of steaming, passing between two lofty headlands which are but fifty miles apart. These are Cape Ray, on the southwestern extremity of Newfoundland, and Cape North, on the most northern point of the island of Cape Breton, which stands as sentinels guarding the gateway of Canada. At Cape Ray the Newfoundland coast trends sharply northward, and here the western coast begins and stretches to Cape Bauld, a distance of four hundred miles,

The western shore is indented with several noble bays, the finest being the magnificient Bay of St. George, evidently destined by nature to form the seat of a prosperous and extended population. From its size it might with propriety be termed a gulf, being forty miles wide at its entrance, and fifty miles length. It is long and tapering, and receives at its head and along its southern shore numerous streams and rivers. A long, low tongue of land runs out at the southern side of the bay, forming a safe and spacious harbor. It is sheltered by a range of hills from the chilling north-easterly winds which sweep over the eastern shores, and is quite out of the range of the fogs rolled in from the banks by southerly breezes. Its fertile soil, fine timber, valuable fisheries and extensive coal-fields all indicate its capabilites of sustaining a large number of inhibitants, and all prophesy for it a prosperous future.

In addition to all this, in Mr. Sandford Fleming's plan of a railway across the island, St. George's Bay is named as the western terminus. This line will be the natural extension of the Canadian Pacific Railway, having its eastern terminus at St. John's, and thus bringing Europe within four day's steaming distance of America, also making the favourite travel-route between the old world and the new to be across Newfoundland.

The carboniferous formation is extensively developed in St. George's Bay. Its coal deposits are evidently a continuation of the celebrated Cape Breton beds on the opposite side of the gulf. At Sydney, Cape Breton, there are four workable seams, measuring altogether upwards of fifteen feet; and it is not unreasonable to expect a general anatogy in the characters of the measures on the Newfoundland side, whose carboniferous areas lie round St. George's Bay.

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY OF ST. GEORGE'S BAY.

Mr. Alexander Murray, F. G. S., our geological surveyor, who has been engaged during the last four months, in the examination of the region around the Bay of St. George, has just returned from his explorations; and I am able, through his kindness, to report the results, which are of a very important character. Regarding the agricultural capabilities of this region he gives a glowing account, and declares that these "cannot be over estimated," that the soil is deep and rich, capable of yielding crops of any description, far more than sufficient to sustain the whole population of Newfoundland. The timber is very fine, the best being yellow birch of splendid growth, valuable for shipbuilding purposes, and spruce of large size. The land is easily cleared; the trees and stumps being removed, it can at once be brought under the plough. The farmer has at hand gypsum and limestone sufficient for the most extensive farming operations. and also the shores help can be collected to any extent. An agricultural population of a quarter of a million might be sustained in comfort in this fine region on the produce of the land alone. to say nothing of its fisheries, coal and minerals. At present its population does not exceed fourteen hundred, who live, in a great measure, by fishing. A few fields only are cultivated; and so wretched is the state of agriculture that there is not a plough in the settlement.

SALT SPRINGS.

Mr. Murray has also made the important discovery of the existence of salt springs in various places, and from the indications presented, he is of opinion that salt will be found in solid form. Here is a source of untold wealth, especially in a country such as this, where salt is so extensively employed in the fisheries. It is to be hoped that some enterprising capatilists will take a hint from Mr. Murray's discoveries, and test the salt springs by boring.

PETROLEUM.

This, however, is not all. He found numerous indications of petroleum; so that there is strong probability of this turning out to be an oil region. This expectation is strengthened by the fact that petroleum has been found at various points along the western shore, and of St. George's Bay, particularly Portau-Port. As yet, no boring operations have been undertaken; but now that Mr. Murray has made his discoveries, we may anticipate that our Newfoundland petroleum deposits will not be left long untested.

A FINE COAL FIELD.

The most important, however of Mr. Murray's discoveries is a coal field in St. George's Bay. He has ascertained, beyond all question, the existence of several workable seams of coal of a superior description, the extent of which can only be determined by boring. Much of it appears to be channel coal, so valuable for the manufacture of gas. One seam is three feet in thickness and only a few miles from the coast. Mr. Jukes, the eminent geologist, who was so long at the head of the Irish geological survey, visited St. George's Bay many years ago, and was the first to make known the existence of a coal field. The coal area he calculated to be "twenty or thirty miles long by ten wide," the track being "an oval, forming the centre of the country, bounded by the sea coast on the north and the ridge of primary hills on the south. He also suspected the existence of salt springs which Mr. Murray has now found.

The importance of a coal field in such a position as this, and at a time when the price of fuel brings the "coal question" home to every man's fireside, cannot be overrated. This however, is not the only coal region in Newfoundland. On the north-eastern shore of Grand Lake are found precisely similiar beds to those forming the south shore of St. George's Bay. Here the existence of a seam three feet thick is reported, and Mr. Jukes was of opinion that coal may be found over the whole or greater part of this region. It is easy of access from the head of White Bay. Not far from St. George's Bay coal field is Cairn Mountains, in the neighborhood of which fragments of magnetic iron have been found, leading to the belief that this valuable ore will be found "in place" and in renumerative quantities.

A PROSPEROUS SEASON.

Our merchants, fishermen, and traders are all jubilant just now over the splendid success of the fisheries this season. To a most productive seal fishery in spring we have now added the best cod, salmon and herring fishery which the country has seen for twenty years. The catch of cod on Labrador has been about an average; and herring have been taken in immense quantities. The shore fishery has been excellent, and almost all localities have got a share of the prosperity at some period of the season. The summer was fine and very favourable for the cure of fish, and the fall, so far, has been delightful. The price of fish is still high, being nearly four dollars per quintal for best quality of dried cod. Salmon and herring also obtain good prices.

Our fishermen will be revelling in abundance, and the profits of our supplying merchants will be very great. In many of the outlying settlements there is little money in circulation, and even the clergy of the different denominations collect their dues in codfish. They are personally interested, therefore, in a good fishery, and in such a year as this their fish stores will be well filled. Men are so scarce that in St. John's women are extensively employed on the wharfs unloading fish vessels and carrying the dried cod, on hand-barrows, to the upper stories of the lofty fish stores. These stout female stevedores do as much work as the same number of men, though with a good deal more chatter over it, and get three shillings and sixpence and even four shillings a day.

A STEAM-WHISTLE AT CAPE RACE.

Since the 1st of October a powerful steam-whistle has been in operation at Cape Race, having been completed during the summer. It will be sounded in thick and foggy weather and snow storms for ten seconds with intervals of silence of fifteen seconds in each minute. In calm weather it will be heard at the distance of twenty miles; with the wind, at a distance of thirty miles; in stormy weather and against the wind, at a distance of from seven to ten miles. Many a vessel will be saved from destruction by this friendly alarm on a coast which in one of the most dangerous in the world.

THE AMERICAN CONSUL.

Too much praise cannot be recorded to Mr. T. N. Molly, the American Consul here, for his excellent management of the affairs of the Polaris expedition throughout. He discharged his duties in a most conscientious and praiseworthy manner, and with the courtesy of a gentleman. His promptitude and dicision in recalling the Juniata on the arrival of the news regarding the rescue of the Polaris party merit special commendation. The Juniata had sailed for Labrador three hours before the arrival of the telegram. In another hour Consul Molloy was in pursuit of her in a smart little steam tug, and fortunately overtook her. Had he not done so she would probably be still knocking about among the icebergs on that storm-beaten coast. No doubt the American Government will show their appreciation of such services.

A Change for Marriageable Bachelors.

Vanity Fair says that London, this season, as yet resembles heaven in one thing—there has been no marrying and giving in marriage there; but that is an attribute of the land of hope, with which mothers whose daughters are out can dispense. Is it not time for them, however, to look matters boldly in the face, and see what remedy there may be for this husband famine? Now that the lately arranged truce-parties has set us all talking about the law of demand and supply, it seems an appropriate time for them to review the causes that militate against their disposing advantageously of their stock, they should have a dinner from a dish of fruits, who will dispose at any sacrifice of what at the end of a day threatens to remain unsold, rather than run the risk of its turning bad and quite unsaleable; and they should remember that the markets are governed by two considerations—first, by the number of people who want a thing, if double the amount thereof is to be sold to double people. Young women, as a rule, are not high-priced articles, and there are very few young women of fashion in the prime of youth and beauty to whom the price of a title and rent-roll is not a matter of indifference. Let mothers, then, who have daughters to dispose of, look to it that they are not asking too much for their wares, and that they are not keeping them on hand too long. Let them remember that the market is overstocked, and that the demand is limited, and that the longer they keep their goods the more they will be shopworn, and the less they will fetch. Let them, in short, treat their daughters as a commercial speculation, and they will find that they will be disposed of much more readily.

£25,000 a year—forthwith 300 girls married (by night, owing for these 20 men only, and 280 would-be purchasers are thus frightened off, while at the end of the season, even if all the 20 do buy, 280 maidens are left on hand, their value diminished by one season. If mothers would only recollect that women are as plentiful as men, and that they can get on at average three years longer and look older one, we might be spared some of those heartrending scenes in August, when you may see in the West End hot and disappointed families quarrelling themselves away to the railroad stations, all equally cross and mortified at the result of another useless London season.

Woman's Worst Enemy.

Of the worst foes that woman has ever had to encounter wine stands at the head. The appetite for strong drink in man has spoiled the lives of more women—ruined more hopes for them, scattered more fortunes for them, brought to them more shame, sorrow and hardship—than any other evil that lives. In the country numbers tens of thousands—nay, hundreds of thousands—of women who are widows to-day, and sit in hopeless weeds, because their husbands have been slain by strong drink. There are hundreds of thousands of homes, scattered over the land in which women live lives of torture, going through all the changes of suffering that lie between the extremes of fear and despair, because those whom they love, love wine better than they do the women they have sworn to love. There are women by thousands who dread to hear at the door the step that once thrilled them with pleasure, because that step has learned to reel under the influense of seductive poison. There are women groaning with pain, while we write these words, from bruises and brutalities inflicted by husbands made with drink. There can be no exaggeration in any statement made in regard to this matter because no human imagination can create anything worse than the truth, and no pen is capable of portraying the truth. The sorrows and the horrors of a wife with a drunken husband, or a mother with a drunken son, are as near the realization of hell as can be reached in this world, at the least. The shame, the indignation, the sorrow, the sense of disgrace for herself and her children, the poverty—and not unfrequently the beggary—the fear and the fact of violence, the lingering, life-long struggle and despair of countless women with drunken husbands, are enough to make all women curse wine, and engage unitedly to oppose it everywhere as the worst enemy of their sex.—Dr. J. G. Holland.

The Irish Assembly's Temperance Committee.

At a recent meeting of this committee held in Belfast, the following resolutions were agreed to:

1. That the convener be instructed in due time to issue a circular to ministers, reminding them of the order of Assembly to preach a sermon on temperance on the first Sabbath of December.

2. That the attention of Presbyteries and Session be also called to the in junction of Assembly's Minutes, page 430), that they should deliberate specially on the matter.

3. That in the circular addressed to Presbyteries they be respectfully asked to take into consideration the following suggestions and remit to the committee whatever suggestions they may think it proper to make, viz.—What steps should be taken by our Church, and especially by our ministers, under present circumstances, in the great temperance question? And, further, what action, if any, should be taken in regard to those of our members or office bearers who are engaged in the liquor traffic?

4. That an address be issued and circulated among our congregations, pointing out the immense and increasing expenditure upon intoxicating drinks, and the dreadful evils therefrom resulting, and calling upon our people to take a more decidedat and upon the side of temperance.

St. Andrew's Society.

This Society has made arrangements for a grand Conversazione and a calico ball this year, instead of their usual dinner. Preparations are made for a splendid affair. There will also be refreshments, but the great source of attraction is to be the speeches, ball and readings. On the last occasion of the Society having a Conversazione it surpassed their highest anticipations, and this will surpass the last. No Scotchman should be absent on Monday night.

McDonald & Elder

Have just received nine cases of Dress Goods and Millinery which they are rushing off at low rates. Call and examine them at once They are offering bargains.

There was a Meeting

Of the Town Council on Monday. Mr. Hugel and Col. Williams were present and addressed the Council on Railway matters. Mr. Hugel wanted a bonus of $250,000 to extend the road to Bobcaygeon, &c., only $10,000 a mile. This was liberal indeed. We might build the road ourselves if the Town would put in one-half the cost of construction. Col. Williams was in favor of the road from Peterboro north, if it would but start from Port Hope and be a part of the Midland road. He was friendly to the Haliburton R. R., so long as it was to run in connection with the Midland, but not as an independent road and on this point he and Mr. Carnegie differed. Mr. Stewart was also present, but had made no calculations, or survey. The whole ado is to divert attention from the present extension, and, if possible, ruin Peterboro; for, if the present road be not built now, ere one year the Victoria, or some other road, will take advantage of his weakness and division, and cut us off from the back country. The Council saw through the manoeuvre, and answered the deputation with profound silence. A rumor that Col. Chamblias was to be present had no foundation.

Insanity vs. Insanity.

Any physician will, no doubt, satisfy the curious enquirer as to the difference between the meaning of these two words, and give a full diagnosis of both ailments. For our purposes it will suffice to say that insanity means brain sickness; insanity, the absence of the organ altogether. One who wishes to propagate "pet theories" has found a means of so doing. In the theories it is difficult to say whether vanity, insanity, or insanity appears most prominently. "Pet theories," "maudlin sentimentality," "South of the Lakes," &c., are pat phrases which have so often been doing service that we could almost give personal recommendation to Dr. Workman to take care of one whose theories having taken the place of judgment, and a thirst for blood the place of therapeutics. Such men are as fit for the "tombs" as being at large.

The Bobcaygeon "Independent"

Denies that it's about to remove to Lindsay.

A Man named Doyle

Of St. John, N. B., lately shot his wife and took his own life. It is said difference of temperment, station and creed, had something to do with the unhappy end of both. The woman's maiden name was Hicks. She was a native of the County of Hastings.

Several Ministers

Of the gospel have visited the prisoner Fox, or Brenton, but have failed to make any impression on him. We believe that all who visit him, except his surgeon, are agreed as to his insanity.

Dr. Clegg

is again going to contest the Township of Burleigh &c., with the present Reeve, Mr. Galborne. The Dr. is confident of success this time. His numerous friends promise him a large majority.

Remember the sale of valuable Town and Village Lots, on Saturday evening, in Morgan's Hotel. Several of the Lots are finely located.

The Mayoralty.

From present appearances Mr. Cox will not be opposed. All those yet named have retired or were only testing public feeling.

Lindsay.

The water works now in course of construction are being mismanaged The pipes are not being sunk low enough to lie out of the reach of frost.

Cobourg.

The tavern influence in Cobourg is threatened against Mr. McNaughton, as a councillor, because he lectures on temperance and opposes the license system.

Woodstock.

A massmeeting of the people of Woodstock, headed by the ministers of the gospel, has been held, and the strongest opposition, both Lay and Clerical, is declared against all who do not promise to limit the taverns and saloons.

Billiard Rooms.

The Chief Constable of this town complains of the fearful influence of billiard rooms on the youth of the town. Young men rush to these rooms for amusement. After the game there is the "treat;" then another and another "treat," until the high-spirited young man is led away by the wiles of the billiard room, and becomes an inebriate, and may die a drunkard. One billiard room, he says, is worse than five taverns! Is this so? It is the general opinion. Then why do Councillors license them at all? Does the love of money prevail to such an extent that even the lives of our sons are nothing compared with it? It is said, hotels we must have. But do we require gambling dens?

Peter's Musical Monthly.

This invaluable Musical Monthly for December is already received. This number closes the current year. During the year it contained 135 pieces of select Music; songs, vocal and instrumental, at an average price of 35 cts. each. No less than $47.25 worth of choice music is given during the year for $3.00. It may be said that a great many of the pieces are of no value to many of those who may purchase; even so, there is four times its value of the best pieces, that will be suitable. There is no other way that a lover of music can get so many excellent pieces vocal and in strumental at so cheap a rate. Address

The "Mail."

Mr. Patterson, manager of the Mail newspaper has been bound in a penalty of $1000, to stand his trial for libelling John Creasy Whellams, who had been a Deputy Emigrant Agent in Great Britain. Mr. Patteson's assigned reasons for doing so "was to get pitching into Mr. McKellar." Mail politics must be of the most abandoned character, when, to injure a political oppouent, his opponent's servant's, or employee's character must be villified and his prospects blighted forever. The course pursued by the Mail since its commencement cannot recommend it to the sympathies or support of reasonable men.

False Assessments.

Messrs. Snider and Simons, Assessors for the town of Brantford, have been found guilty of making false assessments, so as to increase the number of Conservative votes at the last elections.

The Nomination for Lambton.

Hon. Mr. McKenzie's constituency, took place on Tuesday.

Lennox.

Mr Cartwright and Mr. Hooper were both nominated for Lennox on Saturday. John A. Macdonald was present and spoke against Mr. Cartwright.

Teacher's Institute.

The attendance at the Teacher's Institute here, during Friday and Saturday, was large, and the greatest interest was evinced by the teachers. Dr. Sangster's lecture on "Hero and Hero Worship" in the Music Hall was not largely patronized. Those who stayed away missed a treat. At the close a vote of thanks was unanimously tendered to the Doctor for his admirable lecture.

Snow

Has fallen in considerable quantity and winter appears to have fairly set in. The river is higher at present than is usual at this season of the year.

A Dangerous Game.

At Lindsay, last week, a boy named Dovey got a bloy in the eye from a shinney in the hands of another boy, at play. The stroke was accidental, notwithstanding a doctor had to be sent for.

Fall in Hides.

The Shoe and Leather Reporter reports a fall of 50 per cent in hides during the month.

The Annual Sermon.

The Rev. Mr. Carrol, we understand, will preach the Annual sermon to the St. Andrew's Society, on Sunday evening, in Mr. Reid's Church. For this reason there will be no evening service in the Baptist Church on that evening. There will be a collection at the end of the service.

Jas. Millar, Esq., Warden.

Has gone up the Burleigh road on business connected with that road.

A Chapter of Accidents.

The Fergus News Record gives nearly two columns of accidents last week. A son of Mr. A. McNabb, Hazliston, fell and nearly killed. A medical student named Bryson, was found dead in his bed in Montreal. A Mrs. Forster, of Chatham, had her face badly torn by a ferocious dog. A man, named Wm. Johnson, fell between the cars on the Air Line near Aylmer, and was killed. A man named Young, died at Oakville, of delirium tremens on Sunday morning. Three men, named Cox, Jolley and Hewitt, were killed in Rochester by the falling of a portion of the W. M. Church. The son of a Waterloo brewer fell into the cellar and removed the scalp for an hand-breadth. Wm. Watterton, of Sydenham, while lifting a large board from a circular saw, was thrown against it and had his arm cut off below the shoulder and a deep gash cut in his side; he is despaired of. On Friday morning, Robert White, of Drummond, lost his arm in a thrashing machine. Magnus Stephens was run over at Port Sunday by [illegible] day last and lodged [illegible] ton Harris, of [illegible] by a falling [illegible] Seven weeks [illegible] Kinney, [illegible] to upwards [illegible]

Last Treachery.

The Mail has been violent in vituperations of Mr. Glass for having John A. in his hour of need. But what is Glass' fault compared with what has been in circulation concerning the Mail, of the attempt of the Mail manager to throw Sir John overboard and organize a new party. A correspondent asks the Leader if such were the case, to which the Leader replies:—

"We regret to say that we believe there is a good deal of truth in the rumors alluded to by our correspondent; but having no personal knowledge of the details, we cannot speak positively on the subject. Certain parties in the city have published the names of the conspirators in the case; and we doubt not that if our correspondent is very particular to secure more information on the subject he can readily do so by making a few enquiries on the street. We hear that the object contemplated was nipped in the bud, and the young men who had the matter in hand quietly simmered down."—ED. LEADER.

Could arrant hypocrisy or ingratitude go farther than this?

The sale of over 30 Town and Village Lots will take place on Saturday evening in Morgan's Hotel. Don't forget it; at 7 o'Clock.

RIEL.

Numerous Orange Lodges are passing resolutions, protesting against an amnesty to Riel and his coadjutors in the murder of Scott. A resolution passed at a Lodge meeting in Cobourg is perhaps the most noted of any. It winds up thus:

"Further, we do individually pledge our sacred honor not to vote for any Government or for the nominees or supporters of any Government that will grant, recommend or countenance amnesty to Riel; and further, we call upon the Ontario Ministry to carry into effect their boasted desire to bring the murderer to justice and show that their offer of a reward was not a sham to seduce loyal men to their party."

There can be no objection to Lodges giving expression to their long pent up feelings on this murder question. Thos. Scott has been murdered over two years. It was known, and is known that John A. Macdonald promised Bishop Tache an amnesty for Riel and the other accomplices. Why did not these super-loyal brethren of Cobourg pass this resolution before the last Dominion election? While John A., the aider, and, in this case, the abettor of the murder, was in power, they could promise an amnesty, and still get the support of these ultra loyal brethren They were willing to wink at the murder, and at John A condoning it. But now that Mr. McKenzie is at the head of the Government, all his talk was merely a sham to seduce loyal men to the party. We venture the assertion that the mover and seconder of this insulting resolution, are the possessors of nothing more than lip loyalty, and that they, over their wine cups, would sooner repeat the maxim, Dulce et decorum est pro patria mori, than face the foe to that end. It is told of a son of the Emerald Isle who got into a scrape at a fair; that he made a great ado, and would fight with all around him, thinking by bluster to frighten his opponents; but finding that his bluster was not going to save his smeller in the melee, he at last cried out: "Is there no one to hould me?" Lip loyalty is cheap, even among those who worshipped at the shrine of John A. Cobourg has some of those idolators whose faith in Sir Hugh Allan's money, fat contracts, or John Barley Corn, is more demonstrative than that manifested to their Creator, or to Protestantism or to Great Britain.

It would not be surprising to learn that some one who never read it, moved or perhaps seconded it. The bombastic braggadocio who gives vent, at public meetings, to the unprincipled rants of demagogues, is more to be pitied than reasoned; and Orangemen are only rendering themselves ridiculous in passing resolutions casting the stigma of disloyality against many of their brethren—perhaps brethren also in the flesh—whose love of country is stronger than their own, and their hatred of bribery is stronger, and while they "honor the King," think they should not forget to "Fear God," or to "Love the Brotherhood."

THE BOBCAYGEON "INDEPENDENT," AND THE PETERBOROUGH "REVIEW."

These worthies have drawn lances; the first blood has been drawn, what the result will be we cannot tell, but as the Editor and proprietor of the Independent is a late agent of the English Land and Emigration, and as he charges the Review with receiving certain "casual" advantages. We expect a speedy peace will ensue rather than have further revelations. After a spicey reprimand for stealing the Independent's articles and correspondence, the "Independent" man winds up thus:

We now treat the pirate as it deserves and first booting it for its larceny and impudence, we stamp it evermore with the brand of "thief."

The accuracy is questioned of a portion of a report of a meeting relating to the English Company, and the Review expresses a great deal of virtuous indignation on the subject. Now, that virtuous indignation would be particularly edifying were it not for two circumstances, first that the Review, is suspected of receiving an annual subsidy from the English Company under the name of "Auditors fees," and secondly that the report in question was furnished by a correspondent whose reports hitherto have been in perfect good faith.

This is very specific, but can hardly be true, as the Review and the Company's present agent are not on good enough terms, to give and receive gifts; Mr. Blomfield will look two ways before bestowing favors for which he does not receive an equivalent. But if this Judicial district could be formed, and he should become dictator thereof, his heart might become soft, and the "Auditors Fees," the Independent speaks of, be more lavishly expended. Does the editor of the Independent know whereof he affirms, when he speaks of "Auditors Fees"? He should be slow to make charges he can not substantiate.

THOSOME RESOLVE TO BID IT.

Ignorance is sometimes a sufficient plea for wrong doing, as in the case of a child ignorant of his mother's commands, thoughtlessly touching an [illegible] apparently object injury is the consequence. The man cannot plead [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Peterborough Collegiate Institute.

On Friday night a Literary Association was organized in connection with this Institute, when the following officers were elected :—J. B. Dixon, M. A., President ; J. D. Christie. B. A , and M. Earl, Vice-Presidents ; P. Miller, Secretary ; W. H. Hunt, Treasurer. An essay on Language was then read by S. H. Might, Next in order were readings by F. W. Haultain and K. McLennan. The question, "Is the character of Oliver Cromwell worthy of admiration?" was discussed by Messrs. Hunt, Laing and Gilmour on the affirmative. Messrs, Miller, Marshall, and Rutherford on the negative. A declamation by Mr. Christie.—Com.

TEACHER'S INSTITUTE.

Dr. Sangster, so long one of the leading teachers in the Normal School, Toronto, lectured yesterday on different branches of public school work.

There were about 45 lady teachers present in the forenoon, and nearly 30 gentlemen. In the afternoon about 100 in all were present.

The first subject taken up by the Doctor was school organization. The discussionof which occupied over an hour, and in which the leading features of well regulated schools were pointed out, and the necessity of careful division of pupils into classes, and explaining all the little considerations that should govern a teacher, in their division and arrangement. The Lecturer condemned the system of appointment of pupil monitors, except in matters physical, or watchfullness, to increase attention to study, or to regulations, and in very strong terms urged the folly of appointing monitors to hear classes in reading.

The remainder of the forenoon was occupied by the Doctor in explaining the best way of teaching reading, especially to young pupils.

TEMPERANCE.

At a meeting held in the Council Chamber on Thurday evening, a Branch of the Ontario Temperance and Prohibitory League was organised. The officers elected were :

Geo. A. Cox, Mayor, President.
Jas. Edwards, Esq., T. C , 1st Vice.
D. Pentland, Esq., D. S. 2nd Vice.
J. Stratton, 3rd Vice.
Mr. Barnecutt, Secretary.
Geo. Ford, Treasurer.

And Messrs. Mills, Watson, Hughes, Wright, James, Nesbitt, Courtney, Gillespie, Baker, Mason,—A Council. A constitution was then adpoted and it was agreed to meet again on the 1st Thurday of December in the Good Templars Hall at 7.30 p. m.

The object of this organization is so well known that no explanation is needed, viz : to obtain prohibition of the manufacture, sale, and importation of alcoholic liquors, as soon as possible, and in the meantime to limit the influence and the evil arising therefrom The President, 2nd Vice President and Mr. Mason were named a special committee to wait on the ministers of the gospel in town, and try to get their active co-operation, and to get them to preach simultaneously on the subject. The object of this organization is work, and the members hope to secure the warm co-operation of all who desire to have the abuse removed. They hope to have the aid of many who are not, perhaps cannot be totallers, and thus may enlist every power at their command to secure their object—the good of their fellows who are bond slaves to the bowl. Every man in the town of Peterborough should join this Society. No matter what his trade craft, calling or religious. It is not religious it is not political, It is not national in its object, or constitution. Irishmen—Englishmen —Scotchmen —Frenchmen—all men, can join for the removal of their common enemy from the land. Let Canada be the first nation in the world to throw off the shackles of the traffic. Ontario the foremost Province, and the County of Peterborough in the van in the noble work.

SIR JOHN'S DYING ADDRESS TO HIS FOLLOWERS.

The admirers of Sir John McDonald gave a banquet at Ottawa last week in honor of their leader. The Mayor of that city presided on the occasion, and Alderman Henry, of corrupt intent, occupied a vice chair. Thus the chief of bribers and his aube were there. Sir John made a speech; loud were the plaudits, each glorying in their own and their country's shame. The exordium as reported in the Review :

Right Hon. Sir John A. Macdonald, on rising to respond, was greeted with enthusiastic and prolonged cheering. He said—Mr. Mayor and Gentlemen,—Can I believe my senses? Is it true, or is it a dream? Am I a defeated man, or am I a victorious Minister? (Cheers) If I were to Judge by your plaudits—and they say the world only applauds success—I might suppose I was at this moment leading a successful band of followers—a majority both in and out of Parliament. (Cheers and cries of "You are !") This assembly proves to me that the common saying that mankind only worships success is a falsehood. You are not here to worship success. You are not here to aid in still further elevating men who, by the force of circumstances, have attained, and are now hurping a high position in the country. You are following a fallen Ministry. (Cries of "Never" and "No!") Aye, sir, it is too true. Your leaders have fallen, but your voice and the voice in this room, and the voice heard outside of this house, and the voices that are now ringing through the country, tell me that this fall is but the precursor of a secon triumph. (Cheers.) There is a cent, a most respectable cent, of religionists that exsits in old times from the East, and still exists—those who worship the rising only. You are not Parsees, gentlemen. (Laughter and applause.) You can say with the poet—

"Let others hail the rising sun,
We bow to that whose course is run."

(Cheers.) The sun has run his course and set in the west, but your cheers show you have a confident expectation, and assurance beyond a doubt, that he will rise hereafter with unmitigated splendour in the East, and then you will be ready to cheer the rising sun as you have been to cheer and sympathize with that luminary in his setting hours. (Cheers.)

After this out-flow of feeling Sir John appealed to what he had done for Ottawa 'n making it the seat of the Commons, and he vowed that the banquet was a reward in this world for the good deed. He could appeal to nothing higher than this—nothing of an elevating character, or of a national policy to demand their respect or attachment.

HIS BRIBERY ONLY AN INCIDENTICITY.

Hear him :

Not only in this social assembly, but in the confidence, in the sympathy, in the warm approbation and hearty support not only of Ottawa, but of the surrounding district, have I found my reward at once. If I have cast any bread upon the waters it has returned at once, and not after many days, (Cheers.) You have, gentlemen, as I said, assembled to do honor to a fallen Minister, a man who is now reduced to the ranks, (laughter and cries of "No !") but like many an honest fellow in the army who has risen to a certain position, and found through some eccentricity of his he has been reduced to the ranks, he prepares to rise again, first to the rank of sergeant-major, and afterwards to the position which he held before. I am as confident as I can be at this moment, that the party that supported the late Government will be excluded from power for but a short time. That their reverse is but momentary is as certain as that I now address you. (Loud Cheers.)

THE BRIBERY PASSION STRONG IN DEATH.

It may be that the future Government, composed of the parties to which we all belong, may not be the same as that which lately resigned; I hope myself to be relieved of the responsibility of ever being a Minister again, "Cries of "No ! no !") I hope, out of the party to which I belong, there will rise a strong and successful administration.

THE CONFEDERATION.

A wide Dominion : Nova Scotians subsidies. The great Pacific R. R., were then recounted as the result of his mind, not a word about what others did to these ends.

MERELY DEBTS.

Sir John admits he had not been perfect, but then they were merely errors. He said :—

I admit we have committed errors, and and I will say, like any honest man who looks back upon his past life; that there are many things I would have wished otherwise, and with the light of experience, I would have changed, but I will say this, whether we acted right or wrong, we actuated by a desire to do the best according to our judgement although it might afterwards prove to be an erring judgement. (Cheers.) But outside of those errors of commission and commission, we will leave a heritage which those who follow us will gladly accept. We leave a country with law respected, with the moral of the country unexceptionable; with the habits of the people to be compared with those of any in the world, and I am charitable enough to hope that no act of those who are following us will injuriously effect the country, prosperous as it is, while its affairs are administered by them. (Cheers)

The man who can thus talk of the heinous crimes of corrupting the people of demoralising the country or of bartering away their rights for a few paltry dollars : who can stand in the face of his own evidence, and speak of the morale of the country as unexceptionable becomes too callous has to be affected by reason or truth. As a proof of the moral obliquity of the man we will give one more paragraph :

There is one thing I wish to say, and wish to impress it strongly on this meeting and on the country through you—and I am obliged to you for giving me an opportunity to do so—that I am not aware, that I am not a party to and the Government of which I am a member is not a party to a sixpence of that fund being expended contrary to law, or for any immoral or improper use. (Enthusiastic cheering,) the money I received was so small and insignificant itself that, divided over Ontario, it could have very little effect on the Province, except to encourage some poor man—and we had many such—to come forward as candidates. You know that many excellent men are deterred from coming out to contest elections because they have not got the means. I say, on my honor, that I am not aware that not one sixpence was spent in an illegal way. I used it as any of you would as a member of a committee, trusting that it would be used fairly, properly and honestly for the purpose of conducting the elections. (Cheers.) I have spoken to you about the way in which the charges brought against us in Parliament failed.

Could there be found falling from the lips of any man except from his own, such barefaced falsehoods. How could $358,000 be spent in a legal way during the elections? It is down right trash to talk of its being spent in a legal way.

But his reasons for resignation are still more ridiculous. He puts the question, "Why did you resign ?" and answered thus :

Well, gentlemen, I'll tell you. In the first place, I found too late that I had not a fair jury. It was a court that was packed. For the first time that I had ever known it in a country where British Institutions prevail, or where the spirit of British justice exists, I had found that the men who were to try us, who had read that evidence, and were to declare us guilty or not guilty, had signed a document to bring in a verdict of guilty. Gentlemen does not your flesh creep when your hear that statement ? when you hear that a body of gentlemen, elected by the honest law abiding, straightforward people of Canada, to be so false to their principles, as false to their honor, so degraded from the last of power that they would go round from man to man and say—"Those gentlemen are going before you to be tried in a few weeks. Sign this paper that you will give a verdict of guilty." This was the court I had to meet, that was the jury I was brought before, and, when I found that, and besides that not only had the jury been packed, but many had been approached by means most degrading to those who approached and those were approached ; when I found that those who had volunteered to support me in the morning, had been sold before the afternoon, then I thought, we were doomed, I had to consider my supporters, and I was not going to force a hopeless task on them, for there were many of them honest, straight forward men, who were willing to sink with me, and I was not willing to put them in a false position. (Cheers.) I was not willing to put the true men in a false position and let the false men place themselves in an elevated position, and so the Government resigned.

We will let our Conservative friends draw what consolation they can from this paragraph. Sir John had a majority of 26 at least when he met the second Parliament of the Dominion, These men, according to Sir John, were bought over. Then they must have been purchasable ; they must have had their price. But just think of Sir John declaring in thunder tones that over half of the great conservative party were ready to sell themselves; or if not sell themselves, then they were unjust, for they signed a paper to bring in a verdict of "Guilty" before hearing the evidence. What a party that "party for Prog must have been ? How much he must have spent to retain them ? How patriotic their motives ? Office and money there all and in all. How many more of them are ready to go to the highest bidder? They were the loyal, the honorable, the patriotic, the gentlemen of our country, who followed the ship as so many sharks for the dead offal that might be cast out. What a noble party was he leader of !

If the character given them, by their leader be true, the providential hitch that would hurl them from power or from places of trust would be a blessing to the country. We cannot believe that they are so bad as their chieftain has represented them, although we must confess he has the best right to know his quondam bosom friends.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL
Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtue of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed preparations of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcbol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
CELEBRATED
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and can so readily be disposed of.
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because they will reclaim sight when abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.
4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.
5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of changes.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.
A full and complete assortment has been supplied to and always kept on hand by

Time.

ADDRESSED TO THE PETERBORO' ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY, 1873.

Let us the nicht, while here we stay,
O' Scotland talk; hae 'o' our birth,
Wher some o' us hae spint mony a day,
When young, in joviality and mirth.

Whar we wi' merry hearts did glide
Wi' playmates, oft till nicht did fa',
Then gather roun' the ingle side
Whar gussain' tales gae'n roun' us a'.

The auld folk sittin' in the nook,
Whiles laughin. at some fairy tale
We'd got oot o' some auld story book
The hawkes carried them for mair.

Names o' the books we've spoken tell,
The maiden of [illegible] fame,
Mair than what's o' a better kin'.

We youthfu' actions ne'er forget,
Youth's tragic scenes are minded lang;
The auldest o' us a' min' yet
Gettin' our licks when we did wrang.

Haudin' our han' whar mither lick't
When laid across upon her knee,
An' how we sprawl'd and how we kick't
Ere the strock came she was the gee.

Yet those to us were happy days,
Our cares and troubles then were sma';
Enjoyment we had in our plays,
Kings micht a envied us them a'.

Nae pills tae gar our food digest,
We need't them, or cheery wine;
On kail an' parrich we could feast,
We've relished nane like them sin' syne.

The balmy air it made us yaup,
That aff the heathery hills did blaw,
Made young an' auld clean out their caup
An' health bloom in the face of a'.

The young folk here may at us stare,
An wonder thus to hear us speak,
But there's few here that wi' them there,
Can show the healthy, rosy cheek.

O! Scotland, when we speak o' thee,
Our hearts loup back toward thee still,
Rememberin' o' the days when we
Our parents hearts wi' joy did fill.

Some o' our heads sin' then are bear,
But while we're driftin' on life's sea,
Our father's God let us adore,
Wha' can us keep where'er we be.

An let us ever in Him trust,
Wha gied our father's power tae ficht
An' lay their foes low in the dust;
Bought us whut we enjoy the nicht.

An' let us in our new abode
United be gainst tyranny,
An' vow the path our father's trod
We too would go was there need be.

But hope, dear friends, we'll never need
Like them, in freedom's cause tae ficht;
They wha for freedom's cause did bleed,
Their names we celebrate the nicht.

Choice Literature.

ROBERT BURNS.

We may indeed compare him in many features of his character to King David, but he wanted two great helps the shepherd-poet and king possessed. He wanted an age and an aim worthy of his great soul. Instead of being born at a time when his people were emerging from anarchy and barbarism, with all the freshness of a youthful faith, ready to receive with joy their God-appointed teacher and leader, his lot was cast at the end of an age when the fires of enthusiasm and faith had burnt out, and nothing was left but the dead members, when scepticism had destroyed the belief in the possibility of a God-sent Man, and almost in the possibility of any real greatness. So, too, his great powers were wasted for want of an aim. Instead of following his vocation, he was making useless attempts at farming, riding post-haste over the country in pursuit of his duty as a gauger, "grinding," as he sardonically puts it, "the faces of the publican and the sinner on the merciless wheels of the excise." Thus he had neither time nor opportunity to grow in mind or soul, and the man who seemed born to renew the age sank overcome by its corruption. For this result both Burns and his generation were to blame. The world was delighted to rent his verses and hear him talk; but as to their being anything sacred in the man, any voice of God to their consciences in the truths he scattered so freely, how could they be expected to imagine such a possibility, when they believed that the highest exertion of all was only an art which any one might learn in the theological schools, and carefully studied elocution and rhetoric! They could, if they would, have helped him to literary culture, to robe himself in a more stately manner, to use correct action, to put in the emphasis in the right place; nay, indeed, they could have enabled him quite rules for attaining a true taste, whose to put in the pathos, and where to rise to the sublime. But they had no notion that a man could do much more than write pretty or witty verses who had not passed under their forules and come out labelled "Master of Arts;" no notion that a peasant poet might after all prove the man from whose lips they would learn divine truth, and for whom it was the duty of all his fellow men to pray that he might believe in the resurrection of his own life and calling. No great poet, least of all Burns, with his deep religious heart, his early education, hereditary faith, could altogether forget it. But the conviction which had taken such hold on him while he wrote "The Vision," grew fainter and fainter, until at last it came to be only a passing thought, that all he claimed was to be regarded by one of the intellectual men of the day. But his divine treasure, what did he do with that? He came to trust in us men de other noble gifts or great talents, with scarce a thought of the responsibility of their possession. Thus an upright, his Master's gifts; received them as a talent, drawing-room; an gentleman of the Caledonian hunt; in Dumfries taproom. Right and left he scattered his precious wealth of mind and heart, a true prodigal son, spending all he had in riotous living. Alas! "the prophet was a fool, and the spiritual man was mad!" The poverty he so much dreaded, and took such pains to protect himself from, came upon him. His duties as a gauger, and his social pleasures, interfered with the management of the farm. After three years and a half he had to resign it, and his salary in the Excise having been raised to £70 a year, he removed to a small house in Dumfries. Burns, the intellectual equal of any Scotchman of the eighteenth century, capable of understanding the past and the present better than all the professed historians and philosophers of the day, simply because he possessed boundless sympathy—the true key to all knowledge concerning human being and their doings in ever land, and in every age—how could he [illegible] be easily enveloped by the great upheaving which now took place on the continent of Europe? It was a time of intense excitement, and Burns, instead of having to hold his tongue for the sake of a morsel of bread, ought to have been at his proper post as the leader and guide of his brethren in this solemn crisis of the world's history. He was, indeed, weary with forbearing, the fire burnt within him until at last he flamed out and openly expressed his sympathy with the French revolution, daring even to say that reform was necessary in the government of Great Britain. Information was at once conveyed to the Board of Excise; an inquiry was instituted, and Burns would have been dismissed had it not been for the good offices of some of his friends.—Golden Hours.

STOCK AND DAIRY.

DAIRYING IN SCOTLAND AND NEW YORK COMPARED.

According to Gilbert Murray, there are some interesting features in dairy management peculiar to the south-western counties of Scotland. The cows are frequently let to men who either pay a fixed rent per cow or deliver over to the farmer a stated weight of cheese. These men are chiefly called "bowers," The farmer owns the cow and furnishes a stated quantity of food, the "lower" and his family performing the manual labor of feeding and attending to the cows and making the cheese. In Ayrshire many dairy farms have a very limited area of permanent pasture, many of the farms being under arable culture, and managed on a five or six course rotation. The cows are principally pastured on the one or two years "seed layers," which, on good land, keep a large stock. Not unfrequently 24 imperial acres of second year's seed will pasture 22 Ayrshire cows and a bull from the 1st of May to the end of September.

The Scotch dairy farmer as a rule uses hay very sparingly. On most farms oat straw is substituted, and of this they have an abundant supply. When cows are let to a "bower" the usual allowance is from five to six tons of roots per cow in about equal proportion of Swede and common Aberdeen turnips and 2½ hundred weight of bean meal to each animal. The rent per cow varies in accordance with the quantity of the pastures and the merits of the herd—from 3 cwt to 4 cwt (336 to 448 pounds) per cow or, when paid in cash, £12 to £14 ($60 to $70) per cow. The present price for ordinary dairy cows ranges from £14 to £20 ($70 to $100) Show cows or such as are selected for exportation, command from £50 to £70, equal to $250 and $350 American gold.

Some of the best Ayrshire herds, it is said, will, when in their best condition and well fed, produce a total of 800 gallons per cow during the year, but on the whole 600 gallons per cow during the year is thought to be a fair average. From this it will be observed that the Ayrshire herds yield at the rate of 500 to 600 pounds of cheese for the season. The rent per cow, it will be seen, is very much more than is obtained, while it is evident that the cost of keeping the cow under the peculiar management of the Scotch farmer is less than with us. In the dairy regions of New York dairy farms stocked with cows are rented on shares, the landlord taking three-fifths of the butter and cheese, one half of the grain and vegetables raised, and one-half the pork. Most of the grain, however, is fed out on the farm, and, if grain is to be purchased, each party furnishes one-half. Each party also furnishes equal shares of swine for fattening.

The best rented dairies of New York turn off during the season from 400 to 500 pounds of cheese per cow. Probably 400 pounds per cow would be a large average, taking the whole of such herds. At this rate the landlord gets 340 pounds of cheese as his portion for the rent, which, at 12 cents per pound be assumed as the average rate, will amount to a little less than $40 per cow. Thus it will be seen that the American farmer who rents his farm and cows gets only about half as much rent as the farmers in Scotland

There is no doubt that one of the leading faults in American dairying today is the low yield of cheese per cow, and this results not altogether from the breed of the cows, but from the manner in which they are managed and from the negligent way in which they are often milked. We know of herds of the so-called "native cattle" which, when managed by careful Herkimer county dairymen, have been made to yield during the summer from 600 to 700 pounds of cheese per cow. These dairymen, however, are not tenants, but are the owners of the herds they milk. We apprehend the "bower" is a more careful manager and a better milker than is usually found among the American tenant dairymen, and this makes a wide difference in the yield of milk, whether the herd be first-class or only ordinary.—Rural New Yorker.

A Fitting Rebuke.

There are many men in existence who deem it no harm to speak slightingly of women; according to their idea, it is quite meet that the strong should assail the weak. One of these exhibits of reputation received a severe rebuke on it recent occasion. At a dinner at which no ladies were present this man, in responding to a toast, "Women," dwelt almost safely on the frailty of the sex, claiming that the best among them were little better than the worst, the chief difference being their surroundings. At the conclusion of the speech, a gentleman present rose to his feet and said, "I trust the gentleman, in the application of his remarks, refers to his own mother and sisters, not ours." The effect of this most just and timely rebuke was overwhelming; and the maligner of women was covered with confusion and shame.

Wife Murder.

A telegram from Montreal on Friday says:—A store man, named George Franklin, living in St. Francis De Salles street, is under arrest on charge of having murdered his wife. Both he and his wife were once considered respectable, they were hard drinkers and quarrelled continually. Yesterday he came to the police station and reported that she was dead. She was found lying on a sofa half dressed and much disfigured by numerous cuts and bruises. To all appearances she had been dragged down stairs and then laid on the sofa, and the blood from her wounds hurriedly washed off. An inquest is being held to-day showing conclusively that her husband had abused her in such a dreadful manner that to avoid him she had slept in the neighboring woodsheds.

Too Much for Him.

A collier lad who had married a milliner, hitherto to his wife, when his trousers wanted repairing, his wish to have the aid of her needle, but she heeded him not. Day after day, however, went by, and the rent grew worse, till at last he determined, by a novel device, to shame his spouse, if he could into the performance of her duty. Rising one morning, as was his custom, at peep of day to go to his work, he proceeded to array himself in his holiday attire. Sable doeskin trousers, vest, and coat were donned with the utmost gravity, nor were polished boots or the glossy chapeau a Paris wanting to complete the uniformity of his vesture. Having finished dressing, he deposited his "bait" in one coat pocket, his oil flask in another, hung his lamp from the brim of his hat, took his tea can in his hand, and strode towards the door with a stolidity of manner and truly heroic air. During all his manœuvres his wife was lying in bed watching his every movement. He was aware of it, but neither spoke. When his hand was on the latch, however, she called out—"Jock, ye hae forgotten something." "What is't?" said he, involuntarily. "Yer silk umbrell'." Alas! alas! for John's determination. His wife's coolness, and the idea of a silk umbrella in a coal pit were too much for him, and the result was a hearty laugh, a conjugal conference, and mended trousers.

Where Is It to End?

The objections raised to the present Government are certainly not very large minded ones. Already we have heard it complained that they have not an Englishman among them, nor an Irish-born Irishman, nor an Irish Roman Catholic, nor an English speaking Quebec Protestant. Now, in one of the organs, a "Wesleyan," (so he signs himself, though we do not believe he is one) urges the following grievance:

Why does the liberal Government of the present time overlook the claims of a Wesleyan Methodist portion of the community? There were two or three members of the Wesleyan Methodist Church in the late Government, thanks to Sir John Macdonald, who did not overlook the claims of our Church. But the present Liberal Government has left us out in the cold, and we will not forget it when the proper time comes for us to record our votes at the poll.

We really do not know how many Wesleyan Methodists there were in the late Government, but we do know that in the only official dealing that Government had with the Wesleyan Methodist Church, the grossly insulted its official representative, Dr. Punshon. It that is something to be thankful for, then our Wesleyan friends are thankful for small favors.

But we are anxious to know where this new idea of representative men in the Cabinet, as argued by the above scribbler, is to end? Must there be an Englishman, an Irishman, a Scotchman, a Germon, an English Canadian, a French Canadian, a Nova Scotian, a New Brunswicker, a Prince Edward Island, a Manitoban, a British Columbian, a Norwegian, a Pole, &c., in the Government? Must there also be an Episcopalian, a Roman Catholic, a Presbyterian, a Methodist, a Congregationalist, a Baptist and a representative of each other sect? Is it to stop there, too? Trade, agricultural, professional and manufacturing interests are certainly of as much importance as creeds and nationalities. Must there then be also a dry goods merchant, a hardware merchant, a grocer, a baker, a tinsmith, a shoemaker, a farmer, a tailor, a banker, a newspaper proprietor, a saloon-keeper, a brewer, a lawyer, a doctor, a mechanic, a dairyman, a lamp-lighter, a laborer, etc., to look each after the interests of his class. Will the Mail, which is so fully in the confidence of the Opposition leader, please state at what point the representation of class interests is to stop, and how many "representative" men are needed to make a Government complete.—Hamilton Times.

Irish Home Rule Programme.

The following is the full programme adopted by the Irish Home Rulers, to which at the last dates from England, 13,000 signatures of adhesion had been given in.

"We, the undersigned feel bound to declare our conviction that it is necessary to the peace and prosperity of Ireland, and would be conductive to the strength and stability of the United Kingdom, that the right of legislation on all Irish affairs should be restored to our country, and that it is desireable that Irishmen should unite to obtain that restoration upon the following principles:

"To obtain for our country the right and privelege of managing our own affairs by a Parliament assembled in Ireland, composed of Her Majesty the Sovereign and her successors, and the Lords and Commons of Ireland.

"To secure for that Parliament, under a Federal arrangement, the right of legislating for and regulating all matters relating to the internal affairs of Ireland, and control over Irish resources and revenues, subject to the obligation of contributing our just proportion of the Imperial expenditure.

"To leave to an Imperial Parliament the power of dealing with all questions affecting the Imperial Crown and Government, legislation respecting the colonies and other dependencies of the Crown, the relations of the United Empire with foreign States, and all matters appertaining to the defence and the stability of the Empire at large.

"To obtain such an adjustment of the relations between the two countries without any interference with the prerogatives of the Crown, or any disturbance of the principles of the Constitution.

"And we hereby invite a conference, to be held at such time and place as may be found generally most convenient of all those who are favourable to the above principles, to consider the best and most expedient means of carrying them into practical effect."

SCHOOL BOARD.

The Board of School Trustees met [illegible] Chairman, Mr. Gallet[illegible] Clark, Trustees [illegible] Robinson.

The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed.

Communications were read from Mr. Shapley, asking for an increase of $50 to his salary. Miss Stanton for an increase of salary. Mr. Armstrong, tendering his resignation as he intended to resume his studies at the University; and one from Mr. Clementi, P. S. S., stating that Mr. Henthorn is trespassing on the School lot, as he told some members of the Board, 2 feet at the North and 3 feet at the South.

The Secretary informed the Board that Mr. T. Braden had sent in his resignation and there being no meeting of the Board last month, Mr. Braden had taught to the end of the month according to agreement, and that Mr. Shearer was teaching in his place. Principal Dixon who was present informed the Board that Mr. Shearer was engaged to the end of the month, and if he succeeded (and he did not know why he should not), he expected to remain. This was necessary as Mr. Shearer would not come. Mr. Dixon recommended that Mr. Earl, be promoted to Mr. Armstrong place at the beginning of the year.

Mr. Dumble favored the principle of promoting worthy teachers when there were opportunities to do so, and moved seconded by Mr. McLelland that Mr. Earl be promoted to Mr. Armstrong's place, and that a teacher be advertised for to take Mr. Earl's place.

Messrs Hilliard, Edmison and Rutherford, opposed removing Mr Earl, as he was giving good satisfaction where he was, and they thought it better to increase his salary and let him remain in his present division. Messrs Edmison and Hilliard were willing to pay out of their own pocket, rather than have him removed, and they thought it would be just as easy to obtain a teacher to take Mr. Armstrong's place as to take Mr. Earl's place.

Messrs. Edwards, Toole, Dumble and McLelland favored the principle of promotion, as to raise Mr. Earl's salary would be fixing the salary of the room, and it would be found not so easy to reduce it, even in the case of a poor teacher. To promote Mr. Earl would increase his salary, without additional expense; to raise his salary will necessitate an additional expense of one or two hundred dollars, and would be the means of causing other teachers to apply for increase of salary.

Mr. Cluxton favored the raising of his salary and allowing him to remain where he is—and it was moved by Mr. Barlee, seconded by Mr. Cluxton—That Mr. Earl's salary be raised at present $100, and leave the question of promotion open This being contrary to the standing rules it was agreed to refer all the applications for an increase of salaries to the committee appointed in March last to revise the salaries.

An application was received from the Trustees of School Section No. 11, Douro (the Auburn School) for the sum of $75 to aid in paying the expenses of the School. This was occasioned by a large portion of the section being now in the town and the intention to unite the whole Section for School purposes. It was ordered to inform the Trustees that as no steps had been taken toward a Union, owing to the fact that the County Inspector had not yet given the necessary notice, the Board could do nothing until that was done and a Union effected.

Mr. McLelland, Chairmain of the Committee for the erection of a South Ward School, laid two tenders on the table, one from Mr. Lasher for $4,675, and one from Mr. Croley for $4,500, and asked to be instructed what to do. After discussion it was agreed to refer the matter back to the Committee with instructions to accept the lowest tender if sufficient securities were given.

The property Committee were instructed to have water closets built for the new school building and a wood shed. Mr. Edmison drew the attention of the Board to the fact that there were no blinds on some of the west windows of the building, and that the teachers and scholars were complaining of the sun annoying them in the evening It was agreed to have blinds put up.

Mr. Toole reported the completion of the play sheds as per contract, and that there were due $100 on the original contract, and $25 on a contract for extension. This was referred to the Committee to settle.

The Board adjourned.

ST. ANDREW'S DAY.

The sons of Auld Scotia celebrated the Festival of their Patron Saint this year by a Conversazione and Callico Ball.

The Rev. Mr. Carrel preached the Annual Sermon, in the Presbyterian Church on Sabbath evening. The church was well filled and a faithful discourse was delivered, based on the 20th verse of the 3rd chapter of the Epistle to the Philippians—"For our conversation is in Heaven," which he said might better be "Our Country is in Heaven. In a special service for the present occasion he thought it would be expected that he would refer to old Scotland and Scotchmen, but he would do so briefly. The national feeling he knew was deeply rooted in every bosom, so much so that a poet had asked the question,

"Lives there man with soul so dead,
Who never to himself hath said:
'This is my own, my native land.'"

Nor is it childish or in childhood alone that this is so. It accompanies manhood; and no man noted either in poetry or prose, in deeds of valor, or of virtue, but has been a lover of his country, and it was not contrary to the principles of christian duty to love our kinsmen after the flesh; and even the man who calls his patriotism for a mess of pottage, by becoming a citizen of another country than that of his own kinsmen, cannot, under all the horrors of war, plunge the sword relentlessly in the heart of a son of his native country.

It may be asked, why does a man love his country? To this he could only say, it was not on account of the natural scenery, although that might be picturesque and beautiful. It was not for its mountains, for its dells, its rivers or its valleys; for other countries had mountains, rivers, lakes and valleys as grand, as beautiful and as picturesque. It was because it was their home—the place of their birth and childhood. It had a chief place in his affections, and so had its sons beyond those of elsewhere. But what made it dearest to them? Because it was was the land of missionary enterprise, the land of copies of the gospel—land sacred, by the blood of her martyrs for the truth.

The Scotch, he remarked were a wandering race. Put them anywhere they would be a moral power. If visions would prosper, they would prosper. If virtuous, they would be and enlightened. So it is that their company them to the ends of the world they remove. [illegible] responsibility resting on them, leaving their own grand old country, whether they should be a blessing or otherwise to the place to to which they went. He then applied to the subject [illegible] that they had done in leaving mothers, sisters brothers, country, to better their circumstances.

"He did not come to this country on this occasion, because of their education, intellects, force of character; and proof that these should be their lot. God not to the injury of their fellows. He said that Scotland should be known rather as the land of Knox than of Burns: as the land of Masters than of serfs; of the land of Bibles than the land of songs; and he regretted that the country should have placed itself under the care of a R.C. titular Saint.

He referred to the object of the St. Andrew's Society, and expressed himself as bound to assist his countrymen, if needed, but felt bound to assist a christian, as first, and in the highest sense, his brother.

He then discussed the text under the heads of "the Country," "its citizens," "its politics and laws," and closed a very earnest sermon by an appeal to the unsaved to accept the conditions of the Gospel, and by faith prepare themselves for citizens of the better, the Heavenly Country.

MONDAY EVENING.

On Monday evening the Conversazione and Calico Ball took place in the Music Hall. The programme for the Conversazione was a good one. Mr. Galletly sang, "Jock o' Hazeldean." Mr. R. Waye read "The Stag Hunt," by Scott. Mrs. Fowler sang the "Last Rose of summer," beautifully. Mrs. Bowman sang "Waiting." Mr. Tellford. the bard of the society, then read his annual address, which will be given in full next issue.

A. H. Campbell, Esq., then delivered the address, in the place of J. F. Dennistoun, Esq., who was unable to be present. Mr. Millar sang. "My Native Highland Hame." and Mrs. Fowler sang, "Nannie wil ye gang wi' me." Mr. Christie read, "Darius Green and his flying Machine." Mrs. Bowman then sang, "I cannot sing the old song." Mr. Galletly, Mr. Millar, Mrs. Fowler and Mrs. Bowman sang "Scots Wha Hae." The Conversazione was brought to a close by singing Auld Lang Syne.

The party then partook of refreshments, after which came the Ball. But not being expert at tipping the "light fantastic toe," nor yet a great admirer of either polkas or schottisches, we left those who did admire them to enjoy themselves. We understand that this part of the proceedings was delightful, judging from the number of fair faces present, this can easily be accepted. The celebration of St. Andrew's day was all that the promoters could desire.

THE $60,000 BY-LAW.

On Monday next the ratepayers of the Town will be called upon to decide as to the future railway progress northwards. Our readers are all aware of the consequences of giving or withholding the debentures. The Company do not say the work will be stopped, but they tell us it will be delayed by refusing now to give the debentures.

There is not a man in Peterboro who is not in favor of giving the debenture, when the road is completed to Mud Lake from Cobourg. The whole matter, therefore, is, shall we give the debentures to aid in getting the road one or two years sooner?

The Midland Company is afraid that we will get this road, and hence the appearance of Mr. Hugel in Council last week. This, all know, is a ruse to draw attention from the other road that is so near completion. But let the Cobourg road be stopped, and Mr. Hugel will not trouble himself about Peterboro—nor about the Omemee branch—nor any other branch. Peterboro is only nothing more than a side station in the eyes of Mr. Hugel. He never considers the interests or convenience of the merchants of Peterboro. His trains now compel every person having Peterboro to transact a [illegible] out to do to or not. He even intimated an intention of putting a train merely from Millbrook here to save expense, and [illegible] respected by both. We would then have two strings to our bow. As we are, we have a road to the south, but let our merchants answer how it is managed. Are our [illegible] its arrangement?

Mr. Hugel comes to us just as the By-law is being submitted and tells of a mad scheme he has in view of a line to the Omemee branch, and then northward. This is merely to distract us, as he well knows the [illegible] his conditions. He must consider, the people of Peterboro will indeed be in a in earnest. But we dont believe him in earnest. He is only throwing dust in our eyes, to use a common saying. There are now only 13 miles of a road to be built to get to Bobcaygeon. That piece, Mr. Fowler says, can be constructed for $16,000 a mile. By Mr. Hugel's scheme there are 26 to 30 miles to be built, and he tells us it will cost $18,000 to $16,000 a mile. The margin between them is only the nice little sum of $208,000. The difference between the cost of the two roads is more than Mr. Hugel can raise for any purpose under the sun. Is it not madness to talk of building a road at a time when the employes are behind two and three months in their pay? And yet we are asked to accept his folly as a feasible scheme. But the extreme of folly is reached when [illegible] asked to believe him sincere when he asks the county to give $100,000 [illegible] county $2,000, and then the Midland Company will consider the matter. We [illegible] believe how he comes to look [illegible] people of Peterboro as such dolts as not to see through his scheming. Does he expect to blind the eyes of enough of the ratepayers, by gifts or otherwise, so as to secure his object? Are the people of Peterboro foolish enough to let Mr. Hugel fugle them now? If they are they deserve to suffer for their stupidity; but we do not think they are so foolish or indifferent to their own interests.

The Victoria is awaiting our action on Monday. If we decide to carry out our word of honor, nay, our engagement, the Cobourg road will go on—Bobcaygeon will be reached next year, and either Fenelon Falls or Northward will be our watchword. If we decide to act dishonorably, to break our engagement, to withdraw our support and sympathy from the Cobourg road, the Victoria Company will soon rush their road in, and then the most simple cannot but foresee the result. We will be at the mercy of the Midland to get to the front—we will have no competent means of reaching the back country trade. We will be left in our present isolated position. Lindsay and Port Hope, and Toronto will be laughing at our stupidity; and our merchants and mechanics will suffer in diminished trade and enterprise.

Every sincere friend of the Town will therefore see to it that this be averted; and he cannot do this more successfully than by going and voting for the By-law on Monday.

The conditions: We are told that we have no sufficient security; that if we give our money or debentures, that even then the road will not be built. The conditions we can fix. The Company will not hesitate to give its bonds to that end. The enemies of the road say: If the Company should fail, what then? Have first security on the iron now on the road, so that it cannot be lifted, or removed or used for any other purpose than that for which it is now used, namely, for a railway from this town northward, and if this be not secured in a definite time, that the said iron be liable to be sold to recoup Peterboro the $40,000. The iron now on the road is worth $60,000 to $70,000, and that should be sufficient security to keep us safe. By all means let us have sufficient security, but let us not lose this opportunity to secure the completion of the road at an early date. The first road to the back country will secure the trade, as there need be no fear of a rival road for many years. Let Peterboro be united for once. Let outside influence be set aside; let wise counsels prevail; let us carry the law in good faith, and show to others that we are not so insane as to cut ourselves off from the northern trade to suit Mr. Hugel, or Port Hope or Lindsay, or Toronto, or any other place or person. Our interests are so wound up with the Cobourg road, because we believe it is going north from Mud Lake, and that if we lose the present opportunity, and the construction should be retarded or prevented, we must suffer. One honor is at stake. We promised the money. Our good faith is involved. We invited the Cobourg Company to undertake the work on our word, and we again and again assured them that we would be faithful. Not to be so must place us in a very unenviable light before those with whom we do business. We have faith enough in the people to believe that they will not be unmindful of their duty on Monday, and that they will, like one man, vote for the By-law, and secure the completion of the road, and, as soon as possible the northern trade.

REPORT OF THE PETERBOROUGH AND ASHBURNHAM TRACT DISTRICT VISITING ASSOCIATION.

This association has existed exactly one year, its first meeting being held September 2nd, 1872. Even in that short period changes have occurred among the small list of office bearers. Our Vice-President, Mrs. Best, long a faithful and beloved worker, wherever there was Good work to be done has been called to the everlasting rest prepared for the people of God, and our first Secretary Miss Nesbit, to whose untiring energy the Society owed much, has removed from Peterborough, and has been succeeded by Mrs. Gilmour whose acceptance of this office was received with much thankfulness.

The monthly meetings on the first Monday of each month have been held regularly, opened by the various Clergymen of the town, a brief review of what has been done will not fail to interest us all.

One of the first fruits of the District visiting was the discovery of a number of children, in the south part of the town attending no sabbath school. A morning Sabbath School was opened and was largely [illegible] there is no common school [illegible] ance of about or [illegible] or 7 teachers. The [illegible] its success to its [illegible] Nesbit, and [illegible] and efficiency [illegible] pleasing [illegible] in Peterborough [illegible] that the [illegible] hour [illegible] in Peterborough [illegible] fair in Peterborough [illegible] hour [illegible] in Peterborough [illegible]

To have placed in the hands of the people good reading in the present age 1500 Tracts are in circulation, a grateful and pleasant reception has been the universal experience. When any interruption has taken place the tracts are missed and the visitors return eagerly welcomed. Expressions such as these have been frequently heard "That was a grand Tract," or "That was a beautiful story," or "I have read it over three times." In most districts the seed and tracts have been read to and prayed with, and to several families it has been given to see an earnest seeking after God and a cordial acceptance of the Gospel message. The visitors have watched by not a few dying beds and while kindly ministering temporal comfort have pressed the soul with the word of life. It has not been within the province of this Association to give the temporal support beyond the little personal kindness that any visitor interested in particular cases might supply, but any cases of distress or want should be referred to the "Home Committee," when they will be at once cared for. It is particularly desirable that the Association and the "Home Committee," should work together, the one supplying the visiting and enquiry, the other the help needed.

The Clothing Club have supplied a good many children with clothes to enable them to attend school and this was done through the kindness of a few friends in supplying new material and also old clothes which were made over.

The small sum the Treasurer has received has been expended on Tracts not to be obtained from the Tract Society, but of such an interesting and attractive character that it is very desirable to possess them. It were well too, to add for lending such small magazines as "The Christian," "Herald of Mercy," "Monthly Visitor," &c., always guarding jealously the character of the publications but that they shall be sound, simple, scriptural, containing the gospel in its purity and integrity, to serve as an antidote to the many pernicious papers now so largely circulated.

Thus there is much in the past year to encourage and to give thanks for and to incite to farther exertion and increased interest, still we cannot but feel that it is only a beginning. If a great door has been opened, an abundant entrance has yet to be achieved. This simple machinery of lady visitors have a great work on hand and a noble end to accomplish, namely: to keep before the working people, in the midst of us, the light of truth, carrying to their homes not merely those little gospel messages, but also the influence of a kindly christian friendship, manifesting an interest in all that concerns them and theirs, winning a confidence and regard that paves the way for direct and personal christian intercourse. The work is not ended when the Tracts of one fortnight are exchanged for those of another, it is begun; the key is put into the door, a key that, if used prayerfully and faithfully, may help many in life's warfare,

There is a large class of young mothers with little ones, much shut out from church privileges, and what is begun from necessity too often ends in a fixed habit, with no care to break through. To such the visitors' kindly sympathy and simple teaching is of great value. Another class, the immigrants who have settled down in our midst, still in the first stages of the settler's struggles, who are not provided as they would like to be with suitable clothing, who are often months and years before joining any church, while yet their memory lingers round the village church in the old home and who miss the district visitors and mission laborers to which they have been accustomed. Your taking up this link might save many from forgetting early instruction and resisting former influences. I dwell upon this from frequent experience, I doubt not, borne out by other visitors. To the old, the blind, the feeble, simply reading God's Word, or an interesting narrative is always a great boon, and to not a few ministrations are found to be the only ones they receive.

If such, my dear friends, is the field and such the work that lies before us, what manner of persons ought we to be? This the apostle answers when he tells us we must first give ourselves wholly to the Lord and go forth in a strength not our own, but in the power and spirit of the Lord. Much prayer must precede and follow our visiting work, and then we may be sure a blessing will follow.

May I be allowed to press upon the visitors a regular and conscientious attendance at the monthly meeting and to make it a prayer meeting for the spiritual good of Peterboro. A little stream may make a large blessing. Of this we have the sure promise, that, whatever field of labor is constantly watered by the presence and spirit of God, there we will find the green pastures and the trees bringing forth their fruit.

To prevent the confusion it is most important that strict attention should be paid to the rule that any visitor giving up a district should communicate with your Secretary, leaving with her the list of families with their names. As far as possible the districts visited should be near the residence of the visitor, thus saving time and labor, and insuring a more punctual discharge of the duty undertaken.

M. A. RENAUD

LENOX ELECTION.

Mr. Cartwright was elected on Saturday, by a majority of 23, or 112 more than his last campaign.

This is a strong endorsement if the policy of Mr. C. in joining the present Government, and also a complete condemnation of the callous character and bribers. His also an indication of the waning influence of John A McDonald, notwithstanding the towting of that gentleman, and those who assisted him. There is still hope for the country when we find honest conservatives giving up the party of Union for Progress, and joining those selves to the friends of good and honest government,

It is true that it requires more courage than most men possess, to do so, but that we have men possessed of the courage, of the honesty, of the boldness to break party ties and connections for the sake of principle, we berin to have brighter hopes for the future of this fair Dominion.

There is one blot, one dark spot yet to be erased that we trust will not long [illegible] a stain on our [illegible] that is the parliamentary [illegible] fair in P[illegible] hang the [illegible] in Peterborough [illegible]

[illegible] that the Register has learned nothing of this kind. He may have heard a rumor of an intention to do so, but could not have learned of its circulation, as no such thing has been in existence. It is more than strange that publicity will be given to such illegitimate notions. The Register then launches out into visions of surgeons', doctors', &c., wonderful testimony. Would our readers be astonished to find that even Dr. Hincaid expressed himself willing to give the unfortunate man the benefit of the doubt. Surely neither Dr. Workman nor himself have any doubts as to the "competent medical testimony," people will take that for what it is worth. The testimony of ministers of the gospel is tenfold better than that of some doctors, and of those who have visited the man, not one but considers him insane. Perhaps the Jail Surgeon will again rush into print and denounce this "maudlin sentimentality."

PERSONAL.

The admirers of Mr. Frederick Waldon of Douro, have presented him with an address, and a purse. The address will be found below. Mr. Waldon is an enthusiastic plowman and has done much to increase the taste for this part of the husbandman's noble profession.

Mr. Fraser.

A member of the Mail staff, it is said, is canvassing Mr. Cartwright in his election. This looks like trying to throw John A. overboard.

Ontario.

It is said the Ontario Legislature will meet for business in January.

The Town Council

Refused to pass a By-law on Monday evening to provide for paying the Town portion of the cost of the locks bridge. This appears childish as their Committee have already paid the money as agreed with the County Council.

Right Gone

Did the dancing for 60 went at a late ball in Winnipeg. Ladies are not very numerous in that region or they are too prone to fill up.

A Step Later Killed.

Jas. Lewis and Jim Rogers, of Streator, Illinois, had an encounter on the 16th inst. for $200 a side. They fought forty-seven rounds in forty-six minutes. Lewis died the next night from concussion of the brain. The fight took place in a mining district.

Mr. H. H. B. Hall,

Son of Jas. Hall, Esq., has passed his final examination, and has become a partner in the law firm of Dennistoun Bros., which firm is now to be designated Dennistoun Bros. & Hall.

Returning.

It is estimated that over 50,000 French Canadians have returned to the Province of Quebec in the last three weeks.

Miss Missing.

The Cobourg Star says:—"A man named Bennet, well known in this town as a boiler maker, has been missing for the past three weeks. He has lately been employed at the Railway Shops and at Cronsen's Car Works, and was last seen by the night watchman of the latter establishment at the time specified. Any information of his whereabouts would be thankfully received by his family."

Burglar Caught.

The Star also says:—"We understand that a man named McCabe, who there is good reason to believe was concerned in the late burglaries, was arrested in Trenton on Monday last. He is an old penitentiary bird."

Protestant Home.

The Committee of the P. P. Home acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the sum of $33.63 from the C. P. Church, the amount of the collection on Thanksgiving day.

Bosom.

We understand that Mr. Moher, the present Reeve of Dunne, will not be a candidate for the Reeveship of that township the ensuing year. He has filled the position so long by acclamation that he thinks he has a right to withdraw from municipal matters. Mr. Moloney, the present deputy Reeve, it is said will succeed Mr. Moher. Both gentlemen were highly respected in the County Council for their honorable and straightforward conduct, and for their faithful discharge of their duties to their township.

Vacant Bishops in Ontario.

Ottawa, Mr. Scott having been a Cabinet Minister for the Dominion; South Leeds, H. S. Macdonald having taken a Judgeship; Peel, by Mr. Coyne's death; and South Simcoe, as Tom Ferguson preferred the receipt of custom to being a member of the "spittoon brigade." Three of these seats were held by Conservatives. Mr. Cameron, leader of that party, will need to be up and doing if he hopes to elect three in their places. If not the Opposition in the House will consist of Cameron, Rykert and Lauder. Mr. Cameron intends resigning the Leadership. Who will be his successor.

Toronto

Has been the scene of a fashionable wedding on Wednesday last, when Miss Beatrice Crawford, second daughter of Lieut.-Governor Crawford, was led to the altar by Mr. H. Morris Watson, of the Royal Canadian Bank. The ceremonies took place in the Roman Catholic Cathedral in the presence of about 100 guests of all political complexions. For the benefit of our lady readers we give below the bridal attire:

The bride, who was conducted into the Cathedral by her father, wore a dress of white satin made with a court train, and trimmed with Brussels lace, a veil of Brussels point; wreath of orange blossoms and Jasseomie, gold ornaments and pearls. The bridesmaids in attendance were Miss Florence Crawford, attired in white satin with train of amber satin, Miss Gait, blue satin, Miss Forlong, green satin, Miss Annie Crawford, rose satin, Miss Baten, pink satin, and Miss Lena Morris, mauve satin. The groomsmen were Mr. Watson, brother of the bridegroom, Mr. Geo. Crawford, brother of the bride, Mr. Farris, Mr. Percy Sherwood, Mr. Nott, and Mr. A Cassels.

Much to the disappointment of many present, the ceremony was performed in the vestry of the Cathedral, instead of at the altar. Bishop Walsh, of London, officiated.

THE PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT.

The Globe of Wednesday contains the following:—

The retirement of Mr. R. W. Scott from the Ontario Government having left a vacant seat in the Cabinet, the position has, we understand, been offered to Mr. Fraser, M. P. P. for South Grenville, and excepted. This appointment will, we are confident, be received with much satisfaction throughout the country. Mr. Fraser, though but a young man, has already made his mark as an able and popular representative. He has always been a staunch member of the Liberal party: he is an eloquent and effective speaker, and possessed of excellent administrative qualities. We predict for the new Ministry a useful and brilliant career.

The unequal distribution of the duties appointed to the several members of the Government has long been considered to need revisal, and we learn that the matter is to come before the Legislature during the approaching session. Among these proposed changes, we are happy to learn, is one to unite the administration of the Bureau of Agriculture with the Provincial Secretaryship, so as to secure the agricultural interests that prominent attention to which it is so justly entitled as the great industrial enterprise of our country. This while united with the laborious duties of the Commissionership of Public Works and the Ministry of immigration.

On the completion of the proposed changes, we understand Mr. McKellar is to resume the position of Minister of Agriculture and Provincial Secretary: Mr. Pardee is to be Crown Lands Commissioner; and Mr. Fraser Commissioner of Public Works. Meanwhile, Mr. Fraser is succeed Mr. Pardee as Provincial Secretary.

A Writer

In the Montreal Witness urges the passing of an act to prevent liquor dealers and others from adulterating their liquors &c., by poisonous ingredients—to which the editor wisely replies, "Stop drinking the liquor." There are good laws in existence, but who enforces them?

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Sir,—I [illegible] Monday's issue of the Herald in relation to the late fire, indulges in sensational writing, which surely in deserving of extensive perusal by more than its usual circulation of 1300 copies would allow.

Thinking that you, Mr. Editor, have been so long interested in the advancement of learning in our locality, would cheerfully further the enjoyment which such an intellectual treat must afford to the fortunate 1300, the writer would, out of the pure spirit of philanthropy, call the attention of your readers to the most remarkable parallel in the fire proclivities of our Peterborough Jenkins. It commences with the mod-st assurance, that the hand of Providence could be easily traced in the miraculous escape of Mr. Green's piano. [illegible] explaining in what manner [illegible] asserts with a profusion of capitals that if such had not been the case its tale would have been a remarkably tragedone. Why Providence on which we every moment of our lives depend, should be credited with a special interposition in the very natural chain of circumstances which prevented the "tragic tale," (and perhaps an extra issue of 100 copies) can be only known to the great being which can so easily interpret the sections of the Deity, and render them into sensational prose at so much per column. The summit of literary excellence is attained when the beauties of sight are the subject of description; "The midnight carouse was hushed," &c. We naturally conclude that this knowledge is the result of keeping late hours—a bad habit [illegible] in a Christian. "Not a passing breeze to stir the few brown leaves which still clung to the parent tree." Could anything be more touching than that? The tenderest sympathy suffuses our eyes as we read of the filial affection the cold leaves still clinging perhaps to [illegible] almost united "pastent," Remembering the license accorded to poets we should not judge too harshly, but it would take the oldest inhabitant to recollect a tree on that part of George Street in a condition either of youthful strength or good dissolution. Perhaps, oh harrowing thought, the fire fiend taking pity on his solitary condition returned in the stillness of a succeeding eve and removed it totally. Or perhaps to stimulate [illegible] the whist of that [illegible] had it carried by a "printer's devil" to his garret, the well known abode of unappreciated genius. Again "the fumes of death were rolling up in immense volumes, almost dense enough to grasp, and forcibly set aside." What a pity that in the late election of officers by our fire company some office had not been conferred on a man, who, undoubtedly from the above sentence, possesses that fleetness of touch which we should expect to accompany such an imagination, and would be capable, in his own words, "to grasp and set aside the smoke." We are disappointed that no suggestions as to how the fire originated are thrown out, but our new Shakespeare wisely states that all the information to be obtained is, that "it did occur," and insinuates that it having been resolved by him all speculation is superfluous, and further future knowledge impossible. But even when he describes the escape of Mr. S. and his family, the eagerness to indulge in fanciful writing is still apparent. While every one must feel glad that the gentleman's family escaped unharmed it might have been related in less "hibernian" language—"the sleeping cherub in less time than it takes to relate it was laid on the roof of a small brick kitchen." Now, with all humility, this is stretching the poetic license to a fearful degree; to drop the reader, who follows him from the cherub to the roof of such a homely thing as a brick kitchen. The New York Herald evidently the literary model of the Review, would in place of the word italicised have used the more lively expression "yanked."

But Sir, the versatile pen which added these lines to our literature is held in a hand equally at home in the world of learning and imagination, an instance of which we see in the use of the Latin words where the meaning must surely have been too broad for expression in our ruder English.

Taking leave of our subject, we must express our regret, that the burning of Rome under Nero had not such an historian to adorn with sage reflection, and elegant language, the meagre narrative of that time. Some will perhaps think that the presence of such a writer in that unfortunate city must have been more than the much afflicted citizen could have borne.

Yours Respectfully,
JOHN SMITH.

MR. MCKENZIE ON THE PETERBOROUGH OUTRAGE.

Mr. McKenzie at his nomination on Tuesday referred to the outrage of the Returning Officers of the West Riding of this County. We shall give his own words.

I was proud to know when I went into Parliament after the general election, that I was able to stand at the head of a large majority from my own Province, whatever might be the course of the members representing the others. (Loud cheers.) Sir, in spite of the terrible influence which was brought to bear upon St. Ontario showed a bold front and a decided and distinct voice in upholding those principles of electoral purity which have long been practically ignored by the party lately in power, but for which the Liberal party have ever been contending. (Loud cheers.) The expenditures of public money in certain constituencies, upon public works of a local character, had in these constituencies exercised considerable influence and had considerable effect, and in others, where money had failed to accomplish the purpose, partisan returning officers had been called upon to do it. (Hear, hear.) Why, sir, was our Sheriff in this county not appointed returning officer last year? (Hear, hear) Was he disqualified in any way? Had he not mental capicity enough to discharge the duty, or why was a partisan of the Administration chosen? Sir, it was because the Government took the power of appointing their own returning officer, in addition if a retention or a vicious election law, and both in spite of our earnest efforts to the contrary. (Cheers.). I make no accusations against the returning officer in this county, because I belive that gentleman to be incapable of any corrupt or improper action, but I make reference to it in connection with similar appointments of which I could not speak so favourably. One case is that of the returning officer of the county of Peterborough. The candidate who had less votes by 40 than his opponent, was returned, and that man has been sitting in that House ever since, voting for the Government and doing their bidding in every thing they did. Such are the means no other transaction than that, whereby the legally elected candidate was kept out of his seat, it would be sufficient, in my opinion, to ensure condemnation of that Government. (Cheers.) I may here repeat to you what took place upon that occasion, because, although I have called attention to it in other places and at other meetings in the country, I have not previously discussed it before my own constituents. The reason given by Sir John A. Macdonald in the House for opposing the motion of Mr. Blake to allow Mr. Bertram the candidate of the majority, to take his seat, was that he took the grounds that cases of controverted elections must go to the Committee which had been constituted for the purpose of trying them. In English or Canadian history there was no precedent for this; the man in both records who had the majority of votes, was seated, and it was for the other party to petition if he chose. There is no case in history where the contrary was ever done; but supposing the doctrine to be right which he had laid down, it will be seen that he did not adhere to it in Muskoka. No return was made, and it was determined that it should go to a Committee also. Several of his former majority on this case said they would not give such a vote on any consideration. What happened? Why, Mr. Blake moved his motion to seat Mr. Cockburn. Messrs. Tilley and Howe went amongst the members from New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, and finding they could not get the supports they required, threatened to Mr. Cockburn taking his seat. It was no principle that induced them to take this course, but a desire to make secure their office. They became aware [illegible] was imminent, and would result in their going out of power. They allowed Mr. Cockburn to take his seat, and they would have allowed the wrong gentleman to take his seat rather than [illegible]. (Hear and applause.)

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times its Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtue of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain [illegible] proportions of great power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Then in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied [illegible] the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

DR. WHEELER'S COMPOUND ELIXIR OF PHOSPHATES AND CALISAYA is the best tonic in use, because it is the most physiological, being composed of ingredients absolutely essential to the development of the system. It speedily relieves indigestion, promoting a vigorous appetite and healthy nutrition. All cases of general debility, arising from wasting disease, such as consumption, scrofula, all diseases of the skin, diseases of the blood, prostration of the nervous system, caused by protracted mental exertion, anxiety, over-work, or bad habits, will derive immediate benefit from it, frequently beginning with the first dose. It is a delightful cordial to take, and its use may be protracted for an indefinite period, without becoming disagreeable to the patient.

Dr. J BELL SIMPSON'S

SPECIFIC ANTI TONIC PILLS,

THE GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY FOR Nervous Debility, Spermatorrhœa, Nocturnal Emissions, Weak mouths Consumptive Organs, Palpitation of the Heart, Trembling, Sleeplessness, the effect of over-indulgence in alcoholic stimulants and tobacco, &c. Dr. J. BELL SIMPSON'S Pills are the only effectual ones for the above diseases, and are never known to fail. Several have already cured hundreds in this country. Robert Arthur, machinist, Hamilton, testifies to his recovery by their use. Safe, certain, and rapid in action, a short trial will prove their efficacy. No sufferer need despair of being relieved from the frightful effects of SELF-ABUSE. The Specific Pills are sold by Druggists at $1.00 a box, and the Tonic Pills at 50c. a box, or they will be sent by mail, postage prepaid, and securely wrapped from observation, on receipt of $1.00 for the Specific, and 50c. for the Tonic Pills, by

By-Law No —

BY-LAW to authorize the issue of Debentures of the Town of Peterborough to the Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company, Debentures of the said Town of Peterborough to the amount of Forty Thousand Dollars.

WHEREAS by a By-Law of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough passed 9th entitled "A By-law to provide for the granting of a Bonus to the extent of Eighty Thousand Dollars in Debentures of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to the Cobourg Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company to aid in the construction of the Railway of the said Company northward from Peterborough to Chemong Lake and Fenelon Falls" the said Corporation was empowered to grant aid to the said Company to the amount of Forty Thousand Dollars to be issued, and delivered to the said Company when the said Railway should be completed except as to the filling in of Rice Lake as aforesaid, and in running order from the Town of Cobourg aforesaid to the Village of Bobcaygeon provided that it should be so completed and in running order by the First day of March one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three and another further sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars to be issued and delivered to the said Company when the said Railway should have been completed except as to the filling in of Rice Lake as aforesaid and in running order from the Town of Cobourg aforesaid to the Village of Fenelon Falls in the County of Victoria provided it be so completed and in running order by the First day of March one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five and Provided further that the said remaining portions of the said Debentures were only to be issued and delivered as aforesaid in the event of the said respective portions of the said Railway being so completed and in running order by the times therein before limited and subject further to certain other conditions terms and stipulations in the said By-law fully set out and mentioned.

And whereas, the said Company relying on the said By-law undertook the work of extending their Railway northward and have reached the point on the South Shore of Chemong Lake mentioned in said By-law but by reason of the scarcity of labor and the good and substantial character of their work and particularly the substantial character of the work on the Rice Lake Bridge have been so delayed that it was impossible for them to complete the said Railway within the time in the said By-law mentioned And Whereas the amount and character of the work by them accomplished is a satisfactory guarantee for the completion of the said Railway between the Town of Cobourg and the said Chemong Lake and it is desirable to keep good faith with the said Company.

Be it Therefore Enacted by the Municipal Corporation of the Town of Peterborough and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same:

1 That Debentures for the sum of forty thousand dollars be issued and authenticated in the manner pointed out by the said recited By-law and handed over to the said The Cobourg Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company or whoever may be by them authorized to receive the same when and so soon as the Company shall have executed and handed over to the Town their bonds in a sufficient penalty for securing the proper disposition and expenditure of the proceeds of the debentures in the building and completion of the Road between Cobourg and Chemong Lake and further to secure the full completion of the said Road between said points on or before the first day of September next.

2. And Whereas the early construction of the said Railway northward to the Villages of Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls as provided in the said recited By-law will be greatly to the advantage of the Town of Peterborough and it is impossible for the said Company to complete the said Railway to the said Villages within the times in the said By-law mentioned namely to the Village of Bobcaygeon by the First day of March A. D. 1874 and to the Village of Fenelon Falls by the first day of April A D 1875 herefore it is desirable that a reasonable time for so completing the said Railway to Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls be granted to the said Cobourg Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company.

Be it therefore enacted by the Municipal Council of the Town of Peterborough that the time within which the said Company shall be required to complete said Railway to the Villages of Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls to entitle them to receive the Bonus or Debentures in the said before recited By-law mentioned shall be extended as follows that is to say the said Railway shall be completed except as to the filling in of Rice Lake as aforesaid and in running order from the Town of Cobourg aforesaid to the Village of Bobcaygeon by the first day of December one thousand eight hundred and seventy five and to the Village of Fenelon Falls by the first day of December one thousand eight hundred and seventy six

Provided always that all the other terms and conditions in the said in part recited By-law shall be in full force and effect and shall not in and wise be modified changed or affected by this By-law except as aforesaid

3. That this By-law shall come into force on the day of one thousand eight hundred and seventy three but shall be subject to the approval and ratification by the Legislature of Ontario

4. That a vote of the duly qualified ratepayers of the said Town of Peterborough be taken upon this By-law on Monday

The 8th day of December next

T. LANNIN,

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cures them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first cause of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstructions which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change these complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppressions a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and restores healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. In ulcerous states of Scrofulous disease, where the system cannot saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which wore rapidly gravened by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of mortal. Often, [illegible] lurks in the constitution of the organism under [illegible] the constitution, and invites the attack of [illegible] ing or fatal diseases, without exciting suspicion [illegible] its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection [illegible] Under [illegible] then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develop into one or other of its loathsome forms on the surface or some of the vitals. In this latter case, [illegible] may be suddenly developed in the form of tumor, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcers on some part of the body. Whatever form it takes, it is sure to aggravate and hasten the approach of the [illegible] of some of the most formidable diseases to which the human family are liable, such as [illegible] Cancer, Tumors, Ulcers, Salt Rheum, Erysipelas, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Dropsy, Female Complaints, Neuralgia, Heart Disease, Disease of the Liver, Kidneys, Stomach, Bowels, Blood, Bones, Joints, Glands, and the Skin, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Headache, Piles, Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Erysipelas, Scrofula, Ringworm, Tetter, Scald Head, Sore Eyes, Sore Throat, Mercurial Diseases, Syphilis, Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Debility, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa, Uterine Diseases, Irregularities, Suppressions, Whites, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Mercurial Rheumatism, Diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Urinary Organs, Gravel, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, Dropsy, Tumors, Tumors in the Womb, Cancer, Humors, Blotches, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

LINES FOR THE ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY DINNER.

Look me! but time flies fast away,
It seems but the loop o' a day,
Since last we held St. Andrew's Day,
Wi' mickle an' mends;
In spite o' a' thegh folks can say,
It commandeth.

In our cauld hame, our fain an bricht,
Some gathered the heard this nicht,
To twist the band of friendship thicht
In finest an' possible,
Or mumble hotch pigwee out o' sight
In haggis reekin'.

I think their years value I hear,
In auld braid Scotch' we luv so dear,
Kindley' up kindly' love each year
Wi' mirth an' glee;
Relith charity and love appear
Through the evnidence.

In every country, clime or spot,
Isn't favored wi' the canny Scot,
Whare fortune smiles or adverse lot—
This nicht they gather;
Rank in rank' hame Hardy Scottie flend,
Where blooms the heather.

Or chilled by Greenland's icy sheet—
Or tropic isles with odour sweet—
In all the same;
The Scottish heart still warmly beats
For his auld hame.

In Canada—yes, in this place—
The Scottish character we trace,
Proue annual gatherings we embrace
Wi' hearts an' feet,
The meet each other face to face
On nic a night.

This nicht shall I greet up the street
The drawes o' Scotchmen I did meet,
Sae heave in their Scotch cap, fu' neat,
Stuch on three hairs;
Auld Scotty's thistle shown complete—
Emblem o' thairs.

And here around this festive board,
Each brither Scot sits like a lord,
Relith heard an' appetite in shored
Wi' meat an' knowledge;
To Scots, this nicht their good affords
Than skate or college.

It gars our heart loup in our mouth,
Gars tell me years sour the truth
The words gang to our hearts, forsooth,
Like burnin' flame—
The joys, the sonnes enjoyed in youth,
In our auld hame.

FOR THE LADIES.

But hark! a sound has brought me other news,
Sae I mean stop an' change my simple muse
This year the Annual Dinner they has changed,
A ball (Conversazione is arranged.
Eh! I agree. Oh, oh a nicht o this
Let fashion come,—their presence brings its bliss;
It helps to calm the rudest waves o' strife,
When Sandy comes an' brings his cousin wife,
Whither Scotch or not, if married to a Scot,
Shaw shaws the richt to share their husband's lot.
The maist o' wives maintain they has a richt
To join their husbands on St. Andrew's nicht.
Mem they are oh an' hear some gibb mean try
To praise Auld Scotia to the very sky.
Shaw's up the Scotch to be the best o' men,
Perhaps some wife micht think him less-in than;
Or hear some words that makes their bosoms swell—
Of joys in Scotia they has shared thegreal
Against the shrieks on the Scotch frontier,
Before they crossed the rough Atlantic wide;
Or hear some Scotch song o' their early chaces,
Still crowned sang by females of every voice;—
It brings to mind that nicht wi' heart sae glad,
Ye saidst "O whistle, and I'll come to ye, my lad."

Sae! that auld wife her sheathers gies a shrug,
She hooches, an' whispers in her husband's lug:
"It's thirty years since we left Scotia, dear,
This nicht brothers hask the scenes sae fresh and clear;
It brings to mind the dear auld tryste' scene—
Our walks at gleamin', o'er the grassy lea;
Frae hall or party, we we homeward raced,
Then ye did row me in your auld Scotch plaid.
Here [illegible] are spairin in their spither bragach,
It gars my heart loup for I were young again,
Sae hand me down the plaid our thimble denny,
As sure as death, I could make grand wi' joy,
Sae list, guid man! I hear the Mickle squeal—
Jump up an join me in an auld Scotch reel.
At Holmul thing we hasna seen shake our fit,
Though auld, guidsakes there's mettle in an yet."
Watch that young fleet, wi' his sweet lass sae trig,
In hand and arm around the room they swig,
Feith they ca' it, but if I see richt,
Faith, I wad say they had baith been tyte.

When next ye hand St, Andrew's nicht again,
Don't leave your wives set in their hames their lane,
But bring them here as you this nicht have done,
To honor Scotia's patron saint an' men

SUCCESS TO THE CALICO BALL

Robbie said, let the Scots be like brithren,
Whate'er be their rank or degree:
Let dochters an wives come thegither
In the same situation to be;
The haichest is lifted by none,
To level the thin paper wall,
That the rich an' the puir here may come,
Baith alike at this Calico Ball.

This nicht threw away o' yer airs,
The twist or the shake of the head—
The mancy or mocrish' graces
At folks that mann work for their bread,
Then away with the rustlin' silk dress,
Braw mantle or fine dandy shawl,
Send fashion an' pride ra' ta grass
Far away frae this Calico Ball.

Though yer hist be weel stowed wi' claes,
Or yer purse be wee', dollars fu',
The puirest Scotch wife now-a-days
Thinks she should be equal wi' you,
Come! pu' yer mit hand oot the snuff,
An' hand it oot freely to all;
Hard or saft they are the same stuff—
Or should be—at this Calico Ball.

Sae join in the mirth wi' delight,
In whatever rank ye was be'n;
Commingle as sisters to-night,
And be as ye like on the morn.
The Scots has got them by the arms,
In couples they glide through the hall:
Then dance! ye are John Thamson's bairns,
Ane an' a', at this Calico Ball.

Courtesy at Home.

Something is wrong in those families says the Bazar, where the little courtesies of speech are ignored in every-day home life. True politeness cannot be learned, like a lesson, by one effort, any time in one's life; it must be inbred. "Well meaning, but rough," is said of many a man; and too often the beginning of the difficulty lies with the parents in a family. Is it hard for the husband to give a smiling "Thank you" to his wife as she brings his slippers on his evening return home? Is it more difficult for the mother to say, "John will you shut the door, please?" than to use the laconic phrase, "Shut the door?" When Tom knocks over his sister's baby house, why shoul not "Excuse me, I didn't mean to," be the instinctive apology?

Many who would not be guilty of discourtesy to a stranger, or to a friend in a world without, lay aside much if not all their suavity of manner on entering the home circle. The husband and wife dispense with those little graceful attentions which, though small, are never unimportant. The children are ordered hither and thither with crusty words; no "Thank you" rewards the little tireless feet that run on countless errands. The dinner is eaten in silence, broken only by fault finding and reproof from the parents, and ill-humor and teasing among the children. In the evening the father devotes himself to his newspaper, and the mother to her sewing, interrupting themselve only to give such peremptory orders as "Less noise, children;" "Stop quarrelling!" and, finally, "Go to bed."

In many families there is no positive rudeness among the members, only a lack of those simple affectionate attentions which awaken a spontaneous return; a want of that consideration and gentleness of demeanor which are well-springs of comfort in every household. The well-bred host does not fail to bid his guest "Good night," and "Good morning;" why should not this simple expression of good feeling be always exchanged between parents and children. The kindly morning greeting will often nip in the bud many chilling frothiness; and the pleasant "Good-by," from old and young, when leaving the house for office, shop, or school, is a fragrant memory through the day of separation. When the family circle alone enjoys breakfast or dinner, then the same courtesy should prevail as if guests were present. Reproof, complaint, unpleasant discussion, and scandal, no less than moody silence, should be banished. Let the conversation be genial, and suited to the little folks as far as possible. Interesting incidents of the day's experience may be mentioned at the evening meal, thus arousing the social element. If resources fail, sometimes little bits read aloud from the morning or evening paper, will kindle the conversation.

No pleasanter sight is there than a family of young folks who are quick to perform little acts of attention toward their elders. The placing of the big arm chair in a warm place for mamma, running for a foot stool for aunty, hunting up papa's spectacles, and scores of little deeds show unsuppressed and loving hearts. But if mamma never returns a smiling "Thank you, dear," if papa's "just what I ordered, my darling," looks," does not indicate that the little attention is appreciated, the children soon drop the habit. Little people are imitative creatures, and quickly catch the spirit surrounding them. So, if when the mother's spool of cotton rolls from her lap, the father stoops to pick it up, bright eyes will see the act, and quick minds make a note of it. By example, a thousand times more quickly than by precept, can children be taught to speak kindly to each other, to acknowledge favors, to be gentle and unselfish, to be thoughtful and considerate of the comfort of the family. The boys with inward pride in their father's courteous demeanor, will be chivalrous and helpful to their younger sisters; the girls, imitating the mother, will be gentle and patient, even when big brothers are noisy and heedless.

Scolding is never allowable; reproof and criticism from parents must have ther time and place, but should never intrude so far upon the social life of the family as to render the home uncomfortable. A serious word in private will generally cure a fault more easily than many public criticisms. In some families a spirit of contradiction and discussion mars the harmony; every statement is, as it were, dissected and the absolute correctness of every word calculated. It interferes seriously with social freedom when unimportant inaccuracies are watched for, and exposed for the mere sake of exposure. Brothers and sisters also sometimes acquire an almost unconscious habit of teasing each other, half in earnest, half in fun. This is particularly uncomfortable for everybody else, whatever doubtful pleasure the parties themselves may experience.

In the home where true courtesy prevails it seems to meet you on the very threshold. You feel the kindly welcome on entering. No rude eyes scan your dress. No angry voices are heard up stairs. No sullen children are sent from the room. No peremptory orders are given to cover the delinquencies of housekeepers or servants. A delightful atmosphere pervades the house—unmistakable, yet indescribable.

The Story of a Tramp.

The Troy Whig of a recent morning tells the following story: "A great number of persons who are known as 'tramps,' are at present wandering about the city. A part of these are undoubtly seeking employment, while others are vargants from preference and habit. On Monday afternoon one of these wanderers accosted a Whig representative on First street, and said: 'Can you tell a fellow where he can get work?' Receiving a negative reply the miserable man related his woes as follows: 'Stranger, I do not want to go to the poor-house, but I am afraid there is no help for it. I have travelled every step of the way from Utica, and asked for work at every town, and of every person, and begged my lodging and my food. I keep up my courage, for I heard that Troy was a large manufacturing place, and I was sure, sir, that I could get something to do, so that I could earn an honest living. My mother lives near Buffalo (there the man began to weep), and she is expecting money from me to pay the few dollars that she owes for rent, and to buy coal and food for the winter. My God, sir, I wish I was dead." Hundreds of men who have been thrown out of employment by the recent money panic will, we fear, be obliged, like this man, to seek the shelter of the county poor-house.

Finding Each Other Out.

Robert Collyer says that after young people marry they have to find each other out, and they may spend a lifetime in doing that. Some married folks find each each other out as I have read of mariners finding out the polar world. They leave the shores of their single life in the spring days, with tears and benedictions mil on a while in sunshine and fair weather, and then find their way little by little into the cold latitudes, where they see the sun sink day by day, and feel the frost creep in, until they give up at last, and turn to ice sitting at the same table. Others again find each other out as we have been finding out this continent. They nestle down at first among the meadows, close by the clear streams; then they go on through a belt of shat dow, lose their way and find it as bear they know, and come out into a larget horizon and a better land; they meethere difficult hills and climb them together, strike deserts and dismal places and cross them together; and so at last they stand on the further reaches of the mountains, and see the other ocean, manning itself sweet and still, and then their journey ends. But through shadows and shine this is the gospel for the day; they keep together right on to the end. They allow no danger, disaster, or difference to divide them, and no third person to interfere, for if they do it may be as if William and Mary of England had permitted the great Louis to divide their throne by first dividing their hearts."

"Did you hear my definition of marriage?" Sidney Smith says: "It resembles a pair of shears so joined that they cannot be separated; often moving in opposite directions, yet always pointing to one who comes between them." The definition is as witty as it is wise; and thousands have chilled, pained the thread and cloth of your home life in two your dispute.

"Is it possible we may grow apart in finding each other out, and wonder ing why we never saw that trait before, or struk that temper; but if there be between us a true heart, if the rivet holds, then the added reasons for a perfect union, and the sweet old ballad will be our som of life:

"'John Anderson, my Jo, John,
We clum the hill together;
And many a canty day, John,
We've had wi' one another;
Now we mara toddle down, John,
But hand in hand we'll go,
And sleep together at the foot,
John Anderson, my Jo.

"We must never find each other out and then it is possible that, like my mother's old shears, over which I used to ponder, when I was a child, one side is greater and the other, by consequence, less."

HOW A QUAKERESS STOPPED BORROWING.

The subject of borrowing and lending came up in the course of a convention with a subscriber living near Ithaca, when he suddenly recollected an amusing reminiscence of that character which had happened in his own neighborhood. He said he had a neighbor whose family were great borrowers, but not so distinguished as paymasters—they were always borrowing, but seldom if ever returning the exact amount borrowed. An old quaker lady, another neighbor, who had endured these invasions for a long time patiently, hit upon a very philosophical mode of eventually putting a stop to the nuisance. Keeping her own counsel, the next time her man went to town, he had separate and express orders to purchase a pound of the best tea and also a canister to put it in; as he knew she already had plenty of tea, and also a canister, he was puzzled to determine what the old lady wanted of more tea and a new canister but his questioning and reasoning elicited nothing more than a repetition of the order.

"Jim did I not tell thee to got me a pound of the best tea and a new canister. Now go alotg and do as I bid thee."

And go he did, and when he came home at night, the tea and new canister were his companions. The old lady took them from him with an amused expression on her usually placid features, and depositing the tea in the canister set it on the shelf for special purpose. It had not long to wait, for the borrowing neighbor had frequent use of the aromatic herb. The good woman loaned generously, emptying back in the canister any remittance of borrowed teas which the neighbor's conscience inclined her to make. Time went on, and something less than the one-hundredth time of borrowing, the neighbor again appeared for "just another drawing of tea" when the oft visited tea canister was brought out and found to be empty, and the good old lady and obliging neighbor was just one pound of tea poorer than when she bought the canister which now only remained to tell the story. Then she made a little characteristic speech, perhaps it was not for her. She said:

"Thou seest that empty canister. I filled it for the with a pound of my best tea and I have lent it all to thee in dribletsand put into it all thou has seen: me in return; none but thyself hath taken therefrom or added unto it and now thou seest it empty; therefore I will say unto thee, thou hast borrowed thyself out and I can lend thee no more."

Stammering.

Dr. Dio Lewis gives the following as a positive cure for stammering. Those afflicted will do well to read:

"The cure is simply this: The stammerer is made to mark the time in his speech just as is ordinarily done in singing. He is at first to beat on every syllable. It is best at the first lesson to read some simple composition, like one of David's Psalms, striking the fore-finger on the knee at each word; then read in a newspaper, beating each syllable.

"You can beat time by striking the finger on the knee, by hitting the thumb against the fore-finger, or moving the large toe in the boot.

"We doubt if the worst case of stattering would continue long, provided the suffer would read an hour or two each day with thorough practice of this simple art, observing the same in his conversation.

"As thousands have paid fifty and a hundred dollars for this secret, we take great pleasure in imparting it to the patrons of this journal."

Why Men Need Wives.

What does a man need a wife for? It is not merely to sweep the house and make the beds and darn the socks, and cook the meals, chiefly that a man wants a wife for. If this is all, when a young man calls to see a lady, send him to the pantry to taste the bread and cake she has made; send him to inspect the needle-work and bed-making; or put a broom into his hands and let him witness its use. Such things are important, and wise young men will quietly look after them. But what the true man most wants in her companionship, sympathy and love. The way of life has many dreary places in it, and man needs a companion to go with him. A man is sometimes overtaken with misfortune; he meets with failures and defeats; trials and temptations beset him; and he needs one to stand by and sympathize. He has some stern battles to fight with poverty, with enemies and sin, and he needs a woman that, while he puts his arm around her, and f is that he has something to fight for will help him to fight; that will put her lips to his ear and whisper words of counsel, and her hand to his heart and impart new inspirations. All through life—through storm and through sunshine, conflict and victory, through adverse an favoring winds—man needs a woman's love. She needs yours for it. A sister's or a mother's love will hardly supply the need. Yet many wish for nothing more than success at house-work. Justly enough, half of these get nothing more. On the other hand, ambitious girls, who have more genius than those who succeed, are unwilling to marry a man who will not appreciate them, and so they remain single, and a number of [illegible] of [illegible]

How Rich Men Began Life

Marshal O. Roberts is the possessor of $4,000,000 or $4,500,000, and yet until he was 25 he did not have $100 he could call his own.

George Law, at 45, was a common day-laborer on the docks, and at present counts his fortune at something like $10,000,000.

Alexander T. Stewart first bought a few laces at auction, and opened his way to success in a little dingy shop on Broadway—the site of his wholesale establishment.

Robert L. and Alexander Stewart, the noted sugar refiners, in their boyhood, sold molasses candy which their widowed mother made, at a cent a stick, and to-day they are probably worth from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 each.

Horace B. Claflin, the eminent dry-goods merchant worth, it is estimated, from $12,000,000 to $15,000,000 commenced the world with nothing but energy, determination and hope, and see how he has invested them!

Cornelius Vanderbilt began life with an old pirogue running between Staten Island and New York, and carrying garden stuff to market. With $2,000, or $3,000 raised from that source, he entered upon steadily increasing enterprises until he had accumulated $50,000,000.

The Fate of French Marshals.

The history of previous trials of Marshals of France, is not calculated to flatter the hopes of Bazaine.

The office of Marshall was instituted in the reign of Francois I., and since then five Marshals have been tried, found guilty, and all of them executed.

1. Marshall de Retz was hanged and burned for rebellion and high treason.

2 Marshall de Biron was decapitated for conspiring with Spain against his friend and benefactor.

3 and 4. Marshals de Marcillac and de Montmorency were sent to the scaffold for conspiring against the red man, Richilieu.

5. Marshall Ney was shot by the Bourbons, in 1815, for going over to his old master, Napoleon, on his return from Elba.

Bazaine is the first French Marshal charged with not having done his duty in the face of the enemy.

Care of Cows in Autumn.

An enterprising farmer of Western New York says the great secret in rearing and feeding stock successfully is to keep what you get—to save every pound of flesh and fat th at is produced The qu stion lying still back is how shall the flesh and fat be retained? What to do and how to do it is the question. Hitherto I have always commenced feeding my cows meals in October, and continued the regular extra feading throughout November

Montreal House

NOTED FOR

CHEAP COODS!

Said Mrs. A. to Mrs. B.
As they sat chatting at the table,
"Where did you find such fragrant tea,
So strong, so sweet, so palatable ?"
"Oh ! Mrs. A," said Mrs. B.
"I know just where to buy my tea !
Now there is tea, well flavored, sound,
That cost me fifty cents a pound
At Lasher's ;" then she sipped a cup
And praised it more, and then by turns,
She ran it down and praised it up.
Emptied and filled her china urns.

"At Lasher's," she resumed, "they sell
The cheapest goods in all the town,
I bought a dress for Isabe!
At twenty cents a yard—old Brown
Across the street asked twenty-three
But didn't get it—not from me.
And hats that Jones has sold for two,
(Jones is the fellow on the corner.)
They sell for one—now, there is Loo,
She wants a hat, I'll go and warn her
To keep away from Mr. Jones,
The will surely pick her bones."

Their mantles and their scarfs and bows,
And belts and collars are so pretty,
To look at them is balm for woes,
And inspiration for a ditty."

Said Mrs. A. with eyes dilating,
And new light dawning on her senses,
"If this be so that you're relating,
How can they meet their large expenses ?"

Thus Mrs. B. with sundry jerks
And nods, said "Large expenses ! No,
They work themselves and keep few clerks
And thus their daily profits grow.
It makes a difference past revealing
To save clerks' wages and their stealing."

When Mrs. A. had sipped her tea,
And donned her hat and fixed her collar,
Just at the door said Mrs. B,
"Now think, they'll give you for a DOLLAR

11 lbs. Sugar,

REFINED, OR

12 lbs. Raisins,

FRESH VALENCIA, OR

12 lbs. Currants

NEW AND CLEAN, OR

16 Bars Soap,

WORTH 10 C. A BAR."

Then Mrs. B. kissed Mrs. A.
And home the latter took her way.

A CARD

To the Electors of the Township of Douro :

Dear Friends—Not wishing to accept Municipal honors this coming year, you will please accept my most sincere thanks for the unanimous manner in which you have elected me by acclamation the past six years, to represent you in the County Council, and knowing from a great many of you already, it is your intention to do so again if required, I take this opportunity to inform you, it is not my intention to do so, as you may be prepared to select and elect a fit and proper person to fill the vacancy caused by the same.

Having been in Council business the past thirteen years, two excepted, which it was my own choice to resign, I now wish to take the same liberty again and I can assure you I will take the same interest in the welfare of the Township that I would have done had I been in the Council, for your generosity towards me for the past time, and will always be ready to render any assistance I can to my successor in office and the Council in general.

I am also prepared to show a detailed statement of all moneys granted to be expended under my superintendence for the above term of years, as I have received no such monies from either Township or County Treasurer but made it payable to my order to the commissioners when work to the amount was completed under their superintendence.

I remain
Your obedient servant,

PETERBORO', DEC. 11, 1873.

Editorial Items.

Seven Persons Poisoned.

Seven persons were lately poisoned in Montreal by a man stealing out of a sleigh what he took for a bottle of whiskey and drinking of it and treating his neighbors.

There are Suspicions

That Mr. John Adair, of Campbellford, came to his death by poison administered to him by some one yet unknown.

Cobourg.

This place has again been the scene of another burglary. Ned Garry and Peter Hawthorn are now in jail for the act and two young men of rather respectable parents have suddenly disappeared.

The Iron Bridge.

During the late rains a pool of water collected at the west end of the Iron bridge. In letting it away the whole stream was directed on the pier and must be now frozen around the ends of the iron work. Will not this prevent the free action of the bridge and affect the chain during the winter? There should be a way of directing the water into the River without failing on the mason work at all.

Church Opening.

The opening services in the New Wesleyan Methodist Church, Charlotte street, will take place on Sunday, when there will be three services conducted by eminent preachers. There will be a tea on Monday in the New Sabbath Schoolroom, followed by addresses and singing by the Choir.

Lunch—Hot Tea and Coffee at Braden & Kane's.

Braden & Kane.

Messrs. Braden & Kane, Confectioners, have found their shop on Simcoe Street too small for their business, and are removing to more extensive and commodious premises on George Street. They will be found after to-day in Mr. Sheridan's old stand, which has been refitted especially for them. Call and see them in their new stand.

To Teachers.

The examination of teachers will commence on the 15th instant in the Union School Buildings.

A little too late.

The Town Council has ordered that the side walk on George Street, where the sad and fatal accident occurred to Mr. Clegg on Thursday, be filled in, and Mr. Cummins is now engaged at the work. It is a little too late, but it may prevent future accidents of a similar nature.

All the Dominion Ministers

Are now elected. Sir John opposed Mr. Cartwright only. The defeat in this case was so disastrous he judged it wisest to let the others alone.

The Storm

On Thursday last passed over all Canada and a large portion of the Western States, doing immense damage everywhere in its course.

Temperance League.

This Society will meet on Friday evening, in the Good Templars' Hall, at 7 o'clock. A full meeting is requested.

Fallen Foul.

The Review and some of the St. Andrew's men have fallen foul of each other. It's a pity. The Conversazione was not a failure, except that the President didn't deliver his speech as expected. The Ball was surely as moral as a dinner and wine, perhaps accompanied by whiskey and jolly songs, but its none of our business.

Brunton absconds.

This unfortunate man has obtained a reprieve to the 26th instant, so as to allow time for the Doctors sent here last week to make their report. There were doubts in the minds of some of them, or they would have agreed while here. If he is believed to be sane, or nearly in his right mind he will be hanged, and few will feel for his fate. The crime was so inhuman, so monstrous, that the wretch who in his right mind would be guilty of it deserves no pity. If, however he has been deprived of his reason even the murderers would regret the extreme penalty, but when the Governor General takes the best medical testimony on the matter it is all that can be expected. Most people even then will accept or reject such testimony, just as it meets their judgement or their prejudices. He is unchanged, and yesterday expressed his readiness to be hanged at once. The opinion of the Doctors has not yet been received.

Parliamentary.

The Legislature of Ontario will meet for the despatch of business early in January.

After the Storm.

There is a lull in Dominion politics, and will be until the Commons meet, and the new Ministers unfold their policy, They will be sustained by a large majority.

There has not been a government in twenty years in which there were so many able men. They will have the errors of their predecessors to encounter it is true, but they are prepared for them.

Town Lots for Sale.

Doctor Harvey, has instructed Mr. McNeil to sell his old homestead, East of the Railway Station, by Auction, on Tuesday, 23rd December at 2 p. m. on the ground. Terms Liberal, see posters.

In Toronto

Wheat brings $1.12 to $1.26, Barley $1.20, Peas 58 to 60, Butter 20 to 24, Pork $5.75 to $6.00

I. O. L. of Orange Young Britons.

At the regular monthly meeting of the above order on Monday evening last the following officers were elected for the ensuing year :—Master, J. Hall ; Deputy Master, A. Proud ; Secretary, W. Brown ; Treasurer, M. Molloy ; Committeemen, J. Jenkins, W. Mac. S. Jamieson, A. Brown, W. Lloyd ; Chaplain, J. Rose Bolsgrip ; Director of Ceremonies, W. Anthony ; Inside Tyler, J. Finlay.

The Montreal Witness

Has, during the past year, increased rapidly in circulation, and, in much progression, a large portion of this vigorous newspaper. It is the standard paper in the Dominion in point of circulation, and the first in point of character. The Witness has for many years followed a plan which we do not know to be followed by any other paper, in the regular publication immediately over the editorial head of its last week's circulation compared with the same circulation a year before. So far it has been an exceptional day in its history when these figures have indicated retrogression. The Witness is coming this winter in a new dress, and the Weekly is to be to some extent enlarged, making it a remarkably good dollar's worth. The publishers announce that their subscriptions came in during last month 58 per cent more than during the same month last year. Whatever views may be taken of the course of the Witness in its treatment of public matters it is certainly without rival as a family newspaper, and as such we can safely commend it. Its selected articles on social questions and its tales are very well chosen.

Elected by Acclamation.

Hon. Mr. Fournier, Minister of Inland Revenue, was elected by acclamation for Bellechasse, and Hon. Mr. Dorion, Minister of Justice, was elected by acclamation for Napierville, yesterday. Mr. Dorion said the Government would build the Pacific Railway, enlarge the canals, endeavour to obtain reciprocity with the United States, leave the New Brunswick school question with the Imperial Privy Council, as agreed to by the Council of Catholic Bishops, and said that if it be proved that Riel and his party were promised amnesty, it would be a great point in favour of Riel.

South Bruce.

The nomination for the South Riding of Bruce took place thursday at the appointed time. Although the day was very cold and stormy, yet a very respectable number of the electors were present. As there was no opposition, the Hon. E. Blake was declared elected by acclamation. After the nomination, the electors repaired to the Court House to hear the address of Mr. Blake. The address may be defined as a clear resume of the cause of the fall of the late Administration, and a concise reference to the policy of the present Administration. He is clear, logical and eminently moderate. The fearful storm that is yet raging will, it is feared, militate against the attendance at the dinner that will be given at 6 o'clock this evening in honor of Mr Blake.—Telescope.

Whiskey.

The men employed on the new Welland canal received their pay last Monday night, after which a number of them proceeded to Thorold, when after consuming their usual amount of whiskey, they engaged in a fight, and a number of them bore the signs of rough usage when the melee ended. There will likely be a big row on Saturday night, as the contractors are then to make an attempt to reduce the wages to $1 a day.—Brantford Courier.

The Montreal Witness

May now fairly claim to be the second newspaper in point of influence and circulation in the Dominion. It lacks the advantage enjoyed by the Globe of a dense reading population for hundreds of miles around its centre of publication ; but the rapid growth of Montreal as the commercial centre of the country must in time give to the leading paper of that city a sort of metropolitan character. The Witness is not the docile supporter of party, but when what it regards as moral issues are at stake it leaves its political reserve and comes to the front of the battle, such has been its course during the recent crisis. It looked at first, we believe, with marked favor on Sir Hugh Allan's schemes for connecting Montreal by a new railway with the great West, but when the political wrong doing in connection with those schemes came to light no paper was more unsparing in its denunciations of that immorality in high places which was educating the people of Canada in a low morality, and no paper contributed more to the downfall of the great system of corruption we hope for ever.

Professor Martin.

The popular Wizard and ventriloquist, will give entertainments in the Music Hall during the whole of next week, commencing on Monday evening. His feats of Legerdemain have created great sensations where he has visited. He will no doubt have full houses here.

Wedding Cakes in the best style got up at Braden & Kane's.

The $40,000 By-Law.

The $40,000 By-law was defeated on Monday by 19 votes. The 3rd and 4th Wards gave majorities for it ; the 1st and 2nd Wards against it. If the same efforts had been made to carry it, that were to defeat it, the result would be different.

We understand that every available Livery team was engaged taking in votes against the By-law. Who pays for them ? Is it really so, that Port Hope money is being used to control our business ? Yet so it would appear ; indeed, we are safe in saying, is a fact. Many of those who voted against the By-law did so honestly believing they were doing right, until there was sufficient security given for the opening of the road in good faith. Others were led astray by the cunning of more wiley tricksters. Yet the weight of the property is in favor of handing over the Debentures now.

In the 2nd Ward where there was a majority of 12 against the By-law, the vote by property is $73,550 for it, $32,725 against.

In the 3rd and 4th Wards the vote by property is about $3 to $1, and even in the South Ward, where the largest majority is against the By-law, the vote by property is not far from equal.

We are glad to find that not a single man in town wishes to repudiate the payment of the Bonus, but they are against paying it till the road is in running order from Cobourg to Mud Lake. They would now be satisfied to pay it over if security were given to insure proper disposition of the money. It is strange that Mess. Nicholls and Hall, Jas Hall, Jas Stevenson, Geo Cox, Geo Hillard and most of this class, are satisfied with the security, while men who have not one-twentieth part at stake are found voting against it.

At the meeting on Friday evening Col. Chambliss made an honest plain statement of the facts concerning the Route, the Company and their interests. All agree that it was the most straightforward speech on Railways ever made in Peterboro, but they say we want money, and them honesty we want something else business, like to wait till the Company are willing to talk about settling ?

Braden & Kane have a splendid new stock of Christmas presents, Toys, and Fancy Goods.

COUNTY COURT AND GENERAL SESSIONS.

JUDGE DENNISTOUN PRESIDING.

This Court is in session this week. Many of the cases are merely settlements between neighbors, and of no conhnts which perhaps ought not to be reported.

There were no criminal cases, and in consequence the Grand Jury were dismissed the first day.

THE PRESENTMENT.

We, the Grand Jurors of our Sovereign Lady the Queen, on our oath present that we have examined the jail and found it clean and in a satisfactory condition ; also, that the inmates seem to be quite content with their treatment therein.

A. Kingan's acct.. nails	$ 68.50
McKee & Davidson	105.30
Whyte & Davis	33.35
W. S. Jenhston	5.40

Accounts for gas were referred to the Gas Committee.

The following Report was read and referred to the Committee on Finance.

"To His Worship, the Mayor, and the Municipal Council of the Town of Peterborough :

The undersigned, appointed by your honorable body by resolution passed on the first day of April, 1873, to examine into and report upon all matters of complaint of the Roman Catholic Trustees of the Separate School in said Town of Peterborough, as stated in their petition presented to the Town Council on the 8th day of January, 1872, beg leave to report as follows :—

1. That, in compliance with your instructions contained in said resolution—a copy of which and the petition of the R. C. Trustees are appended—we have thoroughly investigated the accounts of said Trustees with the Town, from the year 1859 to the present year, inclusive, and submit herewith the results of our investigations.

We find that the Act consolidating the debt of the Town, provides that a sum equal to the rate collected from the property of the Separate School supporters in payment of the Debentures issued for the Water Works, and upon account of the Debentures issued for the Gas Works, shall be refunded to the Separate School Trustees, and that no other sum or sums shall be refunded to them.

We find that the cost to the Town of the Union School building is the sum of $19,528.59 which sum, as nearly as we can approximate, is represented by the following Debentures :

Deb. falling due 1st Jan.,	1875	$ 3,000
" " "	Oct., 1876	1,000
" " "	Jan., 1877	1,000
" " "	Jan., 1878	2,000
" " "	Jan., 1879	2,800
" " "	July, 1880	5,000
" " "	Oct., 1881	3,400
Total.		$19,400

Leaving $128.49 not converted into Debentures, which sum we recommend should be added to the School rate the coming year.

3. In this connection we would remark that our attention has been directed to the fact that, up to the present time the Separate School supporters have contributed nothing towards the cost of providing schoolroom accommodations for the Grammar School scholars, and that in consequence of the large amount of accommodation required for said scholars, it has been found necessary to erect additional buildings for common school purposes, thereby adding largely to our School debt.

4. Before closing our Report we deem it our duty to call the attention of your honorable body to the vague and unsatisfactory nature of the language of the Statute consolidating the Town Debt, in reference to that portion providing for yearly refunds to the Trustees of the Separate School, and would respectfully suggest that, in order to prevent future complications, that Act should be so amended that in future no portion of the Interest, or Sinking Fund levied for the School Building Debt, be collected from the supporters of the R. C. Separate School, but that a special rate be levied for that purpose, and that the funds so collected be kept entirely distinct and Separate from all other public money

All of which is respectfully submitted.

J. EDWARDS,
Treasurer.

Peterborough, 27th Nov., 1873.

On motion of Mr. Toole, seconded by Mr. Burritt, the Street Inspector was authorized to repair the fence around the old burying ground.

On motion of Mr. Lundy, seconded by Mr. Denne, the Street Inspector was authorized to have the sidewalk at intersection of George and Edinburgh Street filled in with gravel immediately.

On motion of Mr. Smith, seconded by Mr. English, a By-law to authorize the Town Commissioners to hand over to the Town Council seven thousand dollars towards the erection of the Iron Bridge on Hunter Street, and the Swing Bridge at the Locks, or Wilis's Rapids, was read. It was afterwards read and passed.

On motion of Mr. Toole, seconded by Mr. Moore, the account of James Navins of $3.00 was ordered to be paid.

A By-law was passed to appoint returning officers to hold the municipal elections, &c.

Mr. Moore introduced a By-law to open portions of Stewart and Rubidge Street. It was also read a second time.

On motion of Mr. Moore, seconded by Mr. Toole, the Town Trust Commissioners were directed to take proceedings to collect from the Midland Railway Company arrears of interest due to the town on the mortgage from said company.

Moved by Mr. Toole, seconded by Mr. Burritt,—That Messrs. Smith, Lundy, Dixon, Moore and the mover be a special Committee to communicate with the Councils of North and South Monaghan with a view of making such arrangements as may lead to the opening of a highway from this town to some point on the boundary line between Monaghan and Cavan, and report to this council.—Carried.

Mr. Lundy gave notice of a motion to pay for gas light for the illuminated clock in Mr. Ormond's shop on George Street.

Mr. Toole gave notice of a motion for a By-law in reference to the Cobourg R. R.

The Council adjourned for three weeks.

Pursuant to notice, the Council of the Township of Smith met at the Town Hall, Bridgenorth, on Monday, the first day of December, 1873.

All the members present.

The Virginius Affair.

PEACE ASSURED.—SPAIN ACCEDES TO THE U. S. DEMANDS.

New York, Nov. 29.—All the Washington specials in the morning journals unite in asserting that Spain has acceded to our demands and peace is assured.

The Times despatch says :—The announcement was received through Admiral Polo last evening, after the adjournment of the Cabinet meeting. Spain promises to deliver up the Virginius, the flag and papers, to restore the survivors, and to bring to justice the Santiago butchers.

The Herald's despatch, dated 2:10 this morning, says :—Secretary Fish was in high spirits at his dwelling, where warm congratulations were passing. During the evening he shook hands with everybody, remarking that he was very glad that war had been averted. Gen. Sherman expressed great satisfaction at the happy termination of the negotiation. Secy. Fish has no doubt that the Spanish Government will be able to carry out its orders in Cuba. The Colonial Minister, M. Soles, now in Havana, will personally see that they are executed.

The World's despatch says :—The situation is peace. It gives among the conditions accepted, indemnity to the families of such American citizens as were executed at Santiago.

A double leaded editorial in the Times treats of peace as a foregone conclusion, and praises what it calls the good temper and tact of Admiral Polo and Secy. Fish in having effected it. It adds that there can be no impropriety in mentioning that Admiral Polo has endeavoured by all honorable means to bring about a peaceful solution without forgetting for a moment the claims of his own country.

Madrid, Nov. 26.—The Spanish Cabinet has agreed to deliver to the United States Government the steamship "Virginius" and all persons remaining alive, who were captured with her, leaving the question whether the seizure of the vessel was legal to be settled hereafter by a mixed tribunal. The question whether damages shall be paid to families or relatives of persons who were shot, is also to be settled in a similar manner. This decision was not aimed at by the Government before it had confidentially consulted with the powers of Europe, and was informed by all of them that information was due for the capture of the steamer and the execution of the captives. The decision is also in conformity with the opinion of leading Spanish statesmen of all parties, to whom the question was submitted by the Government.

ELECTION OF DEPUTY REEVES.

The Act passed at the last Session of the Ontario Legislature "to amend and consolidate the Acts respecting Municipal Institutions," contains provisions changing the mode under certain circumstances of electing Deputy Reeves in Township Municipalities. Clause 99 provides that Reeves and Deputy Reeves shall be elected by general vote, except in Townships divided into Wards, which in no case must exceed four, then the Municipal Council shall elect from among themselves the number of Deputy Reeves to which the Township is entitled. In order that those interested may the better understand this point, which is a material change in the law, we give the clause relating thereto :

"The election in Townships and incorporated Villages of Reeves, Deputy Reeves and Councillors, shall be by general vote, except in Townships divided into Wards, and sh

Mr. De Veber,

A Reformer has been elected in Mr. Tilley's place.

The Adjourned Sale

Of Lands for Taxes takes place on Wednesday next in the Court House.

An Old Settler Gone.

Mr. Samuel Chrysdale, of Asphodel, died on the 27th ult., in his 77th year.

Poisoned.

Two children were poisoned at Wtsford by using Landanum, by mistake, to wash their mouths, for the thrush.

More Light.

Mr. Chisholm, of Hamilton, has signified his intention of supporting Mr. Mckenzie and Blake. They are receiving new light daily.

Personal.

We learn from a friend that Rev. Mr. McDonnell, of Toronto, late of Peterboro, and a portion of his family are ill with the small-pox.

The Mayor.

Mr. Croft was round getting names to a requisition to bring out Mr. Perry for Mayor. So far Mr. P. is Mr. Croft's candidate.

United.

The Guelph Mercury and Advertiser have amalgamated. In future the result of the union will be the "Guelph Mercury and Advertiser."

Peel.

Mr. Kenneth Chisholm has been nominated to represent the Reform interests in the County of Peel, in the place of the late Mr. Coyne. It is said his election is certain.

Burglaries.

Georgetown, on the 2nd instant, $300 taken. Cobourg; same night, when Mr. Hayden's store was entered and $500 taken. Other places tried, but not successfully. Look out!

Rumors.

The Norwood Register says there is rumors that Brenton has confessed the murder of Mrs. Payne and the boy Doughty, "and other previous murders." He has admitted being present at the Dummer murder but he has not confessed any other murders.

Ministers Returned.

Messrs. McKenzie, Cartwright, Dorion, McDonald, Fournier, Smith and Burpee. These, with Mr. Christie, Mr. Scott, and Mr. Letellier in the Senate, constitute the Ministry except two. This shows that Mr. McKenzie's Government receives the fullest endorsation everywhere in the Dominion.

Municipal Elections.

There is very little noise about the coming Municipal Elections. We advise the electors to select good men. Never was there more need for them, as Railway rings, speculators, and cunning designers and knaves have to be watched, lest the burden of taxes becomes greater than the people can bear.

The Port Hope "Guide."

Mr. Fleming, of the Guide, retires from the management of the paper, and Mr. C. B. Robertson resumes the proprietorship and control. Mr. Fleming, during his management, materially improved the appearance of the Guide. He was a staunch advocate of Reform principle and honorable as a contemporary. Mr. Robinson, the present propietor, is well known as the former proprietor of the Lindsay Post, and a successful journalist.

The Source of Crime

Of nine prisoners now in the Peterboro' Jail, six are old "drunks," two are in-sane and the unfortunate Brenton or Fox. The Town pays about $1500 a year for sending drunkards to jail; $1000 to a police magistrate, whose duties would be small but for whiskey; $550 to a chief constable, and hundreds of dollars for fuel, fuel and and clothes for the poor who are poor through strong drink, and still licenses the traffic to continue this state of things. Strange consistency!

Mistaken Identity.

Our contemporary, the Montreal Witness of Oct. 31st, publishes what it states to be a faithful portrait of Louis Riel, M. P. for Provencher. Those here who know Riel by sight, by correct photos of him, or by personal acquaintance, fail to recognize him in the portrait given by the Witness in the picture in question. We recognize the features of Pierre Delorme. M. P. P., of this Province, between whom, and the man the Witness makes him do duty for, there is about as little facial resemblance as there is between a Satyr and an Adonis —Manitoba Gazette.

Municipal.

We invite attention to the change in the Municipal Act, by which the nomination of candidates for Reeves and Councillors takes place on the last Monday in December, instead of the last Monday but one as heretofore. The 104 section of the new Municipal Act reads thus:—

"A meeting of the Electors shall take place for the nomination of candidates for the offices of Aldermen in cities, councillors in Towns, and Reeves, Deputy Reeves and councillors in Townships and incorporated villages at noon, on the last Monday in December annually, at such place therein, and in cities and towns at such place in such ward thereof as shall from time to time be fixed by By-law."

Township clerks would do well to note this, as Wills' Digest is wrong.

Wood's Household Magazine.

The December number of this Magazine is replete with good reading—entertaining sketches, stories, poems, &c., &c. Its table of contents embraces the following articles: A Better Country, Mary Hartwell; An Engineer's Yarn, Albert Williams, Jr.; Our Party at Sea, Rev. J. S. Breckinridge; Two Enthusiasts, H. M. Lewtral; Presence of Mind, Rev. F. W. Holland; Our Babies, D. A. Gorton, M. D.; Blessedness of Riches, Teneroon; Hans Doodlestee, Rudolph Mentel; installment of Max Kromer, author of Jessica's First Prayer; Codfish and Potatoes, Chapter II, by Eleanor Kirk; Misery Jippen, Chapter VII, VIII, by H. V. Osborne. In addition to these articles are several pretty poems, a charming little Cottage Design, and editorial departments embracing Our Housekeeper, Correspondence, Literary Notices, Laughing Stock, &c., &c. The engraving for this month is entitled "Old Folks." All above for only one dollar per year—or with chromo Yosemite one dollar and a half. Address, Wood's Household Magazine, Newburgh, N. Y.

In regard to the late appointments, the New York Tribune says:—"The Ministry, however, seems to have been prepared for their final downfall; the appointment of about one hundred officials, just on the eve of resignation of the Cabinet, was not only a piece of shrewdness which our British cousins would call 'a smart Yankee trick,' but was unworthy of a dignified Government. Some of the appointees were members of the outgoing Cabinet, and others were members of Parliament who retained their seats after they had received their appointments. The whole proceeding was worthy of the very lowest grade of American politicians,

DREADFUL WIND STORM.

A severe hurricane blew over the place on Thursday morning, doing immense damage to buildings, sheds, stables, fences, churches, &c. The turrets were blown off the Presbyterian Church; one of them fell on the roof and went through it. The school room of the new Methodist Church was slightly damaged. The front wall of a new building in course of erection for Mr. McLelland, saddlemaker, was levelled to the ground. The end was blown out of a new building belonging to Mr. Bradburn, in rear of the Queen's Hotel, George Street. A new brick building belonging to Mr. Thos. Lee, Communication Road, was blown down. Masses of debris, windows blinds, &c., was dashed everyway in various parts of the town.

A MAN KILLED.

We regret to learn that Mr. J. Clegg, while on his way along George Street, and while opposite the bridge of elevated sidewalk, near Mr. Lawson's residence, was struck by pieces of the bridge blown across the street and so severly hurt that he died before noon. Intelligence from different parts of the country warrants us in saying that the loss caused by the storm in blowing down sheds, stables and even dwellings, is very great. It is also said that a son of Mrs. Crowley, River Road, was killed by a piece of timber or board from the building while feeding the cattle.

BRENTON alias FOX.

Dr. Howard of St. John, Quebec, and Dr. Dickson, of Kingston, have visited Brenton, being sent by the Government to test his sanity. They in company with Dr. Kincaid, saw him on Thurday, and on Friday Drs. Howard and Dickson visited him, remaining a considerable time with him.

They are averse to giving their opinion until after communicating it to the Governor General, whose prerogative it is to deal with the matter. Notwithstanding their unwillingness, several parties on the street appeared to have gained their confidence, as they stated the Doctors had agreed that Brenton is not insane. In all probability, therefore, he will suffer the extreme penalty of the law on Thursday next, within the jail walls. Several ministers of the gospel have visited him, and talked with him. Among them was Rev. Mr. Fish, to whom he appears to be on most friendly terms, but we do not learn that he has succeeded in making him feel the awful position he is in. He talks to him freely, and we understand that Mr. Fish induced him to engage in prayer, at least formally.

Brenton, or Fox, we believe, when young was a member of the Methodist Church. He talks of Belleville and of the inhabitants in his day, but says little unless in answer to questions. Yesterday when informed that there was little hope for him, he expressed himself unconcerned and said he was ready. He refuses to give any account of his history while in the United States—says everything there is settled and the money paid, and is almost silent as to the Dummer murder. He manifests much the same spirit as he has done all along since put in Jail. There is very little sympathy expressed for him anywhere. He has no friends, few to take an interest in him and is likely to sup the bitter cup of his folly and crime, without any one except the friendly and christian sympathy of the gospel minister. He does not appear to know where his relatives are, if they are living. His mother and brothers are dead. He had one sister but he does not admit knowing where she is.

The Cobourg Sentinel says at that Harbour the shipments through the last began during the season just closed, embraced 21,000,000 feet of lumber, 20,000 tons of iron ore, 75,000 bushels of wheat, 35,000 bushels of barley, 25,000 bushels of peas, and a large lot of miscellaneous produce. This, we are gratified to state, is a decided improvement upon last year.

QUALITY

Bismarck is having everything his own way. In the new Prussian Government everything will be just as he may desire. Liberalism in politics and in religion—German liberalism we mean—has been victorious on all sides, the numbers of the "Moderate Liberals" rising from 116 to 178, while the "Advanced" have mounted from 30 to 71, and out of a total of 532, the moderate conservates voting with the Government on the ecclesiatical question the Cabinet has a majority of 311. The church question was almost the only issue at the elections; and it was their votes on this subject last session which at the polling booths swept the Conservatives out of existence. Of course, the Government will now push its warfare with the church all the more vigorously for finding that its tyranny finds a response in the popular heart. A Bill providing for civil marriages is to be introduced. This is a necessity, and follows on previous action, for there are over one hundred parishs where a person at the present can neither be married nor babtized nor buried properly. The babtism and burial may be managed in some way, but there is a dead lock in the case of marriages. Another Bill is promised which will enable the Government to remove from their old abode, or even drive into exile, deposed priests who may be considered mischievious. An Archbishop, Ledochowski, has been removed from office and imprisoned, and the Bishop of Treves is to be hauled over the coals for appointing a clergyman without first obtaining the sanction of the Government. The Bishop of Paderborn was sued by his chaplain for unjustified removal from office. The Bishop refused to answer regarding the matter, as outside the cognisance of a civil tribunal, thereupon, without delay, the police entered his palace and seized all the papers bearing on the controvery for the use of the Court. The Archbishop of Cologne has, in panic, stopped the sale of his official organ. This hostile condition of things is not confirmed Prussia. In Hesse, a Court—composed, however, of Catholic judges dismissed the action of a Bishop against a Protestant minister, who denounced the "Moral Compendium" used in the Catholic divinity schools as a book teaching the morality of scoundrels while the Parliament of Brunswick, in thanking in thanking the Emperor for the attitude assumed by him in his letter to the Pope, brands this last as an enemy of Christianity, who would be satisfied with nothing short of the enslavement of mankind. More extraordinary still Austria seems inclined in some respects to follow in the wake of Prussia.

We may well ask, with Bret Harte is civilization a failure. Not tyranny more tense, in its frank contempt for human liberty and speculative independence, could be conceived than that which now goes forward in Germany. But it should be remembered, before we allow ourselves to become too pessimist, that the war fever is not yet quite subsided, and that men are ready on the one hand, to go any length with the man that built up an United Germany and beat the hereditary foe; and, on the other, are impelled in the same direction by fear least anything should rob them of the position and prestige they have won. But for all this, German Liberals are Liberals, and when they grow more calm will refuse to put their hands to a plough which overturns in its course all that makes the battle of Liberalism worth waging. It would be a poor result of all that has been said and sung and achieved in Germany, if all that came of it was to send us back to 12 o'clock in the night of the Middle ages.

THE LAST GRAB.

Politics have run high here of late.—The excitement of Sir John's Government being sustained or defeated was uppermost in men's thoughts for days. A larger proportion of our readers could see no guilt in the Pacific R. R. transactions, and wished accordingly for the old Government to be sustained. Others again, believing that a government should be above suspicion clamored for the downfall. When the Government was compelled to resign, the latter class was in ecstacies of joy. We confess we sympathized with the "great men fallen," and were unprepared for the unseemly and unconstitutional action our rulers took on the day of their demise. We think it very much beneath the dignity of legislators and politicians, when living their days were numbered, in their death struggles to fill important official stations with their friends or supporters. In our own port a dead lock has occurred on account of undue interference by Sir John's party when they did not possess the confidence of the Commons. We feel somewhat ashamed of the great statesmen we have been, to a certain extent, supported, for attempting to use parliamentary powers, after the sword and centre had virtually passed from them. Mr A. G Hamilton, through the intercession of Wm. McDonald, Esq, M. P., was one of the new officials created by the sick and dying Government, he (Mr Hamilton) receiving the appointment of Collector of Customs in this place, vice T S Brown, Jr., who had held the office creditably and honorably for twenty two years. Mr. Hamilton's commission is signed by R. S. M. Bouchette, Commissioner of Customs, and we believe is dated the day after the Government expired. Four days later, Mr. Brown received a despatch from the Commissioner of Customs to desire up no books, papers, or right of office until authorized so to do from Ottawa. Mr. Hamilton demands the office on the strength of his commission; Mr. Brown refuses on authorized advice from the new Government. Here is a dead lock in earnest and arises from what we believe to be an illegal act in the part of the late Government. We believe the friends of the late Government will universally condemn the appointment they made when they were in reality defunct.—North Sydney (Cape Breton) Herald.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtue of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed preparations of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Thus in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alchol is lost in that way, and you get only the small ci Oils which they may contain.

By-Law No —

A BY-LAW to authorize the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to issue and hand over to the Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company, Debentures of the said Town of Peterborough to the amount of Forty Thousand Dollars.

WHEREAS by a By-law of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough Numbered 265 entitled "A By-law to provide for the granting of a Bonus to the extent of Eighty Thousand Dollars in Debentures of the Corporation of the Town of Peterborough to the Cobourg Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company to aid in the construction of the Railway of the said Company northward to Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls" the said Corporation was empowered to grant aid to the said Company to the amount of Forty Thousand Dollars to be issued and delivered to the said Company when the said Railway should have been completed except as to the filling in of Rice Lake from the Town of Cobourg to some navigable point on Chemong Lake and provided that it should be so completed and in running order before the first day of April one thousand eight hundred and seventy-three and another portion thereof namely to the amount of the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars to be issued and delivered to the said Company when the said Railway should have been completed except as to the filling in of Rice Lake as aforesaid, and in running order from the Town of Cobourg aforesaid to the Village of Bobcaygeon provided that it should be so completed and in running order by the First day of March one thousand eight hundred and seventy-four, and the remaining portion thereof namely to the amount of Twenty thousand dollars when the said Railway should have been completed except as to the filling in of Rice Lake as aforesaid and in running order from the Town of Cobourg aforesaid to the Village of Fenelon Falls in the County of Victoria provided it be so completed and in running order by the First day of March one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five Provided further that the said respective portions of the said Debentures were only to be issued and delivered as aforesaid in the event of the said respective portions of the said Railway being so completed and in running order by the times thereinbefore limited and subject further to certain other conditions terms and stipulations in the said By-law fully set out and mentioned

And whereas the said Company relying on the said By-lay undertook the work of extending their Railway northward and have reached the point on the South Shore of Chemong Lake mentioned in said By-law but by reason of the scarcity of labor and the good and substantial character of their work and particularly the substantial character of the work on the Rice Lake Bridge have been so delayed that it was impossible for them to complete the said Railway within the time in the said By-law mentioned And Whereas the amount and character of the work by them accomplished is a satisfactory guarantee for the completion of the said Railway between the Town of Cobourg and the said Chemong Lake and it is desirabe to keep good faith with the said Company.

Be it Therefore Enacted by the Municipal Corporation of the Town of Peterborough and it is hereby enacted by the authority of the same:

1 That Debentures for the sum of forty thousand dollars be issued and authenticated in the manner pointed out by the said recited By-law and handed over to the said The Cobourg Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company or whoever may be by them authorized to receive the same when and so soon as the Company shall have executed and handed over to the Town their bonds in a sufficient penalty for securing the proper disposition and expenditure of the proceeds of the debentures in the building and completion of the Road between Cobourg and Chemong Lake and further to secure the full completion of the said Road between said points on or before the first day of September next.

2. And Whereas the early construction of the said Railway northward to the Villages of Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls as provided in the said recited By-law will be greatly to the advantage of the Town of Peterborough and it is impossible for the said Company to complete the said Railway to the said Villages within the times in the said By-law mentioned namely to the Village of Bobcaygeon by the First day of April A. D. 1874 and to the Village of Fenelon Falls by the first day of April A D 1875 herefore it is desirable that a reasonable time for so completing the said Railway to Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls be granted to the said Cobourg Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company.

Be it therefore enacted by the Municipal Council of the Town of Peterborough that the time within which the said Company shall be required to complete said Railway to the Villages of Bobcaygeon and Fenelon Falls to entitle them to receive the Bonus or Debentures in the said before recited By-law mentioned shall be extended as follows that is to say the said Railway shall be completed except as to the filling in of Rice Lake as aforesaid and in running order from the Town of Cobourg aforesaid to the Village of Bobcaygeon by the first day of December one thousand eight hundred and seventy five and to the Village of Fenelon Falls by the first day of December one thousand eight hundred and seventy six

Provided always that all the other terms and conditions in the said in part recited By law shall be in full force and effect and shall not in and wise be modified changed or affected by this By-law except as aforesaid

3. That this By-law shall come into force on the day of one thousand eight hundred and seventy three but shall be subject to the approval and ratification by the Legislature of Ontario

4. That a vote of the duly qualified ratepayers of the said Town of Peterborough be taken upon this By-law on Monday

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine, has anything won so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this excellent remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While adapted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a preventive against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are liable to be seized by colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases in which the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patients restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Throat, that the most obstinate Coughs readily yield to it. When taken in the first stages of Consumption, before the Lungs are disorganized, a few bottles will cure the most dangerous case. Every family should have it by them, and not neglect a cough or cold until it is beyond the reach of medicine.

Asthma is always relieved by this medicine, and sometimes cured. Those who are subject to Bronchitis will find that the Pectoral allays the cough and other troublesome symptoms.

Sold by Druggists everywhere.

Ayer's Ague Cure.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are found to preserve all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because the sight can always be found to restore nearly equal to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selection.
4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely ours.
5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

A FACT WORTH KNOWING!

The reputation of Wheeler & Wilson's noiseless Lockstitch Sewing Machine is so high, and the demand so great, that dealers in other machines when asked for it are obliged to say that they sell Wheeler & Wilson's also; but when pushed for one will make excuses or else say "that the last one was sold a few days ago." Then they turn and show the good qualities of those they sell—at the same time being careful to run the W & W down. Another trick is to state that the W & W will not do heavy work, nor use coarse or linen thread, and by showing a worthless imitation (which is of no use to them or anyone else) will tell you "that the W & W is too frail a machine for farmers' use," this, no doubt, is true of the imitation, but utterly false concerning the genuine W & W, as thousands of farmers now using it can testify.

Parties intending to purchase are requested to call and examine.

For Leather or Heavy Manufacturing use the No. 6 Wheeler & Wilson, it excels all others.

New Advertisements.

We invite a special perusal of our new advertisements this week, by which our readers will learn where to obtain all their wants for the holiday seasons.

A Terrible Defeat.

The John A. men were completely routed in Toronto on Monday. Mr. Mows was elected by 511 of a majority, over Mr. Bickford the Union for Peace candidate. This is the second contest, and in each case the defeat is marked. John A. too had formed this Riding to suit his purposes.

Mr. Hugel.

President of the Midland Railway writes, denying the rumor that the Midland Railway Co. used its influence and money to defeat the Cobourg By-law Mr. Hugel, however, does not inform us who will pay or who has paid for the teams engaged in drawing in votes against the By-law. The men who opposed it might cast their votes but not their money to defeat it. Their love of gold is stronger than their love of victory.

Remember that the Rochester Fruit Store is the place to secure your Winter Apples.

LEGISLATION NEEDED.

The Legislatures of Ontario and of the Dominion will soon assemble for the purpose of considering the necessities of the country, and as far as far as possibly can be done by Legislation, providing for irregularities.

The country has been agitated on the subject of the assessment law, and an attempt has been made to settle difficulties, and recommend provisions likely to meet or remedy them. How far they have succeeded remains to be tested by experience, although many of the recommendations may never become law.

In towns, the greatest sources of trouble are bank stock and personal property. The holders of bank stock argue that it is wrong to tax them on their stock—as tending to drive that stock away from us, and thus interfere with commercial enterprise. There is evident injustice in making a Canadian stockholder pay a heavy tax, while one who resides in another country gets Scott free. It is only reasonable that every stock holder in a bank should pay a just share of the expenses of the bank. And as the bank does business, in various places, and as the expenses are calculated at all the branches, the man who is taxed locally has neither consent nor control, how to pay his tax of 25 mills on the dollar, and his share of all other expenses; [illegible] taxed by her not being his stock he is one and one-fifth per cent. worse off than a foreign stock holder. This is evidently an injustice to our own capitalists.

To remedy the evil bank stock might be taxed on its last year's business, and as such branch and such bank has reliable returns of business, accurate information could be obtained, and thus would have the effect of placing every stockholder on equal terms as to profits and as to loss. A merchant in the town of Peterborough who has $20,000 worth of stock is taxed on that amount. A company of capitalists lending out their hundreds of thousands of dollars, with very few risks as to losses, pays no tax, except as to the few stockholders who are residents of the town. We have no data as to the circulation of the branch banks. It must equal nearly the united stocks of the merchants of the town, and whether they should not be taxed on their business is an important question. All are agreed that the banks should be taxed, but how to do it fairly and equitably is the puzzle to Legislators. We may tax them on the capital, or average capital employed at each branch. It is true that a collecting branch might say, I employ almost no capital; I merely collect. But every $100 collected must represent a fixed capital of some amount, and could be determined by the profits of collection, compared with lending or discounting.

PERSONAL PROPERTY.

This class of property is just as difficult to Legislate on as bank stock. Two merchants, A. and B., do about an equal business, but A. honestly gives his stock at $40,000, while B places his at $4,000. A. knows that B.'s stock is nine or ten times what B. has given it in, but he has no means to have the matter regulated, as B., at the Court of Revision, made the necessary declaration, and bids defiance to A., unless he prosecute him for perjury, what few are willing to do, except in the most glaring cases, and even then how many are permitted to go on, to save trouble and unpleasantness? In this case dishonesty is rewarded, by having nominally no taxes to pay, while the honest man is burdened. How can the Legislature meet this case? This is the question of the day. Some say make real estate the basis of all taxation, as this is the only class of property that can be exactly come at. Others say it is unjust to tax real estate, and not include personal property also. It does appear that there must be some mean where justice can reach the dishonest merchant as well as the honorable one. But how to arrive at the happy mean is what puzzles the Assessors, the Court of Revision and the Legislator.

For instance—The liquor dealer requires only a limited capital to do a large business. He orders his car loads of barrels and it remains in bond till he requires to deliver it to the purchaser; $3,600 to 5,000 worth often remaining in bond at a time. At the end of a year he makes out his balance sheet, and finds his profits more than equal his capital invested, (if his [illegible] account be not estimated,) while the dry goods or other merchant has not saved five per cent. of capital invested. Yet the dry goods man pays four to five times as much taxes in proportion to his business, because Government has not provided that his cottons can remain in bond till required for immediate sale. There may be other branches of trade in this same state, which has escaped legislation of an equitable nature. Would it not, therefore, be reasonable and just to tax the business rather than the personal property? It may appear inquisitorial to pry into a man's business, but it is no worse than prying into the amount of goods on his shelves, or the amount of bank stock, mortgages, notes, &c., he owns.

The proposition to tax the store, or charge a license to every man doing business, has its advocates, and may have a fair share of justice or reasonableness about it, and perhaps deserves consideration. Some change is demanded, and when the change is about to be made, the minds of our best men should be fully given that something equitable may take the place of the present crude system of assessment.

REAL ESTATE.

There is room for improvement also in the Assessment Law on this question. In rural districts property is assessed at one-third to one-fourth its cash value, while the Assessor swears he will value it at what it would realize as property of a solvent debtor. He should omit the oath. In villages a man may have ten, twenty or sixty thousand dollars worth of village lots, of which he is daily selling one, or perhaps only now and then, but he has them in the market. When the Assessors come round he gets the whole thing put down as farming lands, and gets off with paying about one-fifth to one-tenth his share of municipal burdens. But his poor neighbor, bearly able to eke out an existence, but who happens to have a quarter acre and a cabin on it, is assessed at more than it would sell for. Surely this can be remedied by Legislation so that justice be done.

STATUTE LABOUR.

This is so unjust in principle that the wonder is that people have borne with it so long. Why should not Statute Labor be proportionate to property as all other taxes are? Every man might have a fixed number of days to perform, whether a property owner or not; but above those days, let all statute labor be according to property. The total days to be fixed by the Council at the April meeting; and those taxed, have the option of doing the work or paying so much per day, and in all cases calling a fraction of a day a whole day. As this is a good time for discussing those questions our columns are open for that purpose, with a view to eliciting something that may bring forth fruit in good and wholesome legislation, founded on equity, and with a view to throwing the burthen of taxes on those who are able to pay—who own the property, and who reap the reward of all improvements. The poor man has difficulties enough, without being called upon to pay his rich neighbor's taxes and perform his statute labour.

The only place in town for first-class canned Fruit, is at the Rochester Fruit Store.

WHAT SHALL WE DO WITH IT?

The County share of the Surplus will very soon be before the different Councils to decide what [illegible] do with it.

The sum is nearly $30,000, and will be divided according to population. Some of the municipalities will be for spending it on roads and bridges, others may decide to use it for different purposes, but, of course, for the general good.

The Council of $30,000 deserves the careful consideration of the different Township Councils, but it be wasted, or squandered on useless conceptions of the public order or personal interest.

In casting it upon the roads and bridges there will be the advantage of this word, and Civil Service, to the front as superior law, as a county gift to be cut down, such a worthy object, but portions of road adjacent from county get local attention, and are improving on useless conceptions, although no doubt excellent in paths, and where they would be useful o some few rate-payers. But no road or bridge can be of equal service to the whole people of a township, yet this money should be spent in such a way as to be financially of proportionate advantages to every rate-payer whose money it is. If, therefore, it can be set apart to lessen the annual rate of taxation for all time to come, every ratepayer would thus receive his quota of the advantage of a lower rate of taxation.

At 7 per cent, the $30,000 will produce an annual revenue of $2,100. The government school rate for which an equivalent is levied yearly, is $4,200. The interest, therefore, on the $30,000 would meet this government equivalent for all time. And this vote will come directly and in fair proportion into the pocket of every man who pays taxes. Let it be spent on roads and bridges and a large per cent of it will get into the pockets of men who will do as little as possible for their money. A portion of it will be voted to make friends for councillors, and not less than one third of it will be foolishly if not uselessly squandered where no one will be benefitted, or at the least only a few will be.

Every man in the county has children to educate, or ought to have, but whether he has children or not, by the laws of the land he is taxed for the education of the children of the municipality. No matter where he resides or where his property is, he must pay the school tax.

He has not always to tax himself for a bridge, for he may not require one, but he will be taxed for school purposes, let him have children or not. Is it not worth consideration then whether Councils should not set apart this $30,000 for the purpose of lessening the school tax, so that it may be of equal benefit to every man in the township or county. No question of equal importance has come before the people, except the late votes for railway purposes, and in view of this importance, Councils should not hastily dispose of it without the advice of the people. The proportion due to Ashburnham will be $2,394. The interest on this sum would be $167.58 annually, for School purposes. Let it be spent on streets and bridges, and a few men will reap the advantages, while the whole people will receive very little benefit, and some ratepayers will receive no benefit whatever.

The Township of Otonabee will receive $7,984. The interest on this sum would be $559.88 annually, which is $23.32 a year more than the Government grant for the year. By setting the principal apart for the education of the youth of the country, the whole would be, financially and otherwise, benefitted from year to year, while if it be sunk in swamps or hills, or voted away to Commissioners to be spent here and there through the township, five year hence no one know himself a cent better for it. But setting it apart for educational purposes, the people will see to their roads, and be stimulated to exertion to improve them. Improve them at this expense, and the very parties most benefitted by the out lay will fold their arms and do no more till necessity compels them.

These reasons will apply to all the Townships, and if acted upon may prevent the squandering of the money foolishly, or by drawing attention to it, may save it for some better object, although Canadians will fail to find a better object than the education of their sons and daughters on which to expend ther surplus capital. Pass through the County and see where you will find the best roads, the finest bridges of stone, local or public improvements, the best farm houses, the neatest barn-yards, barns and stables, the best orchards, the finest schoolhouses, the best churches, and the most comfort at home and in the neighborhood. We venture to say you will find these abound where the people are or have been favored with a good education. Money spent in advancing the cause of education repays one hundred per cent,

CHURCH DEDICATION.

The dedicatory services in connection with the New Methodist Church on Charlotte Street, took place on Sabbath week. A continuation of the services was held last Sabbath and a tea on Monday last.

The first sermon was preached by the Rev. Dr. Nellis, who selected his text from Matthew 22nd and 34th, and five following verses.

Three sermons were preached each Sabbath and on each occasion the Church was crowded and some had to return home, as they could not gain admission.

THE CHURCH.

The building, which is in the gothic style, was designed by Mr. Belcher, Architect and Civil Engineer of this town, and is one of the cheapest in internal structure and arrangements we have seen anywhere. Everything about it is cheerful. The seats are simply arranged, all alike, neatly upholstered all in one color, and the preacher's desk (for it is not an old fashioned pulpit or box) is graceful and will almost revolutionize the pulpit architecture of this section of country. The gallery for the choir is at the northern end of the building, and is a model gallery for its object, taking into consideration the size and style of the church.

Mr. Wm. Wan, the contractor, has fully met the wishes of the trustees in the finish and quality of the work and receives their approbation.

THE COST OF THE BUILDING.

The contract for the church was about $3,400, we say about as the contractor did not find the lumber and he has merely put an estimate on it. The trustees are also erecting a Sabbath school room 45ft x 26ft, which will cost $1,000, and this with [illegible] Sunday, &c., will raise the whole to about $5,700, which is a nice little sum, but the people do not figure, the valley as they now have a beautiful commodious place to worship in.

THE TEA.

The tea on Monday evening was a great success. The tables were laden with good things, and a very large number of people partook of the dainties so bountifully provided.

After the tea all took their seats in the church and listened to excellent addresses by the Revds. Tim. Reed, Scott of Lakefield; Saltsberry, Presbyterian; Thomas, B. C. and Messrs. Robinson and Peter Pearce.

All the speakers seemed to the benefit of the cause, but to manage to raise funds for the Wesleyan Methodist body, and to the material and financial gain of the Methodist Church.

Mr. Fish addressed the meeting and already large sums are raised, but not all the amount to be raised. [illegible] aging, as that represents an interest toward expenses of $600 a year, or, in other words, represents an interest on $5,000, with $100 towards general expenses. The salaries of the ministers, we believe, being paid out of the quarterly dues. The promoters, therefore, of this church extension have nothing to fear. Suppose they rent sixty pews. This would realize $900 a year, providing a sinking fund of over $300 a year towards liquidating the debt, which would in ten years at interest meet the whole liabilities.

Mr. McLennan in his address referred to the fact that several members of the Peterborough churches could meet the whole cost of beautiful churches for the town and never feel it, and he thought while they were building luxurious mansions for themselves, they should be ashamed to worship God in a building they would be ashamed of for a dwelling. He gave an example of what liberal men do for the cause of morality and christianity. The Bros. Baird, of Glasgow, who gave half a million pounds sterling for the purpose, although they had formerly given munificently for other purposes of local and intellectual progress, remarking that with similar liberality the work of the ministers would be materially lessened.

The Wesleyan Methodists are just now erecting another very fine church in the north end of the town. They have a large subscription list for the purpose, and, we doubt not but that another year will see it almost brought to completion. They have put their hands to the plough and there must be no wavering, nor will there be any. The first Presbyterian church erected a splendid church a few years ago. They have it paid for, or nearly so, all but $1600. This sum they could wipe out in an hour if they so willed it. Indeed we fancy their annual meeting will see to this matter. Yet not one of them feels the poorer for spending their $30,000 to $36,000 on a fine church edifice. It will be so with the Wesleyans. In ten years they will have the debt paid and not be a cent the worse of it, while they have a magnificent building for the worship of the King of kings.

Church improvement will become infectious too, and the Baptists and Bible Christians and the other branches of the Presbyterian body may be stirred up and in due time raise graceful temples for their religious services.

In the mean time the Methodists will take hold with their devoted pastors and in union and good will complete what they have undertaken.

Mr. Fish requires and deserves the earnest co-operation of every member of the church, and thus aided, his zeal and energy will materially assist them until the top stone is completed.

The building of good churches concerns every man of every denomination in town for $1000 as $100,000 spent elevating the morals of all and reforming the lives of the careless and irreligious is well spent compared with the $250,000 spent in alcohol and poisons in this county.

MUNICIPAL ELECTIONS.

The municipal elections are fast approaching. On the 29th instant the nominations will take place in the different municipalities.

There will be a few changes, no doubt, but the excitement is not very great yet.

There will be a contest in Belmont, we learn. Mr. Porter Preston, a councillor, it is said, will oppose Mr. Pearce. Mr. Choate will have no opposition in Dummer. Mr. Moloney, the present Deputy Reeve of Douro, will be elected Reeve by acclamation. Mr. Moher has retired. Messrs. Millar and Blezard will be unopposed in Otonabee.

Mr. Brown, the Deputy Reeve of Asphodel, is about to run for the Reeveship. Mr. Powell, it is said, is retiring, and Mr. Stephenson will be a candidate for the Deputy Reeveship.

We hear of no proposed changes in Smith or Ashburnham.

North Monaghan, it is said, will have a contest, as Mr. Robson will be a candidate for the Reeveship—against Mr. Collins. We have also heard of other candidates, for instance Mr. John Tully and Mr. George Leskie, and Mr. Robert Goodfellow have been spoken of.

In Ennismore Mr. Daniel Costello, will be a candidate it is said.

We have no informatiou from Harvey.

Mr. Hickey will again represent Galway, it is said. Mr. Hickey is a very good Reeve.

Dr. Clegg will oppose Mr. Golborne in Burleigh.

We have no definite information from the other Townships.

THE TOWN.

The rumor of opposition to Mr. Cox has died out, but may revive.

Mr. Smith, one of the best Councillors, says he will not seek re-election, Mr. J. Landy, another of the working and trustworthy Councillors, is indifferent as to his re-election. The other members are all spoken of as candidates for the continuation of civic honors.

The three men in Ward No. 4, are all good men, and are not likely to be opposed. In Ward No. 3, we hear the names of Mr. Davies, Mr. Hamilton, and Mr. Beal, in addition to the old men. These are all good men, but as only three can be elected, [illegible] The best men will be chosen. In this case, they will go by their feelings, a thing

In Ward No. 2, in addition to the old members, we hear the names of Mr. McLelland, and Mr. Stevenson spoken of, we having nothing against the old ones, yet we would like [illegible] McLelland in the Council, and although Mr. Stevenson is not one here [illegible] to perform, we would like to see him in the Council that he might have a trial [illegible] We have no definite information regarding the fourth Ward. It is said that Mr. Smith intends retiring. This would be regretted by all as he is one of the most active members. The nominations will afford more definite information.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN.—Yesterday when the case displayed by Messrs. G. & W. Sharp in removing bodies from one of their parties on York Street, got to the bottom of one of the piles they found no less than three corpses. One contained a G. W. [illegible] Another a [illegible] and a second key; [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM MR. HIME'S REPORT OF CONS. CHIEF.

The old Railway line was 11 feet 1 inch above low water mark.

In 1870, the highest water record, it was to within 2½ feet of the rail level. The extreme fluctuations of the Lake is therefore 7 feet 7 inches.

The Breadth of the Lake at the Railway bank is 15,320 feet or 2 miles 2 furlongs and 15 perches.

From the south shore to Tie Island (including the island is 4,320 feet. This part is completed. On the north side, there is solid filling in to low water mark, for 2200 feet nearly.

The interpendiate space (6,700 ft.) is of a tolerably uniform depth of 10 feet to the mud. The original bottom is 12 to 14 feet deeper,—i. e. there is 12 to 14 feet of mud for about 3000 feet from Tie Island. After that the mud is about 4 feet deep all the way.

Mr. Hawley reports that by our over-sight the diagonal survey, a plan not far distant was not looked for, where the water and mud are eight feet to nine feet less than where the road is built.

There were 36 of the old piers north of Tie Island 26 x 12 feet available for re-constructing the road, etc of the piers towards the Lake are 43 x 25 ft

The pier work is more costly than the solid embankment 7 feet per foot.

He recommended the greatest bridge pier 27 by 24 feet; the least 20½ feet.

He says it may be safely inferred that all the old piers have settled through the mud to the solid bottom.

The embankment proposed he fixes at 15 feet at the top.

He estimated 50,000 yards of earth work necessary, to the south embankment, 20,000 yards proposing to construct the south side embankment to this latter standard.

The depth of the new filling from Tie Island northward for a portion of the way will require to be 20 feet, and the N. E. section of the way 30 feet. The road to be

For work	$12,796
Timber and Road Bridges	17,800
Embankment 404,000 cd.	121,000
Total	$152,176.

This embodies all the cost of construction except slight repairs for a year or two until the embankment becomes solid.

Illuminated Clock.

Mr. J. St. Germond has gone to considerable expense in placing a dial plate attached to a clock over the door of his store This will be of great value to those passing up or down the street about their business and will save time going to regulate time pieces. Mr. Lundy gave notice of a motion, to Council to place gas jet beside it so that it may also be seen in the evenings. The Council will be justified in doing so and it will prove a great convenience to almost all the citizens. If this clock and the bell should be made telegraph it would be better still. At present there are three times in Town, all claiming to be correct. It may be that they are and that old Sol is not as reliable as formerly. Be this as it may, Mr. G remedy's clock is to assume the duties of a town clock and the town bell and town clock should be harmonious.

Port Hope.

The papers of our sister Town are not satisfied with giving items of news transpiring here, but must use their greatest efforts to injure our local interests and interfere in matters that concern ourselves only. We pay very little attention to their opinions and care nothing for their selfish strictures. It has not been our province to meddle with Port Hope affairs. To her inhabitants we wish all prosperity. But the listlessness of zeal that hopes to flourish at the expense of Peterboro merits the lament. Our neighbor, the Review in lond of Port Hope enterprise, [illegible] Peterboro. What does he hope to effect by assisting to [illegible] advance at our expense? Are there tangible considerations for this otherwise inexplicable conduct. If Port Hope and Port Hope Railway managers and their sleepers will attend to their own business they will discover enough to occupy their time.

A Picture—the Toronto Candidates.

"All the well-known druggists of the city are acting as canvassers for Bickford. If they cannot argue you into supporting their candidate you are almost certain to be pounded into it. Can decent men associate with the surroundings of society and go hand-in-hand to the polls, to be united by a whiskey handed corruptionist."—Irish Canadian.

Another Candidate.

The electors of Peel will soon be called upon to elect a member in the stead of Mr. Coyne, lately deceased. There are two parties already in nomination, Mr Kenneth Chisholm, the Reform candidate, and Mr. Solomon White, the bearer of the flag of corruption.

We would like to tell our Irish Catholic friends—Mr. White is, and is not. He pretends to be a Roman Catholic but he is like those Italian Catholics in Rome, who go in persecuting the Pope. He is an [illegible] Catholic, who does not go to Church except Sunday, the 7th inst., when he was seen in Church the first time in two years.—Irish Canadian.

A New Enterprise.

Montreal merchants have the idea of starting a new Atlantic Steamship Company—a Dominion Company. It is not yet known what part in the United Kingdom will be the terminus, but it is expected some port of Ireland will be selected, as the shortest sea voyage is desirable.

FOUNDATIONS.

The different rumours about above Brenton or Fox, now gaining the carrying out of the contract [illegible] are incomprehensible. [illegible] will accept that a petition was got up to have him reprieved. This is not true. There never was a petition to have him reprieved or for any purpose concerning him. Those who say there was should have seen it before nothing struck them about [illegible]

We can also state on the best of authority that the Governor has not been asked to reprieve him. His counsel, who defended him without money or without price, or the price of either, was so convinced of his insanity that he memorialized the Governor for further medical investigation and this was granted. And the reprieve to the 26th instant is merely to allow time for the doctors who were sent here to make their report—nothing more. Brenton, therefore, may yet be executed, for aught any one here can tell.

A letter in the Review accuses a clique of getting this reprieve. Who the clique can be we cannot divine. We have respect enough for the character of Mr. Bentley, to believe him above being a party to defeat the ends of justice, or to prevent a murderer suffering the penalty of such a heinous crime. But he was persuaded that Brenton was and is insane, and hence, he thought the fullest investigation should be granted for him. This has wisely been granted and "B. A." cannot yet tell what may come out of it. It is more than likely that the execution will take place on the 26th, after which those who desire to see it carried into effect, will perhaps be satisfied.

Another Murder is that as this is the first execution in this County, and as Brenton is a Protestant; all this is being done to prevent the first execution being that of a protestant. Such bosh! Brenton is the son of Catholic parents, it is said, and at present appears indifferent to any form of religion. In fact no one can tell what his religious sympathies are, although at one time we learn he was connected with the Methodist Church

His wants to be hanged. On the 11th he desired the execution to be carried out, and said he was ready. On the 12th he demanded his own clothes, and said they could detain him no longer, and that either they must let him out of jail, or hang him. He refused company to stop to read or talk to him; expressed no regret for the crime, and certainly, if sane, is a most hardened villain. The probabilities are that the execution will take place on the 26th instant. What a pity that men are so indifferent to justice, that even the sanity or insanity of a fellow being at the foot of the gallows, cannot be investigated without bitterness and party rancour, and recriminations and hard names.

NOTED FOR

CHEAP GOODS!

Said Mrs. A. to Mrs. B.
As they sat chatting at the table,
"Where did you find such fragrant tea,
So strong, so sweet, so palatable?"
"Oh! Mrs. A," said Mrs. B.
"I know just where to buy my tea!
Now there is tea, well flavored, named,
Then cost me fifty cents a pound
At Lasher's;" then she sipped a sup
And praised it more, and then by turns,
She ran it down and praised it up,
Emptied and filled her china urn.

"At Lasher's," she resumed, "they sell
The cheapest goods in all the town,
I bought a dress for Isabel
At twenty cents a yard—sold Brown
Across the street asked twenty-three
But didn't get it—not from me.
And hats that Jones has sold for two,
(Jones is the fellow on the corner.)
They sell for one—now, there is Loo,
She wants a hat, I'll go and warn her
To keep away from Mr. Jones,
Or he will surely pick her bones."

"Those mantles and their search and bows,
And boks and collars are so pretty,
To look at them is balm for woes,
And inspiration for a ditty."

Said Mrs. A. with eyes dilating,
And new light dawning on her senses,
"If this be so that you're relating,
How can they meet their large expenses?"

Then Mrs. B. with candry jerks
And nods, said "Large expenses! No,
They work themselves and keep few clerks
And then their daily profits grow.
It makes a difference great indeed
To save clerks' wages and their stealing."

When Mrs. A. had sipped her tea,
And donned her hat and fixed her collar,
Just at the door said Mrs. B,
"Now think, they'll give you for a DOLLAR

11 lbs. Sugar,

REFINED, OR

12 lbs. Raisins,

FRESH VALENCIA, OR

12lbs. Currants

NEW AND CLEAN, OR

16 Bars Soap,

WORTH 10 C. A BAR."

Then Mrs. B. kissed Mr. A.
And home the latter took her way.

VINEGAR BITTERS

A Purely Vegetable Preparation made chiefly from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants.

They are the great Blood Purifier and a Life Giving Principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially the Mississippi, Missouri, Ohio, Tennessee, Cumberland, Kanawha, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offspring of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Painters, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no Vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

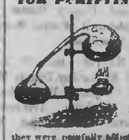
Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.



The reputation that an article enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Inveterate cases of Scrofulous disease, where the system, wrecked, saturated with corruption, have been considered cured by it. Scrofulous affections and diseases, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were positively loathsome, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of the virtues of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this poison exists unsuspected in the system, undermining the constitution, and invites the attacks of appalling or fatal disease, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed, infectious throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops itself in one or other of the hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or foul ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional need of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla to advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints, generally find immediate relief, and, in lengthened cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: Tic Di. Dolloureux, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous Disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various diseases attendant on the nervous and nervous systems.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Ulcerations, and Female Diseases, are commonly soon relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism and Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it. So also Liver Complaint, Torpidity, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Jaundice, when arising, as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor it imparts to the system. Those who are Languid and Listless, Despondent, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the symptoms or weakness, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required, everybody is a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands of certificates of its remarkable cures of the following complaints, but space here will not allow us to publish them. Let the Pills speak for themselves. They are known to all and the agent nearest you is supplied with our American Almanac, containing certificates of their cures of your neighbors and friends, and direction for their use in the following complaints: Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Biliousness, Jaundice, Dysentery or Bilious Colic, Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Erysipelas, Scrofula or King's Evil, Ulcers, Tumors, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scurvy, Ringworm, Piles, Blotches, Boils, Pimples, Blotches on the Skin, Worms of all kinds, Canker, Female Complaints, and for Purifying the Blood, which when disordered causes more or less derangement in the health, and when foul, is the parent of many diseases. They may be taken with safety by anybody. They are the safest physic that can be used in any quantity, and no family will be without them when they know their virtues. They are sugar coated, so that they are pleasant to take, and are the best Purgative Medicine yet known for regulating the organs of digestion, stimulating the liver, curing Headache arising from a foul stomach, and for the relief and cure of all the derangements of the internal viscera. They are the cheapest pill in the market, as they are the most effectual in their operation, and the best for the purposes of a family physic that can be had anywhere.

THE REASONS WHY

LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's

CELEBRATED

Perfected Spectacles,

AND EYE GLASSES,

have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:

1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.

2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.

3rd. Because no glimmering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and scientific rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.

4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.

5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.

6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.

Innumerable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

Select Poetry.

Don't Be In a Hurry to Go.

Come, boys, I have something to tell you;
Come here, I would whisper it low;
You're thinking of leaving the homestead,
Don't be in a hurry to go.
The city has many attractions,
But think of the vices and woes;
Best when once in the vortex of fashion,
How soon the course downward begins

You talk of the mines of Australia;
They're wealthy in treasures, no doubt,
But, ah! there's gold in the farm, boys,
If only you'll shovel it out.
The mercantile life is a hazard,
The goods are first high and then low;
Better risk the old farm's while upper—
Don't be in a hurry to go.

The great busy West has its exposure,
And so has the business mart;
And wealth is not made in a day, boys—
Don't be in a hurry to start.
The banker and broker are wealthy,
And take in their thousand or so,
Ah! think of their frauds and deceptions—
Don't be in a hurry to go.

The farm is the safest and surest;
The orchards are loaded to-day;
You are free as the air of the mountain,
And monarch of all you survey.
But stay on the farm a while longer,
Though profits come in rather slow,
Remember you're nothing to risk boys,
Don't be in a hurry to go.

Large Eaters.

A FEW FACTS FOR THE ATTENTION OF DISPEPTICS.

There are almost always wantings in mental activity and physical endurance. I used to know a man who tried hard to be a Christian, but failed because he ate too much at dinner. By the way this man was really a great curiosity. He superintended a small wood-turning establishment, sitting in the office constantly, except when he was eating, which was four times a day. And when he consulted me about his 'poor stomach,' and I told him flat that 'he was a pig, a victim of stuffing,' he said 'Why, doctor, you are altogether mistaken. I am faint half the time, and eat an extra meal to keep up my strength and relieve my faintness.' I went at him with fact and physiology. At length he was convinced, and promised most solemnly to follow my prescription. It was this: 'Eat but two meals a day. For breakfast a piece of boiled beef, half as large as your hand, a slice of bread, a baked potatoe, with cold water for drink. The breakfast should be taken at seven o'clock. For dinner use boiled or steamed beef or mutton, as large as your hand, with bread and potatoes and other vegetables at your pleasure; no desert; eat the dinner about one o'clock. Take no supper and go to bed early.'

In fifteen days his faintness had disappeared, and he was rapidly recovering. To-day he is a healthy, active, man, and a warm advocate of two meals a day, and moderate ones. Temperate people, with good digestion, never feel their stomachs—forget they have stomachs; while these enormous eaters are always hungry or faint, or bloated, or troublek with eructations, or acidity, or diarrhœa, or some other condition showing a morbid state of the digestive apparatus.

All the very strong men and all the active men with whom I have been acquainted have been moderate eaters. The physiology of these remarkable facts is simply this: It takes a large amount of nerve force to digest food. With these prodigious eaters all the nerve force goes to the stomach, and so nothing is left for brain or muscles.

Persons having a good stomach to begin with, can by long practice, learn to digest an enormous quantity of food. If they they give their whole force and vitality to the business of grinding grist, they can in a course of even a short life, grind through immense quantities. But as a steady and regular and only occupation, it is hardly consonant with the loftiest ambition, and so I advise the other policy pursued by such as have noble aims in life. That other policy is to find out just how much food is needed to run the machine, exactly what fuel is best to keep the steam at the best working point, and then never pass beyond these bounds.

I was astonished at the results of an experiment upon my own person. For years I had eaten three hearty meals a day. At length, upon a careful consideration of the physiology of digestion, I found I was probably using too much of my force in that function. I reduced to two meals a day, and to about one-half altogether of the quantity of food I had been using. I can't tell you what freedom in mental and bodily activity I experienced.

I know scores of men with large heads and vigorous bodies who consume so much of their nerve force in digestion, that they have nothing left with which to achieve those triumphs which, otherwise, would be too easy for them

Curing and Preserving Meat.

Mr. R. Gould read a paper before the Princeton, N. J., Farmers' Club, of which the following is an abstract. He begins by explaining our suffering the superiority of well-matured meat over that of younger animals, and the necessity of cooling off the animal heat promptly and completely, before any other steps are taken. He then explains the use of salt in the preservation of the meat, drawing an analogy between its action and that of heat in the process of cooking, and showing that as little salt should be used as is consistent with the preservation of the meat, and that in the curing of the dried meats brine should be altogether excluded. He then continues:—

What are known in commerce as "sugar cured hams," and packed in bulk with pounded salt and sweet cloves, or from these to them, or, sometimes more delicate; the time they remain in bulk is also governed by circumstances. They are at length packed in hogsheads, filled with what is called a sweet pickle—composed of salt, saltpetre, and molasses. Many of these are shipped from the West in this condition, smoked here, and sold for Jersey hams. The consequence is, there is little uniformity in their quality. Some of them are very good, others over-salted, hard and tasteless.

The celebrated Darlington hams, of the olden time (Newbold, I think, was the name), were cured in this wise:—

To twelve hams, 6 lbs. sugar, 1½ lbs. saltpetre, 5 lbs. fine salt; rub the hams with this mixture, let them be one week in a cask, with the shins downward; then make a pickle of the strongest coarse salt, of sufficient strength to bear an egg; add two or three quarts of hickory lye, refined by boiling; when cold, cover them.

The receipt of Abraham Hent, of Trenton, was—For three dozen hams, 3 lbs. saltpetre, ½ bush. fine salt, and 1½ galls. molasses, mix them well together and rub the hams well; let lie twelve or fourteen days; then make a pickle that will bear an egg and cover the hams with it. After lying three or four weeks in pickle, rub them with bran, and hang them up to smoke.

The receipt I have adopted for my own use is as follows:—For 12 hams, 1 lb. saltpetre, 12 lbs. fine salt, ½ gal. molasses. These ingredients, when well mixed, will have about the consistency and appearance of damp, brown sugar. Rub them thoroughly with this mixture, and lay them singly on a dry platform. At the end of one week rub them again; at the end of the second week, again rub them, and hang them up to smoke; let them dry thoroughly, but do not smoke them more than ten days.

It will be perceived that all the foregoing receipts embody the same principles, and differ only in the mode of compounding the ingredients, and their application; and I am frequently amused to see some newly-fledged agricultural journal publishing a new receipt for curing bacon hams, when, in principle, if not in words, it is precisely the same that was used more than half a century ago.

In regard to smoking meat it has been practiced in this country since time immemorial, but I do not deem it essential to its preservation. Many persons like a slight flavor of smoke, others do not. Meats cured for the English market are never smoked; and I have known persons to kiln-dry their meat, as they would cure tobacco. It is necessary, however, to have it thoroughly dried. I would not be understood as entirely discarding brine. In some cases it is not only invaluable but indispensable. The sides, or what is known as mess pork, being nearly all fat, possesses neither fibrine, nor albumen; and, consequently cannot be injured either by salt or water, and can be kept sound and sweet an indefinite length of time, by simply keeping it covered with pure brine, or, as the gentleman from Wheatland suggested, at our last meeting, by keeping it covered with salt and taking it to the pump now and them, and filling the cask with cold water. I would here, however, drop a caution. All brine requires to be assiduously watched, and kept pure. It extracts the juices of the meat; they being lighter than the water saturated with salt, rise to the top, become exposed to the air, and soon decompose, thereby contaminating the whole contents of the cask. The following receipt for making brine, I think, is the best that has fallen within my observation:—

Six lbs. salt, 1 pint molasses, 6 ozs. saltpetre; dissolve them by boiling in 4 gallons of water. In the pickle, when perfectly cold, keep any sort of fresh meat sunk and closely stopped. This pickle may be kept pure, and its strength undiminished for almost any length of time, by occasionally re-boiling it, and skimming off the impurities; but, as old brine is an excellent fertilize and salt is not expensive, I would recommend that the old brine be thrown on the asparagus bed or compost heap, and freshly made brine be substituted.

Wintering Lambs.

The following seasonable article was written by an experienced sheep breeder and will be found profitable for its suggestions just now. It appeared about a year ago in the Ohio Farmer:

It is a custom with quite a large a large majority of sheep farmers to delay graining their lambs until the approach of spring, when they are sometimes far gone in poverty. Is this wise? Would it have been thus if they had been grain-fed at the beginning and through the early part of the winter? Is it not better to begin as soon as this, in order to furnish them with the necessary stamina to withstand the severity of northern winters, which is always greatest in the months of January and February? Put them early in a condition to pass through those terrible months, and subsequently all will be well.

The grass at the beginning of November loses much of nutrition from repeated freezing; therefore at this period the lambs should be assembled and classed relative to size and condition, divided into flocks, about one hundred each, and feeding them with grain should forthwith commence. As it is sometimes impracticable to call them into the sheep fold without considerable trouble, the feeding troughs should be removed to the field in which they are confined; then the flock master may begin feeding them about four quarts of oats daily, which he should be careful to distribute the full length of the trough. They will be very shy for a day or two, but the example of approaching them by the same sheep which were placed among them at weaning time will be the means of overcoming it. After the lapse of a week, the quantity of grain may be gradually increased to half a bushel, which should be the minimum quantity for the residue of the season. When the major portion have partaken of the oats, the trough may be removed back to the sheep yards, and the time that the feeding should be absent considered, after which they can return to shelter, should the weather require it. At this time a little hay should also be given early in the morning, which gives the animal a stronger appetite for the grain. Should a change visibly of fodder

About the middle of December, or before, let the feed be somewhat changed, by mixing with the oats a portion of pea meal or wheat shorts; at all events let it be meal of some kind which they may fancy, for in order to induce them to eat potatoes it will be necessary to cut them into delicate pieces and sprinkle the meal well over them. If sheep are wholly unaccustomed to potatoes, their aversion to them will not be overcome without the adoption of this course. Beets and ruta bagas may be substituted for the potatoes; but the reader has been informed that they are better adapted to the purpose of the sheep fattener. If it is our wish to grow wool and not fat mutton, it will be wisest in us to use those means which will afford the largest returns. Half a bushel of potatoes given at intervals of twice a week will be the right quantity, which it will be well to continue to sprinkle with meal, as well as with a small quantity of salt. On other days the pea meal and oats may be fed.

The hay given them should be of fine stalk and of the choicest quality; but in its place may be substituted once or twice a week for a single fodder ing, oat or barley straw. If the lambs are thus provided through the winter and have the benefits of warm shelters, their size at shearing time will equal the majority of two-year-olds whose treatment has been only ordinary.

Fashion and Utility in Short-horn Breeding.

Hap-hazard breeding of stock is a common and a crying evil. The greatest care and skill are needed in order to progress and improvement. Especially is this true in the breeding of Short-horn. It is a mistake to suppose that buying two or three odds and ends, now and then, will suffice to lay the foundation of a good herd. Next to hap-hazard breeding, mere fashion and fancy are to be dreaded. At the present time, perhaps, a check is needed in this latter direction. In this view the following article from Bell's Messenger is opportune. It embodies a large amount of practical wisdom, and cannot fail to supply food for thought to young and inexperienced stock-men.

Short-horn breeding, delightful as a pursuit of fancy, has an aspect graver than that of a mere fashionable amusement; and its importance as a subject of national interest is gradually gaining recognition. The pastime of the rich, it may be made, in their hands, the means of either increasing or diminishing, to an extent which perhaps fanciers little calculate, the home-grown food supply of the country. Given, on the one hand, the present and next three or four generations of short-horns, judiciously bred with a view to the plentiful production of milk and beef at small cost, and on the other hand, the same generations of short-horns bred without regard to flesh-growing or milking properties, constitution or fertility, and what would be the difference to the next coming human generation? The inevitable surmise is suggestive of weighty responsibility on the part of short-horn breeders. It is not, however, a burden which the wealthy fanciers bear alone. The more plainly practical man is as much liable to error from cramped adherence to custom, as the amateur from bondage to fashion. To each there is a choice of two courses, the right and the wrong, the one leading to improvement, the other deterioration. Let breeders first determine what they want to breed, or rather (if they are actuated by worthy motives) what the country wants, and then consider how they may best go to work. This pickle may be kept pure, and its strength undiminished for almost any length of time, by occasionally re-boiling it, and skimming off the impurities; but, as old brine is an excellent fertilize and salt is not expensive, I would recommend that the old brine be thrown on the asparagus bed or compost heap, and freshly made brine be substituted.

The desideratum has been already attained—food grown at the cheapest possible rate. The animals to promote this end must be, first, constitutionally sound; secondly, prolific; thirdly, apt to produce the kind or kinds of food required. All these three conditions relate to properties which are hereditary and capable of cultivation, and their existence in every animal is more desirable. An ancestor lacking any one of them blots the pedigree no less than a mongrel alliance; for chary breeding tainted health, and poverty of flesh are evils as sure to crop out again as the black horns and blue nose of the alien sire. To maintain the foregoing conditions of success we must select the animals possessing them in the highest degree, and unsparingly weed out all misfits. The different systems of short-horn breeding, and of the extension of the short-horn race and influence, may be classed under two general heads, (admitting of subdivision), thus: No. 1. By the multiplication of members of the tribes and families already established as thorough-bred: No. 11. By the consecutive use of thorough-bred sires upon ordinary stock; the latter a process to which we are indebted for new tribes and families, sometimes capable of taking distinguished rank by their merit. But the older the blood, the safer, provided it comes through lines of unbroken excellence. The system No. 1 may be subdivided into three modes:

1. Breeding from the so-called 'pure' tribes, in-and-in as the rule.

2. Breeding from miscellaneous and heterogeneous sorts, discriminately or indiscriminately mixed.

3 Breeding from carefully-bred distinct strains, watching occasion, and, as a rule of practice, introducing fresh blood when necessary.

Under selection 1, we include breeding for paper pedigrees. In a tribe originally of robust and healthy constitution, the evils of this system are of course less early and less decidedly apparent than in the case of stock derived from delicate or unsound parents; but we maintain that this method, nevertheless, is in all cases eventually destructive of the tribes subjected to it, by exhaustion of constitutional vigor and reproductive power. If, therefore, you want to keep a race running to enhance its fancy value, in-breed excessively, by all means; but think in and this way to manufacture [illegible] animals.

Selection 2.—This system newly applied to a master judgment to work it successfully. Stubbornness of personal character, and obstinacy to finally type, may render most blood valueless. It is necessary, if the breeder has time to examine carefully the ancestry of his stock, and sagacity to perceive results. Commonly this sort of breeding ends in much disappointment. Some antagonistic elements meet in a hastily assorted alliance, and degeneracy follows. Thus it is that people who buy good things up and down the country, a bull here and a cow there, without regard to sort and idiosyncrasy, often wonder why the offspring are so inferior to the parents, and their home-bred herd to their purchased animals.

In selection 3, we have a summary of the plan which seems, to many men of able judgment, the true policy of our bull-breeders. The concentration of power by inbreeding is allowed to be greatly favorable to heredity constancy of type, and to the improvements of the animal so bred; and the occasional introduction of fresh material recruits the failing vigor of an in-bred tribe, while, if of the right sort, and infused in small fractional quantities, it neither destroys nor impairs the tendency of the type to reproduce itself.

The No. 11. system of extension of the short-horn breed is divisible into two processes, generally, each having room for some variety of practice. Upon common stock, good, bad or indifferent, of short-horn, or of some other breed, highly-bred short horn sires may be used through consecutive generations, according two one or other of these principles:—first to breed up to one distinct tribe, by the choice of bulls always of that tribe; secondly, to use thoroughbred bulls selected without regard to their predecessors' blood, and sometimes, unhappily, irrespective of type or fitness. By either of these processes a great improvement may be effected, but the latter is hap-hazard, while the former is usually the more rapid as well as the safer course. It is in this system of improvement that the concentration of power by in-breeding tells most favorably. Take a fair specimen of the common, short-horn dairy cow, and use to her and her decendants in uninterrupted succession, 4 or 5 bulls of potent tribe, and the assimilation of the new family to the old tribe in character is wonderfully close. Thus we have reason to thank those breeders who maintain "pure" sorts; but each should aim to perpetuate a good type, in healthy, vigorous and representative, rather than to keep strictly "pure," by the sacrifice of stamina and and real worth, the descendants of a race once excellent, and strong, and bountifully reproductive.

Boot-Blacks.

Englishmen visiting this country are apt to forget that servant-girls refuse to perform several services involving upon them in the old country. Cleaning boots is one of these. In England the master of a house where even only one servant is kept sends his boots to the kitchen every morning to be cleaned, and if he comes to the United States he naturally supposes the same office will be done for him by the same hand. When the Rev. Newman Hall was in Oberlin, the guest of President Fairchild, on the morning after his arrival sent his boots below for an obvious purpose. They were not returned to him when the bell called him to the breakfast room, and he appeared in his toilet slippers. President Fairchild noticed this, and he also noticed a pair of strange boots in a strange place. He would probably have as soon thought of asking the kitchen-maid to verify a quotation for him as to black his visitor's boots, and so he blacked them himself. The Oberlin Times in narrating the anecdote, divertingly adds:—"This is only another circumstance confirming the truth that no man, whether his station be high or low, ever comes to Oberlin but that in departing he carries with him, in some form or other, more or less of the native polish of the place."—Farm Journal.

A Legend of Killarney.

One of the legends of this beautiful lake, situated in the heart of Ireland, is that once every seven years, on a fine morning, before the rays of the sun have begun to disperse the mists from the bosom of the lake, the O'Donahue comes riding over the mists on a beautiful snow-white horse, intent upon household affairs, fairies hovering before him, and strewing his path with flowers. As he approaches his ancient residence, everything turns to its former magnificence—his castle, his library, his prison, his pigeon house, are reproduced as in the olden time. Those who have courage to follow him over the lake, may cross the deepest part dry-footed, and ride with him into the opposite

PETERBORO', DEC. 25, 1873.

TO OUR READERS.

Again the merry festive season with all the hallowed and time honored associations are bringing to our remembrance the changes that have taken place during the year. Perhaps not a few of those to whom we last year expressed our friendly greetings have passed away, not forgotten, nor yet without leaving their impression on the world behind them. To those who remain, we would again extend our usual greeting of a Merry Christmas and all the happiness of the seasons.

In the discharge of our relative duties we will require all the good wishes and co-operation of our friends, as well as the forbearance of those who may look more coldly on our plans or purposes. These seasons are calculated to stir up the finer feelings of our human nature, and to remove the coldness and indifference that time and distance, too often, bring about. A friend needs friend, and the social meeting removes estrangements, so let the happy season have its effect until the peace once sung by the angels, shall extend to every people, nation and clime. In this spirit we wish our patrons a "Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year."

The cause of such a disaster to the party need not be repeated. Let us hope that the men now at the helm may never dash their ships on the same breakers, or be foundered on the shoals of corruption, which their predecessors were so foolish as to drift on, in the fog created by their own malad ministration. Reform must not be a mere name but a reality in every department of State.

The Spanish People

Are determined to overthrow slavery in Cuba. So much for an enlightened Government, and a sincere attemp to rid themselves of the effete systems of the past. Universal liberty should be the watchword of this century.

Very Important.

Religious changes are taking place in Austria and Italy. Monasteries and nunneries are not receiving much favor, and Clerical Legislation is now gaining strength or advocates. Whether the world is getting better or worse we will leave the philosophers of the age to determine. But this we do know: strange things are coming to pass. How many of us would wish to live a century to witness the developments of the present upturnings of matters of Church and State in those old feudal oligarchies and despotisms of Central and Southern Europe. But to rest in peace and enjoy the repose of the blessed would be better.

The Sentinel.

For execution of Brenton can be seen above the eastern wall of the jail. It was commenced on Tuesday. Yesterday evening when its erection was completed Brenton was allowed to see it. The sight only produced a smile, and a remark that it would hold two or three pounds of tea and a few things. He was then shown the "drop," or trap, and its mode of operation, at which he again smiled and remarked that there was no steps in it. Not the least change was visible on his countenance or demeanor during the time. He rather appeared pleased.

Committees.

Mr. Walter Paterson will again be a candidate for councillor at the approaching election. Mr. Patterson has served the town faithfully during the last two years; as Mr. J. J. Leahy has refused to be a candidate, Mr. Patterson, an old and efficient member we trust will be re-elected. Mr. Patterson, represents a large property interest and will be a safe man in the Council.

The Fair Day.

There were a great many people in town on Tuesday, but they were in more to see each other than for business, yet considerable purchases were made. The market was large and prices much the same, except in the case of geese, turkeys &c., which were in large demand, at advanced prices on late days.

No Promotion.

There was a rumour of a murder in South Monaghan on Saturday, but after enquiry could find no foundation for it.

Lindsay.

The unfortunate man, Nesbit, was hanged at Lindsay on Monday morning. He remained firm to the last; protested his innocence on the scaffold, declaring the woman shot herself. There is little reason to doubt that he was under the influence of liquor when he committed the dreadful deed, perhaps partially delirious. This, we admit, is no ezcuse, but may account for the hallucination that she shot herself. He did not appear to have any feelings of remorse; was under no religious impressions, and refused to see his friends, it is said, to almost the last. This melancholy case was the result of whiskey, and a consequent disregard of the moral law as is always the case with men given to drink. How long will men, shall we say Christians, permit this scourge of satan to trample their fellows in the mud, or drive them to the gallows; and echo answers from each hill side, and over every valley? "How long?"

Otonabee.

Mr. Dawson Kennedy we learn will be a candidate for Councillor in this township the ensuing year. Mr. Kennedy is an intelligent, enterprising farmer, and would make an excellent Councillor. He is the only probable candidate from the western extremity of the township and ought to be elected As we go to press we hear that the extreme east of the township have determined to bring out Mr. Blizard against Mr. Millar, the present Reeve. We regret this, as both are good and tried men, who have worked together harmoniously as Reeve and Deputy Reeve, and should not now enter into contest. Mr. Blizard is a young man, with many days before him and we hoped to see him Reeve and perhaps Warden after another year. It is for the interest of both to remain as they were for 1874.

CONFIRMED.

On Monday last we were requested to accompany the Rev. Mr. Fish to see the man Brenton who is to be hanged to-morrow. We gladly availed ourselves of the opportunity, as we had been informed that the Rev. gentleman had gained his favour, and could get him to converse freely, and rationally, and also had been able to move him to consider the sad reality awaiting him. Mr. Fish, Mr. Morrow, Mr. Leslie, and a stranger went into the cell, the writer and the present writer for the Review placed themselves at the door so as not to be seen—but where, what was said inside, could be heard. For more than an hour did Mr. Fish talk to him of his relations, early life, religion, the murder, and things connected therewith, but not one reasonable, rational, or satisfactory answer or word did he get in reply. On the contrary, every word, every answer, every act of the unfortunate man established more and more firmly our convictions that Brenton is insane, and was insane when he committed the dreadful deed for which he is to be hanged. When informed previously of the opinions of Mr. Fish and Mr. Gough, we had our doubts as to the channels through which those opinions were given to the world, and our opinions require no change. The facts elicited on Monday are identically as elicited by ourselves previously. The conversation was of the same character, and the answers were almost identical with ones previously given to us. He believes he was ordered by God and the Governor-General to commit the murder, and cannot be convinced that he did wrong—laughs at the idea.

We have had a conversation with a gentleman present during a visit of Mr. Gough to his cell, and this gentleman assures us that Mr. Gough's visit and its results was similar to that of Mr. Fish's and satisfied him that there are no grounds for the rumor that Mr. Gough had made any religious impression whatever on him. These things show plainly the flimsy reasons given for certain opinions, that are scattered abroad, with intent to deceive and to establish the reputation of some medical gentlemen

The conversation of Monday we withhold till after the execution, in order that every event connected with this unpleasant affair may be fairly understood.

If convinced to-morrow morning that we have been in error, we will not be slow to acknowledge it. But if convinced that medical experts have, for selfish or professional purposes, dared the injustice of him reporting sane while he was not, no mawkish sensibility will prevent us dealing out justice to them, although it might lacerate the feelings of their friends.

Mr. English gave notice of a motion to remit the fines for breaches of the building by-law.

THE CALM.

During the last week there is a calm in the politics of Canada. Ministers have all been elected, and after visiting Ottawa and attending to their offices have found disorder and work behind hand everywhere. All the time till the opening of Parliament, will be required to put things in a shape, and to this end, the new Ministers are urging the completion of all work in arrears.

John A. McDonald is scarcely ever heard of now, and so anxious are his old followers to bury him forever that they have been attempting a new Party, to be known as Canada First. This new party has not found much favor as yet, nor is it likely to meet much public favor. The object is a blind to re-organize the old Tory party, but this is impossible under the dark cloud in which their sun has set. The Ontario House will meet on 7th of Jany. and it is said that the Commons will meet in February sometime. The changes in Ontario will be such as virtually to remove one party altogather. Rykert and Lander will be alone in their glory, except a few who do not come boldly to the front on any question, so effectually has the leadership of John A. Macdonald destroyed the party that trusted in him and on whom they doted, because of place and influence.

RAILWAYS.

There was a Special Meeting of a Committee on Tuesday evening in the Council Chamber to consider the propriety of submitting another By-law to grant the $40,000 to the Cobourg Railway. We did not hear of it till after it was over, and consequently have to rest satisfied with publishing the resolutions passed at it.

Moved by Mr. Dixon, seconded by Dr. Burritt—That Messrs Scott, Dumble, Romaine, Stapleton, Edmison, Stevenson William Hall, John Bertram, ex-Sheriff Hall, William Hamilton, John Whyte, George Hilliard, J. Stratton and J. F. Denniston be added to the Committee.

Moved by Mr. R. Romaine, seconded by Mr. Wm Toole,—That Mr. Scott be requested to prepare a By-law in the terms of the original By-law (providing for the completion of the Bridge over Rice Lake to admit of the passage of a regular train thereover from Cobourg to Mud Lake, and extend the time for the completion of the Railway to Mud Lake, by 1st of March, 1875: to Bobcaygeon by the 1st of January, 1876, and to Fenelon Falls by the 1st of January, 1877. The work on the extension from Mud Lake to Bobcaygeon to be bona fide commenced and continuously prosecuted on or before the 1st of July, 1875, and that the new By-law be prepared to have the effect of reviving the old By-law, but subject to the above stipulations.

The motion was put and carried, and the meeting broke up.

SCHOOL SECTION No. 1, SMITH.

The pupils of School Section No. 1, Smith, on Monday, on the occasion of dismissing for the holidays, presented their teacher, Mr. W. C. Smith, with a Bible, a Writing Desk, and other articles and the following address:

To WM. SMITH, TEACHER—

Dear Teacher,—Please accept this present as a small token of our regard to you, as our teacher during the past two years. And as you are now about to leave us, we feel it our duty to express our estimation of your services amongst us by presenting you a Writing Desk, Bible, &c. We desire thus to express our deep regret at your departure from us; and whatever may be your avocation in future, we wish you every success.

MR. SMITH'S REPLY.

My Dear Pupils,—It affords me great pleasure to know that my services as your teacher during the past two years have been so highly appreciated; which you have evinced by making me the recipient of so handsome a present. It also affords me great pleasure to know that the same affection and regard which you have manifested towards me during our communion together exist until our separation. And whatever may be my lot and wherever it may be cast for the future, I can ever look back upon the pupils of S. S. No. 1, Smith, with the deepest feelings of affection; and I sincerely hope that my resignation as your teacher may not be the means of severing the friendship which has hitherto existed amongst us. But I hope if I never have the opportunity of uniting with you again as your teacher, I may have the pleasure of meeting with you all in after life. Rendering you all in return my sincere affections for the respect you have shown me on my departure from amongst you. I ask you to accept in return my sincere and heartfelt thanks for your very handsome present. And now I wish you all success with your studies in the future, and also a Merry Christmas and Happy New Year.

BRENTON alias FOX.

The Fenelon Falls Gazette, we recommend to the attention of those who have been clamouring for the blood of Brenton, without having seen him or having satisfied themselves, before asserting that of which they positively knew nothing. After referring to the unfortunate man Nesbit, the Gazette says:—

"With regard to Brenton, there is still a doubt as to whether he will be executed, though the general impression is that the sentence will be carried into effect on the 26th inst. Two of the Peterborough papers seems very anxious to have him hanged—on the ground, of course, that he deserves it; but we have remarked that since the Examiner expressed the conviction that the criminal was insane, both of its town contemporaries have been more positive than ever that he is not; and the question persists in intruding itself as to whether professional rivalry may not have inconsciously influenced their judgement In our opinion importance is attached too exclusively to the question of the prisoner's sanity, as there is another condition of intellect which, if proved to exist, ought most unquestionably to avert the death penalty. Imbecility, if we mistake not, a disease of which Brenton's but its shade if will not be denied that a person's brain may also quite free from that fever known as insanity and from any other disease, and yet be so deficient in quantity or quality as to materially lessen his responsibilities for his actions, as in the case of idiots and half-witted people,—or "innocents," as they are commonly called,—none of whom are, properly speaking, insane. We never "interviewed" Brenton, and therefore cannot judge of the state of his mind from his manner and conversation; but from what we have heard regarding him from those who profess to have known him before he went to live in Dummer, and from what we have read about him since he became a murderer, we cannot get rid of the idea that, in common parlance, he is not altogether right in his head and should be be executed on the 26th inst., or at any later period, we shall feel thankful that we were in no way instrumental—even with the best intentions—in sending him to the gallows."

REPORTS from Antigonish indicate the return of Mr. McInnes, Independent, by a majority of between three and four hundred over Mr. Henry. This is about what was expected. Mr. Henry was a follower and colleague of Dr. Tupper, and only declared for the new Government at the last moment. The contest was more religious than political, Mr. McInnes being a Catholic, as the great majority of the electors are.

THE WEST OXFORD MURDER.

THE PARTICULARS.

Woodstock, Dec. 22.—Yesterday our usually quiet town was moved to a fearful state of excitement by a report that Timothy Topping, a farmer living in West Oxford, and known by nearly every person here, had killed his wife and four children and then cut his own throat. The story was to appaling to be credited, and, during the afternoon, every "rig" that could be secured was brought into requisition, and hundreds visited the scene of crime to see and learn the particulars. The distance is eight miles from Woodstock and three from Sweaburg, on a ridge of land called "The Pines" of West Oxford. The land was formerly covered with pine timber, but apparently fire has run through it, and now nothing remains but pine stumps and half decayed timber, and it is one of the roughest farms in the county. The house is frame and very uncomfortable. Topping is the youngest son of a large family by that name; was born near here, and is about 40 years of age. His wife was the daughter of the late Adam Dodge, who was one of the pioneer settlers of this township, and whose numerous brothers and sisters are settled in the neighborhood and in good circumstances. Topping sold an old cleared farm a few years ago, and moved farther south to the new place mentioned, hoping to better his circumstances: but, as he remarked to a friend lately, to whom he appealed for advice, he was getting farther behind every year, and he was afraid his wife and family would yet come to beggary and starvation. He has two sons, about twenty and twenty-two years old, respectively, to whom he entrusted the work of the farm while he attended the duties of an auctioneer, and once or twice as assessor, or collector for the township. He belonged to a sect, or at least professed to believe, that there is neither reward nor punishment beyond the grave, hence he felt it his duty to place his helpless wife and family beyond the possibility of starvation here, and his only regret now is that he failed to effect his purpose in killing two more, whom he supposes cannot provide for themselves. During the past week he was not about from home but seemed to be brooding over something that troubled him, and it is supposed he did not go to bed during the night. About six o'clock on Sunday morning the three eldest sons and a daughter about seventeen years old, who were sleeping up stairs, were awakened with something they supposed was said by their mother calling suddenly "boys," and nothing more was heard; but on proceeding to the head of the stairs, they saw their father coming up with a knife in his hand, which they succeeded in wresting from him. Meantime the boy of thirteen, who was to be is next victim, sprang down the ladder and ran out into the lane, followed by his father who had caught up the axe and gave chase, but fortunately for the boy, he was swifter on foot. Finding that the boy had escaped, and that the other intended victim was guarded by her brothers, he drew the sharp edge of the axe across his own throat and would have completed his bloody work, but that the sons were too quick for him, having snatched the axe away, and secured his arms from further violence. He was then placed in a chair and guarded by three constables, where he still sat when seen by us, at four o'clock. His wind-pipe was cut so that he could not speak, but he employed himself all day in that condition writing with a pencil. He expressed his desire to have a certain lawyer brought from Ingersoll to make his will, and during the holding of the inquest in his presence, in reply to questions, he stated in writing that he was not sorry for what he had done, but regretted that he failed to kill the other two; that he thought the two eldest could do for themselves and did not intend to touch them. Stout-hearted persons sickened at the sight of the horrible crime before them, and begged others not to look upon a sight which they never would forget. In one corner of the living room stands a beds ead, on which the two murdered girls were left by the brutal father, having driven the sharp bitted axe into the brain of each; on a trundle bed, drawn from under where the girls lay, the two boys, the youngest aged five, his head severed from his body, the other eleven years old, with his head half cut in two; in the adjoining room lay the wife and mother, with her head so fearfully gashed that recognizance, even by her friends, would be difficult. The most sickening sight of all, however, was the criminal himself, sitting upright in a chair, with his hair clotted with blood, and all his clothes saturated, a hole so large in his throat that the cavity of the wind-pipe was descernable, and his breath escaped through the aperture, and articulation was quite impossible. A large number of doctors were in attendance, and when we left were proceeding to sew up the gap, with some confidence of saving his life. Great sympathy is felt for the relatives of the wretched family, who are industrious and respectable.

SCRAP IRON.

In announcing the fall in scrap iron, the Toronto Mail made the following extraordinary complaint:—

"So far did the Government go that Mr. Bickford's own banker was ordered to decline the negotiation of his ordinary business paper after the nomination day, under the plea that the Bank of Montreal wished to hold itself aloof from all political negotiations. It is none of our business to characterize the conduct of a banker who presumes to question the application of funds furnished to a solvent and well-to-do customer."

Of course the suggestion that the Bank of Montreal changed the course of its ordinary business transactions to suit the Government is absurd, but the paragraph suggests to us more than that Mr. Bickford is said to be one of the wealthiest men in Toronto, and as such, could have no difficulty in having his paper, to any reasonable extent, negotiated by his bankers. If, as the Mail says, so wealthy a man was refused accomodation between nomination and election days, the inference is that he, rich as he is, sought such immense sums that the Bank had to shut down on the millionaire. The query that arises is: What did Mr. Bickford want such large sums of money for, between the days of nomination and that of polling? It was a good thing for Bickford that the bank did shut down on him for he might have drawn and spent his "ten thousand more," and still be the rejected of West Toronto. Now he has his money left though he has not the seat.—Hamilton Times.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Permit me through your paper to perform a duty committed to me by some of my brethren, ministers of Peterboro.'

In prospect of the week of prayer now at hand, I have been requested, as the oldest minister of the town, to invite the ministers generally to meet and make arrangements as usual for holding the services of that week in concert.

I would accordingly, and do now hereby request, in Christian kindness, those who desire to take part in this blessed exercise to meet in the Session Room of the First Presbyterian Church at 3 o'clock p. m., on Monday, 29th December.

I remain, Sir, Yours, &c.,

JOHN M. ROGER.

How extensive is our trade with Norway appears from the fact that 379 Norwegian vessels of 176,736 aggregate tonnage loaded at seven ports of the Dominion during the past season

The late financial crisis in the neighbouring republic is now doing its work; and violence is feared among the labouring classes who are out of work. Mass meetings, at which very violent language has been used, have been held at New York and Cincinnati, and unless something be speedily done frightful bread-riots are likely to occur. Under these circumstances, we think we in Canada have cause for thankfulness.

Editor Examiner.

Dear Sir,

The hard death which any popular institution or prejudice dies is proverbial. Witchcraft is considered obsolete but we occasionally hear of some poor wight being duped by an old crone professing to practice the black art. The generally accepted opinion is that the age of chivalry (excepting as exhibited by Dan Rice) in with the things that were, and that Cervante's inimitable satire of Don Quixote, was a death blow to knight errantry, and knights errate. But from communications recently published in the sheets of your contemporary I endine to the opinion that Dan Rice is now the only living representative of the age of chivalry but that we have in our midst a veritable knight errant; and that in the person of "B. A." there are the qualities of a Don Quixote, or a Sir Hudibras. The hasty and inconsiderate manner in which "B. A." draws his steel (pen) and rushes into the fray reminds one of Don Quixote's charges on the windmill and the Barber and his spoils of victory may be not inapity compared with those of Sir Hudibras when he gained a temporary triumph over the wooden legged fiddler. Our Knight Errants last exploit, is a grand charge and a regular tree lance fight, Political, Peclemical, Judicial and Social, and may be summarized as follows: "Vide Peterboro Review Dec. 12." 1. that a murderer has been reprieved, 2. that to reprove a murderer is a contravention of the Laws of both God and man. 3. that this act of misplaced clemency had been managed by a clique in deference to the dictates of morted and mawkish sensibilities. The facts I believe to be as follows, viz.: serious doubts as to the sanity of the murderer having been expressed the time for the execution was extended some days, so that an opportunity might be given certain medical gentlemen to examine the prisoner and report as to his sanity. That a reprieve is contrary to the laws of God and man is a new dogma, and as such can only be received after having been sanctioned by some high authority. Few will agree with B. A., that to desire to be fully assured that a criminal (no matter how great the crime) was at the time of committal of the crime, responsible for his actions, arises from either a morbid or mawkish sensibility.

B. A's. next charg is that the lacerated feelings of the friends and relatives of the murdered are outraged by reprieving the murderer. The inferences to be drawn from the above are so antichristian that, were it not that B. A. ironically compares the County Gaol with the Cities of Refuge under the Jewish dispensation, I should conclude that he was a believer in the Mosaic dispensation in its integrity, and an advocate of institutions which taught that it was right and proper to take "an eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth," and ignores the laws inaugurated some 1800 years ago, viz.: "that we love our enemies," "do well to them that ill-use us," and "leave vengeance to the Great Ruler of the Universe." The theory that murder is punished with death out of regard to the feelings of the relatives and friends of the murdered is a remnant of barbarism. In reply to cave homicidam, I say nullum interferium withoutum causum, and as many of your readers are not undergraduates or classical scholars, I translate both quotations. They may be freely rendered as follows:—cave homicidium, the homicide must be hung, drawn and quartered. Nullum interferium withoutum causum, never interfere without a cause. Permit me to commend to the consideration of "B. A." the maxim of W. B. Clulow, viz.:

"There is a large fund of power in the world unappropriated and inactive, but a still larger portion misapplied and perverted. Were the mere waste talent and energy of mankind to be used aright, three fourths of the ills that effect the species might be overcome"

And now my dear "B. A." permit me to advise that if you must be in the lists encounter foes worthy of you Don't, like Quixote, mistake a barber's pipkin for a burnished helmet, nor like Hudibras imagine that you will add to your laurels by making a one legged fiddler bite the dust.

Yours, &c.,

THE SHOWDEN IRON MINES.

From the Bobcaygeon Independent.

These mines still continue to attract a large amount of public attention. The additional information obtained strengthens the opinion that the Snowdon Iron will become of immense importance. The body of a man named Bennett, lately missed from Cobourg, was found last week in Brighton harbor.

On New Year's day there will be a grand Soiree at Mather's Corners. The Bills announce good sheds for teams.

Who is under sentence to spend ten years in penitentiary, made an attempt to get out of Cobourg jail on Sunday night but was foiled. He will have to go down ten years.

Boston.

This unfortunate man will be executed on Friday next. He remains unchanged in mind and conversation ; gives no information as to the manner of the murder, and to all appearances will take the whole secret with him. There is not the least reason yet to believe that he is sane although the doctors report differently. We hope those divines who clamor for his execution will wait on the poor fellow and point him to the saviour of sinners.

Gone Mere.

The Port Hope Times has again demonstrated mostly a column to Peterboro matters anent the Railway By-law. The whole matter is, a road from Cobourg back will take traffic from the Midland Railway and from Port Hope. The Times does not care one cent about Peterboro. Well, we do not blame the Times for its course, on the contrary we praise the Port Hope and Lindsay papers for their straightforward advocacy of their own interests, but why the Peterboro Review should chime in with them is a secret to Peterboro people.

The Midland Railway has had its agents in Peterboro before and we fancy has yet. How much they pay them we do not know. Perhaps it's all promises as yet, but the truth will yet reveal itself.

The Business.

The Minden correspondent of the Independent says :—The storm of last week did a good deal of damage in this neighbourhood, and the roads were everywhere blocked up with fallen timber. Mr. Henderson, the much-respected Wesleyan Minister, was near upon coming to grief in the woods. He was about twelve miles from Minden, in the heart of the woods, when the storm burst upon him. He was forced to leave his horse at a settlers and walk to Minden on foot, for the road was so barricaded that it was not possible for a horse to pass. They averaged thirty trees to the mile. The telegraph wires were badly broken, and all communications was for a long time destroyed.

Cobourg.

A Firemen's Convention was held in this town on the 17th instant, to which delegates from the following places were present :—Hamilton, Oshawa, Port Hope, Lindsay, Peterborough, Napanee, and Rochester. A Central Committee was appointed, and the following officers were elected :—President, Chief Engineer Thornton, of Oshawa; Vice-President, Chief Engineer Bastell, of Cobourg; Secretary, Mr. Garnett, of

A FACT WORTH KNOWING!

The reputation of Wheeler & Wilson's noiseless Lockstitch Sewing Machine is so high, and the demand so great, that dealers in other machines when asked for it are obliged to say that they sell Wheeler & Wilson's also; but when pushed for one will make excuses or else say "that the last one was sold a few days ago." Then they turn and show the good qualities of those they sell—at the same time being careful to run the W & W down. Another trick is to state that the W & W will not do heavy work, nor use coarse or linen thread, and by showing a worthless imitation (which is of no use to them or anyone else) will tell you "that the W & W is no fruit a machine for farmers' use," this, no doubt, is true of the imitation, but utterly false concerning the genuine W & W, as thousands of farmers now using it can testify.

Parties intending to purchase are requested to call and examine.

For Leather or Heavy Manufacturing use the No. 6 Wheeler & Wilson, it excels all others.

Grateful Thousands proclaim VINEGAR BITTERS the most wonderful Invigorant that ever sustained the sinking system.

No Person can take these Bitters according to directions, and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and vital organs wasted beyond repair.

Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, which are so prevalent in the valleys of our great rivers throughout the United States, especially those of the Mississippi, Ohio, Missouri, Illinois, Tennessee, Cumberland, Arkansas, Red, Colorado, Brazos, Rio Grande, Pearl, Alabama, Mobile, Savannah, Roanoke, James, and many others, with their vast tributaries, throughout our entire country during the Summer and Autumn, and remarkably so during seasons of unusual heat and dryness, are invariably accompanied by extensive derangements of the stomach and liver, and other abdominal viscera. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these various organs, is essentially necessary. There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to DR. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as they will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus fore-armed.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the region of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia. One bottle will prove a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Scrofula, or King's Evil, White Swellings, Ulcers, Erysipelas, Swelled Neck, Goitre, Scrofulous Inflammations, Indolent Inflammations, Mercurial Affections, Old Sores, Eruptions of the Skin, Sore Eyes, etc. In these, as in all other constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS have shown their great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, these Bitters have no equal. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Painting and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take a dose of WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS occasionally.

For Skin Diseases, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt-Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters.

Pin, Tape, and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics will free the system from worms like these Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters display so decided an influence that improvement is soon perceptible.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions, or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure, and the health of the system will follow.

Ayer's

Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has anything won so widely and firmly upon the confidence of mankind, as this powerful remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has risen higher and higher in their estimation, as it has become better known. Its uniform character and power to cure the various affections of the lungs and throat, have made it known as a reliable protector against them. While admitted to milder forms of disease and to young children, it is at the same time the most effectual remedy that can be given for incipient consumption, and the dangerous affections of the throat and lungs. As a protection against sudden attacks of Croup, it should be kept on hand in every family, and indeed as all are sometimes subject to colds and coughs, all should be provided with this antidote for them.

Although settled Consumption is thought incurable, still great numbers of cases where the disease seemed settled, have been completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral. So complete is its mastery over the disorders of the Lungs and Throat, that the most obstinate of them yield to it. When nothing else could reach them, under the Cherry Pectoral they subside and disappear.

Spasmodic and Puitic Sparrows find great protection from it.

Asthma is always relieved and often wholly cured by it.

Bronchitis is generally cured by taking the Cherry Pectoral in small and frequent doses.

So generally are its virtues known that we need not publish the certificates of those here, as the people want assure the public that its qualities are fully sustained.

Ayer's Ague Cure,

For Fever and Ague, Intermittent Fever, Chill Fever, Remittent Fever, Dumb Ague, Periodical or Bilious Fever, &c., all caused by the poisonous vapors, with which miasmatous marsh, or miasmable districts, are filled.

In the worst localities of Ague Cases, and those not to be relieved by other remedies, this Ague Cure will be found to be a perfect specific. It is not only a remedy for the cure of the ordinary Ague and Fever, but it expels from the system the latent Ague poison, and protects it against the future attacks of disease from this cause. Travellers and residents in miasmatous districts will find this Ague Cure a valuable protection against the fevers of those localities. It contains no Arsenic, Quinine, or other mineral, and may be taken by the most delicate child with perfect safety. Although it is the most powerful antidote for Ague and Fever ever discovered, it is perfectly harmless, and leaves the system in a healthy condition.

The Child At Prayer.

Into her chamber went
A little child one day,
And by a chair she knelt
And then began to pray.
Jesus, my eyes I close—
Thy form I cannot see;
If thou art near me, Lord,
I pray thee speak to me.

A still small voice she heard within her soul,
"What is it, child? I hear thee: tell me all."

I pray thee, Lord, she said,
That thou wilt condescend
To tarry in my heart,
And ever be my friend.
The path of life is dark—
I would not go astray;
So let me have thy hand
To lead me in the way.

"Fear not, I will not leave thee, child, alone"
She thought she felt a soft hand press her own

They tell me, Lord, that all
The living pass away—
The aged soon must die,
And even children may.
Oh, let my parents live
Till I a woman grow;
For if they die, what can
A little orphan do?

"Fear not, my child—whatever ills may come
I'll not forsake thee till I bring thee home."

Her little prayer was said,
And from her chamber, now,
Forth passed she with the light
Of heaven upon her brow.
"Mother, I've seen the Lord—
His hand in mine I felt,
And Oh I heard him say,
As by my chair I knelt:
'Fear not my child, whatever ills may come,
I'll not forsake thee till I bring thee home.'"

A Convenient Way to Measure Land.

It is frequently desirable to measure a given plot of ground or a portion of a field. Surveyors are nor always at a convenient distance to attend to such little jobs; and even when they do reside in the immediate vicinity, one does not always care to incurs the expense incident to such a small job. If the lines are already established, the plot can be measured with sufficient accuracy for all pratical purposes by means neat rod-pole, made as follows: Procure a stick ot pine, white wood, basswood, or almost any other timber, one and a half inch square and sixteen and a half feet long, dress each end tapering from the middle, so that the pole will be one and a half inches squaare at the middle and half an inch square at each end. Such a pole will be light and stiff. Now graduate one side with the marks representing feet and inches, and graduate another side to indicate a surveyor's link. A pole one rod in length must be equal to twenty-five links. To divide one side correctly, let a mechanic's compass be adjusted so that the points will divide the distance into 25 obual spaces or links. A line can be measured with such a pole quite as accurately as with a surveyor's chain Now, then, if a person does not understand how to multiply chain and links let him compute the measurement by square feet. In one acre there are 43,500 square feet. Any intelligent school-boy can measure the length and breadth of a square plot—multiply one by the other, and divide the product by 43,500, which will give the number of acres, and the number of square rods representing the fraction of an acre. If it is desirabe to measure a triangular plot two sides of which lie at right angles, measure these two sides, multiply the distance in feet one by the other, and divide the product by two, which will indicate the number of square feet by 43,500 and the quotient will represent the number of acres.

Preparing Poultry for Market.

A New York firm of commission merchants give the following directions for preparing poultry for that market.

Secure plump, well-fatted birds. Bleed them in the throat. Scald enough to make the feathers come off easy; pick both feathers and pin feathers all off nicely, taking care not to bruise or break the skin in any way. If one or two in the lot should accidently get bruised or have the skin broken, sell or use at house, as they will hurt the sale of the whole lot. Leave all the entrails in, and head and feet on. After they are dressed hang them in a cool place, where they will dry off and get stiff before packing. Pack in barrels or boxes in nice, clean rye straw; if this cannot be obtained dry oat straw may be used. Be sure and pack solid, as they will not bruise in transit. Pack with breasts down. Poultry prepared in this way always finds a ready market, while poor, half-dressed, sweaty, (caused by packing while warm) and bruised lots will not sell at any time,

Many farmers make a practice of feeding their half-starved fowls all they will eat just before killing, and then send them to market with full crops, in order to get the price of poultry for corn. In this they make a mistake; the crop being swollen to an unusual size, turns black after being packed a while, and not only shows clearly the dishonest intentions of the packer, but injures the sale of the fowls a great deal more than is gained in weight. Feed meal only for at least two days before killing.

Remember, it is the appearance of goods that sells them. Nice large, fat, plump, white turkeys, ducks, chickens, and geese always bring out side prices.

How To Build An Ice-House.

The following, contributed to that Cowtry Gentleman, shows how ice houses may be constructed at a small expense. My ice house is in a circular form in the ground, 11 feet in diameter and 12 feet deep, dry walled with brick (laid in a wall), the bottom is made, and over a foot of fine charcoal for the ice to rest on; charcoal is a most desirable substance for this purpose, as it lets the water through easily, is inconstructible, and a good non-conductor of heat. The ice is thrown in without packing, and sawdust put on top at once, and as the ice recedes from the brick the dust is pushed down at the sides till the ice is completly enveloped in it, and we have no difficulty in keeping it from one season to another, and two large families use it without stint. The house is almost roofless. This is a cheap durable house, and has the merit of being easily filled, and requires no scaffolding or extra men to help unload, as those do that are built entirely above ground. Samuel L. Allen, of Cinnaminson, N. Y., constructed last fall an ice-house, which is a novelty to its kind, and a remarkable success. It is a crib 10 feet by 10½ inside and 8 feet high, and set directly on the surface of the ground the posts are made of slabs and the sides are of the same, nailed on horizontally two or three inches apart. Cost of lumber, $4; nails, 50c.; labor done by a farm hand. Five these horse loads filled it. In filling, one foot of sawdust was put in, then a layer of ice one foot from the sides, the edges packed and the spaces broken up a little, and as each layer was put in, sawdust was filled in between ice and boards and so on till the crib was filled. The top was finished with rounding and covered with a foot of sawdust, and pine boughs put on that to keep the wind from blowing it away, and has no roof of any kind. The first of this month there was sixteen inches of ice left. In the middle of one end, about one foo from the boards, is a dumb waiter cased 15 inches square and ten foot high, inside of which is a dumb waiter 2½ feet long, fitted up with shelves for meat, butter, &c., and it has answered a good purpose. From this experiment he draws these conclusion; "That a farmer's ice-house should contain a cylinder of ice 8 feet in diameter and 10 to 11 feet in height, the ice should be closely surrounded with from 6 to 10 inches of sawdust, and covered with a foot or two of the same; no roof, or one with the gables entirely open." The very heavy rains we had last month did not wet the sawdust on top of this ice-crib more than three inches in depth, and that was soon dried out by the sun and wind.

Pook's Experience With A Coal Stove.

We never had a coal stove around the house until last Saturday. Have always burned pine slabs and pieces of our neighbor's fence. They burn well, too, but the fence got all burned up, and the neighbour said he wouldn't buy a new one, so we went down to Jones' and got a coal stove. It is called the "Radiant Home," and any man who says we didn't have a radiant home at our house for about four hours last Saturday night, is a Republican and a villan. You see we didn't know anything about coal stoves. We filled the Radiant Home about half full of pine fence, and when the stuff got well to going we filled the artesian well on top with coal. It simmered and sputtered about five or ten minutes and all went out, and we put on an overcoat and pair of buck-skin mittens and "went out" to supper. We remarked, in the coarse of the frugal meal, that Jones was a "fraud" for recommending such a confounded refrigerator to a man to get warm by. After supper we took a piece of ice and rubbed our hands warm, and went in where that stove was and resolved to make her draw and burn if it took all the pine fence in the First Ward. Our better-half threw a quilt over her and shiveringly remarked that she never knew what real solid comfort was until she got a coal stove. Stung by the sarcasm in her remark, we turned every dingus in the stove that was moveable, or looked like it had anything to do with the draft, and pretty soon the Radiant Home began to heave up heat. It was not long before she stuttered like the new Silsby steamer. Talk about your heat? In ten minutes that room was as much hotter than a Turkish bath as Hades is hotter than Livermore's ice-house. The perspiration fairly fried out of a tin water cooler in the the next room. We opened the door and the snow began to melt as far up Vine Street as Hanscombe's house, and people all around the neighbourhood put on linen clothes. And we couldn't stop the confounded thing. We forgot what Jones told us about the dampers, and she just a-blew. The only thing we could do was to go to bed and leave the thing to burn the house up if it wanted to. We stood off with a pole, and turned the damper every way, and at every turn she just sent out heat enough to roast an ox. We went to bed, supposing that the coal would eventually burn out, but about 12 o'clock the whole family had to get up and sit on the fence. Finally a man came along who had been brought up among coal stoves, and he put a wet blanket over him and crept up to the stove and turned the proper dingus, and she cooled off, and since that time has been as comfortable as possible. If you buy a coal stove you want to learn how to engineer it, or you may get roasted.

Interesting Relic of The Past.

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S SILVER WATCH.

Levi W. Groff one of the staunch old Pennsylvania farmer and stock growers in Lancaster county, has in his possession the memorable "Benjamin Franklin Watch," which he politely exhibited to some friends in New York recently. The timepiece is curiously in itself. It is composed of silver in the old half-eye pattern, with the open face, and on its back bears the following inscription, in lettering still well defined, notwithstanding its extreme age, and, no doubt, extensive handling "Ben Franklin, 1776." An old paper on the inside indicates that it was "repaired by Thomas Parker, of Philadelphia, on the 24th of January, 1817." The watch, it appears from another paper, was made in London, by W. Tomlinson, and is numbered 511. It would [illegible] curiosity for antiquarians interested in such matters to learn the history of its sale and purchase by the great American philosopher. It was probably bought by Franklin when he represented the independent colonies at the British Court in London. There appears to be no doubt about the authenticity of this interesting relic of the past. Mr. Groff has a letter from the late William Duane: of Philadelphia, dated August 17, 1866, which states that Dr. Franklin's watch was worn after his decease by his son-in-law. Richard Bache, the grandfather of Mr. Duane, who resided during the latter years of his life in Bensalem township, Bucks county, Pa., who mislaid it while on a visit to philadelphia, and all traces were supposed to have been lost until Mr. Groff became its fortunate possessor. The watch will probably be one of the most curious relics on exhibition at the coming Centennial in Philadelphia. That Mr. Groff is one of the sturdy old "Dutch" farmers of Pennsylvania may be realised from the fact that prominent among his valuable historical collections is the original grant deed conveying the land he now lives upon from the sons of William Penn to his great grandfather.

How many cats in all?

An Irishman on observing a beautiful cemetery, remarked that he considered it a healthy place to be buried in.

What is the difference between a Jew and a lawyer? The one gets his law from the prophets, the other his profits from the law.

An Irishman quarreling with an Englishman told him that if he didn't hold his tongue he would break his impenetrable head and let the brains out of his empty skull.

James got trusted for that hat, and he now feels a consciousness of being in debt over head and ears.

Sam, why am de hogs de most intelligent folks in de world?—Because dey eats ebberything.

The young man who boasted that he could marry any girl he pleased, found that he couldn't please any.

A clergyman removing from one city to another marked a large box containing his sermons, 'keep dry.' They did.

A remarkably dirty man stepped in front of a small boy sitting on a fence, expecting to have some fun by chaffing him. He said: How much do you weigh? The answer was: Well about as much as you if you were washed.

"When a fellow is too lazy to work in this section," writes a correspondent from a village in Canada, "he paints his name over the door, and calls it a tavern, and makes all his neighbors as lazy as himself."

Some one calls the pace of women of the present day "indolent," when upon one of them retorts, "I wonder if that man ever reflected upon the amount of shopping we do, and the willingness with which we do it?"

MITHER; Now, Jean, when the folks come to tea, mind ye divert them as muckle as ye can. And, Jean, when the calves and sic-like things are headed round, be mannerly, and set the example by just sayin', "No, thank ye," to it all.

MORE PROVERBIAL PHILOSOPHY.—"Who goes a borrowin', goes a sorrowin." More often it is "the other way up." "Who goes a lendin' too often goes a borrowin' while who goes a borrowin' not unfrequently goes on his way rejoicing at his dexterity.

"RELIGION," said Webster, "is the tie that connects man with his Maker, [illegible] him to the throne. A man with no sense of religious duty is he whom the Scriptures describe in such terms as 'senseless language,' as living without God in the world."

AN itinerant preacher being invited to [illegible] in one of the early settlements of Virginia, took for his text the words, "though after my skin worms destroy my body, yet in my flesh shall I see God." He divided his text, into three parts, thus—"First. The skin-worms; secondly, What they does; and thirdly, What the man seen after he was eaten up."

TEETOTALISM.—Rumor has it that all the first-class hotels in Glasgow are to be converted into teetotal restaurants, and are to be officered by "boots" from Edinburgh, where, as everybody knows, no whiskey is consumed except in the neighborhood of the Parliament House, and where they can show an ignorance whereon the map is keep hotels—and in numbers too.

A contemporary lately published an amusing printer's error. Stating the principle upon [illegible] discussion at the Bath Congress it said that one of these would be "the means of bringing the influence of the Church to bear upon them asses (the masses) of the people."

The Rev. Daniel Isaac was both a great wag and a great smoker. "Ah, there you are," cried a lady who surprised him one day, enjoying his pipe, "at your idol again." "Yes, my dear madam," he replied, "I hope you do not find fault with me, for I ought to be commended, as you see I'm burning it."

PERSEVERENCE.—As a fair example of certain paragraphs of which American journals, seem to enjoy a monopoly, the following is worthy of note; "An erring Indiana, hen was recently found in the back part of a hardware store, where the misguided fowl had struggled for three weeks trying to hatch out half a dozen white porcelain door knobs. She was very much reduced.'

Insects generally must lead a jovial life. Think what it must be to lodge in a lilly. Imagine a palace of ivory or pearl, with pillars of silver and capitals of gold, all exhailing such a perfume as never rose from human censer. Fancy, again, the fun of tucking yourself up for the night in the folds of a rose, rocked to sleep by the gentle sighs of the summer air; and nothing to do when you wake, but to wash yourself in a dew drop, and fall to and eat your bedclothes.

MARMORA IRON MINES.—Notwithstanding that this Company have got out 100 experienced miners from England, and have been, and now are, working a steady force of 154 men in the two shafts, the Company cannot meet the demand for their iron ore, which is now admitted to be the very best in the market. Next summer the Company expect to ship double the quantity that they have yet disposed of in any one season. Backed up as this Company is by several of the wealthiest men in Pittsburgh, Rochester, and New York, its credit is above suspicion, and we have no doubt that the enormous profit from their mines alone will enable them to eventually build their Railway through to Georgian Bay, via, Peterborough, Bobcaygeon and Lindsay, without calling upon their stockholders for one cent. But if Peterborough wants this road rapidly constructed, it must show its appreciation of the project, and its good faith, which it is bound in honour, if not in law, to give.—Sentinel.

The Preacher's Cigar

I knew a young preacher, whose oratory obtained for him the admiration of many influential persons. Among them was a gentleman of fortune, who courted his company and taught him to smoke. The young minister was warned of his danger, but could not be persuaded to renounce what he considered a harmless indulgence, and claimed that his cigar soothed his mind and composed his feelings. A friend, in reply, told him the mind and feelings never wanted composing nor soothing when in health, by artificial means, but only when discomposed and irritated by improper causes; and added, "Beware how you indulge in a bad habit.

Impatient under the rebuke, the clergyman rejoined, "I smoke but seldom, and could almost do without it."

"Seldom and almost are two fatally ominous words. Seldom will become regular, and is sure to be converted into always. And as smoking and drinking are sworn companions, let me beseech you" said his friend, "not to make them yours. Ministers should be a fence around the pit of perdition. Some inexperienced youth may see you smoke, and imitate your example, and become a confirmed smoker, and, sooner or later, a confirmed drunkard. The line of demarkation being once effaced he may soon be lost in the vortix of sin."

Little did this young preacher suppose this to be a picture of his own mournful case. But, by this habit, his splendid talents soon became dim, his hearears forsook him. His wealthy host, who first taught him to smoke, witnessed his growing desire for stimulents, and, with a look more expressive than words, would say to him, "that in spite of praying and preaching, professors of religion like the good things of this like as well as others; and that after all saints and sinners are much alike.

The days of this eloquent young clergymen were ended in ignominy. Around a most promising, talented preacher, a curtain was drawn; and a life which promised to be happy and illustrious, was early brought to a miserable close. His intemperate habits it is supposed, killed his young wife, and made a beggar of his child. He died in a mad-house, blaspheming the Saviour he had preached.

Avoid smoking. "It is the devil's leading string, commencing with a hair, and ending with a cable."

And that prove fatal, which was but choiced fore."

Persons who have become thoroughly chilled from any cause, may have their circulation at once restored by taking into the stomach a teaspoonful of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment mixed in a little cold water, well sweetened.

Every farmer who owns a good stock of horses, cattle and sheep, and intends to keep them through the winter, should get not less a good stock of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, one dollars worth will save at least a half ton of hay.

The Great Eastern Steamship.—Unlike any other exhibition, we believe the spirit of this noble vessel has given good satisfaction to the thousands of people who travelled to Quebec to view her, and well repaid them for their outlay; and it is just as with the "Consolation Pain Destroyer," there never was any thing that gave such satisfaction, it relieves pain almost instantly, and is the best thing in the world for rheumatism, neuralgia, and pains in the stomach, &c. 25 cents will buy a bottle of it. Sold by all medicine dealers

Foot Blooms.—There are thousands of poor horses dragging out a miserable existence suffering from a variety of diseases, rendering them almost worthless, that would be restored to a healthy and sound condition, and a value given to them of which they were never dreamed, would they but use the Liniment within their reach. From one to three packages of Dooley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy, will in all cases produce a satisfactory result; hundreds have testified to the fact. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Newcastle, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all medicine dealers.

A New County.

The "practical politicians" of North York are seeking the formation of a new County to consist of the Northern portion of York. The Aurora Banner says:—

"It is a significant fact, but nevertheless true, that the restless M. P. P., and would be M. P. P.'s, are the only parties who feel the enormous burden under which the Riding labors."

The formation of a new County will entail an increase in all the expenses that the simple minded ratepayers do not fully comprehend yet. There will be a new Court House, a new jail, a sheriff and all the attendant officers—Jailors and Turnkays, County Clerks, County Treasurer—and expenses connected with the Council not now required. All these will foot up and have to be paid in addition to present taxes. The tax-payers should be thoroughly convinced of the necessity for the change before asking it. There are in every County expectant office seekers, who are looking about for changes of this sort. To satisfy these will ensure a long list of incidental expenses, not one of them will ever benefits the persons out of whose pockets the cash to pay them comes.

PRESENTATION.

Mr. Peter Hamilton was made the recipient, on Christmas eve, of a beautiful watch and gold chain, the gift of his employees. They also presented him with the following address:—

Peterboro Dec. 24.

To Peter Hamilton, Esq.:

Desirous of expressing our regard and feeling of satisfaction to you as our employer, we beg to offer to you, as a practical proof of our esteem, the accompanying watch and chain, not so much for its value as for the high esteem in which you are held by the employees of this shop. Wishing you many happy and prosperous years to wear it, also every compliment of the season

To which Mr. Hamilton replied in suitable terms, extempore, as he was taken by surprise—the gift being quite unexpected on his part. The watch is a beautiful silver one, purchased from Mr. Ormond, Jeweller.

The Death Penalty of Wm. Brenton, alias James Fox, for the Murder of Mrs. Turner and the Rev. Doughty, in Dummer.

The details of this [illegible] too well known to require a recapitulation of them, but this being the first execution in the County, it will not be void of interest to go over some of them again. Although the County has been noted for extensive lumbering operations, and that men from all parts of the Dominion and even from Europe have flocked to the shanties of the County, and, although, while there they are not always under proper restraint, they have had either the dread of justice in respect for human life sufficient to [illegible] their hands in [illegible] We are we favor the idea [illegible] when in his right mind, nor that any man in his mind would be guilty of such a cruel, unprovoked murder as that one which will be remembered for all history as "The Dummer Murder." We would not be a party to creating the fearful uneasiness that must arise in the breast of every person in the country, if under the continual dread that a servant—that any man—would be ready to ruin his family in his absence. And the fact that, although this County is over fifty years settled, no case of this kind ever occurred before, warrants us in assuring women and children husbands and fathers, that their families are in no danger from their servants, unless it be in the case of insane persons. The fact, too, that not a few of our best [illegible] honored positions were not above earning their own bread by the sweat of their brow, and were often trusted in the most confidential relations without question, and without offence. Can we [illegible] we suppose that we are in danger of robbery and murder every moment, because one case of murder has occurred, and that in the case most certainly of an insane man.

THE MURDER

Of Mrs. Payne and the boy Doughty was committed on the 26th of November, 1872, on the confines of Stoney Lake in the Township of Dummer in an isolated, small settlement, and so intense was the excitement caused by it, that if Brenton had been caught near the place he would have been in danger of immediate vengeance. This was not to be wondered at as the murder was one of the most brutal in the annals of crime. Brenton first appeared in the settlement in the March previous, when he entered it in destitute circumstances, offering even to work for his board for a while, and was engaged by the owner of his future victim, to cut cordwood, which he did until the month of May, when he hired with Jeremiah Payne for six months for $64.

During the first he was averse to conversation on any subject and could only be induced to talk of railroads, steamboats, and Government papers, but [illegible] as to his own history or that of his friends and relations so, "revealing only the place of his birth and parents, and where he lived in Belleville. And he left no one to tell the history of the sad event that brought him to the gallows.

It was only known that Mrs. Payne was [illegible] at half-past eleven o'clock, and it followed that Brenton and his victim took dinner together about one o'clock. About two or half past two o'clock Brenton went to Mr. Sutton's where Payne was threshing and asking him to go home and get his dinner, remarking that the dinner had not [illegible] not ready for him, and he also wished a settlement [illegible] away. He was told that he would be settled with and paid next day and after a short stay he returned back to Payne's place. In August previously he had gone to Dr. Bingham of Warsaw, complaining that [illegible] and that they had turned to worms in him, and asked for medicine, and this [illegible] in the same way—a dread of the food he was giving him. On his return he must have determined on the murder and carried it into execution, but this cannot now be unravelled. It was evident, however, to those who went to the house afterwards, that there were still two plates for three persons at the dinner table. Some think that he committed the crowning deed before going to Sutton's, but this is mere supposition. It is more likely that he did it on his return when he felt the disappointment of not getting money and getting away.

He was not seen not far from Payne's house by Mr. Darling, and was traced in the direction of the town along the [illegible] direction [illegible] not much travelled it is true, but one to which he was directed, and which brought him on the Peterboro road from Warsaw, into which he took ten, about 9 o'clock, or nearly that hour. He must soon in Peterborough about 12 o'clock at night enquiring for a tavern to get a bed, and as word had preceded him to town and especially were on their stranger, on being a stranger directed where he could from, when he said [illegible] Stoney Lake, and that he had lived with Jeremiah Payne and left his place that morning. He was then taken prisoner and committed to stand his trial at the next examination before Mr. Hall. He exhibited some cunning in telling that he had left at 9 o'clock when he did not leave till about 3 o'clock. But he never denied that [illegible] from the place. A pocket book was found on [illegible] identified the pocket book and one o the dollars [illegible] him, and thus it was made evident that he had stolen them. It was also shown that he had taken away a gun and some bad clothes, but the have never been recovered.

After his [illegible] he must have made his [illegible] past his duty, [illegible] about Belleville and Sidney, where he said he was born and went to school. He gave no satisfactory account as to the murder and [illegible] past [illegible] of it, and to Mr. Payne said he believed he was [illegible]

Shortly [illegible] lodged [illegible] reporter from this paper was committed to see him, to whom he said his parents were from Ireland and settled in the township of [illegible] county of Hastings, [illegible] and that he had [illegible] father, mother and brother were dead but that his sister was alive somewhere, he thought in the [illegible] that said he had been in partnership with President [illegible] and that [illegible] several persons were published to see him. He failed to [illegible] from Belleville [illegible] Sidney; that he had a brother [illegible] dead—as were his parents—and that he had a sister there [illegible] he never came to [illegible] somewhere in the west; but when questioned further about [illegible] he remained silent; that the [illegible] and that [illegible] the papers were ordered, and all was now [illegible] to the hands of Upper [illegible] was a [illegible] [illegible] go [illegible] [illegible] the world and would take him out of it.

During several visits to him he answered civilly, but so monosyllably that the impression was formed that he was insane, or pretending to be, but every succeeding one settled the conviction that he was insane. This conviction was strengthened by conversations with men who knew him while in drummer, and who said he was considered crazy while there, but not dangerous. Up to the time for the trial when Mr. Boultbee was solicited by the Judge to defend him, as he had no friends—no Counsel—Mr. B. became convinced that the man was insane, and in consequence of stating this to the court the Judge postponed the trial to get medical experts to examine him, and Dr. Dickson was brought from Kingston for the purpose. Dr. Kincaid, in the meantime, had given his opinion, and it was like the laws of the Medes and Persians. Dr. Dickson came, and at first refused a decided answer, but fell in with Dr. Kincaid that he was [illegible] on [illegible] Dickson not giving a decided opinion, the trial was put off till the fall, and Dr. Workman, of Toronto was sent to see him, and saw him twice [illegible] 15 minutes, and the next time a still shorter period, the [illegible] time not even speaking to Brenton—while Dr. Kincaid, who was present, merely felt his pulse, we are told. All who were present at the trial will remember the blustering of Dr Workman—his declaring the jailor's evidence false, and such stuff to clear himself of the charge of coming from Toronto to spend fifteen minutes with the man, and on this to found his opinion as to his sanity. Dr. Workman evidently took Dr. Kincaid's view of it, and gave evidence accordingly, or largely so, perhaps with confidence in the opinion of the jail surgeon.

THE EVIDENCE

As to the murder was all circumstantial, but was sufficient to convince the jury of his guilt. The question of his sanity then became the principal one, Mr. Boultbee, the jailor, other visitors, and some of the doctors were of opinion that there was something wrong. But Dr. Kincaid and Dr. Workman declared him "putting it on," as they said.

The evidence of Mr. Jones was that he Brenton was known to him as James Fox—had lived with him a year or more, and that then he bore an excellent character, was active and intelligent, but that he had not seen him for about 17 years.

Mr. G. W. Paterson of Sidney had known him as Fox, he then lived with Mr. Paterson's father. He was raised in Sidney and was a smart, good boy. About 17 years ago he left Belleville for the United States one was not heard of till 1871, when he returned to Mr. Paterson's and made himself known. He then appeared to Mr. Paterson to be a little wrong in his mind, and others who saw him were of the same opinion. He left in a few days and went into the county of Peterborough, and was also a day or two in the township of Eldon, where he was looked upon as crazy and lay with his head axe under his head. He shortly after turned up in Dummer, and there we may leave him, as his history since is well known.

Mr. Paterson at the trial swore that he appeared wrong in his mind, and talked foolishly about building railways, government papers, General Grant, and steamboats, indeed talked nonsense to such a degree that he concluded he was astray mentally, but could not attribute it to any cause, as he had not seen him for over 17 years. Mr. Drain, too, who lived near Mr. Payne, stated that he was not like other men, when in Dummer, and that he would not talk as other men.

THE JURY

On the evidence found Brenton guilty of murder. A verdict that all accepted as just, and as medical evidence held him sane, or in his right mind, at least to such a degree as to be able to judge between right and wrong, on the evidence they could come to no other conclusion, if they believed the two doctors, Kincaid and Workman. Dr. O'Sullivan, however, was more cautious in his evidence, and with more regard to the awful responsibilities of his position declared that he believed there were some peculiarities termed eccentricities in the man, and in his conduct that they were inexplicable if he [illegible]

Brenton's conduct after the trial it was thought would soon reveal his true character and prove satisfactorily whether he was a sham or not. In this, however, all who visited him were soon disappointed. The Jailor, the Turnkey, the ex-Sheriff, Rev. J. M. Roger, Rev. W. M. Roger, Rev. Mr. Hooper, Mr. Kingan and others who visited him to talk to him of eternal life, found what they believed symptoms of mental derangement. The Jail Surgeon, however, had given his opinion and it must be right.

Mr. Boultbee and Mr. Armour, and a few others, however, thought somewhat different and applied for another Commission of medical gentlemen to visit Brenton, as anxious were they that if he were deprived of his reason by the great Disposer of all things, that he might not suffer for that deprivation, but if found to be a pretended madman let justice be meted out. But the Dr. was still there and the old opinions of the medical men were sustained. In consequence and in view of the dreadful and aggravated nature of the crime, the death penalty was ordered to be carried out [illegible] and [illegible] was made aware of the fact, but he remained indifferent to it. His [illegible] being visible to any one [illegible] him. Only [illegible] visit of the unfortunate man with a view to getting information from him as to his early life, parentage and what he followed in his United States, Mathews; but while getting civil answers to many questions they all facilitated observation of mind and want of judgment. On attempting to write down the conversation in his presence he lost his usual temper and became violent, telling [illegible] that [illegible] for guards on the door and many other things, that he might murder him for attempting to write down anything. Up to [illegible] of [illegible] got papers and pencil to write he was ready in answers, at times [illegible]

The Rev. Mr. Fish having, it was said, gained his confidence on opportunity was [illegible] for him a conversation between them and accordingly on the Monday previous to the execution. Mr. Fish and others went in what we remained at the door to hear and take notes alongside of a Reporter from the Review office. The whole conversation cannot be given [illegible] reporter. Suffice it to say that [illegible] clerk, is charged with sentiments that will only be properly understood when [illegible]

THE CONVERSATION IN FULL.

Q. How long have you been here?

A. Let me see—about 13 months, I think; the government orders were about the 15th of November.

Q. Was there any one to see you yesterday? I was not here.

A. Yes, there is always some one here to see me by the orders.

Q. Who was here yesterday?

A I think it was Kingan, or something like that. I don't always know who they are.

Q. Do you pray, William?

A. I pray myself almost every day and night. (In a very careless tone.)

Q. You told me your parents were Baptists, I think?

A. I believe they were, as the papers were made out.

Q. Where did you live then?

A. (Indifferently.) In Sidney, in the 4th concession.

Q. Then you went to the Baptist Church there; was there one?

A. Yes, there was one.

Q. Where did you live then, William, and what did you do?

A. I lived with my father; went to school, and there was banking and farming, and Railways,—(out short by another question.)

Q. If your parents were Baptists, you were baptised in that Church, then?

A. I—yes, I think I was.

Q. If your parents were Baptists they sent you to the Sabbath School? Were you a teacher, or superintendent, or librarian?

This question was tended to suit several negative answers. To the last portion of it, he said in a peculiar manner:

A. I think I kept the library sometimes, and the banks, and Railways, and the steamboats; I was at all these—. (Stopped by another question.

Q. How old are you William?

A. I maintain I am over 50. I might be over 50, according to the papers. I belonged to the Young Men's Christian Association in Belleville, and in Sidney too. I think, according too Register, I taught school about 3 years. There was a great many officers went by my name. I went to all churches, but it was different at head quarters. I don't know whether the papers were all made out; the books and papers were sent to me as a magistrate, but they are all gone. Sometimes there was money. The banks and railways—(cut short.)

Q. Were you married?

A. I think I was. I believe I was.

Q. Had you any children?

A. Yes.

Q. Are they all dead?

A. That's the news as I got it.

Q. When were you born?

A. Let me see, 18, 20, or 22, or from 18 to 22.

Q. Mr. Paterson was a good man when you lived with him. Were you known by the name of Brenton the?

A. In those papers when they wanted money from me they knew me as Brenton, if small cahco then or clerks came, it was Fox, but the government papers were registered Brenton and if the government [illegible] the name Brenton, faith we must abide by it. When they were very hungry or wanted a big money it was Brenton, oftentimes the the steamboats came, money and fat cattle. But it was all for money. In Belleville I answered to the name of Fox. I have been known for ten years by the name of Brenton; but outside of the-Lines there is a great many things different.

Q. Would you not like to send your sister word? What would she say if she heard?

A I don't know what she would say, as my library runs, she knows the officers rul's, and the government had advertised for my character.

Q. Would you not like ro see her?

A. If I get out of here I have money enough to pay my way on the cars and hotels.

A. If you want my character just write to Flint, or Grier, or Reynolds, or Murray, man who can write you a letter you can read, and they will tell you about me

Q. Were your parents Roman Catholics?

A. Believe they were there sometimes, I saw the church, I think I went to one once or twice.

Q. Then you have been to confession?

A. Faith, on an average I guess I heard confession.

Here he was reminded of the execution, and of his death, to this Brenton said he could not tell the day, it was out of his power—He could not do it. To which Mr. Fish replied, he could tell the day named for him to die, and that he should be looking forward. He said he was ready to die long ago, but there was clerks and printers and government officers who got summons, I expect some further good from this, I am going to pay the officers according to regulations. To several questions he said, I refuse to tell my sister's home, she is in Hastings or Nova Scotia, if you like to tell her I have money to spare. If ministers went or the government or the banks she'll pay, or I'll pay the officers, or send her under the real flag of the government.

Being urged again that the day was near and the execution would take place, he answered I don't really know what their intentions is. It might be that the wantonness of the offerings might be, for if the Commissioners had to pay they would be obliged to pay the offering in sympathy. He knew the cars were running as that is what comes to him.

He here contended that in his day Mr. Marney was Governor General 16 or 17 years ago, and that he Brenton paid him off, under the real flag of the government. When reminded about Heaven he said there were two sides to that and he would stand to the rules and regulations of the life was slighted. To Mr. Fish, I think I will make you paymaster. Again reminded of the awful crime and asked if he [illegible] offered himself to save the [illegible] that Mrs. Payne [illegible]

[illegible] you?

A. I think so. There were the papers.

Q. You believe a she was bad enough to die?

A. Yes she was bad enough to die.

Q. But you know that the gospel rule is when one smites you on one cheek turn the other?——

A. The counties are divided and the laws are altered.

Q. You know the commandment thou shalt do no murder?

Q. Where is that?

In the old testament.

A. These laws are played out.

Q. Are you not troubled about the dreadful crime you have committed on the women and boy?

A. (Carelessly) I am not troubled about it.

Q. If it was to do, would you do it over again?

A. I don't know what I would if the efficiency of the Government orders were (cut short.)

Q. Don't you know you are to die on Friday.

A. I don't know I am to die. I don't know what the Government officers will say as to the law.

Q. Have you not heard that the great God shed his precious blood to save all who will trust him.

A. There is one thing about the news, but of would not give a man thank you.

Q. But, Wm., if you go to hell?

A. There is the new law—I have a different scale. The things are played out long ago. If the notes are passed. Then there are notes of a different Bank.

Here Mr. Fish sang a hymn and Mr. Leslie prayed, after which Mr. Fish requested him to pray, to which he replied, "I believe not, you have far too many requests to acknowledge. I have not the money to pay. If your request had been reasonable I would have had sympathy. The counties are now separate—the papers are different, but it is under the Government flag I have no money to pay. I have not money by me to pay. Some can talk well, but the fathers and mothers were slighted. If the orders are sent I am prepared to die, but so many are looking to me for a pass. I dont know how many days I have to live."

The above is but an outline of the nonsense uttered in replies to the most important questions

On Christmas day a conversation with Mr. Gough was noted down, if possible, more incoherent than the above.

Here is one reply taken from many similar ones.

Mr. Gough, after a long and earnest conversation about the events of the next morning—entreated him to think about it and to flee to Jesus to get cleansed before it was too late.

After a short silence, Mr. Kingan says: William, what do you think?

A. The officers' accounts are sent to me. The tickets and the passes—if the tickets come properly and the officers' salaries are increased, with better meat and good tea, with the flag of the Government; if we get two dozen cent stoves and a ton of coals, for I think the coal stoves will take the prise; if we take green hay, and meadowland tea, and color the peas, then it might be better for us all; if the salaries are increased, with the coal stoves and some good cooks I believe the coal stoves will be best. If I till Saterday, and the flag of the Government admit the content of copper, steel, brass or iron, and pure air, I think we may make something out of it for us all.

This is enough to show the state of mind which is called sane.

THE EXECUTION.

The night previously Constables Howden and McKeown sat up with him. He went to bed about ten o'clock and slept all night, except when showing them something in a few tracts he had collected. At an early hour the Rev. Mr. Savage, of Omemee, and the Rev. Mr. Carroll held religious conversation and prayer with him. Afterwards Revds. Messrs. Fish and Hooper joined them. The conversation elicited was in keeping with previous conversation. He refused to pray when asked by Mr. Fish about five minutes before being pinioned, remarking that the request was too much and that he had prayed. He refused again to give the name of his sister, giving as a reason that the Government demand might be more than she could pay, and also that she could get the news from the printed papers for a small sum, but that he did not know what the government papers were; and they were all printed. His last words to the ministers were about groceries and Government papers.

When the executioner entered and pinioned him he never spoke, except to ask the jailor to button his coat.

In passing out through the corridor to the scaffold he was proceeded by the Sheriff and Mr. Fish, and accompanied by the jailor. As he got on to the first steps to the gallows, Mr. Carroll said, "Good-bye, William," and shook hands with him.

Brenton said "Good-bye," and tried to reach his pinioned hand to him on the second step, either Mr. Hooper or Mr. Savage. bade him good-bye, to which he answered "good-bye," and again shook hands, then he quickened his pace and overtook those before him. On the scaffold he asked the hangman for his papers, or authority, but received no answer. Some one then asked him had he anything to say. He merely said may I die on my knees. The Sheriff said "certainly." The executioner then tied his feet and placed him on the "drop," and tied, the cap on h im drawing it over his face. He then began to pray, saying, "Lord be merciful to me," which Mr. Fish said that's right William, look to Jesus, look to Jesus.

Mr. Carroll said, "William, are you not sorry for what you did. He answered somewhat tremulously and carelessly, "I am sorry for the part I ought to be sorry for," and then said, "If I committed murder I am now about to suffer misery hereafter. Lord have mercy upon me and take me to thy rest. This was in a subdued voice. Mr. Fish then commenced the Lord's Prayer, and just as he uttered "Thy will be done" the bolt was drawn and James Fox was launched into eternity. As the penalty of a heinous crime and bloody crime, whether mortally accountable or not was of [illegible] comes to those who were the instruments of justice in carrying it out. The fall was about 5½ ft. and was not sufficient to break the neck or spinal chord. He gave two or three convulsive heftaves of the body succeeded by one of greater force, but after three minutes showed no signs of suffering, although the pulsations continued fifteen minutes after.

The body was then given to Dr. Hervey to hold an inquest according to law, and afterwards a post mortem examination was made by Dr. O'Sullivan, which we give below. The brain was found healthy but the hemispheres unequal, sufficiently. Dr. O'Sullivan thinks, to produce irregularities of action. The membranes of the brain was also attended to the skull, so as requires it to be torn before separated, and three spots on the membranes showed that he had once suffered from acute disease of that organ, as it was almost eaten through at these places. In other respects the brain was regular, weighing 3 lbs., the average weight being from 46 to 55 oz.

The body was then taken and buried in the jail yard.

Q. Are you not troubled about the dreadful crime you have committed on the women and boy?

A. (Carelessly) I am not troubled about it.

Q. If it was to do, would you do it over again?

A. I don't know what I would if the efficiency of the Government orders were (cut short.)

Q. Don't you know you are to die on Friday.

A. I don't know I am to die. I don't know what the Government officers will say as to the law.

Q. Have you not heard that the great God shed his precious blood to save all who will trust him.

A. There is one thing about the news, but of would not give a man thank you.

Q. But, Wm., if you go to hell?

A. There is the new law—I have a different scale. The things are played out long ago. If the notes are passed. Then there are notes of a different Bank.

Here Mr. Fish sang a hymn and Mr. Leslie prayed, after which Mr. Fish requested him to pray, to which he replied, "I believe not, you have far too many requests to acknowledge. I have not the money to pay. If your request had been reasonable I would have had sympathy. The counties are now separate—the papers are

THE HOTWOOD TRAGEDY.

THE LAST SCENE—THE HANGING OF DAVID HERBY—HIS CONDUCT ASSERTED TO THE LAST.

Monday morning at the comparatively early hour of eight o'clock was enacted the last scene in the tragedy, that for the last six months has formed a topic upon which too many have dwelt with a frequency that showed the attraction of crime, and the morbid interest felt in one whose brow was branded. The phase of human nature thus evinced is neither commendable nor worthy of encouragement, but the fact that this was the first capital sentence to be executed in this county, the circumstances connected with the crime, and the preserving assertions of innocence made by the convict tended to intensify the feeling. The change in the law, however, rendered the gratification of an insane but not creditable curiosity impossible; and large numbers who desired admittance to witness the ending spectacle were refused. Before sunrise there were little groups in the vicinity of the Court House; and as the fatal hour approached quite a number who were not the privileged few whose duty called them within the precincts of the gaol, taxed their ingenuity to gain a good position. Some endeavored to scale the walls; one or two got in by a disreputable deception; and about a dozen clamoured the walls of St. Andrew's Church across the way. Whether the latter succeeded or not in obtaining a view we cannot say; but it would have served them right had the ladder been removed half a day until the cold had superinduced a more healthy feeling among them.

THE PRISONER

had passed the night quietly, sleeping as usual. His appetite in the morning was unimpaired. He dressed carefully in a business suit of dark grey, and made all necessary preparations with as much calmness and concern as if his journey were but for a week instead of for eternity. Announcement to Clergy to whom he said farewell was quiet and courteous; but he exhibited little or no feeling. On the previous day the Sheriff visited him for the last time before calling in his official capacity and to him Nesbit declared his intention of dying like a man; and his conception of that part was carried out with unlooked-for fidelity. There was no manifestation that was what it should have been. He was visited by several resident ministers, and at the request of his relations, by Rev. Mr. Mitchell, C. P. Minister, of Millbrook, but all failed apparently to bring him to a deep and permanent realization of his position. He would listen quietly and courteously to the most solemn and effecting appeals, not to go before his Maker with a lie on his tongue; he would respond even however to prayers offered on his behalf; and almost in the next moment, with all the impulsiveness of his sanguined, strong passionate nature would break out, as new thought crossed his mind, with hard oaths and bitter remarks. These characteristics he displayed throughout his confinement. Occasionally he spoke roughly or insolently to those charged with his keeping, and on one occasion so forgot himself in addressing the Sheriff, but the passion subsided in a very short time, and he always apologized for his rudeness. He did not, as reported assault his keeper but was generally quiet and respectful with the subsequent exceptions mentioned. He appeared incapable of appreciating the exhortations to repentance made by ministers who visited him; and preferred rather to dwell upon his grievance, wh ch he recounted in language that would not bear publication. Some statements utterly preposterous were reiterated with dogged perseverance. He never hesitated to maintain his complete innocence of the crime, declaring that the notoriousness women had given herself, but he stopped her there, and by shooking aspersions on the fair fame of others silenced much of the pity that would have been bestowed upon a fellow being, who in the prime of life was about to end existence ignominiously.

HERBY'S SPIRITUAL CONDITION.

At eight o'clock everything was in readiness. Nesbit bid farewell to his brother.

THE ENTOURAGE,

who came the previous Saturday from a distant town, pinioned Nesbit's arms a little too tightly and was quickly requested by him to loose them a little and did so. Then securely escorted still accompanied by Rev J. A. Murray of this town, and Rev. Mr. Mitchell, whose melancholy duty it was to be present. Nesbit walked with a firm, vigorous and even elastic step through the corridors to in the centre gaol-yard. This was a large frame structure securely built against the wall which it overstepped some four feet. The upper part on the wall side was boarded up so that those on the platform was not visible to persons outside. The platform was about 11 feet from the ground. In the centre was the trap door, over which was a thick rope fastened to a heavy cross beam on the top of the structure. A hole six feet square and four feet deep had been dug directly underneath the drop. The arrangements in every particular were complete, the greatest care being taken to guard against the possibility of an accident. As Nesbit walked up the step came over his face, and it appeared as if he might break down, but ere he had set foot upon the platform he had recovered, and was as cool and collected as ever—being by far the least concerned man within the four walls. The moment he reached the platform he stepped forward with the word "Gentlemen," to address the few spectators below, but was checked for a moment until a few necessary preparations had been completed. He then made some remarks in a clear collected manner, without emotion or hesitation. He again asserted his innocence, declaring that the woman had shot herself, and called the judge and jury perjured scoundrels; and made a degrading statement concerning his unfortunate victim which in justice to the living and in charity to the dead cannot be printed. It gave those who heard it a thrill of horror, which was manifested in a murmur of disapproval, but the prisoner was in no way affected. It was through her that he was on the scaffold, and he was willing to die for her. He concluded by expressing the hope that God would have mercy on them all. He then turned and knelt upon the trap, and with eye that shrank not and lip that quivered not, waited with unexampled firmness while the executioner placed the black cap and adjusted the noose. The Rev. Mr. Mitchell read a portion of the 51st or Penitential Psalm, and Rev. Mr. Murray offered a suitable prayer, concluding with the Lord's Prayer. During these services which occupied about whatever there was no evidence of agitation on the part of the condemned man. At the words "Thy will be done," the executor drew the bolt. A fall of seven feet had been provided for, and death caused, it is believed from the lacerations, without much pain or difficulty. A few convulsive tost not violent struggles of the lower limbs—and all was over. The bell had been tolling and the black flag was at the mast temporarily provided for the purpose.

THE SCAFFOLD

The body was allowed to hang half an hour when it was cut down, and a post mortem examination made by Dr. Fidler, coroner. An inquest was held by Dr. Peck, Coroner, and a jury sworn in. The verdict was in accordance with the execution.

The remains were placed in a plain deal coffin and held until two o'clock, pending an appeal to the Governor of Ontario, by-relations of the deceased for permission to remove them for interment elsewhere. The appeal was not successful, and the coffin was buried beneath the scaffold.—Lindsay Post.

To the Editor of the Examiner.

WARSAW PUBLIC SCHOOL.

At the annual examination of the Public School in Warsaw, on Wednesday the 24th inst. The pupils after recitations and singing, presented their teacher, Miss Laing, with a handsome Bible and complimentary address. Every one present was highly gratified at the efficient condition of the School and the good feeling which existed between the scholars and their teacher.

ADDRESS.

DEAR TEACHER,—As you are about to leave us, we, the pupils of this school, who have attended your instructions during the past year, cannot let this opportunity pass away, without publicly thanking you for all your untiring labors to promote our welfare and for all the gentleness and kindness and sympathy which we have ever received at your hands since you became our teacher. We would also take this opportunity of expressing our deep regret that your stay amongst us should be so very brief. The time you have been with us seems to us like a pleasant dream from which we have been awakened too soon; but we hope that the lessons of truth and wisdom and gentleness which you have taught us shall ever be forgotten, and we feel now that whatever may be the chequered scenes of our future lives, we we shall always look back with sad and pleasing memory to the happy time we have spent together. And, now, dear teacher, in saying to you a kind and loving farewell, and in tendering you our best wishes for your happiness in life, we have the pleasure of presenting you with this Bible as a testimony of affection and esteem.

REPLY BY TEACHER.

MY DEAR PUPILS.—This pleasing testimony of your love and esteem fills my heart with emotions which I am unable to express, and in one sense far more than rewards me for the humble services which I have had the pleasure of rendering you during the year that is now about to close. Before we part, let me thank you sincerely for this valued gift and for your courteous address, and above all let me thank you for your generous feelings towards me, and for all the kind treatment I have received from you since I became your teacher. Our relation as teacher and pupils is now at an end, but I assure you that, in all the vicissitudes of life I shall ever retain a grateful recollection of the happy hours we have spent together and of this handsome token of your kindness to me.

And if in the discharge of our relative duties, I have in any way assisted in the formation of sound principles in your young minds, which all through life may incline you to the steady pursuit of whatever is excellent and virtuous and good, then I shall indeed pay labor has not been in vain. I could like to say more but the moment of our separation has come. Let me thank you again for this valuable present, and let me bid you all without exception, an affectionate farewell. May you all be as happy as I wish you to be, and may the short journey of life we are leaving behind us, smoothly and I be able to say all the blessings taught in this Holy Bible, "precious treasure than art mine."

Farewell! Farewell!!

THE PACIFIC SURVEY.

As you have been informed by telegraph the surveying party under Mr. E. W. Jarvis has returned here from explorations on the line of the Canadian Pacific Rail way through British Columbia and the Rocky mountains. They have been two years absent and during that period have made extensive observations in that heretofore unknown region. The Pacific slope they describe as rugged and broken, an Alpine country intersected by mountains and ravines of sublime proportions, but which nevertheless presents no vast obstacles to the skill of Railway engineers. On the eastern side of the Rocky Mountains the prairie sweeps gradually up to near the summit of Leatherhead Pass, through which a very practicable line has been surveyed. Last September, division "M," of Mr. Jarvis's party, was engaged at the head waters of the Bonaparte River in British Columbia, running a line across to the Thompson River. On Sunday, the 7th of that month, they observed the remains of a man who had evidently lost his way in the mountains, and died of starvation. The bones of the corpse in the neighbourhood of the skeleton was gnawed away, showing the marks of the poor fellows teeth where he had made the final effort to support sinking nature. He had down upon his face in great agony, for the bones of his fingers were dug deep and clenched in the earth. He had been a miner. His gold pan lay near him, with his belt knife, portions of his gun and fragments of his "gum boots." Wild animals had been around him, for some of his bones were found at a distance from the trunk. Alone in the wilderness he met a fearful doom. There was nothing about the remains to give a clue to his identity. Who he was may never be known. The surveyors gathered the poor bones together, a rude box furnished a coffin, and they buried them decently, erecting a cross over the spot where the solitary gold seeker had perished.

The practicability of the Canadian line is well exemplified by the greatest elevation which it reaches above the sea. This is estimated at 3,400 feet, while the American Road, now in operation, reaches the elevation of 8,240, or about one mile of a vertical difference in favor of the Canadian route. It may be further stated that recent explorations by way of Peace River show still more favourable elevation. The members of Mr. Jarvis's party are rapturous in their praises of the Saskatchewan country. They say it is more fruitful and salubrious than Ontario, possessing unparalleled advantages for settlement, and only requiring railway communication to make it teem with wealth and luxury. They speak highly of the people of Red River, their constitutional kindness and generous kindness and generous hospitality. Altogether their description of our great North-West fully sustains the accounts that have already reached us.

Political affairs are quiet since the election excepting the talk which triumphant re-calls for Mr. McKenzie's Ministry.

Fresh Arrivals

We have, indeed, too much politics. It is all very well that the people should be alive to their public interests but there is a point beyond which it is perilous to pass, and I very much fear we have reached that point. Too many people make a trade of politics in Canada. There are too many of them. Here every other man you meet is a Senator, an M. P., an M. P. P., or a member of the Civil Service. All speak politics, eat politics, think politics, live politics, politics, politics, till you wish who, like myself, are tired of quiet or a gentle change, grow sick and weary of the whole thing. Out of a population of four millions we have 776 legislators. Add to these our corporations, town councils, village councils, county councils, and township councils, and we have a total of reputation that is eligible for the position on every man in the land.—Ottawa Correspondent, Montreal Witness.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten Times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtue of its own. Scientic physicians know that medicines may be formed of several ingredients in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. This is the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wider range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alchol is lost in that way, and you get only the small of Oils which they may contain.

A FACT WORTH KNOWING!

The reputation of Wheeler & Wilson's noiseless Lockstitch Sewing Machine, is so high, and the demand so great, that dealers in other machines when asked for it are obliged to say that they sell Wheeler & Wilson's also; but when pushed for one will make excuses or else say "that the last one was sold a few days ago." Then they turn and show the good qualities of those they sell—at the same time being careful to run the W & W down. Another trick is to state that the W & W will not do heavy work, nor use coarse or linen thread, and by showing a worthless imitation (which is of no use to them or anyone else) will tell you "that the W & W is too frail a machine for farmers' use," this, no doubt, is true of the imitation, but utterly false concerning the genuine W & W, as thousands of farmers now using it can testify.

Parties intending to purchase are requested to call and examine.

For Leather or Heavy Manufacturing use the No. 6 Wheeler & Wilson, it excels all others.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Impurities of the blood cause the scrofulous disease, which system, once saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, to which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination until they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured in such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues or uses.

Nevertheless [illegible] is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, this unseen and unfelt tenant of the organism undermines the constitution, and invites the attack of indwelling or fatal diseases, without exciting a suspicion of its presence. Again, it seems to breed infection throughout the body, and then, on some favorable occasion, rapidly develops into one or other of its hideous forms, either on the surface or among the vitals. In the latter, tubercles may be suddenly deposited in the lungs or heart, or tumors formed in the liver, or it shows its presence by eruptions on the skin, or by ulcerations on some part of the body. Hence the occasional use of a bottle of this Sarsaparilla is advisable, even when no active symptoms of disease appear. Persons afflicted with the following complaints generally find immediate relief, and, at length, cure, by the use of this SARSAPARILLA: Life St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ringworm, Sore Eyes, Sore Ears, and other eruptions or visible forms of Scrofulous disease. Also in the more concealed forms, as Dyspepsia, Dropsy, Heart Disease, Fits, Epilepsy, Neuralgia, and the various [illegible] affections of the muscular and nervous system.

Syphilis or Venereal and Mercurial Diseases are cured by it, though a long time is required for subduing these obstinate maladies by any medicine. But long continued use of this medicine will cure the complaint. Leucorrhœa or Whites, Uterine Obstructions, and Female Diseases, are promptly cured relieved and ultimately cured by its purifying and invigorating effect. Minute Directions for each case are found in our Almanac, supplied gratis. Rheumatism, Gout, when caused by accumulations of extraneous matters in the blood, yield quickly to it, as also Liver Complaints, Dyspepsia, Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and Stomach, when arising as they often do, from the rankling poisons in the blood. This SARSAPARILLA is a great restorer for the strength and vigor of the system. Those who are Languishing, Debilitated, Dyspeptic, Nervous, Sleepless, and troubled with Nervous Apprehensions or Fears, or any of the affections or complaints of Females, will find immediate relief and convincing evidence of its restorative power upon trial.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was ever any before so universally adopted into use, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient, purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and thorough cathartic, and purer than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, believe that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its compositions. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but space will not permit to publish them. They may be had of our agents, and we request all who call for them, to read them. Cathartics are needed by all at times; and this is the best that can be employed. Being sugar-coated, they are pleasant to take, and are the best aperient in the world, for they operate on the [illegible] and thus [illegible] the system. They purify the blood, and [illegible] the vital fluid, which is the source of life. They remove the obstructions of the stomach, liver, bowels, and other organs of the body, restoring them to healthful action, and thus cure disease. They purge out the foul humors which breed disease, and cure the common complaints of everybody. They are the best physic for children because mild as well as effectual. Prudent mothers will have them. Every family should have them in their closet. Physicians, clergymen, and statesmen use them. Nurses recommend them. Nothing else will do so much good when you are sick. Nothing else will relieve and cure you so surely. Nothing else is so safe to take when you are not sick, for it will make you well and keep you well for a time. Purge out the impurities of the blood, and prevent their accumulation, by occasional use of these Pills. Keep the machinery of life in order, and it will perform its functions with health. Derangements neglected, grow into diseases, which afterward require much time and large doses to cure. Check them early with the right remedy, and much suffering and large bills will be saved. We could not afford to make and you could not afford to take any but the best pills, even if they were entirely free. But as sugar costs more than gall, the sugar-coated Pills cost more than any other. Yet they are the cheapest in the market, for a dose or two cures. Their superior excellence proves a saving in every family where they are employed. Their sugar coating preserves them always fresh and makes them dissolve readily in the stomach, so that they operate kindly on the [illegible] and not violently on the coats of the stomach, as pills in pungent state often do. Hence they are the safest pill for children to take, because they do not know they are taking medicine. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity. They are the cheapest pill because the best. Their great virtues are known throughout the world. They have gained a reputation unequalled by any other medicine. Carrier Boy's Address.

Hail new born Time, regrets begone,
Why mingle sorrow in our song!
From mem'ry let us blot the past;
Improve this hour, the die is cast.
The Old Year's sun no more shall rise,
Then why the New Year greet with sighs!
Though deeds we thought impressed in sand
Among eternal records stand,
We would not mar the joy and mirth,
Or cloud with care your infant birth.
Of the old year, each thoughtless word
Let all forget, and now record
More deeply writ, like Sinai's Code
On tablets that cannot corrode
Our good intents, and then with care
To end as we begin this year.
With prophet's eye we fain would scan
The vista of the mystic plan
Devised by wisdom's artless skill—
To hide from human eye the ill
Which lurks unseen in mart and home,
Nor near, nor darken till they come.
Omniscience first devised the plan
To dim the vision, lest frail man,
Prescient of all that lurks around,
In trust and strength might not abound,
But rudderless and tempest tossed,
Tho' near the port, be wrecked and lost,
To-morrow's hopes, so bright and fair,
Be guarded from each selfish snare.
The old year's deeds are so well known,
Their resurrection too you'll own
Would not prevent; as once was said,
To preach is vain, tho' by the dead.
Is disregard of Priest and seer,
There's little dread or ghostly fear.
But why thus moralize in rhyme?
I know you fully value time
As much as I, and only set
It's value by the Pile you get.
The golden moments quickly fly
And ere this happy day pass by,
Please, add a Doubloon to my store,
That as I count their number o'er,
I may of your abundant cheer,
Wish patrons all, A HAPPY YEAR.
CARRIER BOY.

Barley Growing.

The following interesting contribution to the Country Gentleman, on this subject, is from the pen of Hon. George Geddes:

"In your paper of the 20th November, you say, 'We have frequently expressed surprise at the interesting neglect with which this important grain appears to be treated by our farmers generally,' and you ask for the reasons.

"There is an unexplained something about the growing of barley that appears to govern its production. Formerly, barley was raised in great quantities in New England, and in the eastern part of New York; now very little is raised east of Utica. Thirty years ago, the south part of the County of Onondaga made barley a leading crop; now but few acres are there devoted to it. But lately the county of Jefferson raised barley that had a high reputation in the market, and now the 'fancy brands' must be raised on the shores of the Bay of Quinte, Canada. So few men govern the price of barley, that they are able to allow their imaginations full play, and pay about as suits them. Last year (1872), sixty cents was the price; this year, in defiance of the panic, the prices are much higher—nearly double last year. There is no staple produced by our farmers whose market price is so capricious. Very often a bushel of barley will sell for as much, or even more, than a bushel of good wheat. We once sold our crop, in a year of good yield, at $2 per bushel. The next year the crop was short, but what little there was would bring 60 the most, seventy-five cents per bushel. The large crop of the one year remained, so much of it, in the hands of the maltsters and brewers, that they appeared determined to indemnify themselves by paying a low price for the product of the unfruitful year.

"To illustrate the irregularities of the barley markets, I take the quotations of this morning, Nov. 25th: Chicago—No. 2, $1.38; Buffalo—two-rowed State, $1.23; (which is nine cents lower than No. 2 is at Chicago); four-rowed at Buffalo, $1.40 for State, and $1.25 for Canada grown; Syracuse, no buyers; Albany—two-rowed State, $1.37; four-rowed State, $1.55; No. 2 Canada West, $1.65; New York—Canada East $1.60; Bay Quinte, $1.75; State two-rowed at $1.35 to $1.37.

"Why does Bay Quinte ruined barley sell at 15 cents more per bushel than Canada East? Much inquiry has elicited the statement from the brewers that there is an unknown something in the soil or climate, or in both, that gives a finer flavor to the hop made from the same. If the Bay Quinte, then from that named anywhere else; just as tobacco raised in Connecticut has something about it, that the consumers prefer to tobacco raised from the same seed in the central parts of the State of New York. This is the final solution given to this matter, after trying for years to find out the facts. Barley is mostly made into beer, and whoever, in the country engages in its production, should know the ups and downs of it, and the growers may as well understand that the fancies and whims of the drinkers of beer will govern the prices of different grades of barley, as the smokers govern the prices of American grown tobacco.

"Barley likes a clayey soil, and a cold, wet climate. So marked is the agent of soil, that in England the farmers of warm, gravelly lands, are obliged to procure their seed from the strong, cold, clayey lands; and the product of the warm lands is in England called the 'malt-ripe,' and the product of the colder lands is called the 'common.'

"A season that is good for raising Indian corn is a bad one for barley. The hot days in June and July, that are so beneficial to the maize, are not good for our barley; and it is not often that the same farm produces exchange crops of Indian corn and barley the same year.

"To secure a good price for barley, we endeavor to have it of the best grade; that any soil and climate can produce, great care is required so to handle it in harvest, and in so housing the crop, as not to have it get injured in wet weather. 'Black ends,' as they are called, really injure the grain, and destroys its malting qualities. The grain should remain in the mow some weeks, that the heating may all be over before threshing. Thus the grain will be entirely dry and the color good, if no injury was suffered in the field, and the crop went into the barn as dry as it should be.

"Threshing should be done with care; the teeth of the machine should not have sharp edges, and them run so close as to cut the kernels. Cutting the grain not only spoils so much as is broken, but in malting, these cut grains not only will not sprout, but they mold, and injure several grains that come in contact with them. This injures the beer.

"Following the example of the English farmer, let the seed be constantly renewed by procuring it from the places where the best grade is produced. Have it free from oats, or any other foul seed; sow early, selecting the strongest clay soils; harvest and thresh with care, and put the grain in the best position, and take all the uncertainties of the market. Sometimes the crop will be very profitable, but generally not more so than any other farm productions. Inasmuch as all that is imported from other countries may be said to go to the making of beer, the makers of malt might lay a heavy duty on the produce of foreign countries, and thereby give our farmers some protection, and oppress nobody—perhaps relieve many. Help the cause of temperance."

Value of Ashes for Potatoes.

On a small patch of land which I have cultivated this season to potatoes, ashes were applied in the hill at the rate of [illegible] to the acre, save on one row, which was left for the purpose of comparison. On this no ashes were applied. On digging the potatoes, those from the row without ashes, and also those from the two adjacent rows were weighed. Computing the yield for an acre of each, the following is the result:—One acre without ashes, 168 bushels large potatoes; 52 bushels small potatoes. One acre with ashes, 200 bushels large potatoes; 37 bushels small potatoes. If we take into the account only the large potatoes, the thirty-two bushels gained by using ashes at sixty cents per bushel, would amount to $19.20. This sum divided by 60, the number of bushels of ashes to the acre, gives thirty-two cents per bushel as their value. Allowing for the labor of applying the ashes, and the excess of small potatoes from the ground upon which no ashes were applied, it would be safe to regard the value of the ashes at about twenty five cents per bushel.

The ashes were from mixed wood, about two-thirds soft wood, and one-third hard wood. It is more than probable that from the dryness of the season the beneficial effects of the ashes in the soil have not yet been fully realized. During the growing season, the row without ashes could not have been selected by the appearance of the tops.

The two lots of potatoes have not yet been compared as to quality for table use. Those, however, which have been tested from land to which ashes were applied, are excellent. The Orono potato was used for the experiment.—M. C. F., in Maine Farmer.

Papering.

It is a matter of doubt why housekeepers, as a general rule, do most of the house papering in the spring, rather than in the fall of the year. There does not seem to be any good reason why such a course should be adopted. In the first place, rooms are newly papered to give them a more tidy appearance. In the spring there is enough out of doors to attract the eye; the windows are almost invariably open and if one sits down in the house in preference to taking a seat on the lawn, or piazza, it is usually by the window, to get a view of the green fields, flowers, trees, or something outside of the house. The paper on the wall attracts little attention and deserves little. In the fall and, indeed, every thing outside is drooping and dead, and this should be made up by making the living rooms of the home as cosy and pleasant as possible. The paper that was put on in the spring has lost its attractions for the eye now, however much it may have been admired when it was first laid. It has become soiled in spots, and these untidy places are the first to catch the eye. If the paper had been put on in the fall, its brightness would have remained until spring, and in the summer it is not essential. Paper is a non-conductor, a great deal to its comfort. It is a poor conductor of heat, and will—more than pay its cost in the saving of fuel. The paste fills many of the crevices in the wall, through which the cold air of winter would drive, and prevent drafts, from which colds and sore throats arise. In fall papering we have no appearance of the mosquito corpses, slain by a sleepless victim in a fit of desperation, nor are we constantly reminded of those pests, the flies. The wall remains freshest and brightest when we most wish to see bright and fresh things. Now, a word about paper. Cheap paper is always the dearest. Those cheap kinds costing from fifteen to twenty-five cents per roll, are always a yard or two short, so that in reality nothing is gained in purchasing these poor grades; and a paper that is worth less than thirty-five or forty cents hardly repays laying. If you wish to be frugal as possible, select a paper with [illegible] with "no match" to it, and in place of a border, take the remnants, cut in the stripe and mitre it at the top and bottom of the room. It gives a neat appearance and looks like panel work. In this way your room is more ornamental—you save the border, and use up the waste pieces that are of no value for anything else.

Now, about pasting on paper. The first essential, is a good paste, and the following rule for making that article is the best and for the cheapest we have ever used:—Take eighteen pounds of hole, finely powdered and softened in water. Then boil a pound and a quarter of glue, until it is thoroughly dissolved, and stir the flour into it, with three pounds of gypsum. The whole must be then forced through a sieve. This may then be diluted with water, to the consistency of a thin paste. It is not only better and cheaper than the ordinary flour paste, but will adhere to walls that have been whitewashed. Cut enough paper the desired length to cover the entire room. Take boards the length of the paper, and place them on stools the right height, to enable you to reach across the boards easily. Place the cut paper on these boards, face down, and with a soft brush apply the paste. When a strip has been pasted, fold the lower end over about one-third the way up, to prevent its sticking to the wall at the bottom. Take the strips by the two upper corners and place them against the wall. The paper will hang to the wall but will not stick at the bottom, and you can sight down the inner edge, and see when you have it true with the casing, or last piece laid. Then fasten it at the top. For working it against the wall, don't use a cloth; take a whitewash brush, and carefully to its place. These directions may be old to some of our readers, but it cost the writer a vast amount of trouble, and, possibly, some scolding, before they were found out and put in practice. By following these directions, especialy the one in regard to folding the lower end of the paper over, and letting it adhere to the body of the payer, one can do the otherwise unpleasant job of papering alone, and all help is superfluous. By using the brush in place of the cloth, air places will be avoided, and the paper will not be soiled by paste that sticks to a cloth.—American Farm Journal.

Execution of Osier at Pembroke.

THE PRISONER'S CONFESSION.

Osier, convicted at the last Assizes at Pembroke, of outraging and then murdering an old Polish woman, about 80 years of age, named Lecovrigh, living on the opening road, suffered on Friday the extreme penalty of the law. His execution took place at a quarter past 8 o'clock, and was witnessed by twenty or thirty people, comprising the usual officials, with a few others. On reaching the scaffold the prisoner knelt down, the priest kneeling beside him. Osier said, speaking in French: "I am going to tell the truth now, as before God, in whose presence I am about to appear. What I said about O'Keefe when I accused him of the crime was false. He is innocent as I am also of that crime, but I forgive all." The prisoner appeared composed. He had frequently, within the last few days, expressed his willingness to die, saying that he believed God had appointed the time and manner of their death to all men, and if it was his will that he should die in this way he was quite resigned. He said he was not afraid of death, and that he was prepared to die. He slept and ate well, and seemed to enjoy good health. He did not, however, retire to bed last night till sometime after midnight, when he laid down and slept soundly for about two hours. He then got up and dressed himself with great care, and spent the remainder of his time in devotional exercises. When the Sheriff, accompanied by the hangman and other officials, entered his cell to pinion him and escort him to the scaffold, he shook hands with the sheriff and expressed his thanks for the treatment he had received. When on the scaffold he continued ejaculating prayers for mercy until the fatal noose was placed on his neck and the cap drawn over his face. The bolt was drawn at a quarter past eight. He fell about five feet ten inches. The only movement was a slight twitching of the hands and feet and a drawing up of the shoulders, which continued only for a moment, after which he appeared motionless. He was allowed to hang three quarters of an hour. The usual inquest was held. Osier was twenty-four years of age, and was born at Three Rivers, Quebec, where his father and four brothers and four sisters reside.

Sleeping in a Cold Room.

Hall's Journal of Health says that cold bed-chamber always imperil health, and invite fatal disease. Robust persons may safely sleep in a temperature of forty degrees, or under, but the old, the infant, and the frail, should never sleep in a room where the atmosphere is much under fifty degrees Fahrenheit.

All know the danger of going direct into the cold from a very warm room. Very few rooms, churches, theatres and the like are ever warmer than seventy degrees. If it is freezing out of doors it is thirty degrees—the difference being forty degrees more. Persons will be chilled by such a change in ten minutes, although they may be actively talking. But to lie still in bed, nothing to promote the circulation, and breathe for hours the atmosphere of forty, or even fifty degrees, when the lungs are always forty-eight, is too great a change. Many persons wake up in the morning with inflamation of the lungs who went to bed well, and are surprised that this should be the case. The cause may often be found in sleeping in a room, the window of which has been foolishly opened for ventilation. The water-cure journals of the country have done an incalculable injury by the blind and indiscriminate advice of hoisting the windows at night.

The rule should be everywhere [illegible] in winter, to have the chamber-door [illegible] and the fire-place—then there is a draft up the chimney, while the room is not so likely to become cold. If there is some fire in the room all night, the window [illegible] a little all night with a temperature over fifty, then in a pure air with a temperature under forty. The bad air may sicken you, but [illegible] you; the cold air can, and does kill very often.

Home-Made Perfumery.

The ordinary method of obtaining the perfumes of flowers and the like has been employed for ages, is by distillation. Shakespeare tells us that or, in plain prose, that by distilling flowers we may possess their sweetness in winter, when their beauty has passed away.

[illegible]

The ordor of flowers is due to a minute portion of volatile oil, which is continually generated and given off by the plant. When the flowers are distilled with water, the essential oil rises with the steam, and is condensed with it in the receiver. But the fragrant principle may be obtained in another way, which, as it requires no apparatus, may furnish an agreeable recreation to some of our readers who have flower gardens and plenty of leisure. The sweetness that would be otherwise wasted on the summer air, may be saved to delight the sense long after the blossoms that have exhaled it have perished.

Gather the flowers, with as little of the stalk as possible, and put them in a jar three-quarters full of olive or almond oil. After they have soaked in the oil for twenty-four hours, the whole must be put into a coarse cloth bag, and the oil squeezed out; then fresh flowers are to be added, and the process to be repeated for twenty days or more according to the strength of the perfume desired. When the oder of only one species is wanted, an immense number of flowers are necessary to produce a scented oil, and special cultivation would be required to furnish them; but the amateur may use almost any sweet-scented flowers that come to hand, and get a mixed perfume or millefleurs (thousand flowers,) as the French call it.

The smaller kinds are to be preferred for the purpose, such as sweet pea, mignonette, stocks, clove pink, &c. The larger blossoms are not adapted for use by the novice, as the odor they they impart does not compensate for the space they take up. The oil, when thoroughly perfumed, is to be mixed with an equal quantity of strong "deodorised" alcohol, and shaken every day for a fortnight; after which the spirit may be poured off quite clear and bright, and will be found highly charged with the odoriferous principle that was collected in the oil. Flowers that are going out of bloom are just as good for this purpose as those in their prime so that the garden need not be despoiled of its beauty for the experiment. To quote shakspeare again:—

"Of their sweet deaths are sweetest odors made."

We presume that most persons would prefer to buy their perfume rather than to manufacture them in this way; but some may enjoy the work for its own sake, and consider that the fragrant product worth all the time and trouble it has cost.—Journal of Chemistry.

AN UNWILLING ELDER.—Mr. Shirra, of Kirkoaldy, on one occasion went to a member of his church who had been elected an elder, but who declined the honor, as he had done on several occasions previously. Mr. Shirra said he would serve his edict, and call him in the church for ordination. The edict was duly served on the day appointed, and the recusana called by name. The elder rose and said with earnestness and solemnity, that he was not suited for such an office. Mr. Shirra stopped his mouth saying, "Come awa doun; do ye no ken that the Master had ane need o' an ass?"

WILL HAMILTON'S MANNERS.—Will Hamilton, the "daft man o' Ayr," was once hanging about the vicinity of a loch, which was partially frozen. Three young ladies were deliberating as to whether they would venture upon the ice, when one of them suggested that Will should be asked to walk on it first. The proposal was made to him. "Though I'm daft, I'm no ill-bred, quickly responded Will; "after you, leddies."

Asthmatic Bronchitis of Nine Years' Standing Cured by the Syrup.

ST. JOHN, N. B., August 11, 1869.

MR. JAMES I. FELLOWS—DEAR SIR: I consider it my duty to inform you of the great benefit I have received from the use of your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites. I have been, for the past nine years, a great sufferer from Bronchitis and Asthma, at times so ill that for weeks I could neither lie down or take and nourishment of consequence and during the time suffering intensely. I have had, at different times, the advice of twenty-two physicians.

The least exposure to either damp or draught, was sure to result in a severe at ack of my disease. Finding no relief from all the medicines I had taken, I concluded to try your Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites, and have great reason to thank God for the result. I have, in all, taken twelve bottles, and now I feel as strong and well as ever I felt in my life, and for the last year have not had one moments sickness, and neither dews dampness or draught have the least effect on me. Were I to write on the subject for hours I could not say enough in praise of your invaluable Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites or give an adequate idea of my sufferings.

You are at liberty to make what use you please of this letter, because I hope its publicity may be the means of benefiting other sufferers as much as it has me.

I remain yours respectfully,
MRS. HIPWELL,

To the Electors of the

WEST RIDING

of the

COUNTY OF PETERBORO.

GENTLEMEN:

The Governor General having by the advice of his present Ministers dissolved Parliament, and ordered a General Election, I offer myself again as a Candidate to represent the interest of this Riding in the Dominion Parliament.

In the election of 1872 a majority of the Electors of the Riding honored me with their confidence but the Returning Officer took it upon himself to return as duly elected, the Minority, Candidate, an outrage the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald condoned by retaining Mr. Cluxton in parliament, contrary to established law, contrary to English and Canadian precedent, and contrary to every principle of justice.

I endeavoured by every legitimate means in my power before Parliament, the Privileged Committee and an Election Committee, to obtain your rights, but so far, unsuccessfully. The dissolution of Parliament has taken the matter out of the hands of a partizan committee and placed it in yours. I ask your verdict on what I cannot but characterize as one of the greatest outrages ever committed on a free people.

If you elect me as your representative, I will support the present Government in their efforts to put down all jobbery, and make it impossible for a rich man like Sir Hugh Allan, to cram Parliament with members elected by his gold to barter the people's rights and control the destiny of our country.

I earnestly desire to mantain British connection and to consolidate the Dominion of Canada, giving to each Province justice and equal rights, thus allaying sectional feeling, and securing prosperity and happiness throughout the land.

The High Court of Parliament has condemned Sir John A. Macdonald and his Ministry, for bartering to a Contractor, the Pacific Railway Charter for money, with which they controlled the Elections and kept themselves in power. I sympathize in that verdict, and I ask your support in my position.

While I am desirous of seeing energetic and prudent action towards developing the Country, I will strenuously oppose entering blindly into huge undertakings before ascertaining the probable cost: and economy in every branch of public expenditure will get my support.

The Great North West will demand a large share of the attention of Parliament, I am in favour of opening Railway Connection with that part of the Dominion without delay, that every facility may be afforded for its settlement.

I am opposed to the granting of large tracts of land to Railway Companies.

I will advocate the passing of a Stringent Election Law, an Income Franchise, and the use of the Ballot.

I will advocate Free trade as far as the circumstances of the country will allow, that the burden of taxation may fall as lightly as possible on the great producing classes, the Farmer, Mechanic and Labourer.

I feel confident that the advent of the present administration to power will mark a new and happier era in the history of this Country. I will give it a loyal, but not slavish support in carrying out the policy they advocated while in opposition, and in upholding sound constitutional principles of Government.

I hope under the present circumstances of political parties, and in view of the great National Scandal brought upon us as a people by the late Government, and in view of the treatment this Riding has received at their hands to obtain the support of all my old supporters, and of all Loyal and Independent Electors who are not prepared to sanction and approve the condemned conduct of the late administration.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

JOHN BERTRAM.

To the Electors of the EAST RIDING OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBORO.

GENTLEMEN,

The Government, convinced that the late House of Commons did not fairly represent the Country, have dissolved the Parliament and appealed to the Constituencies for their verdict, and you will soon have an opportunity of saying what your verdict will be, by the choice you make of a member to represent you in the Legislature.

Having received the unanimous nomination of a large and influential convention of Reformers from the different Municipalities, and being assured by them that I would receive the cordial support of their friends throughout the Riding, I cannot refuse to accede to their request, and now offer myself as a candidate for your suffrages in the Reform interest.

The important and exciting questions before the Country have been so fully discussed in the public prints, it is unnecessary for me to refer to them at this time.

The late Ministry having been, by their own admission, guilty of many acts of gross corruption, deserve in my opinion, the unqualified condemnation of every honest man; and this I am confident will be the decision of the Electors of East Peterborough.

If elected, the present administration being composed of gentlemen of the highest character for integrity, honour and ability, will receive my cordial support, so long as they honestly and faithfully discharge their duties, but no longer.

A residence of nearly 40 years amongst you has made me tolerably well acquainted with your wants and wishes, and has given you an opportunity of judging of my consistency as a Reformer, and as I have not yet seen any reason to change my political creed, I can appeal with confidence for your support.

I will take an early opportunity of seeing as many of the Electors as possible before the day of Polling, when I can more fully give you my opinions on the various questions before the Country.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant,

JAMES HALL.

A FACT WORTH KNOWING!

The exhibition of Wheeler & Wilson's noiseless Lockstich Sewing Machine, is so high, and the demand so great, that dealers in other machines when asked for it are obliged to say that they sell Wheeler & Wilson's also; but when pushed for one will make excuses or else say "that the last one was sold a few days ago." Then they turn and show the good qualities of those they sell—at the same time being careful to run the W & W down. Another trick is to state that the W & W will not do heavy work, nor use coarse or linen thread, and by showing a worthless imitation (which it do no use to them or anybody else) will tell you that the W & W is too fruit a machine for farmers' use," this, no doubt, is true of the imitation, but utterly false concerning the genuine W & W, as thousands of farmers now using it can testify.

Parties intending to purchase are requested to call and examine.

For Leather or Heavy Manufacturing use the No. 6 Wheeler & Wilson, it excels all others.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Ayer's
Hair Vigor,

For restoring Gray Hair to its natural Vitality and Color.

A dressing which is at once agreeable, healthy, and effectual for preserving the hair. Faded or gray hair is soon restored to its original color with the gloss and freshness of youth. Thin hair is thickened, falling hair checked, and baldness often, though not always, cured by its use. Nothing can restore the hair where the follicles are destroyed, or the glands atrophied and decayed. But such as remain can be saved for usefulness by this application. Instead of fouling the hair with a pasty sediment, it will keep it clean and vigorous. Its occasional use will prevent the hair from turning gray or falling off, and consequently prevent baldness. Free from those deleterious substances which make some preparations dangerous and injurious to the hair, the Vigor can only benefit but not harm it. If wanted merely for a

HAIR DRESSING,

nothing else can be found so desirable. Containing neither oil nor dye, it does not soil white cambric, and yet lasts long on the hair, giving it a rich glossy lustre and a grateful perfume.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma, and Consumption.

Probably never before in the whole history of medicine has any disease so widely and so deeply upon the confidence of mankind, as this unrivalled remedy for pulmonary complaints. Through a long series of years, and among most of the races of men it has shown higher and higher in their estimation, for it has become better known. Its uniform [illegible] have made it known as a remedy for [illegible] them. While adapted to [illegible] and to young children, it is [illegible] effectual remedy that can [illegible] consumption, and the dangerous [illegible] throat and lungs. As a protection against [illegible] of Croup, it should [illegible] every family, and indeed as all [illegible] a cold and cough, all [illegible] with the antidote for them.

Consumption is thought incurable, and most numbers of cases where the disease has advanced [illegible] are completely cured, and the patient restored to sound health by the Cherry Pectoral, by [illegible] when all other remedies [illegible] over the [illegible] and lungs, that the last one was sold a few days ago." Then they turn and show the good qualities of those they sell—at the same time being careful to run the W & W down. Another trick is to state that the W & W will not do heavy work, nor use coarse or linen thread, and by showing a worthless imitation (which it do no use to them or anybody else) will tell you that the W & W is too fruit a machine for farmers' use," this, no doubt, is true of the imitation, but utterly false concerning the genuine W & W, as thousands of farmers now using it can testify.

Parties intending to purchase are requested to call and examine.

For Leather or Heavy Manufacturing use the No. 6 Wheeler & Wilson, it excels all others.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's

Select Poetry.

Twenty Years Ago.

How cautious are the changes, Jim,
Since twenty years ago!
When girls were woollen dresses, Jim,
And boys were pants of tow?
When shoes were made of cow-hide,
And socks of home spun wool,
And children did a half day's work
Before they went to school.

The gain took mantle tuesses, Jim,
Upon the spinning wheel,
And promised hats and carty, Jim,
On spindle, unth and reel;
The boys would ride bare back to mill,
A dozen miles or so,
And hurry off before 'twas day,
Some twenty years ago.

The people rode to meetin', Jim,
In sleds instead of sleighs,
And waggons rode so easy, Jim,
As buggies now-a-days:
And even showered well for beaus,
Though now they'd be too slow,
For people lived not half so fast,
Some twenty years ago.

Oh! well do I remember, Jim,
That Wilson's patent stove,
That father bought and paid for, Jim,
In cloth our girls had wove;
And the neighbors wondered when
We got the thing to go;
They said 'twould burst and kill us all,
Some twenty years ago.

Yes, everything is different, Jim,
From what it "used to was,"
For men are always tampering,
With God's great natural laws:
And what on earth we're coming to
Does anybody know?
For everything has changed so much,
Since twenty years ago.

A Citizen on the Farm.

Will it pay a city man to live on a farm?

This question is often asked me by my friends. I am also asked if my potatoes cost me less than five dollars a bushel—if my milk does not cost as much per quart as champagne, and numerous other questions, all implying that farming will not pay a city man. One friend says, I know you spend two dollars on your farm for every one you get from it. A statement of what I have done and suffered and gained, ought to satisfy these friends and here it is:—

A few years ago I disposed of my city residence and with the proceeds purchased a farm of about 25 acres, three miles from the city, provided with comfortable buildings; improved and enlarged the houses and sheds, provided myself with horses, carriages and waggons for family and farm use; with fowls, a cow, carts, plows, and all the implements for cultivating the land. By this time I had expended all I had received for the sale of my city home, and this amount I called my capital stock, chargeable with interest and liable to taxation.

I now commenced work, doing it all by hired help, as the duties of my business in the city required and received from me as much time and more labor than I had formerly given. I opened a farm account and charged to it every expenditure for labor, hay, grain, manure, horse-shoeing repairs, of all kinds, toll, the cost of all my new implements or carts, and every other item, except the repairs to my family carriage and my wife's phaeton. I did not even deduct the time of my man in making permanent improvements, on my place or driving the carriage; or the shoeing of the horse I used for going to and returning from the city, but drove as hard a bargain with my farm as Shylock would with a gentle, for I wanted to see the worst of it.

On the other hand I credited the farm only with the cash actually received from sale of the produce; and find the cash so received will pay, and actually paid, all the expenses of every kind except the interest on the capital and the taxes, which stand in the place of rent, or interest and taxes upon the same sum invested in the city home. My family of seven persons has had, free and clear of expense, all the vegetables, fruit, eggs, poultry, milk and cream, of the best and freshest kind that we could eat. We have also had flowers to enjoy, horses to ride or drive whenever we wished, and, better than all else, so much good fresh air that our physicians' bills have diminished nine-tenths. The expenses of sea-side and mountain trips have diminished wonderfully, and ice cream and strawberries and cream cost only the price of the sugar, and are superior to any we eat in the city.

And so, my friends, farming has paid a city man, and my potatoes do not cost me five dollars a bushel (I learned something from the "Country Gentleman" about cultivating them) and the milk costs nothing, although we use from ten to twenty quarts a day; and my champagne costs me nothing for I don't need it, and I have discontinued using wine at dinner for I don't need that, and farming would pay you too if you would try it.

Winter Evenings at Home.

Dear mothers and sisters, let us get it well into our heads and hearts that home-making is far far above mere housekeeping. Good housekeeping is of very great importance, almost essential; but the real value of the home-work in us it makes home sweet and dear. Love is the essential thing, and it will indeed cover a multitude of sins—that is, it will lead to mutual forbearance and a desire to make others happy.

In the home-making business, these long winter evenings are both seed time and harvest. During the day the children may have been at school, the husband and father absent in his business, and other members of the family scattered busily and variously employed. But in the evening these all come home and gather round the table or the fire. If all the kindly feelings, all the sympathies, all the good counsels, all the cheerful words, all the loving looks, all the helpful deeds, all the tender words, if all these kindly things, flowing, alas, if not from the heart, but from the lips only, if all these are not there, where, then, would be the need of anyhome and reform schools!

It is of the greatest importance that the little ones should go to bed happy—important for their healths and for their dispositions. And if we can all say "good night," and sink to sleep with hearts kindly affectioned one toward another, it will help our soul's growth wonderfully. Then let us have pleasant social evenings. Let us get the work all done up on the busiest days, if possible, before night comes; and if we have a clean frock and collar and a bright ribbon, let us put them on for the sake of the dear ones whose happiness is surely affected by all these little things.

Now, who will read aloud? Yes, I do know how almost, and often entirely impossible this is if baby wakes. Selfish little babies! But is is the nature of a baby to be selfish, and we must conform ourselves to it more or less until it gets a little older. Games, then, or puzzles, or light work around the lamp.

Pray tell me why should a woman's fingers be busy with knitting or sewing, and a man's or a boy's be idle or at play? Teach the boys to knit and sew, and when there is need they can employ themselves right usefully so. If they learn to employ their time while young, if they learn to love work, they will be carving out frames or bracelets or napkin rings or children's toys while the story is read aloud. If potatoes are to be prepared at night for the breakfast, why can not some masculine fingers do it?

About the reading—don't be too prosy if their are children among the listeners. It is best to read something that interests all, at least a part of the evening. Every parent who deserves the joy and honor of parentage, has a young spot in the heart, and can not fail to be interested in any well written children's book or story.—Exchange.

Idea of the Spinning Jenny.

James Hargreaves dropped upon his knee, and rolled on the floor at length. He lay with his face toward the floor, and made lines and circles with the end of a burnt stick. He rose and went to the fire to burn his stick. Then he sat upon a chair, and placed his head between his hands, his elbows on his knees and gazed intently on the floor. Then he sprang to his feet, and replied to some feeble question of his wife, who had not risen since the day she gave birth to a little stranger, by a loud assurance that he had it; and taking her in his sturdy arms in the blanket, the baby in her arms, he lifted her out and held her over the black drawing on the floor. These he explained, and she joined in a small, hopeful happy laugh with his high toned assurance that she should never again toil at the spinning wheel; that he should never again "play," and have his loom standing for want of weft.

"Our fortune is made when that is made," said he, speaking of his drawing on the floor.

"What will you call it?" asked his young wife.

"Call it? What if we call it after thyself, Jenny? They called thee 'Spinning Jenny' afore I had thee, because thou beat every lass in Stanchill Moor at the wheel. What if we call it 'Spinning Jenny'"

The Spinning Jenny could spin twelve threads instead of one, as by hand-spinning.

The populace broke the machine to pieces, and poor Hargreaves beart at the same time.

Richard Arkwright, a common barber, caught the idea of Hargreaves, improved on it, realized half a million sterling, and became Sir Richard Arkwright, whose son, in 1843, died the richest commoner in England.

Hogarth's Masterpiece.

We remember, years ago, of having heard the following anecdote of Hogarth, and we deem that it will bear repeating.

The celebrated artist was once applied to by an exceedingly wealthy, but very penurious old nobleman, to paint the main hall of a new mansion with a historical piece—a style of embellishment in vogue among the aristocracy of the period. Hogarth was open to the proposition, and was asked what he would charge to paint upon the walls of the hall a representation of the Passage of the Children of Israel across the Red Sea, pursued by Pharaoh and his host. The painter viewed the hall, and replied that he would do it for one hundred guineas. The miserly old noble turned up his nose in amazement at the enormous charge. He would give twenty guineas for the work, and that was more than he deemed it worth.

Hogarth, as may well be supposed, was both vexed and mortified by this estimate of the value of his labor; but he nodded and restrained his temper, and finally said, if the sum were paid to him in advance, he would undertake the job. The close-fisted nobleman consented to this arrangement and he could not repress a chuckle of inward satisfaction in view of his grand bargain as he paid over the money. Hogarth pocketed the twenty gold pieces, and promised that he would commence the work on the morrow.

Early on the following morning the artist appeared at the mansion, accompanied by a stout assistant, who bore a huge basket of common red paint, and at once they proceeded to daub the walls of the hall liberally with the glaring pigment.

An hour later, a servant, sent by the nobleman who [illegible] up from his bed, lingered [illegible] at his door, commencing [illegible] first appeared—

"Well, my lord, the work is done."

"What!" cried the astonished nobleman. "Already done?"

"Why, the [illegible] of your hall, my lord."

"What in the name of wonder is this," he cried, rubbing his eyes, and gazing from the daub to the dauber.

"That my lord, replied Hogarth, with a low bow, and with a serious look, "is the Red Sea."

"The Red Sea!" But—but—but where are Pharaoh and his host."

"Why my lord, they are all drowned!" replied Hogarth.

"Well, and where are the children of Israel?"

"They," said the painter, with an assuring nod, have all crossed over on the other side!"

The old niggard found it in vain to complain; and for producing the hosts of Egypt and the Israelites Hogarth finally received his hundred guineas.

Kind Words.

Not long since, the news of the death of a friend of mine reached me; almost the first thought that occurred was how little I had ever done to make that short, sorrowful life happy. Many many things I remembered that I might have done when it was too late; just as we all do when we stand beside those who have gone. We never regret the kind words we have spoken, or the retort we have left unsaid, but bitterly we recall sharp words uttered angrily, and unkind actions that may have caused tears to come to eyes that will never shed them any more.

None of us value sufficiently the vast influence of kindness; we do not think how those around us stand in need of it; we feel only for ourselves. Alone, unwitnessed—save by God—many conflicts take place; the poor human heart struggles with sorrow. Let us try, then, and do all we can to make those about us happy, if only with a kind word.

I remember when a child being away from home and feeling very lonely, I accidentally met with a lady, who, putting her arm around me, drew me towards her and said a few kind words. The words I have forgotten long since, but the impression they made is still as fresh as yesterday, and as I look back through years to that face, it always seems so young and lovely.

Kind words are like flowers, we may scatter around us, whose fragrance rises up like incense; or, better still, they remind us of the girl in the fairy tale, from whose lips, when she spoke, beautiful pearls fell. But they are of more value than pearls. From them we reap a rich reward here, and they are treasures laid up in heaven.

A Wonderful Work of Art.

There is now exhibiting in Paris one of the most startling works of genius and art that we have ever witnessed. It is a diorama of Paris and all Paris is running wild to view it. There is some optical illusion in connection with it that no one seems able to understand. Although a painting it so closely resembles nature that on suddenly entering the hall the spectator is bewildered, and invariably complains of dizziness at his eye seems the intervening scenes and the distant horizon presented to view.

The building in which the diorama is exhibited is a circular, and about 390 feet in diameter, with a glass dome. On entering it the visitor passes along a rather dark passage to what seems the centre of the building, and then proceeds up a circular series of stone steps, about forty in number, and finds himself on a circular platform on the top of a veritable hill of earth, strewn with cannon ball and shell, the object of the artist being to place him in the Fort of Issy, surrounded on every side by the incidents of the siege, with the city of Paris and its monuments, domes and steeples in the distance.

By close examination it could be discovered that the nearer earthworks of the picture, and even some of the cannon, for a distance of fifty or sixty feet from the edge of the platform, is veritable earth, and undoubted cannon, and real willow gabions and sand-bags, but the exact spot where the substantials ended and the canvas began was not so easily detected. The reader must take our word for it, that as we stood on the platform, representing an elevated position on one of the bastions of Fort Issy, that it appeared to the mortal vision of all of us just as if we were there in reality in the midst of the siege. We could scarcely believe that we were inside of a building, as nature was so closely imitated that it seemed as if the vision embraced every tree and hillock up to Fortress Mont Velerien, eight or ten miles distant.

The horizon was perfect all around the circle, and there was nothing visible to indicate that we were not out in the open air, except a circular canvas, suspended as if from the cloud, high up over our heads, and nothing visible anywhere to indicate that we were in reality inside of a building viewing a painting. The whole seems to be a piece of legerdemain in art that has never been attempted before. When we came out of the building we involuntarily turned around and measured its size with our eyes, in a vain attempt to unravel its mystery.

A physician writes, asking the renewal of a note, and says: We are in a horrible crisis; there is not a sick man in the House."

"I will there order," shouted the captain of a colonage to his voluntary cook. "If you don't cook the dinner, I'll do it myself. I will have dinner on board this 'ere vessel."

Changing Seed.

If farmers were always careful to sow none but plump grains, of pure seed; this, seed of one variety, unmixed, we see no reason why they should change their seed. Where seed of a good variety is mixed with a variety inferior in quality, but of a greater vigor, the more vigorous kind will gain upon the better kind, and the quality will deteriorate. Also, when inferior, shrunken grains are sown the wheat must deteriorate; but where pure, plump grains are always sown upon soil in good condition, we do not believe that there is anything in the seed-bed that should affect the quality, or constitution of the wheat. We have known instances where farmers have carefully saved the most perfect ears of seed corn for a succession of years, and the quality of the variety has improved. We believe, that if equal care was exercised in saving seed wheat, the result would be similar. We do not doubt that benefits have resulted from changing seed, but we suspect it was where a careless farmer bought his seed from a more careful one. We would advise where a change is made, procuring seed from a better and cleaner soil, and we should consider this of greater importance than a mere change of different texture or composition.

We should prefer seed already adapted to the climate, and we should change just as often as our seed became poor.—Rural Home.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE EAST RIDING OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH.

GENTLEMEN :

The Government, convinced that the late House of Commons did not fairly represent the Country, have dissolved the Parliament and appealed to the Constituencies for their verdict, and you will soon have an opportunity of saying what your verdict will be, by the choice you make of a member to represent you in the Legislature.

Having received the unanimous nomination of a large and influential convention of Reformers from the different Municipalities, and being assured by them that I would receive the cordial support of their friends throughout the Riding, I cannot refuse to accede to their request, and now offer myself as a candidate for your suffrages in the Reform interest.

The important and exciting questions before the Country have been so fully discussed in the public prints, it is unnecessary for me to refer to them at this time.

The late Ministry having been, by their own admission, guilty of many acts of gross corruption, deserve, in my opinion, the unqualified condemnation of every honest man ; and this, I am confident, will be the decision of the Electors of East Peterborough.

If elected, the present administration being composed of gentlemen of the highest character for integrity honor and ability, will receive my cordial support, so long as they honestly and faithfully discharge their duties, but no longer.

A residence of nearly 40 years amongst you has made me tolerably well acquainted with your wants and wishes, and has given you an opportunity of judging of my consistency as a Reformer, and as I have not yet seen any reason to change my political creed, I can appeal with confidence for your support.

I will take an early opportunity of seeing as many of the Electors as possible before the day of polling, when I can more fully give you my opinions on the various questions before the Country.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obed't servant

JAMES HALL.

January 7th 1874.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE WEST RIDING OF THE COUNTY OF PETERBOROUGH.

GENTLEMEN :

The Governor-General having by the advice of his present Ministers dissolved Parliament, and ordered a General Election, I offer myself again as a Candidate to represent the interests of this Riding in the Dominion Parliament.

In the election of 1872 a majority of the Electors of the Riding honored me with their confidence, but the Returning Officer took it upon himself to return as duly elected, the Ministry Candidate, as through the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald condoned by retaining Mr. Cluxton in Parliament, contrary to established law, contrary to English and Canadian precedent, and contrary to every principle of justice.

I endeavoured by every legitimate means in my power before Parliament, the Privileged Committee and an Election Committee to obtain your rights, but so far unsuccessfully. The dissolution of Parliament has taken the matter out of the hands of a partisan committee and placed it in yours. I ask your verdict on what I cannot but characterize as one of the greatest outrages ever committed on a free people.

If you elect me as your representative, I will support the present Government in their efforts to put down all jobbery, and make it impossible for a rich man like Sir Hugh Allan, to cram Parliament with members elected by his gold to barter the peoples' rights and control the destiny of our country.

I earnestly desire to maintain British connection and to consolidate the Dominion of Canada, giving to each Province justice and equal rights, thus allaying sectional feeling, and securing prosperity and happiness throughout the land.

The High Court of Parliament has condemned Sir John A. Macdonald and his Ministry, for bartering to a contractor the Pacific Railway Charter for money, with which they controlled the elections and kept themselves in power, I sympathize in that verdict, and I ask your support in my position.

While I am desirous of seeing energetic and prudent action towards developing the Country, I will strenuously oppose entering blindly into huge undertakings before ascertaining the probable cost ; and economy in every branch of public expenditure will get my support.

The Great North West will demand a large share of the attention of Parliament, I am in favor of opening Railway connection with that part of the Dominion without delay, that every facility may be afforded for its settlement.

I am opposed to the granting of large tracts of land to Railway Companies.

I will advocate the passing of a Stringent election Law, an Income Franchise, and the use of the Ballot.

I will advocate Free Trade as far as the circumstances of the country will admit, that the burden of taxation may fall as lightly as possible on the great producing classes, the Farmer, Mechanic and Labourer.

I feel confident that the advent of the present administration to power will mark a new and happier era in the history of this Country. I will give it a loyal but not slavish support in carrying out the policy they advocated while in opposition, and in upholding sound constitutional principles of Government.

I hope under the present circumstances of political parties, and in view of the great National Scandal brought upon us as people by the late Government, and in view of the treatment this Riding has received at their hands to obtain the support of all my old supporters, and of all Loyal and Independent Electors who are not prepared to sanction and approve the disgraceful conduct of the late administration.

I am, Gentlemen,

Your obd't servant,

JOHN BERTRAM.

January 6th, 1874.

Peterborough Examiner.

PETERBOROUGH, JAN. 15, 1874.

The active and influence of the Electors of the East Riding are respectfully solicited for Mr. Hall, the Reform candidate.

Reformers of both West and East Ridings are earnestly requested to go to work for the Reform candidates, Messrs. Bertram and Hall. Get Committees in order, see them to work in every section, and let there be no coldness. The interest of the party, the honor of the country, and the morality of the people are all at stake in this contest. Will the people of this county shrink from their duty and remain indifferent ? Surely not. Let every Reformer every patriot, every friend of his country, every man who would remove the John Lorn Mc country's escutcheon, come nobly forward and elect men to support Messrs McKenzie and Blake at the present crisis.

In consequence of the continued increase of Edward S. Franks, M. D., Oculist and optician of Manchester, Lancashire, England, in the sale of his improved and patented spectacles, he desires us to say that he will remain two or three days longer at Caisse's Hotel, with a large assortment of his spectacles on sale, one pair of which suits equally well by day or night, for from ten to fifteen years. He may also be consulted on diseases of the eye and ear.

PETERBOROUGH TESTIMONIALS.

We, the undersigned, have had the Improved Spectacles fitted to our eyes by Dr. Franks from an examination of the vision alone, with the first pair he tried. We think these spectacles the best of any as we now see as well as ever

Mr. PETER GIFFORD, Shoemaker, Peterborough.

With pleasure we add our testimony to the skill of Dr. Franks and his valuable improvements in spectacles. Mrs. A. W. KEMPT, Peterboro.

Dr. Franks has examined my eyes and suited them with his improved spectacles He accomplished this at the first trial. I am much pleased with their pleasant effect on the sight. I now see perfectly, both by day and night, with an ease and comfort I have not experienced with any spectacles before.

Rev. FATHER LYNCH, Peterboro.

I have not for many years been able to get any spectacles through which I could see even tolerably. Dr. Franks has made an examination of my eyes, and suited them with the very first pair of his Improved Spectacles so well that I recommend them to all needing spectacles, as I see my much better than I could with any others.

THOS. POOLE, Peterborough.

From boyhood my sight was defective and always occasioned me much inconvenience. I never could procure spectacles that would diminish the trouble. These of Dr. Franks improved ones were adapted to my sight by him at once with the first pair he tried, simply from an examination of my eyes. They give me as good sight as I desire, and are perfectly clear, easy and comfortable to wear by night or day.

Dutchman Drowned.

On Saturday last, the 10th instant, a man named M'Kay, or M'Coy, from Auburn Mills gave himself up to constable Chetwin, of Port Hope, stating that he had killed his wife and four children, and had buried them in the cellar. Mr. Wm. McGregor, of Ashburnham, being in Port Hope was taken to see him, and recognized him. Mr. McGregor brought word to Constable Johnston of Peterborough, who went up on Monday morning and found the woman and children [illegible] but they knew nothing of the husband and father, as he had gone down town on Friday evening, and had not returned. He stated the cause of his having killed his wife and children, to be that they had nothing to live on. He must evidently have been in delerium tremens and imagined he had done the terrible deed which fortunately turned out to be untrue. If he had been at home at the time he might have done so, under the impressions that occupied his mind.

Vote for Mr. Hall, and have purity of Government.

POST REVOLUTION IN PETERBOROUGH

It was announced on Saturday last by handbills that the Hon. Mr. Blake would address the electors of this County on Wednesday at two o'clock. He arrived by special train from Port Hope about one o'clock, and was entertained to a lunch in Faucher's hotel ; Mayor Cox presided. About forty other gentlemen sat down with him. Among those men were the candidates for the East and West Ridings, Mr. Ross, of Port Pope, the member, we may say, for East Durham ; Mr. Hugel, President of the Midland R. Co'y and other gentlemen from Port Hope, as well as from the two Peterboroughs.

After lunch, he proceeded to the Drill Shed, in which there were not less than one thousand five hundred men, beside ladies. On the platform we noticed Mr. L. Ross and several gentlemen from Port Hope, whose names we did not learn. Mr. Hugel, Mr. N. Choate, the the Reform Candidates for the County, Mr. Evans Ingram, Mr. T. G. Choate, Mr. W. Tierney, Mr. Dumble, Mr. Miller, Warden of the County, and several others.

The chairman then asked Mr. Scott to take a seat on the platform, which he did. He then briefly introduced the Hon. E. Blake

The Hon. gentleman after referring to the fact that he was here by the invitation of the friends of the present government. He at once commenced by explaining the necessity for the present dissolution, in order to allow the people to give their verdict as to the action of the government and parties as to events transpiring, their conduct, the selling of the charter and the use the late government had made of the money. He entered into a lengthy explanation of the policy of the present government, proving conclusively that their policy now was what they held in opposition, viz., a desire to have a pure Election Law, trial of Controverted Elections by judges instead of partizan Railway Committees, Enlargement of the Franchise, and the doing away with property qualification of candidates, so that the services of the best men might be obtained in parliament. Also, that it was the intention of the present government to proceed with the construction of the Pacific Railway but in such a way as to prevent increased burden of taxes on the people. To this end the road would be constructed so as to use the great water stretches or lakes of about 1,000 miles, and then by using the Lake of the Woods and Rainy Lake, and building portions of the road in connection with these waters, easy communication would be secured with Fort Garry. Afterwards, and as soon as possible, consistent with the public interests, the remainder could be constructed, and that wholly in our own territory. While these portions of the work were in construction, the people could do as they now do, use the American Roads. The Hon. Gentleman then spoke on the immorality and disgrace to the country caused by the Pacific Scandal, and of the necessity that the people should now manifest their detestation of the dishonor, by sending men to aid in inaugurating a purer system of public morality and legislation, so as to elevate the national character and prevent the recurrence of such acts of corruption as had obtained at Ottawa.

Throughout the speech of the honorable gentleman he was [illegible] and his complete and masterly explanations were received with the greatest applause.

It was arranged that Mr. Scott should have an hour to reply ; but he was allowed much longer time. His speech was just the hackneyed one that he has been delivering in the riding, although he occupied over an hour in its delivery. He deplored the dissolution ; said McKenzie had no policy ; deprecated Mr. Macdonald's Railway policy—deplored the immoral table for Sir Hugh Allan's money], and declared he could not defend it, and then with a side plunge at Grit immorality, launched into abuse of the Globe [illegible] and next charged Reformers with robbing the mail, and hence called them [illegible].

[illegible] was a repetition of what he [illegible] at the last time he spoke.

Mr. Blake, in reply, [illegible] exposed him. He showed that the [illegible] endeavor to place [illegible] Hugh and [illegible] smelling he [illegible] the Liberal Conservatives [illegible] power, and with the fact that if Mr. Scott should succeed, that he would go to place Sir John where he would have power to continue the bribery and immorality that he, Mr. Scott, was afraid to defend, and closed up with a fervent appeal to the people to select between honorable men and men disgraced—between honesty and bribery—between men who were seeking to remove the source and means of corruption and those men who would seek to retain it. between integrity and straightforwardness and immorality, declaring that also ten times in six years before his constituents he had never done an act that he was afraid to make public to the whole people. He was frequently interrupted by shouts of applause, and sat down amid loud and continued cheering.

Mr. Bertram then addressed a few words to the vast audience, referring merely to the conduct of his opponents in the contest and expressing his astonishment at the audacious charges brought against the Reform party by Mr. Scott, who charged them with stealing letters. He could tell Mr. Scott that, during the contest of 1872, some one of the Conservative party had sent forged letters to his foes to get them out of the way on the day of election, and it ill becomes those who would forge letters to talk about stealing.

A resolution was then moved by John Walton, Esq., and seconded by Mr. Tierney, Esq., expressing the confidence of the meeting in the present Government and pledging those present to use all legitimate means to secure the election of the reform candidates. When put to the meeting the show of hands was four to one of the vast assemblage. After cheers for the Queen, Mr. Blake and the Reform candidates, the meeting broke up.

Mr. Scott quietly retired, evidently discouraged at the appearance of things. The charter sellers are at a discount just now, and Mr. Scott feels this.

The people must not rest satisfied with demonstrations merely. Work must be the order of the day in both Ridings. Two weeks good, steady work will ensure the greatest victory that has been in this county in many years, and will wrest both Riding from the charter sellers.

ONTARIO & QUEBEC R. R.

We fear that if Sir Hugh Allan does not show some despatch in reference to the above road, the present charter will elapse before anything can be, or will be done. The charter elapses in April, 1874, and yet nothing has been done. What is the cause of this delay. The road is an important one for this province, indeed for all Canada, and the sooner it shall be commenced in earnest the better for the country. This county and town are ready to do their share in the way of bonuses if persuaded that the Company is in earnest, but the delays of the past cause some of our people to fear the result.

We understand that the provisional directors of the company in hanging over the charter and stock book stipulated with Sir Hugh, through the Hon. Mr. Abbott, that the location of the road should be commenced within two months from 22nd of April, 1872. That work should be commenced in earnest within one year from that date, and be completed within three years. Neither of these has been done, while the county is anxious about the road. Over half the necessary stock has been subscribed by Sir Hugh Allan and his friends, and the municipalities along the line have shown themselves ready to assist largely in the way of bonuses. We think that something should be done to stir up Sir Hugh to go on with the survey and work as agreed, or that he should allow the capitalists to take the charter other proceed.

Other capitalists, we believe, are ready to take Sir Hugh's place and proceed at once.—will he stand in the way or will he commence without delay and carry out in good faith the promises made when he received the control of the charter from the provisional directors ?

We would like to know what the flourish of trumpets about the turning of the first sod some time since meant. Has anything been done since ? Or are we to understand that nothing will be done, now that Sir Hugh has not got the contract for the Great Pacific line ? If something be not soon done it will prove the justness of former suspicions, that the charter was only taken up for the purpose of covering up the great bargain and sale of the Pacific Charter.

NORTH VICTORIA

Mr. Joseph Staples, late member for North Victoria, is not to be opposed. He has signed the following document :

"Having been asked my views on certain questions occupying public attention at the present time, I beg to state :

"I am of opinion that the taking of money by Sir John A. McDonald from Sir Hugh Allan and spending the same for election purposes was wrong.

That a change of government was necessary.

That the present government should be supported : and as I approve of their general policy, I will, if elected to represent this Riding in Parliament, support them."

(Signed,)

JOSEPH STAPLES.

Bexley, 12th Jan., 1874.

The Reformers have, therefore, agreed to support him. Mr. McLennan of South Victoria has no opponent yet, although Mr. Boyd is spoken of.

MR. SCOTT CORNERED.

At South Monaghan, on Friday last, Mr. Scott was brought to buy so effectually that he, [illegible] silent, not able to answer a word. After an hour's speech, consisting of the most unbounded and groundless assertions on the part of Mr. Scott, Mr. [illegible] asked to make [illegible] Scott, [illegible] silent. This is another proof of the double dealing and equivocation of the party, and especially of Mr. Scott.

The most baseless assertions were made by him, which were calculated to mislead the people. One was that Mr. R. W. Scott had sold the timber for five millions of dollars,—that John Sandfield left four millions in the treasury, making in all nine millions that the Ontario Government had got. He then insinuated that of this sum there were now only four millions in the treasury, and four millions set apart for railways, and hence that one million had been wasted and lavished to secure power. When again brought to task for these reckless and false assertions he admitted that five millions was too big a figure, but he did not give the correct figures, or even an approximation to them until compelled by Messrs. Stratton and Dumble.

These are the kinds of arguments used by him—arguments without a particle of truth almost in them, but calculated to deceive the electors. The whole grounds of this speech were.—The Dissolution, No Policy, and the fear that Mr. McKenzie will use for a while a portion of the Northern Pacific Railway. He possesses neither the force nor the eloquence that he displayed in the last campaign. His cause is a bad one, and he feels and shows that he feels it so. He has made no inroads on the Reform ranks anywhere, and he is only holding up for a show of party activity, and to save the Great Liberal Conservate party from disgrace.

EAST RIDING.

Mr. Hall is everywhere meeting with the most satisfactory encouragement and promises of support. Asphodel is promising to give a larger vote for Mr. Hall than was anticipated. The people of that township are determined to throw off their slumber, and in unison with the Reformers of other townships remove the stigma of the Pacific Slander by returning Mr. Hall to support Mr. McKenzie in cleaning the Augean Stables at Ottawa, and removing forever the shade of a chance of the return to power of the supporters of John A. McDonald.

The time is now a fitting one to express the pent-up feelings of the people on account of the disgrace brought upon the young Dominion by men, reckless of honor and indifferent to honesty of principle. The Pacific Scandel has tarnished the fair fame of conservative statesmen, but their return to power would bring into eternal contempt the character of the people of the Dominion. We trust, therefore, that a due sense of the part each elector is playing in the great drama of our national history, will prevent him from placing a stain on its pages that cannot be removed. Never before was there a better opportunity to prove to the world that the fountain of Canadian honor is untarnished by the corruption of statesmen who were actuated only by their love of office and the filthy lucre of this world.

We have been told that Canadian statesmen are what the people make them ; that they are just the reflex of the electors, and that they can no more be pure than the stream that flows from a muddy source. Thus, we hold, is incorrect in principle and in fact. The people are largely what their leaders make them. If their leaders are corrupt and dishonorable, the people are often led away and deceived. If now the electors wish to prove that they are not in sympathy with scandals—with bribery—with unclean hands, they will turn out and prove it by voting against men that are in sympathy with John A. McDonald and the scandals that he has brought on the country. The nomination in the East Riding will be at Lakefield on the 26th instant, and the polling on the 3rd of February. There is not much time for idleness, and we would urge all friends of reform to be in readiness to send Mr. Hall to Ottawa to support good government and thus teach the "Party of Union and Progress" that they cannot hope to stain their hands as they have done and get their actions endorsed by the honest yoemen of the East Riding.

MR. BERTRAM'S CANVASS.

Mr. Bertram's canvass promises most favorably. Everywhere the electors are determined to stamp out the late fraud on the people of this Riding, by rejecting the man who was a party to it, and thus teaching both men and parties that they cannot trifle with the rights of the people with impunity. The revulsion of feeling in the town of Peterborough is sufficient to defeat any conservative or Liberal Conservative candidate, no matter what may have been his past record.

In addition to the outrage of the Returning Officer, we have every reason to believe that Mr. Scott was a party to that outrage, and deserves to be a partaker in the retribution due to such crimes, for a crime it was. We want a majority that will show the Charter Sellers and those who would rob the people of their rights and justly earned victory,—that the people abhor trickery and are opposed to selling charters for money to bribe the people, and to this end the different committees should work until the last vote is polled.

The nomination in the West Riding will be on the 22nd and the polling on the 29th ; there are only two more weeks of work and we trust that these two weeks will be used to advantage. There are no changes in the polling places in the West Riding, except that in No. 2 polling Division, Smith, which this year will be Garbutt's School House instead of at Hall's School House ; and there is a additional polling place in the town, at shop of J. G. Ball, Hunter street. Our advice to the committees is to work.

LEGISLATURE OF ONTARIO.

This Session was opened on the 7th intant. The only thing of note yet in the debate on the Orange "Incorporation Bills," in which Messrs. Boultbee, Leadar, and a few others took a part. An amendment to the address by Mr. Boultbee, founded on this imaginary grievance was lost by 18 of majority in favor of the course pursued by the Government.

Mr. Pardee replied as follows to the movers of the Opposition.

He, Mr. Pardee, objected to the manner in which hon. gentlemen on the Opposition benches had addressed their remarks to the hon. member for South Grenville just as if that hon. member had been the only one who had opposed the incorporation of the Orange Societies. In justice to his hon. friend, he must say that he had listened to the arguments he made use of in opposition to these measures, and he thought every member in this House, or at any rate the majority of the members, would bear him out in saying that these arguments were all of them temperate and earnest. (Loud cheers) The hon. gentlemen had the same right to oppose these Bills as the hon. member from South Grey had to favor them, and he did not think that it was fair to direct all the arguments against his hon. friend, just as if he had been alone in the course he took. The hon. member for South Grey in referring to the representation of the people in the House, had complained that the county of Grey was not sufficiently represented. If they were to take that hon. gentleman at his own estimation, they would consider him capable of representing a thousand constituencies. (Hear, hear, and laughter. Ever since he (Mr Pardee) had been in Parliament he had heard the same cry from the hon. gentleman. He talked about the present Government having a borough support, and that some gentlemen on the Opposition benches represented populous constituencia, but he need not say that ther was no general comparison between the populousness of the constituencies which returned supporters to the Government and those whose members followed hon. gentlemen on the Opposition benches The hon. gentleman had made an attack upon the former Commissioner of Crown Lands, who was not now in his place to defend himself; but he (Mr. Pardee) was there to defend his late colleague, and to assert for him that, although there might have been an increas of expenditure during his term of office, there had also been an efficiency which more than compensated for it. (Cears) His hon. friend from South Grey had made a charge against Mr. Scott of the sale of the Crown timber lands in Toronto about two years ago. He (Mr. Pardee) believed that fully nineteen-twentieths of the people of this country were now prepared to defend that sale. (Hear, hear.) He knew as much regarding the feelings of the people as his hon. friend from South Grey did, and he also knew that many persons who, at the time, were opposed to it, were now ready to acknowledge that it was the best thing to do in the interest of the country. (Hear, hear.) If his hon. friend from South Grey were to speak the convictions of his heart, he believed he also would say that he thought it the best thing to do under the circumstances. Hon gentlemen opposite were not content with attacking the Government because they reserved these Bills; they also charged them with acts of commission which were actually unfair. His hon. friend from North Leeds charged them with not having dealt with the marriage licence question. Why did the hon. gentleman's friends not do so ? (Hear, hear) Why, from and before Confederation up to the present times had they done nothing to remedy this evil, if evil it were ? He knew there was agitation in the country on the subject, and his hon. friend the Attorney-General had had it under consideration, but he thought he was perfectly safe in saying that his hon. friend the leader of the Opposition had never even got that length. (Hear, hear.) As regarded the question before the House, he fully admitted the question before the House, he fully admitted the responsibility of the Government in advising His Excellency to reserve those Bills; he would go farther, and say that unless the responsible advisers of His Excellency had recommended him to reserve those Bills, they would have been unworthy of the positions they now occupied. (Hear hear.) According to practice and constitutional usage, that was the only course open for them to take. The Government were justified in reserving these Bills on two grounds :—First, they were of a special and exceptional character, and in the second place, similar Bills had been produced, in their connection with another Province of this Dominion, to be calculated to create an undue excitement among Her Majesty's subjects and they become law, and were therefore disallowed by the Imperial authorities ; and he held that, as a matter of fact, the passage into law of these Bills would, at the time, have been a cause of undue excitiment, and an unfortunate bitterness of feeling would have arisen on the part of a large portion of the people. When his hon. friend from North Leeds referred to the fact that Lord Elgin had given his assent to a Bill, which during the Rebellion had been disallowed, he forgot to mention that every Tory in the country petitioned him to reserve it for the signification of Her Majesty's pleasure. (Loud cheers) He believed that the same argument which applied to Prince Edward Island—which, as well as this Province, was a Colony of the British Empire—would also apply to Ontario, which was in no way in a different position If the same Bill had been passed in the

Mr. McKenzie's Address.

GENTLEMEN,—

Being once again a candidate for your suffrages, I propose to state the circumstances under which I venture to ask a renewal of that confidence which you have been pleased to repose in me for many years.

At the opening of last session a motion of censure on the then Government was proposed to the House of Commons, founded on the evidence taken before the Pacific Railway Commission, and on the conduct of the Government relative to the investigation.

The Ministry having resigned during the debate, His Excellency, the Governor-General was pleased to entrust me with the formation of a new Government, which I successfully accomplished. A large number of the House of Commons who had supported the late Administration (the late Premier being pressed) forthwith organized themselves into an Opposition, under the leadership of their former chief, who publicly announced to them their speedy return to place and power. In this House he commanded a majority of over thirty members, many of whom secured their election by the corrupt use of Sir Hugh Allan's money.

Believing, after mature consideration, that it was due to the electors of Canada to give them the opportunity of pronouncing between ourselves and our opponents on the question which has been so much agitated, and convinced that it was essential to a fair representation of the people and to the attainment of good laws that the House should be purged of the members so elected, we have advised a dissolution.

The verdict which our opponents have hitherto succeeded in evading is now to be given at the polls, and Canada is asked to condemn the flagrant misuse of a sacred public trust, and the gross acts of corruption, and outrageous violations of the law and the Constitution, of which those recently in power have been guilty, and which their supporters in this contest seek to justify and desire to establish as conformable to the spirit and necessary for the working of free institutions. Canada is asked to send to Ottawa a House of Commons free to do its duty to the State, chosen by the unbiassed voice of the people instead of men bound hand and foot to them to whom they owed their seats.

I do not doubt the result. Already I have received assurances as to the feelings of the country, and I am satisfied that, with those exertions which a free people must make if they would preserve their freedom, the general election will end in a decisive victory for the Government.

The task of the Administration is such as requires for its successful accomplishment the cordial support of the people.

We will strive to elevate the standard of public morality which our opponents have done so much to debase; and to conduct affairs upon principles which honest men can approve and by practices which will bear the light of day.

We shall endeavor by wise legislation and a just and impartial policy to remove those sectional jealousies and local prejudices which were aggravated by our predecessors, and to effect a genuine consolidation of the Union, under which the members from the various provinces shall meet not as delegates from distinct Provinces, but as representatives of the Canadian people, secure in the maintenance of their Provincial rights, and animated by the desire to advance the interests of their common country.

The establishment of a system of trial of elections by judges forced upon the late Government by the persistent agitation of the Liberal party, affords good hope for the repression during this election of the bribery and undue influences so obviously prevalent in the late struggle. The writs have been issued simultaneously, thus carrying out inquiry the law, which we hope soon to place on the Statute Book, providing for simultaneous polling. The Government willingly foregoes the great advantages that have been derived by its predecessors from the power of controlling the issue of writs, and rests itself with confidence on the justice of its cause.

We shall endeavor to frame laws for such a liberal adjustment of the franchise as may best suit the varying circumstances of the different sections of the Dominion; for the taking of the votes by ballot; for the abolition of the real estate qualification for members, thus giving the people greater freedom in the choice of their representatives in Parliament, and for increasing the efficiency of the existing agencies for the prevention and punishment of improper practices at elections. But we must not forget that these, as all other laws, will owe their main vigor and efficiency to the spirit in which they are accepted and worked by the people at large; and I trust that the supporters of the Government will in this election set the example of scrupulous observance of the law on their own side, and firm repression of its violation by others.

We must meet the difficulty imposed on Canada by the reckless arrangements of the late Government with reference to the Pacific Railway, under which they pledged the honour and resources of this country to the commencement of that gigantic work in July, 1873, and to its completion by July, 1891. That compact has already been broken. Over a million has now been spent on surveys, but no part of the line has yet been located. And the bargain is, as we always said it was, incapable of literal fulfilment. We must, therefore, endeavor to arrange with British Columbia for such a relaxation of its terms as may give time for the completion of the surveys and the acquisition of the information necessary to an intelligent apprehension of the work, and for its subsequent prosecution with such speed, and under such arrangements, as the resources of the country will permit without increasing the burden of taxation on the people.

In the meantime, with a view to obtain a speedy means of communication across the Continent, and to facilitate the construction of the Railway itself, it will be our policy to utilize the enormous stretches of magnificent water communication which lie between a point not far from the Rocky Mountains and Fort Garry, between Lake Superior and French River on the Georgian Bay, thus avoiding for the present the construction of about 1,300 miles of railway, estimated at a cost of from sixty to eighty millions of dollars, and rendering the resources of the country available for the prosecution of those links of the Pacific Railway which are necessary in order to form a complete line of rail and steamboat communication from east to west.

This will involve, the construction of a short line of railway from the mouth of French river, on Georgian Bay, to the south-east shore of Lake Nipissing, and a grant in aid of extension to that point of the existing and projected lines in Quebec and Ontario.

We propose also to facilitate the construction of the branch line from Fort Garry to Pembina, already provided for by Parliament, although we cannot hope that this will be accomplished by December next, the time limited by the late Government for its completion.

We shall endeavor to make these great works auxiliary to the promotion of immigration on an extensive scale, and to the settlement and development of those rich and fertile territories on which our hopes for the future of Canada are so largely fixed.

The proper mode of dealing with the question of Insolvency has long been a problem in other countries besides our own. Our present Insolvency law gives great dissatisfaction. It will be the effort of the Government to frame a measure which, while preserving to creditors the advantage of obtaining a summary and fair distribution of the assets of their insolvent debtor, shall be calculated to discourage reckless dealings, to render more difficult the commission and more easy the punishment of fraud, and to simplify the machinery and lessen the expense of winding up estates.

The time seems to have arrived when the union of the Provinces may be promoted by the creation of a General Court of Appeal for the Dominion, and to this subject the attention of the Government will be directed.

The work of improving the canal system of the country will be vigorously prosecuted and every effort made to attract to Canadian channels the traffic of the West, and to foster, by a judicious expenditure in public improvements, the vast maritime interests of the Dominion.

The Militia system demands revision, and will receive the immediate and earnest attention of the Government with a view to increasing its efficiency.

As to the other subjects which will attract our attention—having already exceeded the usual limits of an address—I will take an early opportunity of meeting you in public, and, in the meantime, I will content myself by securing you that our endeavor will be to promote such an honest, vigorous, just and economical policy as may redound to the true welfare of the Canadian people.

I have the honour to be,
Your obedient servant,
A. MACKENZIE.

THE MAIL, CONDEMNED BY ITS OWN POLICY, ON PREMIER.

The Stratford Herald (Conservative) in discussing the recent West Toronto election, thus raps the knuckles of its whilom mentor, the Toronto Mail:

"Nor can we pass by the injudicious advocacy of the Mail. Its free use of treason and disloyalty seems to be very ill judged. If the issue of empire or no empire is to be raised; if the question of devotion to our Queen, is to be agitated, let our opponents start them by all means. When we consider the gravity of such topics, we may well wish their discussion postponed. It will be an eventful day for Canada when these matters come seriously to be debated. Why challenge their debate prematurely? Especially why make loyalty ridiculous by pretending that the election in West Toronto has decided the fate of British connection? Above all, why charge a Yankee with the support of the Empire? Has the Conservative party sunk so low that it must needs parade the deep-seated loyalty of its heart in a mere election dodge? Shall it make its most sacred feeling a mere cry for votes? We protest in the name of the party, against this prostitution of its honor."

THE PACIFIC RAILWAY.

From the New Nor-Wester, Manitoba.

The New Ministry appear to have put the Pacific Railway scheme of their predecessors entirely one side, and propose adopting a plan of their own in its place. Instead of postponing and making every branch line subservient to the one great undertaking of a trans-continental line, they intend to make an immediate commencement of the line to Pembina, so as to give the earliest possible railway communication with Canada via the States. A line between Winnipeg and Thunder Bay comes next on their programme, and will be extended westward by degrees, as time and money will allow. The eastward extension beyond Thunder Bay will not be immediate, as it is considered that the Thunder Bay and Winnipeg line, in connection with the steamer lines of the lakes, will afford sufficient traffic accommodation for present requirements. But—when at length the Government finds itself in a position to do so—it will have a road built round the north shore of Lake Superior, and not far inland, as originally intended by the Macdonald Ministry.

The most pressing wants of the Columbians will be met by a line constructed to the foot of the Rocky Mountains, which, in its turn, will be pushed eastward by degrees, until it meets the western extension of the Manitoba Railway, and thus completes the connection between the Atlantic and Pacific systems of road.

This wise and rational policy will commend itself to every inhabitant of the Province who is interested in the future development of the North-west. We have always considered the policy of the late Government—in keeping Manitoba without railway until such time as the splendid but illusory theory of an Atlantic and Pacific line could be completed—to be the most injurious to our interests that could have been adopted. If that policy had continued and been acted upon Manitobans would have been kept in isolation for ten years at least—possibly for a generation. Whilst the people in power at Ottawa were deliberating their agents were financing and their engineers exploring for a scheme, by far too ponderous for a practical conclusion until years have gone by, and the present citizens and farmers of the province had grown grey with age and disappointed expectations. As we understand it, the present Administration intend to commence building those portions of a railway system which are the most urgently needed, viz: that which connects Winnipeg with Pembina, and that which will connect the same place with Thunder Bay. If this is done, and done at once, it will go far to relieve our population of the heavy disadvantages under which they are now labouring. At present the [illegible] one [illegible] a monopoly of freight charges for their importations and which almost certainly excludes the possibility of of anything in the way of exportation being attempted. For want of railway transport, also, settlers to the province is both difficult and expensive. [illegible] Rail in connection with the [illegible] road is completed between this place and Moorhead. It is [illegible] has been for some time past, a perfect disgrace that [illegible] a settlement as we have had for the [illegible] Distance of 70 miles left unfinished between us and the railway system of the United States, we should still have to trust to buggies, and stage coaches, and dug canoes, and flat-bottomed steamboats, to enable us to pass to and fro at the commercial and varied calls of business or pleasure, and we hail the late examination of Mr. Mackenzie's railway up the first step in the right direction with regard to the subject of Manitoban interest.

It matters little what cry may be raised against the proposed Government policy, or the Globe for supporting it, by those parties and papers now happily in opposition, we can assure them that there is hardly a man in the North-west who will not give his cordial support to their programme. The late Government and its supporters has the finest chance of promoting the good of this province it was possible to conceive, and might have earned the good will of all its inhabitants. They wilfully threw away that chance, and did their best to ruin the prospects of the country, and must not be surprised if the people here can neither sympathize with their defeat, nor oppose a Government who promises to do practically at once what should have been commenced by their opponents long ago.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Worth Ten times it's Weight in Gold. Do you know anything of it? If not, it is time you did.

There are but few preparations of medicine which have withstood the impartial judgement of the people of any length of time. One of these is THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL, purely a preparation of six of some of the best. Oils that are known, each one possessing virtue of its own. Scientific physicians know that medicines may be formed of raw materials in certain fixed proportions of greater power and producing effects which could never result from the use of any one of them, or in different combinations. Then in the preparation, of this Oil a chemical change takes place, forming a compound which could not by any possibility be made from any other combination or proportions of the same ingredients, and entirely different from anything ever before made, one which produces the most astonishing results, and having a wide range of application than any medicine ever before discovered. Where ever applied you get the benefit of every drop; whereas with other preparations nearly all the alcohol is lost in that way, and you get only the smell of Oils which they may contain.

NOTED FOR

CHEAP GOODS!

Said Mrs. A. to Mrs. B.
As they sat chatting at the table,
"Where did you find such fragrant tea,
So strong, so sweet, so palatable?"
"Oh! Mrs. A," said Mrs. B.
"I know just where to buy my tea!
Now there is tea, well flavored, and
That cost me fifty cents a pound.
At Lasher's;" then she sipped a cup
And praised it more, and then by turns,
She ran it down and praised it up.
Emptied and filled her china cups.

"At Lasher's" she resumed, "they sell
The choicest goods in all the town,
I bought a dress for Isabel
At twenty cents a yard—old Brown
Across the street asked twenty-three
But didn't get it—not from me.
And hats that Jones has sold for two,
(Jones is the fellow on the corner.)
They sell for one—now, there is Loo,
She wants a hat, I'll go and warn her
To keep away from Mr. Jones,
Or he will surely pick her bones."

"These measles and their cousin red bows,
And bells and rubber are so pretty,
To think as these it takes too much,
And inspiration for a ditty."

Said Mrs. A. with eyes dilating,
And new light dawning on her senses,
"If this be so then you're rotating,
How can they meet these large expenses?"

Then Mrs. B. with sundry jerks
And nods, said "Large expense! No,
They work themselves and keep few clerks
And thus their daily profits grow.
It makes a difference past revealing
To some clerks' wages and their stealing."

Where Mrs. A. had sipped her tea,
And donned her hat and fixed her collar,
Just at the door said Mrs. B,
"Now think, they'll give you for a DOLLAR

12 lbs. Raisins,

FRESH VALENCIA, OR

12lbs. Currants

Then Mrs. B. timed Mr. A.
And home the latter took her way.

A FACT WORTH KNOWING!

The reputation of Wheeler & Wilson's noiseless Lockstich Sewing Machine, is so high, and the demand so great, that dealers in other machines when asked for it are obliged to say that they sell Wheeler & Wilson's also; but when pushed for one will make excuses or else say "that the last one was sold a few days ago." Then they turn and show the good qualities of those they sell—at the same time being careful to run the W & W down. Another trick is to state that the W & W will not do heavy work, nor use coarse or linen thread, and by showing a worthless imitation (which is of no use to them or anyone else) will tell you "that the W & W is too frail a machine for farmers' use," this, no doubt, is true of the imitation, but utterly false concerning the genuine W & W, as thousands of farmers now using it can testify.

Parties intending to purchase are requested to call and examine.

For Leather or Heavy Manufacturing use the No. 6 Wheeler & Wilson, it excels all others.

Dr. J. Walker's California Vinegar Bitters are a purely Vegetable preparation, made chiefly from the native herbs found on the lower ranges of the Sierra Nevada mountains of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol. The question is almost daily asked, "What is the cause of the unparalleled success of VINEGAR BITTERS?" Our answer is, that they remove the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health. They are the great blood purifier and a life-giving principle, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the remarkable qualities of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to. They are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, relieving Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver and Visceral Organs, in Bilious Diseases.

The properties of DR. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS are Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Diuretic, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Alterative, and Anti-Bilious.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills,

For all the Purposes of a Laxative Medicine.

Perhaps no one medicine is so universally required by everybody as a cathartic, nor was there ever before so pulverable and so perfect a one, in every country and among all classes, as this mild but efficient purgative Pill. The obvious reason is, that it is a more reliable and far more effectual remedy than any other. Those who have tried it, know that it cured them; those who have not, know that it cures their neighbors and friends, and all know that what it does once it does always—that it never fails through any fault or neglect of its composition. We have thousands upon thousands of certificates of their remarkable cures of the following complaints, but such cures are known in every neighborhood, and we need not publish them. Adapted to all ages and conditions in all climates; containing neither calomel or any deleterious drug, they may be taken with safety by anybody. Their sugar coating preserves them ever fresh and makes them pleasant to take, while being purely vegetable no harm can arise from their use in any quantity.

They operate by their powerful influence on the internal viscera to purify the blood and stimulate it into healthy action—remove the obstructions of the stomach, bowels, liver, and other organs of the body, restoring their irregular action to health, and by correcting, wherever they exist, such derangements as are the first origin of disease.

Minute directions are given in the wrapper on the box, for the following complaints, which these Pills rapidly cure:—

For Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Listlessness, Languor and Loss of Appetite, they should be taken moderately to stimulate the stomach and restore its healthy tone and action.

For Liver Complaint and its various symptoms, Bilious Headache, Sick Headache, Jaundice or Green Sickness, Bilious Colic and Bilious Fevers, they should be judiciously taken for each case, to correct the diseased action or remove the obstruction which cause it.

For Dysentery or Diarrhœa, but one mild dose is generally required.

For Rheumatism, Gout, Gravel, Palpitation of the Heart, Pain in the Side, Back and Loins, they should be continuously taken, as required, to change the diseased action of the system. With such change those complaints disappear.

For Dropsy and Dropsical Swellings they should be taken in large and frequent doses to produce the effect of a drastic purge.

For Suppression a large dose should be taken as it produces the desired effect by sympathy.

As a Dinner Pill, take one or two Pills to promote digestion and relieve the stomach.

An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, restores the appetite, and invigorates the system. Hence it is often advantageous where no serious derangement exists. One who feels tolerably well, often finds that a dose of these Pills makes him feel decidedly better, from their cleansing and renovating effect on the digestive apparatus.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla,

FOR PURIFYING THE BLOOD.

The reputation this excellent medicine enjoys, is derived from its cures, many of which are truly marvellous. Invaluable cases of scrofulous disease, where the system seemed saturated with corruption, have been purified and cured by it. Scrofulous affections and disorders, which were aggravated by the scrofulous contamination in the blood they were painfully afflicting, have been radically cured to such great numbers in almost every section of the country, that the public scarcely need to be informed of its virtues at once.

Scrofulous poison is one of the most destructive enemies of our race. Often, the unseen and unsuspected germs of the organism undermines the constitution, and for no attack of unhealthy or fatal disease, are we aware of the presence. Again, it seems to breed rottenness throughout the body, and there, on surface, or in some secret organ, rapidly develops into pus or cancer of the bitterest misery, either on the outside or inside of the system. In the latter, internal decay lays in the lungs or throat, or manifests itself in the liver, or it shows its presence in sores on the skin, or tumors, or blood-vessels, or in salt rheum, or in the worst cases, in the form of that most loathsome and fearful disease, Erysipelas. In all of the cases of this character, and in all others arising from impure blood, this remedy has been found to be the most effectual antidote ever discovered. Its power to cure these diseases is based upon the fact that it is the only alterative medicine in the world that is sufficiently powerful to thoroughly purify the blood. Hence its cures are real and permanent, and not merely temporary and apparent.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS YOUTHFUL COLOR.

Time has proved that this preparation is all that can be desired for the hair. Its occasional use prevents the hair from falling off or becoming gray, and consequently preserves the health of the head. Those who have used it know that it restores faded or gray hair to its original color, with the freshness and gloss of youth, and that it makes the hair grow upon heads which are perfectly bald, unless the glands are destroyed and the roots of the hair decayed or dead. Nothing can restore hair on such heads, but nothing will stop the hair from falling on heads not entirely bald, and cause a new growth to appear, except this Vigor. Its effects are wonderful, and often surprise those who try it for the first time. Thousands have been induced to use it because they were told that it was a dye, and have been disappointed. It is not a dye, but a healthy stimulant, and the hair it restores is not false hair, but your own hair, restored by the only means possible, viz., by giving to the roots the nourishment they require. Ayer's Hair Vigor is a dressing unsurpassed by any other preparation. It is not sticky or greasy, and contains no material injurious to the hair or health. Those who have used other preparations will find this superior to all they have tried. Those who have not used any will find it the most desirable article they can obtain.

THE REASONS WHY
LAZARUS, MORRIS & Co's
commence
Perfected Spectacles,
AND EYE GLASSES,
have met with such extraordinary success and are so much in demand:
1st. Because they are found to possess all the qualities claimed for them.
2nd. Because they will reclaim sights abused by the common glasses, and will often be found to restore failing sight to its natural state.
3rd. Because no glimpsering or dizziness is experienced in their use, and being fitted on optical and defallible rules, they are guaranteed against injury to the Eye Sight from improper selections.
4th. Because the system of fitting is an unerring guide to the true requirement of each purchaser—our agents are furnished with this system—solely our own.
5th. Because the never tire the eyes and last many years without the necessity of change.
6th. Because being the best they are the cheapest.
Unreasonable testimonials might be here given but the use of these Spectacles and Eye-Glasses will best prove their inestimable value.

Mrs. GEORGE E. SHAW, Peterborough.
D. PETTYJOHN, Drayer, Peterborough.
Mrs. J. W. KENT, Peterborough.

Dr. Franks has examined my eyes and suited them with his Improved Spectacles. He subscribed them at the first trial. I am much pleased with their performance on trial that I purchased them to all intents, and I see no intent between them learned with my others:

THOMAS POOLE, Peterborough.

From boyhood my sight was defective and always occasioned me much inconvenience. I never could procure Spectacles that were entertained me trouble. Those of Dr. Franks's Improved class were adopted to my sight on my first trial with the first pair he tried, at night from an examination of my eyes. They give me the natural sight of vision I desire, and are perfectly easy, and I cheerfully recommend to write for sight or sight:

G. C. WINCH, Peterborough.

I was operated upon nine years ago for a cataract in each eye, and never got spectacles that satisfied me until Dr. Franks applied them. He suited a pair to my eyes, and at once gave me a pair that I use with better than any I ever had:

ROBT. THOMPSON, Peterborough.

I have examined Dr. Franks' Improved Spectacles, and find a pair adjusted to my sight at the first trial from an examination of the eye alone. They are the best spectacles I ever had, being clear, comfortable and easy to wear:

W. R. BURNETT, M. D., Peterborough.

It is with pleasure I state Dr. Franks examined my eyes and selected at once, at the first attempt, a pair of his Improved Spectacles that, on my sight is so concentrate much better than any I have ever had before:

Rev. JOHN M. ROGER, Peterborough.

PETERBORO', JAN. 22, 1874.

A MISTAKE.

In our last issue, without our knowledge, some one in the office consented to allow a card to appear in the paper, soliciting the influence and votes of the electors for Mr. R. E. Rogers.

We have no sympathy with his election, and will do all in our power to defeat him,—not on personal grounds, but because, if elected, he would vote to replace John A. Macdonald in power, and thus aid in continuing the very evils of which we now complain.

We have no personal feelings in election matters. For Mr. Rogers we have the greatest respect as a citizen, but as a politician there can be no hope expressed that he is ready to condemn the crime of John A. Macdonald, and also to give his vote and influence to hand over the country, contracts, charters and powers to any person Sir John would dictate. Believing this we are anxious that he should be elected to stay at home and manage the business of the village of which he is a citizen; and to this end we intend using all legal means and earnest diligence.

We also urge on all the electors of East Riding to support Mr. Hall, because, if elected, he will support the present British Connection, and oppose those measures of annexation to the United States, which have for their object money in preference to their principle.

Editorial Items.

Electors of the East Riding, vote for Mr. Hall and the Reform Government.

The Waterworks.

We have had one or two trials of the waterworks during the past week, and proved very satisfactorily that they are what they were intended to be. They throw long powerful streams, and when the machinery is so arranged that the pressure will be increased, there will be little chance of the fire leading Broadway against the flood which can be poured upon it by these works.—Mercury.

Robbery Attempted.

During the late snow at Grafton, just before New Year's, Mr. Frank Crawford, a horse fancier of Belleville, with his wife, put up at the hotel of Mr T. Patterson, Grafton, as the hotel was crowded; they were given the room usually occupied by Miss Patterson. A few days afterwards, Miss Patterson missed her jewellery and a sum of money; and a search warrant having been taken out, the property was found in Mrs. Crawford's trunk, and fully identified by the owner. On Monday afternoon, a hearing of the case took place before the Belleville Police Magistrate, when Miss Patterson proved the ownership of the property, and Mrs. Crawford was committed and forwarded to Cobourg gaol. As to her husband, the Magistrate did not think the evidence sufficient to convict, and he was dismissed.

Shame! Shame!

The "charter-sellers" are endeavouring to make political capital out of the execution of the unfortunate Brenton. Should Mr. Rogers get into parliament over the bones of an executed madman, honor would be materially lessened by the thought that he was elected by the influence of an executed murderer.

South Victoria.

Mr. Arthur McQuade, the Mail says, will contest South Victoria with Mr. McKiernan. Mr. McQuade is not so foolish.

The Nomination

In the East Riding will be at Lakefield on Monday. The Returning Officer fixed the place, we certainly think. It would have been better to continue Norwood as a permanent place for all parties.

Chicago.

Two fires occurred at Chicago on Tuesday that destroyed property worth $600,000.

Dummer.

This fine old Township is going to do well for the Reform candidate. The people are enthusiastic, and determined to give no quarter to those who would ally themselves with Jno A. and Hugh Allan. Mr. Hall will have a good majority in Dummer.

Ottawa.

The old barracks were destroyed by fire on Friday last, when the surveys, plans, and papers connected with the Pacific R R were destroyed. Loss about $1,000,000.

Sir Francis Hincks

Residing on Dorset Street, Toronto, died on Monday night while he was asleep in bed. Her insanity took the shape of jealousy.

Another Outrage

Mr. Grover spoke against time on Saturday night, until the Sabbath dawned, so as to prevent a reply. He could not allow even five minutes for the purpose. How his party could put up with three hours empty wind from the late dummy member we cannot imagine. Does he hope to gain friends by such a course? Will the men who voted for him on local grounds sustain him in this outrage? Are they so afraid of light and truth that they dread even a glimmer of it? electors of Asphodel, stamp out this outrage by voting for Mr. Hall.

Poisoned.

A Mrs. Seaworth, of Barnet, poisoned herself, unwittingly, by taking medicine for the neuralgia in half the time the doctor had directed. Moral—follow the doctor's directions, and if you are poisoned, you cannot blame yourself.

The "Mail."

Has fully earned the distinction of being the greatest fabricator of falsehood in Canada. Private and public character is alike assailed, if in the way of the great Aaron that the Mail worships. One more has been added to the long list of little ones. It now publishes freely that Jaye, Cook & Co'y have sent to Canada $750,000 to influence the election. If so, let some one pursue the course of Mr. Huntington, and get a Committee. Charges are more easily made than proved. The charter sellers are driven to desperation for something to use as a side issue, and thus mislead the electors. The bankrupt company of Jaye Cook can't raise money to pay their creditors. Where did they get the money to send to Canada for election purposes?

Protestant Home.

The committee of the P. P. Home acknowledge with thanks a donation of $25 from the St. Andrews Church.

The Election

The contest in the present election is not between men. The candidates may be all good citizens; they may be all honorable in their private business. They may be highly gifted, and might make respectable representatives,—but just now is the question will honesty or immorality prevail? will principle or corruption control the affairs of the Dominion in future? shall men who oppose the bartering of our honor, honesty and prosperity for money be returned? or shall we send the men back whose own oaths have proved them guilty of immoral, dishonorable, unprincipled acts, which have left a dark, black, indelible stain on the pages of Canadian history that time cannot efface, nor sacrifice atone for? If we would do our utmost to remove the disgrace, to atone for the guilt, to improve by the misfortune, we must enter our protest against them by voting for Mr. Hall and good government and against Mr. Rogers.

Communion

'A correspondent informs us that we should have given the name of D. D. McIntyre, Esq., as councillor elect for Otonabee, instead of D. D. McFarlane. We merely give the names as reported to us, believing them to be correct. The name of Samuel Elliott, Esq., was also omitted by mistake from the list of councillors elected for Belmont.

Mr. Mackenzie in Toronto.

The largest political meeting ever held in Warsaw was on Monday evening to hear Mr. Hall. A show of hands taken was found favorable for the Reform candidate. Not one hand was held up for Mr. Rogers. When his name was placed before them.

Hon A A Dorion's elevation to the Bench

The news announced by Mr. Perrault at Ste Julie yesterday, and editorially referred to by us in another article, of the approaching elevation of Mr. Dorion to the Bench will not create much surprise, as it has been a contingency expected for some time. The general consent has indicated him as the fittest to succeed Hon. Chief Justice Duval as the head of the Lower Canadian judiciary, and it was understood that Mr. Dorion's appointment to the new Cabinet as Minister of Justice was only temporary in order that his services might be available in helping to place the Ministry on a firm basis, especially as regards Lower Canada. The question as to his successor in the important position of the Ministry of Justice will be an interesting one. Doubtless the fittest for this position would be Mr. Blake, but it seems doubtful if he will accept it. As leader of the Lower Canadian wing of the Ministerial party, Mr Geoffrion is indicated as successor to Mr. Dorion. His speech last session upon the Pacific Scandal was a masterly effort, and gave token of ability as a polltical leader.—Witness.

Vote for Mr. Hall, and have purity of Government.

RATHER ROUGH.

Mr. Scott, during his address in the Drill-Shed, on Tuesday, was guilty of an indiscretion that cannot easily be condoned. Some person, who had taken something stronger than water, but not very freely, asked him some questions which aroused Mr. Scott to such a degree that he appealed to the worst passions of his followers, declaring that there were enough of them present to compel a respectful hearing. How different the course of Mr. Blake when interrupted by the same person: he merely replied, "I am looking at you," and returned to his subject.

Mr. Scott, however, would not, could not, play his role without attempting to make it appear that he was not getting a fair hearing. He did the same thing at the meeting in the Music Hall, although one of his friends participated in the noise, which indeed was very trifling. Does he imagine that his conduct meets the approval of the people? If he does, he is mistaken. The good sense of the people are ready to frown down any attempt to stir up bitterness or contention, or feeling for the mere purpose of displaying his powers, to cajole the people to overlook acts leading to a breach of general friendliness. He may feel certain that his endeavours as to the conduct of his opponents tend only to lower himself in the good opinions of the electors, as they are not all blind to what is transpiring, nor yet to the ill-concealed intentions of the leader of a party to stir up the worst passions of the people for the basest purposes—his own personal advantages.

THE CONTEST.

The struggle between the two parties is now being carried on with vigor throughout the whole Dominion, and in a short time the verdict of the country will be given. The same feeling has run through the whole community; indignation is felt, expressed and demonstrated at every meeting and at every opportunity of giving vent to it. The "charter-sellers" have been found guilty, and are unable to defend themselves, and the whole country will prove on the day of polling how deeply they feel that they have been injured, and how anxious they are to support a good government and blot out the disgrace that has fallen on the Dominion, by an almost unanimous vote for the supporters of Mr. McKenzie. Not only Reformers, but Conservatives, too, will combine to strengthen the present Ministry, by voting for Reform candidates at the coming contest. The issue is not between Reform and Conservative, but between those who are ashamed and feel anxious to redeem their country, and those who think that Sir John did right in selling the char ter.

No man of principle—no man of thought—no man that reads the accounts of the meetings in different parts of the Provinces, but will readily decide that the straightforward and manly actions and speeches of Messrs. McKenzie, Blake and others in the Reform interest are far more telling and honest than the weak, and in many cases rowdy speeches and actions of the Joha A. party.

The contest in West Peterborough will be over on the 29th, during the intervening week let all be up and doing. Let all remember how we were defrauded of our rights by the returns made at the last elections. Let all remember that although Mr. Cluxton himself is not running against Mr. Bertram that Mr. Hall was one of his advisers in the course he pursued; and, therefore, as much to blame—if not more so—than Mr. Cluxton. Let all remember that the John A. party are old tricksters and that they will leave no means untried to obtain power; that they unscrupulously make promises they never intend to fulfil, in fact do anything that their "chief" tells them. Let all the supporters of Mr. Bertram not only work hard during the contest, but let them on the polling day go themselves and record their votes for him, and each take with him another voter, at least, in order to place on the records of West Peterborough elections such a an overwhelming majority for Mr. Bertram, that in the future we may be regarded as true, loyal and enlightened men—men who will ever uphold the right and spurn down and trample under foot any measure which would in the least tarnish our country's name or fame.

What we say to the electors of the West we say to those in East Peterboro', be up and doing. Work to the utmost in your power for Mr. Hall: he is an old and well tried Reformer, he represented you well, and faithfully in the old Parliament some years ago, and has ever by his actions in public life shown himself to be a man in whom all can rely. Mr. Hall has been a life-long Reformer and will support every measure that will tend to the welfare of the country.

Reformers of both Ridings work hard for, the short time left you, and on the success being made, let them show that the county of Peterborough is fully redeemed, and that the voters are no longer to be hood-winked and humbugged, show that you are in favor of honest government.

Go to the Poll on the 2nd of February, and Vote for Mr. Hall, the Reform Candidate for the East Riding, and have pure Government.

THE WEST RIDING.

Mr. Bertram's canvass is of the most satisfactory character. The electors everywhere in the Riding receive him most cordially, and promise him their warmest support. They are indignant at the outrageous conduct of his opponents after the last election, and will now rally with increased strength and energy to blot out the party which would lend itself to an act so unfair, unjust, unprincipled. The most flattering accounts of the unanimity of all his old friends, and many new ones are daily received from all the Townships; indeed from all the divisions; and the greatest confidence is expressed that a very large majority in his favor will be the result of the vote on the 29th. No partisan Returning officer will thus deprive the majority candidate of his just rights.

The greater the majority, the more telling will be the effect on the public mind, and more substantial will be the protest of the people in reference to past outrages. It will also be a warning to others in the future not to do wrong and hope that good will come of it. The good name and character of the people of the West Riding is now to be tried, and we do not doubt that they will give a fitting verdict to Mr. Scott and all his followers by leaving him home to mind his own business, as they could not trust him to manage theirs. The man who would be, or who was a party to robbing Mr. Bertram of his seat, and the people of their lawful representative for party purposes, would—if elected—be ready to do anything he could to further the interests of his party, although to the detriment of the people, and at the expense of honor and honesty. The friends of justice should rally to a man, and vote against Mr. Scott.

OTONABEE AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY

At the annual meeting of the Otonabee Agricultural Society, held at Keene on the 10th instant, the following officers and directors were elected.

Thos. Stirard, President.
John Gilmorie, Vice-president.
James Drummond, Secretary.
George Read, Treasurer.

Auditors, James Miller and W. Long.

Electors of East Peterboro, vote for Mr. Hall and thus endorse your protest against suffering Charlevoix for money to corrupt the people.

ONE OF THE OLDEST SETTLERS GONE.

It again becomes our painful duty to chronicle the decease of the first or about the first settler in the Township of Asphodel, that of Mr. John Cameron.

Mr. Cameron was a native of Scotland, born June, 1804, and at the time of his decease was almost 76 years of age. The family of six brothers—of sisters we do not know the number—Mrs. Alexander Orr, of Bobcaygeon, is one, settled in Cameron's Point, Red Lake, about 1830. They afterwards removed farther North, where the subject of this notice resided to his decease. His brothers, at least five of them, lived in close proximity. Mr. Cameron was a very intelligent man, a good citizen, and a warm friend of Reform, as all the members of the family are. He lived long enough in Canada, in Asphodel—about 53 years—to see the wilderness blossom as the rose. When he and Mr. James Beckett, who is still in good health, although older than his departed friend, entered the wilderness there was no white man, woman or child but their own little group north of Rice Lake and East of Otonabee river. They endured the trial and hardship together of chopping, logging and clearing and building, with few for a time to assist or encourage them; and they lived to see their settlement—the finest in Otonabee or Asphodel—become one of the finest in the country, with its fruitful fields all around their fine, comfortable dwellings, stately ones, erected instead of the old shanties, and their friends and relations prosperous and happy.

The deceased was the oldest of the Cameron brothers, and was deservedly respected by all who knew him. His remains were accompanied to their last resting place on Tuesday by an immense cortege of neighbors and relations who gathered to pay their last tribute to one of the pioneer settlers of the county, now with its population of thousands, and one of the first in the province in industry and intelligence.

Electors of the East Riding, vote for Mr. Hall, by so doing you will [illegible]

OUR CALIFORNIA LETTER

Anaheim, Dec. 26th, 1873.

Dear Examiner:—The date of this letter indicates that the year '73 will soon be in the past. With you, I observe, winter now holds stern command; with us all is again bursting into life, the hills by which our valley is surrounded has put on her garments of green. We had quite a rainfall about the first of the month, which very suddenly changes the appearances of what seemed before a wilderness into the appearance of a garden of flowers; there has fallen up to this date nearly six inches of rain, so that all the patrons of husbandry have now plenty to do in putting in the crop. There is not much volunteer this year, most of us have to sow; and, I observe, a great many only cultivate the seed in with a cultivator, instead of ploughing and when put in any way at all in a good season, it grows well. I saw some farmers last year who never even harrowed the ground before the volunteer grain sprang up who had good crops: but weeds they pollute everything, especially mustard. This grows very tall and strong, and when it is let alone soon takes possession of the ground, and, the grain on such places is lost, and the mustard stocks have to be broken down and then gathered up and burnt before any other crop can be put into the same ground. The prices of farm produce has been higher this year. We can get for barley here about $1 26 per hundred lbs. for corn about $1 15 per hundred lbs. The sacks cost about 10cents, which is an item of importance here. The charges from the landing by sea to San Francisco is $4 50 per ton of 20 hundred; and by shipping to that port, we are then open to the markets of the world. So that you see we are very well situated for markets. Hay has only a local demand, it now brings about ten dollars per ton. Bailed, loose hay about right. Sometimes there is some sent by sea to San Diego, there it generally commands a much higher price; the difficulty to be able to get it there is much felt. The Pacific Steam Ship Company's Steamers, which are the only vessels calling at our landing do not carry that article only in limited quantities, and then at high rates; so that little can be sent by them. Sometimes when schooners come to the landing with lumber one is chartered to carry a load there.

This is a terrible place for vermin; they make sad havoc, sometimes. The Gopher is here, and very destructive they are to trees. They are about the size of a rat, the front paws are set edgeways like a mole, for the purpose of burrowing easy. They have two cutting teeth in the front of the mouth and with those the mischief is done to trees. The county pays a bonus of five cents for the scalp of the animals destroyed, but even though war is waged against the race they multiply fast. We have also an animal resembling the fox, this is called here a coyotte. They prey on rats and mice and when other fare offers, such as chickens, sheep or lambs it seems very acceptable. In the night they sometimes make hideous noises, a kind of a bark and howl. The skunk is here, also, and, judging from his scent, he belongs to the same species as in Canada. Then we have lizards snakes, and a host of other reptiles. We have the rattle snake here; their bite is said to be deadly poisonous. I have seen some very large ones, but they all seem to dread man, for unless one come upon them unawares they will fly his approach. Home flies we have the year round. The friendly gentlemanly bug, we never see.

For this year so far, we have had no frosts; and wanting only the sultry atmosphere of Canada's Indian Summer, the weather seems much the same. The nights are always cool, and sometimes a fire is necessary to warm one up in the long evenings. The sun goes down before six o'clock, and sinking in the ocean there is no twilight in the evening. In the morning it is different; there is a long time from the time daylight breaks before the sun appears. I received a copy of the Bobcaygeon Independent lately, and its editor, although snow had fallen in the north was still looking for the Indian Summer, and seems to be of the opinion that the beautiful time was delayed near the Rocky Mountains. If he were here he would find that was in all its glory. Really I feel sometimes as if I were in the land of dreams, when I look on the one side and see the dark green foliage of the Orange grove and the clusters of yellow fruit deeply laden the boughs, and look away to the distant mountains encircled with the top robes of winter as they cover; it is under just such the fact, such a contrast presents itself.

A great many people are now availing themselves of our rapid climate, as the Overland Express mail for its backloads here. The climate being especially suited to those laboring under consumptive complaints. Quite a number visit us from St. Kent's every year, and many stay; some come here only to find a grave; by reports for a season and others for life.

And now, Mr. Editor, in conclusion let me assure you personally and to your readers—many of whom are my old friends—all the compliments of the season, and hope that we may be favored to publish for the Examiner for many years to come, and that you will long be spared to conduct it.

Yours, &c.,

J. BUNTER.

PUBLIC MUNICIPAL ELECTION

Through the press is the best medium to reach the ear of the electors, to show how by nefarious scheming and falsehood, the council, one excepted, got elected. Before and at the nomination matters were most decidedly against them; the day after the nomination the council meet to balance the yearly accounts, at which time, by their stratagem they voted away municipal funds to the tune of nearly $400, in taking off back taxes from all those who suited their purposes, and paid old demands of over five years standing, which had been as many times rejected by previous councils, all for the purpose of buying votes. They also circulated the greatest of falsehoods, one of which had its effect and spread like wild fire through the settlements,—that is, that if we as a council got elected we have pledged ourselves to expend $1800 to assist in building the bridge at the narrows of Stoney Lake. On the day of the election Mr. Duncan Anderson, in my presence, asked Mr. Holborne what authority he had for such a statement and if he thought it necessary to resort to such falseh
